

Interdimensional Brothel

STAM : ★★★★★
TECH : ★★★★★
SENS : ★★★★★

NAME : MAKI
RACE : HUMAN

~~18~~

Introduction

+1000CP Stipend.

In a mysterious space between dimensions, exists a brothel. This brothel houses clients and prostitutes alike from an endless variety of strange species that you could only dream of finding in a fantasy novel. These countless different species come to the brothel for the pleasures of the flesh, with such biological diversity on display, not all clients are quite sure how to accomplish this, and those who do often have rather odd tastes. Worry not, because an unlikely mixup linked the brothel to the bedroom of a young girl, named Makura, or Maki, for short. She may think herself plain, but this girl belongs to one of the most sexually talented races this brothel has ever known: humans. Maki is more than eager to help, and in no time at all, will make a name for herself as the brothel's star prostitute and interspecies sex expert!

Species

Mutually exclusive. Choose age and gender as you see fit.

Human: FREE

Like young Maki, your room was accidentally linked to this interdimensional brothel. Whether you take to prostitution like a fish to water, or become a regular client instead, the owner of the establishment regrets to inform you the connection cannot be broken off for good for the next decade. Start anywhere on Earth

Monster: FREE / 100CP / 200CP

Whether client or prostitute, you're a fantasy creature straight out of an RPG. If you pick a monster that is conventionally much more powerful than a human, then you are an exceptionally weak member of that species. You can pay a little extra to have exceptional physical strength like the Golem, or twice to match the physical size and might of creatures like a dragon or kraken. Start in any dimension you please.

Free For All

Integral Compromises: Free

This feels necessary for your stay. No matter you or your partner's physiology, you are always able to initiate sexual acts with one another in one form or another. Whether a slime, a skeleton, or an unfeeling lich, there will always be some loophole that makes it possible for your partner to bring you to orgasm, and vice versa. Problem is, this doesn't guarantee either of you will have the skill or intuition to uncover and execute the necessary tricks, which may seem strange, disturbing, or just plain random, but it will always be possible.

Human Perks

Two perks of each tier are discounted for humans. Discounted 100CP perks are free.

Unicorn Tamer: 100CP

It's hard to imagine that someone like you would find themselves somewhere like this, but you are an honest-to-God virgin. You're given far more leeway than anyone else when it comes to what it takes to qualify socially and metaphysically as a virgin. No matter what you've gotten up to in your history in this jump or even in past jumps, as long as you have not had vaginal intercourse after starting a jump, not even a unicorn could see you as anything but a pure-hearted virgin. Can be fully or selectively toggled at will.

Ten (+/- Ten) out of Ten: 100CP

Beauty is in the eye of the beholder, and when said beholder isn't exactly following the same scale, you're a bombshell and a half. Even if you aren't considered attractive by your own species' standards, there's some quality about you that makes other species see you as a total beauty. Not mesmerizingly so, but if you put your sexual services on the interspecies market, you'll never find yourself lacking clientele. This is even more effective if the other person themselves greatly deviates from your specie's conventional beauty standards.

Professional Decorum: 100CP

This is what draws the line between a common street whore, and a real professional slut, especially when a client couldn't be farther from human beauty standards. You've mastered the art of simply not caring about, or perfectly hiding your disgust for how conventionally weird or repulsive your partners and their fetishes are. You can still set boundaries, but if they still manage to throw you a curveball, you won't bat an eye, and can play along as if nothing was out of the ordinary. Your partner's ego will thank you; I can promise.

Popular Girl: 100CP

Brothels are a business, first and foremost. It's not enough to just attract new customers, you need to make sure they keep coming back for more. You have that special disposition and mannerisms that endear you to sexual partners. When they want to get their rocks off, not just any prostitute will cut it, they'll want you specifically. This won't make it any more likely for partners to start getting clingy outside of work hours, unless they were already inclined to do so, or you actively encourage such behavior.

A Mile in Cum-Filled Shoes: 200 CP

Empathy is a powerful weapon for giving pleasure, one you have mastered. You can wrap your head around all but the most alien perspectives with a simple glance. You can understand that a living armor would see everything but a person's clothing unnecessary, or that a birdman could be hypnotized by emulating the process of birthing, that an undine can't resist picking up items dropped in their water, etc. All that matters is that they follow some kind of internal logic, no matter how bizarre that logic may seem.

