

World of Futadom

Many years ago, or perhaps even from the beginning, there was a change that has made this world quite a bit different from many others, namely the emergence of futanari as the dominant section of society. Women of greater stature and endowment than either other women or men while also equipped to take on the 'roles' of both whether in or out of the bedroom, though they most often find themselves taking over the traditional place men would otherwise hold. Whether as a futa yourself or one of those finding themselves beneath their cocks, figuratively and likely literally, this is the sort of world you've entered into here. By default, this world is rather normal aside from the prevalence of futanari but there are certainly ways to change this; after all this idea has found itself applied rather broadly despite the debased nature of even the mildest versions of a world run with futas at the head of the ship.

You receive +1000 to help get you started here.

Origins: Your place in this world largely depends on one key thing, futa or not?

Futanari (Free): While the exact details may vary futas are generally women with typically large cocks in addition to the expected holes found between their legs, in this world you're also the ones running everything here with most positions of real power being under the control of a futa in one way or another. Most often by actually holding them but otherwise by getting the non-futa who does addicted to futa cock, either way works quite well.

Non-Futa (+100-300): Men along with any women who lack something extra between the legs find your position a bit worse off these days, depending on your other decisions here it could be fairly mild with non-futas being 'mostly' equal to futas, sitting at the same table just with futas at the head. In such a case where attaining a standing of note is just unusual and a little harder for non-futas you get +100, if there's significant discrimination keeping non-futas down and making most assume any who are at all successful got there by giving themselves to the right futa this gives +200, and if 'futa cocksleeve' is socially mandatory as the center of a non-futas place in the world with 'correction' expected for any resistance you'll gain +300 for this origin. Men and any non-futa women may find themselves getting different amounts if their status compared to futas is different from one another.

Your age may be chosen freely within reason, Futas are of course futas and Non-Futas may remain or become either men or non-futa women for free.

Perks and items are discounted 50% for their origins, except at 100 which becomes free.

Locations: By default, you may start anywhere on Earth; but what sort of place is it?

Neutral Country (Free): You're starting out in one of the more normal places, by the rather lewd standards of this world at least. Futas are in charge as one might expect but it's more a natural occurrence and while society might encourage the 'correction' of non-futas who aren't in their proper place in more heavily futa dominated worlds things aren't too heavy in terms of the hard cock of the government forcing the issue. As long as they're careful a non-futa could realistically maintain their independence here and even if bound get their fix without becoming any particular futa's de-facto property, similarly futas have relatively free access to non-futas even if the law doesn't let them claim them as true sex slaves as easily as many might prefer. Anyone can start in such a region for free, as it's the 'normal' of the world even if the next one down might be more common in some cases.

Futa Empire (+100/Free): Alternatively, your starting location may be part of the 'Futanari Empire'; it isn't necessarily called that but this part of the world is practicing and spreading true futa supremacy. While the exact extent of this might vary depending on how far into their goals for society they might be and may be stricter on men than non-futa women or vice versa but this is a place where futa supremacy is strongest. Non-futas likely need to pay a tax to not be registered as belonging to a futa, which might be anything from being in an especially one-sided 'marriage' to being the outright slave of the futa depending on just how futa dominated the world happens to be. Futas can likely just rape an 'unowned' non-futa off the street to make hers without any consideration for wishes of her new pet or the fact that they've paid their independence tax. There may well be a segment of the police dedicated to raping and enslaving uncooperative non-futas and potentially making 'Public Free Use' a commonly used corrective measure. Starting in this region is free for a Futanari and grants an extra +100 for a Non-Futa due to the nature of the place.

Free Male States (+100/Free): Again, not necessarily called that or even run by males but it is a region that actively opposes futa dominance and is hostile to futas in general due to what's needed to do so. If they are even allowed to exist within the country futas here are heavily restricted and likely face mandatory chastity, a difficult prospect for most futas to endure, and experience a great deal of suspicion. Additionally, society in general is rather restrictive to prevent futas from sticking their cocks into things and prevent secretly bound non-futas from helping their mistresses change things. Despite the costs in both freedom and privacy these measures do not actually do a great job of keeping futas out, as various political figures or just attractive non-futas being bound as trophies or moles by futas are not especially rare despite efforts to prevent it. Non-Futas may start in this region for free and Futanari may start in such an area for an extra +100 if they'd like.

