

Long ago, two races ruled over Earth:

HUMANS and MONSTERS.

One day, war broke out between the two races.
After a long battle, the humans were victorious.
They sealed the monsters underground with a magic spell.

Many years later...

--

Hold up. What the fuck is this supposed to be? There's already an Undertale jump, and nobody even talks about that shitty game anymore.

And what's with this meta intro, too? Looks like an amateur jumpmaker trying way too hard to be funny. Must be a shitty joke about the replacement jump shitstorm, or something.

Todokete

Wait a second. What's that sound?

It sounded like...

Oh no.

Not that.

This isn't an Undertale jump at all, we've been played like a damn fiddle. This is a--

SETSUNASA NI WA

NAMAE O, TSUKEYOU KA

“SIIVAGUNNER JUMPCHAIN”

Location: Grandiose City

You find yourself in a strange city, seemingly haphazardly composed of chunks from dozens of other existing worlds. Billboards advertise for a “Mr. Rental”, the Springfield home of the Simpsons is placed next to the stone houses of the Flintstones families, while Donkey Kong, Knuckles the Echidna, Robbie Rotten, and several other memetic figures walk the streets. Even- is that a green bean with arms and legs?

It seems you’ve appeared in the tenuously-defined “setting” of the SiIvaGunner storylines: Grandiose City, home of a living statue dedicated to the posting of only the highest-quality video game rips, and a population of personified sapient memes.

This is a world where eldritch beings hatch plots to destroy all anime, high school idols pilot mechs in the shape of Kirby characters, and Inspector Gadget plays Minecraft. Whatever you do, you’re sure to be in for a wild ride.

To get you started, you receive 1000 of only the highest quality Choice Points.

Origins:

You may take any of these origins as a drop-in, with no added memories. Otherwise, you gain a short history in this often bizarre world.

Meme (Free): Like the vast majority of those who live in this place, you are the personification of a meme utilized in the high quality rips of the SiIvaGunner channel. While you may lack the creativity of a Ripper or the plots of a Villain, you make up for it in recognizability and a killer sense of humor. Smile; you’re internet famous!

You may choose to be the personification of an existing meme, or to be inserted as a meme based on your own exploits.

Ripper (-100): Unlike every other being in this world save one, you come from beyond it. Like a certain statue, you fell from the stars and were filled with both life and a desire to upload only the highest quality video game rips. A being of solid stone-like substance, you are far more strong and durable than most Memes and even most Villains. However, you have a tendency towards single-mindedness and severe oversleeping.

Villain (-100): You follow in the footsteps of The Voice Inside Your Head and wood man, being a figure of strange power with your own desires for the channel. Perhaps you simply seek to upload your own high quality rips, or maybe your desires are more sinister. Either way, you have the skill and the presence to take control of Grandiose City for yourself, at least for a little while.

Much like Meme, you may choose whether to be based on an existing piece of internet culture, or to create your own.

Perks: Each origin receives a 50% discount on all of their matching perks, and their 100CP perk for free.

General:

Highest Quality Jumpchain Rips (Free): It seems you have been gifted a soundtrack by the statue in charge of this world. The songs that play will be of the highest quality, and will always fit the situations you come to find yourself in.

They are also often incredibly humorous and filled with bizarre memes, even when serious. You may turn this soundtrack on and off if you wish, and you may choose if others can hear it. If they can hear it, you may also choose if they find it strange.

Meme:

Jump Halation (-100): You now have a recognizable and repeatable memetic refrain. It may be a particular melody, a quote, or even just a strange noise you made once that got recorded. To many denizens of the internet, this meme is both memorable and greatly amusing- the perfect ingredient for a high quality rip. In further internet-enabled worlds, you may have this meme follow you, or change it into a different one.

7 Grand Jumper (-200): You have an incredible sense of humor and comedic timing; great for popping up at just the right moment in a rip to inspire maximum amusement. This extends to most forms of humor, so you'd make a killer comedian, streamer, or similar.

I Will Not Be Voiceless (-400): Despite the humorous nature of this place, there are dark plots underneath the bright surface. Beings like the Voice work to take over this world, and someone needs to rise up and stop them. You have great skill in dismantling and taking down evil plots and overthrowing cruel regimes, and have an unconscious sixth sense for being as disruptive to evil-doers as possible. You could set in motion the fall of a villain by hiding behind a tree.