Over the Edge: 200CP

While this also applies to keeping someone on the edge in a physically sexual sense, the mind is not exempt from your ministrations either. You have a sixth sense for how close someone is to their "edge" emotionally. You can belittle an egoist without permanently hurting their pride or bully a client with a short fuse. You can instantly tell the sincerity of someone's ego. Whether they're confrontational because they genuinely think that highly of themselves, or simply want someone like you to put them in their place.

The Sweetest Denial: 200CP

It's an oversimplification that the naked body is all it takes to get a partner ready for action. In your case, people often find you just as attractive while fully dressed, as if you were stark naked, or in lingerie. People's reaction to you is as if you're always wearing the ideal ratio of clothes to flesh for their tastes. Even when you aren't wearing them, your clothes somehow retain at least 80% of your sex appeal. Certain clients may even find your clothing alone more attractive than the full package. Can be toggled at will.

Human Condom: 200CP

Probably not how biology works, but who's complaining? You can control your fertility at will. Even if your partner floods you with semen, or plants eggs in your guts. If you want a baby to take, it'll take, if not, unwanted pregnancies are fundamentally impossible, even via unconventional methods of insemination. In addition, rather than violently rupturing when your organs or orifices are stuffed far past capacity (unless someone is explicitly trying to kill you) your body will just harmlessly stretch to accommodate.

The Taste of Defeat: 400CP

It's hard not to think that those who boast and posture are really just begging for someone to put them in their place. Someone like you. Being completely and utterly defeated by you is an inherently arousing experience. This requires you to completely dominate them, clearly demonstrating the futility of their opposition. Those with stronger wills can resist losing sight of their goal, but whether you're dominating them in bed or in war, they'll find themselves feeling hot and bothered without necessarily knowing why.

Exposition Cum Dump: 400CP

A must-have resource for the emerging monster-fucker. You have encyclopedic knowledge of common monsters and supernatural creatures that exist in any setting you enter, and updates for any more you meet after the fact. This isn't exhaustive, and won't let you in on any well-kept secrets, but it will give you a basic rundown of their general physiological characteristics, native environment, and even some sociological details of their society and relationships with other species.

Filthy Silver: 400CP

You are a veritable god of dirty talk and seduction. You can fluster or manipulate the most stubborn, prideful, or temperamental clients. The more servile or submissive your listener, the more effective your words are, to the point that you can bring these types of mind-blowing orgasms in seconds, just by whispering a few choice words. Even for those who would be naturally resistant to these advances, it could take you maybe a single conversation to have them willingly tied and gagged like a carp on the chopping block.

Fine Print and Finer Fingers: 400CP

Most people understand that certain behaviors are simply unacceptable in a proper brothel. Most, but not all. For those times when a particularly rude customer tries to rope you into some blatantly unfair deal, you can worm your way out every time, as long as you manage to sexually pleasure that person. At risk of getting scammed by an unscrupulous skeleton? Just fellate their femur until they settle down. Lose your soul in a deal with a hasty lich, give their soul the orgasm of a lifetime, and you'll pop right back into your body.

Harlot of All Trades: 600CP

With the variety of needs a prostitute often needs to address, they find themselves wearing many hats. With this, you are able to pull an endless variety of skills out of nowhere, as long as they are immediately vital to providing the target of these skills pleasure in some form. If a patchwork monster needs a new dick, you'll have the biomedical skills to install one. If a sphynx requires mental stimulation, you'll have a mind on-par with the greatest chess players. These skills cannot be applied in any non-recreational context.

Plot Protection: 600CP

You'd think having sex with lifeforms from other dimensions would be dangerous or something. It is now impossible for sexual acts done to or by you to cause any long-term harm, unless you want it to. Succubi can suck all they want at your soul, and that dragon dick with the razor-sharp scales won't cut or suffocate you as it makes its way through your entire digestive tract. The more dangerous an act, the better it feels. Naturally, if someone swings a sword at you in the middle of sex, it's not the sex that's killing you.