World Perks: These perks significantly impact the state of this world, these aspects don't follow you when you leave by default but any direct benefits to you and yours do.

Futa Physics (Free): Logic and even the laws of physics often find themselves subordinate to making things lewder, sexier, safer, more pleasurable, and even less unpleasant when it comes to all things sexual. A futa could have a dick the size of her forearm, flaccid, which she can use with no harm to herself or her partner and have them subsist off her cum with no real health problems resulting from such a diet. Bizarre forms of sexual degeneracy you might normally think would have no place outside of hentai or especially deviant piece of erotica are not only possible but pleasurable when they should realistically be dangerous or disgusting when experienced outside of raunchy fiction. While this is mainly aimed at futas others can take advantage of such effects too, such as a guy being able to hide away his massive third leg just as easily as a futa could, and despite mainly affecting lewd things some more practical effects are possible such as a futa sustaining herself and others using her cum or the same 'elasticity' that allows 'bigger' partners offering some protection for large impacts of a significantly different variety. Keep in mind that something being rather pleasurable doesn't keep someone from finding it gross, which might actually make them more bothered by it in some ways than they otherwise would be.

Futadom Worlds (Free/200): Futanari are, generally speaking, quite a bit taller than men and slightly but noticeably stronger given a similar level of fitness while achieving such far more easily than a man would. They are also generally more attractive than most women with few being in any way unattractive and most being well above average at least, those who aren't often being such because of a specific personal issue. These benefits are paired with a (potential) downside in that they've got a far higher than normal sex drive and find that relieving it often feels more like a need than a desire; needing to masturbate or have sex at least three times a day to not be persistently distracted, potentially more in teenage or especially horny futas. For Free futas could optionally appear in future worlds in your preferred form(s), for 200 you may do the same for (and adjust to fit) your World Perks.

Titanococks (Free/100): Something of a rare occurrence is that of an extremely large cock, now while futas packing heat the size of their forearms or being quite literally hung like a horse aren't necessarily rare those with cocks the size of someone else's entire body don't show up as often. For free you can have 'hyper cocks' be a rare occurrence in the world or for 100 CP you may have one of your own and make them as common as you'd like, though futas should definitely have them more often than men. Those possessing such huge dicks will find that they only cause minor inconveniences at most despite potentially being more dick than person by volume when fully erect. This may optionally come with the ability to shrink it down to a saner size or only reach such size under certain situations.

Futa Pheromones (Free/100): One of the most iconic aspects of worlds like this are simply how intoxicating and addictive futas are; simply smelling a sweaty futa can make non-futas rather horny, dimmer of thought, and oddly compliant toward her after a few minutes just by being nearby her with just a few deep breaths being enough if directly smelling her up close and personal. Directly taking in the potent pheromonal cocktail produced by a futa's body, especially via her fresh cum, often has more drastic effects of making the non-futa properly 'bound' after one to five loads in most cases depending on the futa and non-futa in question; more if spread out. Bound non-futas are highly addicted to futa pheromones, experience significant mental decline, and have a difficult time resisting desires/demands of futas who they regularly receive 'doses' from. Futas in this world get this for free but if you pay 100 CP you can produce such pheromones even as a non-futa and decide just how potent your pheromones are, up to the point that most people would get 'bound' from just one load from your mighty shaft. The details of 'binding' may be adjusted to an extent so long as they don't make it significantly more powerful, perhaps women don't lose their intelligence like men do, the mental decline only takes effect when under withdrawal, or it's harder or easier to break free of being bound (at most it is as hard a habit to break as many hard drugs; though mental degradation, futa sexual aggression, and it never entirely going away even if 'cured' might make it functionally harder).

Anthro Futadom (Free/100/200): Humans are not the only potential futas out there and if you wish you can have this world also be populated by other species as well, by default this may add anthros (furries) to the world with the caveat that futas make up a significant portion of their population. If taken with any non-free level of Futa Powered or Progressive Technology it can also add aliens of varying stripes and with Dickcraft this can add fantasy races as well, any such races can be customized to a certain extent (especially with regard to sex and futanari prevalence) and any already existing races may also be altered in such ways too like an all-female race being all futa. For 100 CP you'll be able to become a race like this yourself including the advantages they might possess above normal humans, with the great strength of a larger anthro or the smug overall superiority of elves for instance though they won't provide anything exceptionally powerful. Other perks may also allow a greater degree of options with added races as well, such as Sissy Sized allowing for fairies or the like and Futa Sized enabling properly huge races such as giantesses or anthros based upon large animals matching or surpassing the size of those animals, among several other possibilities with the right combinations. For 200 you might be of a race with serious racial powers such as a vampire or perhaps very young dragon, while not much comparable to truly powerful capes or full mastery over magic it could easily place you beyond the reach of whole groups of armed normal humans.

