

男女比 1:39 の

平行世界は思いのほか普通 presented by

きっさー

A Parallel World With a 1:39 Male to Female Ratio Is Unexpectedly Normal

For reasons unknown, a goddess in charge of multiple worlds will soon switch a teenage orphan with his other self from a parallel world, one who still has a family. A world where the ratio of men and women is heavily skewed in one direction, something you should have deduced by the title already. If things go as they should then you Sou will come to bond with his family and eventually enroll into a high school for guarding escorts while realizing that despite women outnumbering men 39 to 1, the girls he meets are surprisingly normal and don't jump on his bones at first sight. Well, 'realize' may be a strong word since the guy can't take a hint to save his life and is utterly ignorant of the deranged degeneracy the females around him are up to. Anyway, you'll appear at the same time Sou wakes up in the hospital, and spend ten years in this unexpectedly normal world with 1000 choice points.

Location

By default you start in the same city Satou Sou wakes up in with the particulars left up to you. Optionally you can appear anywhere else you please on a modern Earth.

Background

Either option can be taken as a drop in or have a prior background and memories.

Male - A protected and privileged class in this world due to sheer scarcity, you're unlikely to meet another of your kind in the wilds due to how closely families guard their own. You'll find that this world bends over backwards to encourage your participation in society even as members of society drive most men into gynophobia from sheer thirst. The particulars of your situation are up to you with the option of being enrolled or soon to be enrolled in the local co-ed school for armed escorts.

Female - Another y-chromosomeless fish in the sea, the stock value of women has crashed through the floor due to sheer overabundance leaving them filling most roles in society. Unlike a fish you're probably dying of thirst in this romantically barren wasteland, unlikely to have ever seen a man in real life without being lucky enough to have one in the family. The particulars of your situation are up to you with the option of being enrolled or soon to be enrolled in the local co-ed school for armed escorts.

General Perks

No Uggos Were Spotted In The Making Of This Film (200cp)

Tired of being a 3/10 at best? Getting headaches from watching pigs and donkeys pretending to be models strutting around? Then this perk is just what you want and more. This will beautification both you and whatever setting you're in at the moment. Everyone and everything gets prettier, or cooler depending on preferences. Forget about lows and mids, everyone is now on what used to be the upper percentile of physical beauty with a healthy physique, in other words, everyone is an 8/10 at the very worst.

Ratio'd (200cp)

The strange gender balance of this world may seem quite abnormal for some, but also look like a deranged paradise for others. Just in case you're into these kinds of unequal ratios, this perk will let you alter the demographics of any world you're about to visit or are in currently. In any case, you can use this to fix gender ratios, make certain groups into majorities or minorities or reduce even more the amount of men. It can only be used once per setting and if you're already there then immediate changes are impossible.

Sublime Subtext (200cp)

Ever wanted life to be more like a video game? Well, your prayers have been answered. Your life is now a bit more like a dating sim, as you have a 'floating window' where you can see and hear the inner thought of anyone of the opposite sex you're talking to directly. Furthermore, you will get 'notifications' whenever something you say or do affects their mood and affection for you, be an increase or decrease. This could be your way to handle people with ease, or a very direct door into yandere hell.

Splash Mountainrange (Free during the jump/200cp to keep)

When members of the opposite sex interact with you, they have a comedically low tolerance value to romantic overtures allowing them to fall for you absurdly quickly with the bare minimum of nice or polite behavior and stay like that regardless of circumstances. Casual greetings are events they cherish for years afterwards, with even the smallest amount of friendly banter makes them lose control of their legs, and even the cringiest of flirts will have them close to frying their brains out. If you barrage them with compliments the damage to their minds will be incalculable... but you will get a new simp.

Male Perks

Alpha and OtOme-ga (100cp)

Jumper, I didn't know you were such a Gigachad, the veritable living female fantasy every woman secretly dreams of (and some not so secretly). Rolling in rapid and fruitful gains from exercising, smoothly and unconsciously coming up with the right words and actions to appear favorable to women without coming off as a manwhore, and a decent amount of talent at everything you try your hands on. You are effortlessly a woman's fantasy made flesh.