Matryoshka Slut: 600CP

True sluttiness is more than skin deep. Whether in your mind, your body, or even your soul, your sexual talent is omnipresent. Any attempt to steal or influence any of the three will result in the closest equivalent to molestation from the full brunt of your sexual skills. Those who invade your dreams will be at the mercy of transcendently lewd dreams, those who extract your soul will have their own assaulted by your spectral form, etc. You're hardly invincible, but who's ever really prepared to have an orgasm with their soul?

Yeah, Fuck Humans!: 600CP

The true power of humans, known only to those with the interdimensional context. In actuality, humanity has a natural level of sexual talent far above seemingly any other race. Not only does this generally make you specifically a natural sex genius, even among humans, but for any and all non-human sexual partners, your sexual skill will skyrocket, along with your ability to resist your partner's advances, such that your sexual skill is always infinitely better than that of any nonhuman partners, regardless of their species or standards.

Monster Perks

Two perks of each tier are discounted for monsters. Discounted 100CP perks are free.

Ready to Blow: 100CP

Nothing good comes from getting too backed up, or at least it's supposed to work that way. There's seemingly no limit to how sexually pent up you can become. Go too long and your next orgasm could fill a bathtub. This would be a pure drawback, if not for the fact that becoming sufficiently backed up sexually can cause your entire body to grow to twice its normal size. What's more, you can choose to shrink down to half your usual size upon experiencing your long-awaited release for the next day or so.

No Shame to be Found: 100CP

A strange body and strange kinks tend to go hand in hand here. When it comes to you, sexual partners always seem willing to cooperate with any fetishes of yours that aren't any more harmful than standard S&M play. They'll even start to get into it themselves, though this usually doesn't manifest in a long-term fetish. Whether your fetish involves projectile egg-laying, or shoe-making, your partner wouldn't even think of shaming you for just liking what you like. It's another story if those tastes aren't exactly legal.

Boy-San: 100CP

Like the stout proprietor of the brothel, you go above and beyond in the name of professionalism. You can restrain your libido to the point that nobody would think you ever had one, even to the point of making puns as two steamy monsters go at it in front of you. On that note, nobody seems particularly bothered with letting you watch them in the act, and neither your stares nor running commentary will kill their lust for each other's bodies one bit. Just make sure your means of entry wouldn't be a cause for concern in itself.

Frequent Freak Flag Flyer Miles: 100CP

If those Japanese hentai comics are to be believed, conventional human attractiveness isn't quite mutually required. No matter how strange, or even grotesque your body may be, you have some unquantifiable charm that incites sexual curiosity. Just enough to make them contemplate "should I touch it?" or "would it feel good?", but whether this goes beyond pure curiosity depends on the individual, but the odds of them at least giving you a chance are much higher than before.

Realer Than Real: 200CP

It's far too short-sighted to write off phone sex as a substitute for the real deal. As long as you're on one end of the line, phone sex somehow feels just as good as actual in-person sex, even if the other person would normally be unable to experience the pleasure of sex for one reason or another. Any sensual acts done to the phone itself will somehow be felt by the other person, as if it were a sexual organ. Lick the receiver, and it'd be like licking their ear. Ejaculate, and your fluids will somehow travel through the phone line.

Below and Beyond: 200CP

No boss wants their employees to half-ass their job, but the opposite issue may be more concerning in your case. Those who work under you come to take pride and enjoyment in their work, even if they have a traditionally shameful job like prostitute or janitor. They'll become passionate in their duties, going above and beyond to accomplish their duties. Naturally, as their satisfaction with their work increases, so too does their talent and ability, within reason, of course. Just be careful not to let them overwork themselves.

Spawning Season: 200CP

Apparently for you, every season is spawning season. You can fully control your virility to the point that you could impregnate a girl with a drop of semen, or alternatively pump them full of eggs without any chance that any form of impregnation will occur. Which is good, because this perk also allows you to cum physically impossible quantities of semen as you please and your refractory period in its entirety is now a thing of the past. Orgasms in forms where it shouldn't be physically possible can manifest in bizarre ways.