Food for Cocks (Free/100): While often requiring a large size difference, even with physics yielding to sex, vore (especially cock vore) is possible; with predators (usually futas) being able to 'eat' someone in an often highly pleasurable manner. While it often ends up being so this doesn't necessarily have to be lethal, like with those churned into cum being able to survive as sentient cum if stored in a futa sized condom or being reborn from the womb their predator released them in. Quick or convenient recovery will likely require additional elements such as magic or technology and for an extra 100 predators may gain something past simple pleasure and nutrition from their meals, such as growing larger (in all the right places) and/or getting slightly but noticeably 'stronger' in general after every 'meal'.

Wincest (Free): Keeping it in the family is not that strange around here, a futa might want to train her son or daughter to serve futa cock themselves and it's at times seen as a right for a futa to claim the holes of a non-futa parent once she comes of age. Concerns like an overabundance of inbreeding or aversion to incest simply aren't one for you or any who've been to or come from a world such as this one.

Futa Centric Culture (Free): Just the existence of futanari is likely to change things quite a bit and you've got a fair degree of how this occurs; the existence of futas being normal is of course to be expected and certain fetishes or sex acts relating to them are not just more common but legalized and accepted such as sexual harassment and likely also rape in part due to local culture and hentai physics making them both less harmful as well as far more pleasurable than normal. While these effects will mainly focus on or at least involve futas that doesn't mean they cannot benefit others as well, such as men and non-futa women taking some similar liberties with each other that futas can towards them. Together with Futa Physics this can go a long way towards making various lewd practices or traditions an ordinary or at least accepted things, but some will require other options due to them just not being feasible just with hentai physics and a cultural shift. Beyond just a cultural level this can also be used to incorporate your other world options more deeply with society at large, making them not just exist but potentially becoming key aspects.

Sissy Sized (+100/Free): Whether through freak randomness, magic, mad science, or some other setting specific reason people sometimes find themselves shrunk down to just a few centimeters to inches tall. Incidentally futas commonly have rather lewd ideas for anyone with such a 'limited stature' and greatly enjoy doing lewd things to them, such as shoving a shrunk person into the same hole that said futa is about to fuck. This simply happening and/or being possible (depending on the method/setting) is free but you can receive +100 if you start out similarly shrunk and need an in context method to return to full size and not be suck tiny for the duration of the jump, this may prove difficult if the world lacks the magic or science needed to actively cause and reverse such things.

Futa Sized (Free/100/300): People in this world, and especially futas, can be much larger than normal; potentially up to three times the height of what would normally be viewed as tall and a great deal thicker too. This is free but for 100 CP you can gain such stature for yourself and/or have proper giantesses of potentially hundreds of feet tall exist with many such massive individuals being futas with cocks often much bigger than trains. For 300 you may be such a massive individual but you might find things difficult outside of special areas designed for such titanic individuals, though taking your issues out on the smaller folk will not be very hard should you wish to do so. Magic, science, or powers could easily provide less aggressive ways to solve such problems with the relevant options and this may include such a method for yourself and/or large individuals in general if taken alongside Dickcraft or any paid level of Futa Powered or Progressive Technology if you so desire.

Futa Powered (Free/100/200-600): People in this world may have unusual abilities, for no cost you may have the locals occasionally possess strange lewd powers that while having little if any practical or combat value do hold potential for making things interesting within the bedroom. For 100 you can get such an ability yourself such as making your cum always taste like your current partner's favorite flavor, remaining comfortable if restrained even indefinitely, or your dick doubling the pleasure felt by whoever has it inside them; for the same price you can instead/also have more significant powers exist within the world held in the hands of others (with futas most affected). For 200 you might have a proper power of your own sufficient that you could handily defeat armed thugs unless very careless, for 400 you could instead have powers sufficient to overcome a small military force equipped with armored vehicles, and for 600 you could be strong enough to destroy a city over the course of an afternoon while ignoring all but the heaviest of modern weaponry. You may purchase the 100 level of this multiple times for a few minor lewd powers and any proper power you purchase comes with one such minor lewd ability for free.