Ocean Man (200cp)

Some men are thirsty, some others have enough to drown themselves several times over. Take a guess at which group you belong to. You just naturally end up in favorable circumstances that happen to surround you with women of your favored or convenient type at the time, regardless of circumstances. Feel like having a gyaru while at the clinic? Just so happens the nearby nurse is just that. Need to enter a co-ed school? Well, the female friend of a friend works as a teacher in a place like that and is more than happy to accommodate you. In short, you always have at hand the woman for the job you want done, plus, they always seem to like and favor you naturally.

Hetero Hot Take (400cp)

Before you the walls of sexuality or already having a partner get blown out to make way. Hardcore yuri girl? Not even a bother, as with a single hug from you, one not even needing to last a minute, is more than enough to awaken the 'woman' inside of her and have her begging for you to claim her already while already having delusions of a romantic and lewd future with you. Of course, effects can stack and don't be surprised if she ends up selling out or betraying her previous crush just for some more of you. I would tell you to proceed with caution, but its actually funnier if you don't.

Normality's Sweet Poison (600cp)

Men usually have a difficult time with women out of their sheer numbers and thirst, but you're an extraordinary case even then. The way you naturally conduct yourself sends women into a frenzy that melts their heart and crotch. Your natural odor is a musk that makes even the most serious or disinterested girls become your simps. Your voice can turn the most logical or indifferent brains into delusional mush and the way you normally interact with others is the emotional equivalent of giving a whole paradisiac oasis to someone dying of dehydration in the middle of an unforgiving desert.

Female Perks

Legendary Lady (100cp)

Some girls will train and study for years just to have a chance to become a guard student or such other position that lets them stay close to a man. Some others like you are just superior in every regard, with willpower to match, and can easily breeze through the harshest tests without issue. From defeating the harlots trying to get close to your man, to score perfect scores across the country or even be able to keep sanity when a hot guy flirts with you.

Dryness Squad (200cp)

These are harsh times for a girl, the lack of men and their average temperament has make it extremely difficult to find a partner. To find success one needs to learn teamwork and sharing, which is something you excel at. Shows the best effects with a group of three but the boost is noticeable with any number of cooperators. This lets you coordinate any task on the fly as if practiced for years and increase the effectiveness of any actions you take as a group. Also makes your sense of smell really strong for some reason.

Based Basketcase (400cp)

Sometimes a few selected women are able to tap into the vast unseen potential of the brain and soul – reach parts of the mind that shouldn't be accessed to, and develop an internal power that goes beyond the limits of the world. Some call this mental illness, while others call them super human. Schizophrenic delusions powerful enough to visualize several lifetimes within a single minute, or separate consciousness into several persona that can converse with each other, or even modify perception or memories on the fly. In any case, you're now a chosen one and effectively invincible mentally speaking when living by your delusions, enough to overcome serious social stigmas like the law of breasts or splash mountainrange.

A Thirst For Greatness (600cp)

Overwhelming lust is something all the females here have, but being able to channel that lust into something that's actually productive is something very few can do, you included. Your inner super libido can affect the world itself and manifests as something of a luck bonus that turns things around for you romantically even when outplayed and outnumbered, making you something close to the protagonist of a romantic story, or sometimes just skewing luck on your favor. Your unending lust forces destiny to always give you favorable hands, like being born on big money, or meeting the man of your dreams, or even just having the talents needed to deal with the plot by yourself.

Items

Love Shack (100cp)

A benefit rather than a place, that you can get a free night with all services in a good room from any hotel or inn if you bring someone of the opposite sex to fuck there. You can get further perks there by fucking in front of the staff.

ThoTalk (100cp)

Server and messaging service for chat groups of any associates you know of be it a class or something more personal. Always has people logged in to talk or mess around with.

Bonk - No horny (200cp)

A standard issue collapsible baton that guard students carry. Exceptionally durable and able to banish the lust from anyone struck with it, sending them into an intense post-heat clarity.

Balls Deep (200cp)

A luxury wristwatch that has a hidden function to mess with the fertility of the user and/or those around. It also has a hidden function to shoot poisoned needles. Don't worry, it comes with a manual.

Dream Goddess (400cp)

Tired of living? Don't wanna live on this planet anymore? Fear not, thanks to my 'connections' with the divine, I've gotten this favor from a certain Goddess. She will transmigrate/transport/summon to another world at your request, thanks to the multiverse you can ask for some general details for this new world, like the gender ratio, or general sociopolitical landscape. It takes a bit of time and effort for her to do so, which is why you need to wait at least one year before asking to be isekai'ed again.