Picky Bone Picker: 200CP

What kind of jackass goes to a brothel to pull shit like this? Well, you, apparently. You'll have an undeserved degree of success as a con-artist. You can sell someone on even the most nonsensical scams, like a skeleton complaining about their missing "dick bone", or an unfeeling lich demanding sexual satisfaction. There's a good chance that your victims will somehow fall for your scams, but don't expect the law to buckle, if you try to actually get them involved in what's an otherwise obvious scam.

Gold into Silver: 400CP

Transmutation is a common trick within mythology, and now you can pull off something similar. This isn't consciously controlled, and the conditions can be fairly easily exploited. Perhaps you're like an undine, who can repair any simple object dropped into their water, while also creating a gold and silver duplicate, but is forced to expose themselves to go through the whole "which did you drop?" schtick. Or maybe you have the medusa's petrifying gaze, which is equally effective on yourself. Can be toggled during moments of calm.

Liquid Dreamer: 400CP

Not all forms of pleasure need be sexual. You're a creature with the special ability to enter and eat the dreams of others. You gain nourishment from this, but most importantly, you get to explore the constructs of the unconscious mind as if they were your own. Whether you just sit back and enjoy the ride or make an effort to twist the dream yourself to make the perfect Heaven or Hell for the dreamer, is up to you. Incidentally, you also experience sexual pleasure from eating wet dreams.

Above the Influence: 400CP

This may feel counterproductive to your purpose in this jump, but you may be surprised by its usefulness. At your own discretion, you may seal away your soul from your mind and body, letting you shrug off any amount of pleasure or pain, as well as any attempt to manipulate you emotionally. Perfect for when you want to turn the tables on an over-sensual succubus, or a silver-tongued devil. However, the more you make use of this, the more sensitive your soul becomes to direct stimulus. Don't go pissing off any ghost prostitutes.

A True Lord of Penis: 400CP

You may be a hideous abomination, but this is a brothel, you'll fit right in. You exude an intoxicating and addictive aura. You tap into the suppressed desire to be defiled. No matter your appearance, in any sexual context, any disgust that should be felt towards you is instead transformed into raw lust. This is especially pronounced in those plagued by loneliness or self-consciousness, who often find themselves falling head over heels in love with your slimy embrace, as you continue to defile them in whatever way you please.

Hydrated Hydra: 600CP

In the multiverse, there are many creatures who take great pride in their vitality, but you are on another level. Your regenerative ability is absurd. You can regenerate limbs in a matter of seconds, but not complex organs. Injuries that you can regenerate from are felt as pleasure instead of pain, and the regeneration itself is an orgasmic feeling in its own right. An oddity of this ability is that unless you explicitly desire otherwise, you don't bleed from injuries, and your flesh is delicious and nutritious, even when consumed raw.

Familiar Face Finder: 600CP

I can't see this causing any trouble. You have the ability to shift your form to resemble any living being you meet, down to their clothing and sexual tastes. It's not a perfect mimicry, as you don't gain any unnatural abilities and your body's colors don't change. This comes with the added benefit of allowing you to constantly run into other beings with similar mimicry abilities, who are universally DTF in the form of other people. This even somehow happens in worlds where such shapeshifters shouldn't even exist.

Interdimensional Entrepreneurship: 600CP

You are privy to a number of rituals that allow the user to summon beings from other dimensions exclusively for sexual experiences. The summoning automatically ends shortly after the summoned being is sexually satisfied. You can infuse the ritual into cards that can be used on a moment's notice, or into doorways that allow the other creature to "summon" themselves at their own discretion. Perfect if you want to work on setting up your own interdimensional brothel, or just weaponize horny tentacle monsters.

Not Quite the Devil, but Close Enough: 600CP

You have the authority to strike deals with the other person's soul on the line. If they cannot deliver, their soul is yours, serving you as a spectral slave for the rest of time (or until you leave that jump). The deal doesn't even need to be fair, as long as the other party agrees to it with a full grasp of the consequences. Incidentally, spectral sex is apparently incomparably more pleasurable than physical sex. Don't feel ashamed too if you blow your load after your first kiss with a disembodied soul.