Super Smash that MF Like Button (-600): If you are fighting either to save others or in the name of something you truly believe in, you can call upon the power of the MF Like Button, the most powerful force in this world. A symbol of love and appreciation, the power of the MF Like Button is nearly unstoppable, but it is incredibly difficult to control and highly dangerous to the one using it. The level of power and control you have over the MF Like Button increases with your level of belief.

Villain:

Destroy All Anime (-100): You hold dark power, and are much stronger than many other beings here. Not that it will help much- combat is rare in this world, and there are those on the side of good who can stand against you on equal footing.

jump man. (-200): Much like a certain virus, you can invade and corrupt computer systems to serve your needs. This works on any computer system, regardless of power, complexity, or security. In exchange, however, the effects this produces will always be subpar and of lower quality compared to commanding the device normally.

This World Isn't As It Seems (-400): You have a talent for appearing as just another normal person until you wish for the depths of your evil to be truly revealed. In this world, both other memes and the viewerbase will not suspect you to be villainous until and unless you launch your channel takeover. And if you don't, they'll never find out your true power. But what kind of villain doesn't even try to take the channel over?

Channel Takeover (-600): if you are powerful enough and declare yourself leader of an organization, if nobody can challenge you for the position you will be granted it regardless of normal rules. You could become the president of the United States by beating up the sitting president during a speech. However, once you have taken control this way, if someone else comes along and defeats you then THEY will gain the position instead. Pick your battles carefully.

Ripper:

Only The Highest Quality (-100): You gain quite the ear and talent for song-writing, remixing, and composition, remixing in particular. In addition, you are very good at mixing several different songs together in a pleasing manner, even if they should not logically fit together. For really out-there combinations, this may require quite a bit of remixing.

Bait and Switch (-200): You are very good at tricking others, particularly into watching high quality rips disguised as lesser quality ones. This skill extends slightly to setting traps, ambushes, or anything where a level of trickery is required, such as street magic or sleight-of-hand.

Soundclowning Around (-400): Your composition skills improve even further. You can mix memes and other jokes in with serious songs and make them fit in perfectly naturally. You can even combine songs with supernatural effects and have the combined composition apply the effects of every component simultaneously, but that's not nearly as important.

The End (-600): Once a year you can declare an “ending” once a climactic enough moment has occurred. After you and your party have defeated a long-time rival for the last time, for example. Once everything has “ended”, you will be granted a short period of rest and relaxation free of absolutely any responsibilities at all. However, should you attempt any major action or project then these effects will deactivate and the world will return to normal. The length of this ending will vary based on how long the accompanying ‘story’ had gone for, but it will rarely last more than a month.

Items:

GRAND DAD?! (Free): You receive a copy of the thing that started it all. The bootleg game named “7 GRAND DAD”, a copy of The Flintstones: The Rescue of Dino and Hoppy for NES modified to feature Grand Dad as a protagonist- Fred Flintstone with Mario’s head.

Flintstones?! (Free): you now have every single episode of The Flintstones. You’re welcome.

Highest Quality Video Game Rips (-100, Free Ripper): You gain a memory card with every high quality rip ever produced by SiIvaGunner.

Mr. Rental Account (-100, Free Meme): Confidently own at the end. You have an account with Mr. Rental that allows you to rent a variety of things from him, which vary based on the world you are in. Just don’t show him any mashups.

Glitched Rips (-100, Free Villain): You have a collection of strange rips produced by individuals who are not SiIvaGunner, posted during the various channel takeovers. It also comes with some strange data logs on the history of the statue himself...

Small Residence (-200, Discount Meme): A small house in Grandiose City. You don’t need to pay for rent or utilities. It will insert itself into other cities in further worlds.

A Computer (-200, Discount Ripper): A modern-day PC with a wide variety of audio-editing programs on it. It will never run out of power or storage space.

mm2wood.mid (-200, Discount Villain): this is a copy of the original wood man virus. it infects electronics and makes them worse.

A Gaggle of Memes (-400, Discount Meme): You have a small following of lesser memes, not common enough in rips to be intelligent, but still used. They’ll follow your commands to the best of their ability, and make great backup in rips. They are not companions.

Strange Meteor (-400, Discount Ripper): It seems you had a sibling when you fell to earth. This meteor of a strange stone-like substance will gain life and intelligence if carved into human form, and will then be imbued with the urge to create the highest quality rips. Perhaps it may have different goals if carved into another form?

Net Drone (-400, Discount Villain): A robot designed by the Voice for the capturing and imprisonment of Grandiose City's memes, you now have one of these devices for your own use. Capable of flight and the projection of an energy net that can carry hundreds of pounds.