Progressive Technology (Free/100/200): To better accommodate futas and their partners certain advances have been achieved in the fields of sex toys, contraceptives, performance enhancers, aphrodisiacs, and other such things; while the extent and nature of these is in large part dependent on the setting even an otherwise mundane modern world would be home to many exceptional examples. For 100 you can shift the local tech levels to a degree like to take the world up to a maximum of a relatively low level sci-fi/interstellar civilization or perhaps bring it down lower while still maintaining plentiful lewd innovations, possibly through steampunk or other forms of schizo tech. Advancements of a lewd nature likely being a fair bit ahead of everything else. For 200 you'll not just be able to do this but also gain a significant mastery over the local technology and a talent in developing all manner of technological advancements of an overtly horny nature.

Demographic Control (Free): Naturally the presence of futas are going to shift the balance around here but you may decide the exact extent, perhaps men are almost or completely replaced with futas, futas might make up a third of the population with the other two split between men and non-futa women, or maybe futas are merely a highly dominant minority of maybe ten percent of people give or take? This aspect may be brought to other worlds with just the first free level of Futadom Worlds as part of determining just how futas start appearing in other worlds but futas are included to a significant degree, you can be the only male in the world with this but not the only cock. Do keep in mind being the only male is likely to make you a rather prized trophy that many futas would be quite aggressive about seeing hang from their cocks. This also lets you alter local racial demographics when used with Anthro Futadom among other similar things, especially in regard to futas.

Dickcraft (100/200): Perhaps it's common knowledge or perhaps a well-hidden secret but magic is real within this world, likely between the realms of D20 and less absurd versions cape spellcasting with regards to its maximum potential. Simply having magic exist so that it's available to experience and potentially learn is 100; though reaching beyond any minor cantrips useful only for party tricks, light housework, or a small amount of lewd fun takes years of training without a lot of real talent. For 200 you have such talent as well as a solid head start on learning magic; able to cast some real spells such as a fireball, some properly useful utility spells, a few raunchier spells, and at least one spell for turning normal women into futas (which may or may not have been found on purpose). Incidentally magic seems to respond unusually well to spells that are in some way lewd even when not used in lewd ways, a spell to make someone larger or smaller is easier and far stronger than one used to make them simply stronger or weaker for instance.

Brisk Blossoming (100): As you might imagine in a world so focused on dick breeding is an extremely popular idea around here and viewed even more luridly than most, it's not that uncommon for a futa to fuck her own mother, father, son, or daughter; in some cases it's even expected that the husband or wife of a futa serve their own daughters with her once they've come of age. Normally this might not come up due to only spending just ten years here but this causes time to warp such that sons and daughters grow up much faster than normal, reaching their mid to late teens with things up to that point condensed massively such that they still experience their youth and education in full. This is considered normal or instead goes simply unnoticed. Buying this allows you to retain it for yourself and your own offspring into future worlds but Futadom Worlds will allow you to expand it to whole settings, in either case you choose whether this is active or not at the beginning of a jump and may fine tune the details at that time as well, such as only futas developing at such a heightened speed or various other adjustments.

Local Lookalikes (Free): Something you might notice around here is that some local people look awfully familiar, at times seeming like off brand (and usually futa) versions of iconic characters or just straight up local versions of those individuals. While they'll be adjusted to fit the world you may have local variants for some of your favorite characters appear to conquer or be conquered by, presumably sexually but it might vary. Such people won't be able to significantly alter the status quo by themselves, instead integrating into it.

Stable Replenishment (Free): The sheer amount of sex going on here seems like it should very easily cause a bit of a population problem, alternatively some of the stuff that might happen in the harsher possibilities could create the opposite kind of population problems for far less savory reasons. Whether it's just really good contraceptive options, a significant cloning operation, or just the two potential problems cancelling each other out you'll find this world won't have any major (added) population problems due to degeneracy.

General Perks:

Talent or Skill? (Free): Being good in bed is kind of mandatory here, not necessarily in that it's required but in that the locals are so horny that it's inevitable out of sheer practice as a result. Either due to such experience or just natural talent you're rather good in bed, not outlandishly so but enough that as a guy sleeping with a futa your dick would be likely to see semi-frequent use just due to her enjoying it too much to not want a change of pace from always trying to fuck you into a puddle every time.