Equipment

Discount on any two items, discounted 100CP items are free

You Never Know: 100CP

Some species are far more dangerous to please than others, so it pays to always be prepared. This is a gas mask that you can pull out of seemingly nowhere on a moment's notice. You never need to replace the filter, but it's otherwise a completely mundane gas mask. You can choose to give other companions the ability to pull out their own masks, as long as they're in the same room as you.

For S-Men and M-Men Alike: 100CP

You will never find yourself lacking the toys and equipment for some good-old S&M play. Even if the equipment needed to properly bind your partner isn't quite conventional, you'll always manage to find it, and when it comes to bindings, they just seem to wind themselves perfectly around your partners, as if they were guiding your hands. Just don't expect to find anything too useful for non-S&M purposes.

Fapara Month(ish)ly: 100CP / 200CP

Aren't we getting meta? Every other month or so, you'll receive a new entry of the manga "How They Fap in Parallel Worlds". Watch as Maki solves the problems of one strange client after another, with running commentary by Boy-San. You will continue to receive these as you continue on your chain, and never find them getting any less entertaining. Pay extra to give these books the ability to infinitely multiply.

Dragons Fucking Cars: 200CP

Turns out it's more than just a meme. You are in possession of a modern car to your specifications. It's unknown why or how, but gargantuan creatures who use this car to pleasure themselves will experience mind-blowing pleasure. Maybe it's something in the air bags? Luckily for your budget, it never needs refueling, will never explode when damaged, and is restored to prime condition every 24 hours.

Super Sticky Safety Net: 200CP

These special replenishing pills are all you'll ever need to fuck otherworldly species without a care in the world. Not only does this act as an inter- and intra-species birth control, it even takes care of any immune system differences. Wouldn't want your head exploding due to an allergic reaction to their alien pathogens, or infertility from a load of monster sperm. This probably wouldn't be an issue here, but it might later.

Red Men with Green Paper: 200CP

You'd imagine payment would be an issue with a brothel that exists outside dimensions, but Boy-San seems to manage this, and now so do you. You have a special ATM that can convert currency between different regions or dimensions, including other jumps. Somehow this never damages local economies if you aren't actively trying to. Don't think about breaking it open, the insides aren't anywhere in this dimension.

Thriller Night: 400CP

Morality works a little differently on a multiversal scale. You have about two dozen undead under your command. They could be your standard zombies, or something more exotic like jiangshi. They aren't that much stronger individually than a regular human, but they make up for it in numbers, loyalty, and sheer tenacity. There's some trait about you that they find extremely addictive, like your scent or voice, which effortlessly gets them worked up and may be why they pledged themselves to you in the first place.

Weird Strong Puppy: 400CP

You have an enormous golem, which has sworn loyalty to you alone. They're strong as a semi-truck and will attempt to follow any order you give them without question. Though they aren't capable of much without an order to follow. You're free to pick their appearance freely, if the brick gorilla design doesn't do it for you. If you desire, you can take some other kind of construct as your servant, like a patchwork monster or perhaps a gargoyle. Their exact qualities will vary, but their loyalty and physical power remain unchanged.

Interdimensional Playpen: 400CP

The perfect stage for your lewd antics. You are in possession of a cozy, indestructible, self-cleaning bedroom, complete with a personal shower. When you desire, you can open up the door, and a random creature from another dimension will be welcomed in to have sex with you. You'll even get paid. The acts they perform may be a tad extreme, but it'll never put you in extreme danger, and it'll always feel somewhat good for you.

New Competition: 200CP, Requires Interdimensional Playpen

You are now the proud owner of your own interdimensional brothel. The brothel can't connect between jumps until post-spark, but you'll always have a decent roster of clients and employees. As the owner, you naturally get a hefty income even if you don't actively participate in the action. The vetting process is roughly on the level of the Interdimensional Playpen, but with the increase in scale, it's inevitable that a bad apple will sneak in every now and then. Rarely, should someone like Maki exist in the current jump who possesses abnormal sexual talent and desire, they may end up accidentally linked to the brothel.

Companions

The Usual: 100CP

With each purchase, you will be allowed to import up to two companions into this world. They're free to pick their origins and receive discounts and freebies, but they'll only have 400CP each to spend.

