Ultramarine Gauntlet

By U/PriorPossible

Welcome aspiring battle brother! I am gratified to see that even extra-dimensional beings such as yourself recognize the unquestionable superiority of the greatest chapter of Space Marines, the sons of Roboute Guilliman, the Ultramarines!

However no aspiring battle brother of ours would accept handouts so this will be a bit different from one of your normal adventures, this will be a gauntlet!

[+0 CP (Chaos Points)]

Origins:

Ultramarine:

Congratulations on passing the trials you are now officially a son of the Spiritual Liege, you may be assigned to any company you wish except for the first and have all the natural advantages of an Astartes.

~Time~

You may appear in any place and time the Ultramarines have been active as a divided Chapter.

~Drawbacks~

~100~

Ultrasmurf

For some strange reason, other chapters of Space Marines have lost the ability to pronounce our Glorious Name instead referring to us as 'Ultrasmurfs' whatever that means, you may not resent the lesser Astartes for this deficiency but it will almost certainly try your patience after 10 years.

Arrogance

While I admire your confidence battle brother, some among the ranks of the Imperial Forces consider your well-deserved faith in your own abilities arrogant in the extreme.

~200~

Unconventional Wargear

While an Ultramarine is prepared to fight regardless of the situation, your tendency to lose your wargear is a tad… unfortunate you can expect to be forced to defend yourself without your weapons many times.

Don't worry too much, our Glorious Chapter Master, Marneus Calgar would probably be willing to give you some tips on dueling with a Necron Pylon.

Priority Target

Even the foul Xenos recognize our prowess! You must select one faction from the enemies of Mankind, this faction will make it their priority to kill you.

~400~

Member Of The Second Company

This is no drawback! You have been given a chance to serve under the most esteemed Cato Sicarius, I'm sure you feel appropriately blessed.

Interred In Steel

Alas, even the greatest of heroes fall, but fortunately, your brothers rescued you before your untimely demise and sealed you within a Dreadnought, this… isn't pleasant but it will allow you to continue to serve.

~600~

Rewrites

Some malevolent force has begun to torment our chapter, stripping from us the glory and prestige of our past and forcing us into mediocrity! Over the course of your time in this world you will find increasingly extreme challenges mounting against you, the only way to earn a temporary reprieve is to fail in your mission.

Roboutian Heresy

Truly a dark universe… rather than serving under the Imperium of Man you find yourself in a timeline where the Spiritual Liege himself was the Arch-Traitor!

Perks:

~Free~

Shield Of Hate

While you aren't immune to chaos your hatred for the Daemon makes you resistant to sorcery of all stripes, and far more resilient to corruption.

Space Marine Physiology

You are now an enhanced superhuman warrior with a grab bag of obscure biological tricks as well as the gene seed of the Primarch Guilliman which grants you talent for administration.

~100 CP~

Ultra Chanting

You find that through the repetitive chanting of prayers, you can become slightly more competent over time, experiencing no hard cap but fairly severe diminishing returns, don't worry I'm sure the Emperor doesn't find this annoying at all.

Courage And Honor

You have all the courage our chapter is famed for allowing you to face down even the worst of Mankind's enemies without the slightest hesitation.

White Bread

Our chapter is the most broadly competent of all! You have a minor talent for every field of warfare, if leveraged correctly this could lead to you becoming an extremely versatile marine.

Keep Your Nose To The Grindstone

While our chapter is famed for its good fortune we are not without our failures, our defeat by the Tyranids was a dark day for us but we persevered even in the face of insurmountable odds and now so can you. You can never be driven to give up regardless of the despair you feel.

Respected

The Ultramarines are the most respected and acclaimed chapter in the galaxy, it wouldn't be right if you didn't share in that respect. You will always receive due respect for your achievements, never being passed over by a less talented peer.

~200~

Codex Compliant

The Codex Astartes has guided our Chapter (and to a lesser extent other Astartes) for 10,000 years and it continues to guide us even now when you follow a set tactical doctrine your competence will grow at an increasing rate, this growth will not be reverted if you stray from tradition but any increase to your growth speed will be reversed.