Bowflex 2000X (-600, Discount Villain): You own the greatest exercise tool ever invented by human hands. Working out on this increases your physical strength three times faster than usual.

Oh, and it can turn into a combat exoskeleton that can fight mechs one-on-one through raw strength alone.

Youtube Channel (-600, Discount Ripper): You receive your very own channel dedicated to the uploading of high quality rips. But that isn't all. Though it is barebones now, you will find that as your channel forms its own style and in-jokes, a pocket world similar to Grandiose City will begin to form based on the memes within your channel. In addition, were you to include references to locations in a world you are in within your rips, the referenced piece of the world will gain a copy within your City. This pocket realm can be accessed by a door in your warehouse.

Mecha Knight (-600, Discount Meme): You get a small combat mech designed after another meme of your choice, though the default (for whatever reason) is Meta Knight from the Kirby series. Despite its small size, it is deceptively powerful.

Companions:

You may pay 200 CP to import a pre-existing companion into this world as any of the three origins. They receive all the freebies of their origin and 300 CP to spend as they wish.

You may pay 600 CP to import 8 companions with any origin and 300 CP.

You may receive the opportunity to bring anyone from this world along with you on your journey for 300 CP, except for a few special exceptions.

To bring along Chad Warden, SilvaGunner, or The Voice, it instead costs 400 CP. Chad comes with all of the Meme perks, Silva with all of the Ripper perks, and The Voice with all of the Villain perks.

Drawbacks:

There is no limit to the number of Drawbacks you may take.

Bamboozled (+100): It seems you are easily surprised by bait-and-switches, and often fall for small tricks. This will make high quality rips a frustrating experience. This does nothing to your ability to detect things like traps and ambushes.

TODOKETE (+100): For the duration of this jump, Snow Halation will be stuck in your head. Nothing you do will ever get it out for more than a few hours. You poor soul.

Ban All Mashups (+200): There is something you hate. Despise. You will stop at nothing to see this travesty destroyed, wiped from existence, annihilated.

It is also something ridiculously minor and pointless to get rid of, like mashups, anime, or a particular meme. Should you destroy it, you will find a new obsession.

Gay Mexican-Ass (+200): You are incredibly vulgar, abrasive, and insulting. As a result, you find that most of your fellow memes dislike you severely, and will not come to your aid should you need it. You're all on your own.

hi. (+400): the wood man virus has infected every electronic device you own, causing everything they produce to be of greatly lower quality than usual.

Downvote Brigade (+400): The audience does NOT like you. Videos you are on are dislike bombed, complained about, and mocked. Though Silva himself finds you hilarious, the disconnect of this existence leaves you weakened and feeble.

The Voice in Jumper's Head (+600): You have a voice in your head. It personifies everything wrong with you, everything you dislike, all your worries. You do not know this.

It will claim to only want the best for you (which is true, after a fashion), and will attempt to manipulate you to become more like what you dislike and cannot stand.

Only the Lowest Quality (+600): From the moment you enter the city to the moment you leave, all talent and creativity leaves SilvaGunner entirely. His rips become awful, even painful to listen to, and he begs you for help.

You must ensure that the channel survives for the entire ten years, or this entire world will fade away and you will be sent home.

Jump-chan's Crossover Comeback Crisis (+800): These new guys look familiar. Too familiar. That's because this world has been flooded by memetic versions of your most powerful opponents from across the multiverse, and all of them seek the destruction of both you and this quiet little world. Will you stand up for the creation of high quality rips? Or will you flee and let this realm be ruined?

Finale - Undertale

It seems we've reached the end of your stay in this odd world. You have three choices from here, as usual.

Previous: You've had enough of jumping? Was this world simply too strange for you to deal with? In that case, you will return home with everything you have gained thus far, and time will resume in all worlds.

Repeat: You want to stay here? It does have some charm to it. You'll disappear from your home and time will resume in all worlds, but if anyone you know is familiar with a certain channel they may feel the odd new meme that's popped up seems familiar...

Next: You'll be moving on to the next world in the great chain, then. Time will stay frozen here until you may one day return.

Notes:

This is probably a joke jump, but if you want to seriously jump this "setting" then I won't stop you.

If some of the items and perks sound vague, it's because there's not really much of an explanation behind how a lot of this stuff works. Fanwank responsibly.

You may call me DCSS Anon. This was made as practice for eventually finishing a Dungeon Crawl Stone Soup jump, which is around ~60% done.