New Blood: 100CP

For each purchase, you may take one character who has appeared in Fapara any associated manga, and bring them with you on your chain. Whether that be the lascivious Makura, the ever-professional Boy-San, or any one of the monster customers, if you so desire. You don't need to convince them, since they'll be on-board with joining you as long as you bought them through this option.

Drawbacks

Blowhard (and Fast): +100CP / +0CP

What a poor combination. You have an absolutely enormous ego, compelling you to belittle others, while simultaneously being a hopeless quickshot. Expect to be teased about this by sexual partners.

You can pass on receiving CP for this to take it as a kind of perk. Through meeting some simple condition, whether that be a specific keyword, a certain smell, turning a valve on your body, etc. you can experience mind-blowing orgasms on a moment's notice. This can be freely toggled post-jump and won't affect your stamina during more conventional sexual acts.

Rubbed Raw: +100 CP

Dear God, some people just don't know when to stop. For some reason, some part of your body necessary for sexual gratification has been chaffed to an agonizing extent. You get backed up even more quickly than before, and all but the gentlest care will cause you far more pain than pleasure.

Teenage Woes: +100CP

Even for a young slut, teenhood isn't easy. You have rock-bottom self-esteem and severe image issues. This compels you to whore yourself out, which is fine in the short run, but still far from a healthy coping method. In general, you are far more vulnerable to peer pressure than most people your age.

Easy Pickings: +200CP

You must have been put on a list somewhere. At least once a week, expect to deal with particularly difficult clients or partners in some form or another. Once a month, you'll come across someone who is actively malicious, and seeks to extort you for all your worth. Hopefully money is all they're after.

Cuck-Boy-San: +200CP

Even professionalism has its limits. You're the type who insists on perpetually denying your growing sexual frustration. Even the clumsiest flirting will make your face beet-red. Any sexual act will be accompanied by overwhelming shame. Even if you hold strong, you're teased and tempted almost constantly.

Clogged Pipes: +200CP

Like many of the difficult clients in this establishment, you get backed up freakishly fast. What's more, should this become sufficiently extreme, it can have severe health effects. An undine could drown in their own waters of passion, a mushroom man might just explode outright from built-up spores, etc.

Birdbrain: +400CP

Whoever said "ignorance is bliss" clearly never met you. You suffer from an extreme case of short-term memory loss. It's like your brain just resets after any particularly pleasurable experience. There is a method to bypass this amnesia, but it's truly bizarre, and you have no idea what it is.

How Jumper's Fap in Another World: +400CP

For all your sexual desire and frustration, you're plagued by the fact that you have no clue how to sexually relieve yourself. The steps needed to experience sexual pleasure are strange, complex, and hyper-specific. You have to figure them out yourself, and their effectiveness rapidly fades with every climax.

The Unpleasant Reality: +400CP

Looks like you've lost your safety-net. No matter your species or gender, you will find yourself constantly getting pregnant with one grotesque beast after another, even if you don't have sex, somehow. Luckily, none of these will kill you, but it'll be extremely difficult to get any action during these periods of pregnancy.

Conclusion

Go Home

Looks like ten years of sex with fantasy creatures was your limit. You've been sent back home, but if you ever find your curiosity riled once more, you can pop back into the brothel at any time, with a hefty discount.

Stay Here

You really want to end your journey? Lust is a powerful force indeed. A certain transdimensional being has taken the liberty of covering your brothel expenses for life. Don't hesitate to indulge yourself.

Move On

On the road, once again. Worry not. A doorway to the interdimensional brothel has been linked to your warehouse. Feel free to pop in at any time, but don't expect any freebies or discounts going forwards.

Notes

Jump by Gene

I used the one-shot Penis Lord as inspiration for some of the monster perks. There's an argument to be made for them to represent elements in Fapara or Interdimensional Brothel, but it's the same artist with a similar protagonist design, and similar elements, so I think it's a small compromise.

Fun fact, if you only count the 4-page comics that came after the initial comic, there is no meaningful nudity anywhere. Unless you count weird mermen egg-holes.