Natural Looks (Free): Futas tend to look rather good, whether you actually are one or not you're quite attractive yourself. Whether handsome or beautiful there won't be any major obstacles to your romantic pursuits on that front and plenty of potential partners seeking to catch your eye, or just catch you in certain cases. Pretty privilege is a very real thing but do keep in mind that while this will help with your hunting it may also lead to you getting hunted in turn, or perhaps that's what you want?

What Happens in Bed (100): Often doesn't stay in bed, which can be a bit of a problem if you're engaged with the sort of things that might be seen as normal around here whether it was willing or not. Fortunately you have a bit of an advantage in this regard, you're able to have any details of past sexual adventures fade quietly into the background so that they rarely have any major impact on the future. If your coworker spent the weekend using you as a no limits sex toy (or vice versa) you could go back to working together next week free from any problems, rumors, or increased chances of getting raped in the closet that might otherwise occur under normal circumstances. Memories, evidence, and so on of anything you use this to sweep under the rug will reappear when you want them to or when you're actively engaged in those 'activities' again.

Best of Both (100): Whether it's futas just being better than both men and women in their respective roles or a man being feminized into an ideal 'wife' for her futa lover it's certainly not unusual here for someone's actual sex to be ignored out of convenience or preference in several different ways. You take this a fair bit further and are able to bypass such issues entirely, as a man you gain a subtle and hidden (or not so subtle and hidden if you prefer) feminine side which will allow you to take advantage of things normally exclusive to those of the fairer sex while women instead possess an inner tomboy which will allow them the opposite. This may optionally turn you into a trap or bifauxnen if you prefer, making it way easier to act as the opposite sex; it may become an alt-form post jump if you'd like.

Flattering Artstyles (100): Considerable amounts of lewd artwork has been created which depict futas in a wide variety of art styles, with this perk you may gain the power to change the world around you to abide by any such art style(s) you prefer at will as fast as you can blink whenever it suits you. These shifts will be retroactive and in the minds of others just how things have always been and while they're primarily aesthetic in nature may enhance aspects of Futa Physics to varying degrees depending on which one is currently being used and what most fits with it. Any art style which has seen significant use depicting futas in a flattering manner may be used, even if you're the artist in question.

Champion Breeder (100): When looking for a partner one of the biggest factors would be what kind of kids you might have with your chosen lover; sure many more prioritize looks, romantic connections, and shared tastes in bed but few can claim to disregard the promise of a strong bloodline while some even prize it above any other concerns. Your loins are of truly exceptional quality in this regard, as any seed planted by or planted in you invariably produce exceptional children. They might be natural geniuses in some area, have a potent version of something inherited from you or your lover, simply be unusually fit and healthy, and/or any other qualities their breeding could offer but the fruit of your loins will always be impressive; they seem to grow up rather nicely as well. These fine genes are shared to a lesser extent by the rest of your family including descendants, ensuring your bloodline is healthy and strong going forward. You especially will also be recognized as fine breeding stock by any potential partners, though that might prompt excess attention.

Natural Dom/Sub (100): BDSM is unsurprisingly not very unusual around here, futas tend to be the doms though that's hardly a guarantee and there are plenty of powerful futa out there who consider subbing the perfect way to unwind. By taking this you'll gain a notable dominant or submissive nature, not an overpowering change but enough to turn you into a natural fit for being a dom/sub, and quite a bit of skill in being one either through talent or experience. You may purchase this a second time at a discount to gain both.

Polygonal Relationships (100): Unconventional relationship structures are nothing new in a place like this; go outside and you'll likely see at least a few relationships consisting of a futa with a harem, a guy with a harem of futas, and some girl with a harem of futas where one of them is carrying the (ex?) boyfriend they stole her from. Whatever kind of unusual relationship type you want with this you can make it the natural way things go for you and accepted by both people in general as well as your love interests. This might be a normal harem, a specific more extreme version of one, polyamory, or perhaps some convolutedly unusual form of NTR involving weird rituals; whatever you're into really. Regardless of the type you choose you'll find your relationships naturally taking that shape and doing so in an unusually healthy and stable manner, making potentially outlandish and unreasonable family structures to not only be possible but work out well for you.