Spiritual Liege

The Ultramarines have remained devoted to Roboute Guilliman throughout the millennia and will remain so until the end of days, you have a similar form of charisma inspiring in your own followers the same loyalty Guilliman did in his.

Ultra Comfort And Support

Even the Ultramarines need a hug every once in a while, between you and me I heard that the Chapter Master gives fantastic hugs and now so do you, your hugs can reverse even the most potent of Ultra-Depressions those of our chapter occasionally fall victim to.

Ultra Therapy

Remember how I briefly touched on the Ultra-depression that afflicts our chapter? Sadly some of our battle brothers are unable to cope with our exemplary service record and develop a severe case of imposter syndrome. You have the skills to slowly remove those questions from people's minds, helping them to not question a good thing.

Crossing The Rubicon

Instead of a ‘normal’ Astartes you are one of the Primaris Space Marines devised by Belisarius Cawl, this grants you power beyond the average Space Marine as well as increased height.

~400~

Greatest Of Them All

The Ultramarines are simply better than any other Imperial force and now you also embody our supremacy. Every action you take has far greater effects than it otherwise would, if you punch an otherwise equal opponent it would destroy their head instead of dazing them slightly for example, or if you were a capable commander you could find yourself performing strategies that would make Macharius blush.

I, Jumper

Your name is a mantra, an invocation of your power, by saying your own name you can grant yourself a massive but temporary boost to your abilities, enough to make the Great into the truly Heroic.

Logistics Win Wars

If there is one lesson of the great Guilliman that every Ultramarine should hold close to their hearts it is the importance of logistics, after all the kingdom of Ultramarr only stands as a pinnacle of Imperial culture due to the logistical brilliance of the Ultramarines! You are capable of managing any organization with the utmost efficiency, even something as sprawling as the Spiritual Liege's kingdom.

Incorruptible

The predations of chaos have no effect on the favored servants of the Emperor! Your willpower is unbound and infinite, nothing can corrupt you against your will, not even the greatest examples of mind control.

Good At Everything

The primary strength of the Ultramarines is our versatility you now naturally share in that ability as all of your skills are shared at a 2:1 ratio.

~600~

Ultrajazz

I am about to reveal to you the greatest secret of the Ultramarines, our truest source of power is not our skill, or our faith in the Codex of the Spiritual Liege; it comes from a bargain with an Arcane Ward, as one of our brothers you too benefit from this pact. Simply put you will always win, when you set out with a goal in mind it will always succeed, but beware the inevitable victory may only come with sacrifice and a noble death is its own source of glory.

~Items~

~100~

Astartes Loadout

You gain all the basic equipment utilized by the Adeptus Astartes, you will not go into battle wanting.

The Codex Astartes

A copy of the unabridged writings of Roboute Guilliman, revealing to you the secrets of superiority as a Space Marine.

~200~

Iron Halo

One of the greatest honors an Astartes can be granted, a personal refractor field, essentially a force field, that diffuses most attacks in a flash of light, while this is a more than adequate defense in most circumstances against true titans of the battlefield this will prove laughably ineffective.

Battle Brothers

A squad of glorious tactical Ultramarines eager to follow you into battle in pursuit of the glory you will undoubtedly bring them.

~400~

Contract
A simple contract that determines who will write the next year of your jump, putting down the name 'Matt Ward' will give you the effects of Ultrajazz for that duration, you get one contract per jump.

Dreadnought
A One-Up of a different kind, if at any point you are wounded beyond the point of recovery you will be rescued and placed in this mecha-suit, while it isn't a pleasant experience at least you'll be alive.

~600~

Terminator Honors
A set of Terminator Power Armor along with a posting in the first company of Ultramarines, these are high honors cherish them.

Chapter Master
You are now the Chapter Master of your own Ultramarine Successor Chapter, this is made up of 1000 Astartes who are absolutely loyal to you and your cause, considering you their true spiritual liege.

~End Choice~

~Stay~

~Move On~

~Go Home~