Puniru (400cp)

The result of you trying to fool around with some basic science experiments, managing to create a sentient, shapeshifting slime with human intelligence and culture. She mostly parades as a humanish girl, sans the shocking pink hair and slimy transformations. She's very affectionate towards you and mostly obeys your orders, but she's also very curious and has enough free will to act on it. Keep her away from the internet and computers in general.

Companions

Canon Companion (100cp)

Pay 100cp, get a free canon character, I'll edit things as much as you want to, from making you already lovers or messing bits of their traits. Hell, each purchase gets a set of 3 because this world has an interact with 1 get 2 free deal going on. C'mon take them already, we got too much of them here.

Import/Create (100cp/400cp)

Wanna get all your friends here? Sure, for 100cp to get up to 3 or 400cp for all of them. Each gets 600cp to use as they will. You can also use 100cp to create up to three of your own companions using 800cp as base for each.

Riku (Free)

An ex-soldier that became a bodyguard for important figures and even excelled as a financial advisor for several members of the congress while doing part-time as a model. However, none of these jobs ever satisfied her, she was just randomly doing whatever came on her way until she met you while walking around the street. It was as if divine revelation had come to her to tell her that her destiny was to become your maid. And that's what she did, after a lot of demented shenanigans. Now she's basically your shadow, taking care of anything that might hinder you and trying to pamper you to hell.

Shiraishi Kaede (Free)

A certain underclassman that you helped out once on a whim, which left a deep impression on her. Unknown to you she had been harboring twisted feelings about men after seeing her poor mother send all her money to her father. Reinforced by society's usual attitude, she was developing a disdain for people in general, but your act of kindness made her rethink everything. It's not that people are all shit, it's just that everyone that isn't you is shit. She got quite the heavy type of love, something not helped by her tunnel vision and need to feel useful. She's a very talented and obedient girl, but she's just as hopeless as her mother when it comes to love.

Akizore Koubo (Free)

On the surface, this no-nonsense researcher is the very image of a professional consumed by her work, but outside work hours she's massive mess and a boomer otaku consumed by brainrot. An oddball with a lingo from decades ago that thinks disk-players are new, and spends her nights playing vintage eroge. You got a hold of her secret so she's now hoping you will wring her dry. Seems to have a weird kink for being used in general. Not helped by her never even talking to a man directly and being poisoned by anime.

Drawbacks

Sou Desu Ne +0 - Instead of dropping in you will wake up in the 1:39 parallel world's hospital replacing Satou Sou. Don't worry too much about the details.

Typesetting Typhoon +100 - Whoops! Looks like there was a mix up somewhere because whenever you speak your real thoughts are switched out with whatever you intended to say out loud. This will always take you by surprise no matter how many times it happens. At least they say honesty is the best policy.

Law of Breasts +100 - Circumstances now conspire to leave you maidenless with finding a partner being as difficult for you as it normally is for women, especially those with well developed chests. Regardless of who or what you like it will now be a herculean task to find romance here.

Morals Collapsed Bastard +200 - Like Sou from the alternate timeline you have just one thing on your mind and don't care about anything else. Satisfying your lust is your sole focus and driving motivation to a point things like blood relations or your fuck toy's emotions don't matter at all.

Heatwave +200 - With this drawback you'll fit right in with the local ladies as you now have a negative resistance to the opposite sex. Regardless of how nicely or poorly you're treated by them you'll be putty in their hands and likely deciding the names of the children you'll have with them. I'd say you'll be constantly in heat but that would imply you have way more self control or self respect than you do now.

Leave Some For Me! +400 - Welcome to the harem rat race, Jumper. You are now deeply and wholeheartedly in love with someone to a point that you would move the world for them. The bad news is that you'll now have to as the world increasingly begins to feel the same way about your beloved. Without fail every person they meet will become another rival competing with you for their time and heart.

Normal's Bitter Beginning +400 - You replace the parallel world's Sou in the normal, modern world. True to your wish for a normal life you'll be completely normal without access to your perks, items, or warehouse. Ah but don't worry, you get to keep your overwhelming hostility and hatred of women. Cannot be taken with Sou Desu Ne.

Notes

Made by Ricrod

Thanks to AR for the help

0 elfs got impregnated during the making of this jump

All OC's have FAT ASSES AND BIG TIDDIES

Fanwank when needed.