Binding is Love (100): There are certain obvious issues with building a relationship off the use of binding pheromones or other forms of mental influence, one of the most important would be what happens if the influence is broken? You however find mind control or other unnatural influences used on others not only never interfere with developing true loyalty, love, and companionship but even assist it. If you love your mind broken cum addicted sex slave you may let them go, they'll likely return blushing and eager after pouting a little as long as you made it enjoyable for them. While people are unlikely to jump at the prospect of becoming your bound pets from this by itself it'll make others less averse to it and keep them from being hostile or paranoid about your addictive jizz or mind control.

Slave Husbandry (100): Slavery is not always rare even in developed parts of worlds such as this, in particular there are likely at least some regions where futas can claim ownership over someone else simply by fucking them. As long as you treat them decently, you'll have no legal or social issues with the taking and keeping of slaves, people may resist or attempt escape but won't hold it against you for taking, owning, and enjoying them; perhaps even coming to enjoy their place under you given time and training. This does not automatically change much outside of potentially owning and being entitled to the services of slaves, in truth a male might own a futa with her obligated to serve him in the Futa Empire but she might still also be his wife/sponsor/'guardian'; thus entitled to 'use' him freely for her own pleasure and effectively be in charge despite technically being his property.

Proper Place (100): The more physically and romantically attracted to you someone is the more willing, or past a certain point eager, they'll be to submit themselves fully to you in whatever ways you desire. A girl who'd want to marry you may be even happier to become your new fuckpet, though such submission is not exclusive with more aggressive interests and domesticating a futa won't necessarily stop her from occasionally pushing you down to enjoy what she would consider your more traditional roles.

Aggressive Courtship (100): It's not especially uncommon for the more forceful methods futas may like to use in pursuing a hole to be accepted by those around them, even those they just bent over a table to rail; but this is hardly universal and even when it's accepted or legal it's still not the best way to start a healthy relationship. For most people it isn't at least, you however seem to find that your more forceful romantic pursuits are not only let slide but seem to actually aid in building up a good relationship with your victim. From the other side you'll also discover your efforts to make any intimate relationships you've been forcibly pushed into more favorable to you are greatly enhanced, assuming that's how you choose to handle them. Other options do remain open should you prefer.

Gender Bending (200): Perhaps you believe boys make the best girls, aren't satisfied with what's between your legs, or think that the girl you like would be that much hotter if she had a nice big futa cock? Regardless you now have the power to change the sex and gender of anyone you desire as you please, even making such changes semi or actually retroactive with potentially only yourself remembering that it was ever different. Partial changes also work as well, such as turning a man into femboy if you desire. These effects won't seriously change someone's abilities outside of the obvious results of dimorphism, though that still means turning someone into a futa is nearly always a worthwhile buff should you wish to 'optimize' your companions; not that anyone should really need a practical reason to want to be surrounded by hot and hung futas, unless of course you're a futa and want to make everyone around you your bound and devoted holes.

Futanari Perks:

Opportune Moments (100): You can never have enough chances to get laid and you seem to find them constantly, easy opportunities to get into the pants of cute girls and/or boys at your preference seem to pop up regularly. While mostly happening at random when it comes to specific people you want on your dick you'll find that you're just a bit more lucky than normal when it comes to them too, they probably won't get stuck somewhere at the perfect height for your cock like some random girl who fits your tastes might but fate will make sure they're noticeably easier to make yours regardless.

Bitch Breaker (100): While nearly all futas are packing quite a lot of heat compared to the typical male your shaft is exceptional even compared to other futas. Beyond its sheer size your meat seems to be unusually pleasurable to any hole you stuff with it, a rough fucking relying on just your size and vigor would be enough to make most extremely satisfied with multiple orgasms that leave them unable to stand steadily. Additionally this offers a great deal of stamina and strong legs/hips for fucking as well as an ability to keep pumping out cum long after common sense would dictate you ran out, though these are quite common qualities for a futa all things considered.

Childbearing Holes (200): Different futas have different preferences in holes but isn't it a bit unfair that futas who prefer a guy's holes over another girl's can't breed him? Sure the option of letting him breed her is open to a futa who wants kids but that's means she still misses out on doing the knocking up herself and gives the impression that the futa should be the one getting fucked when she dates a guy. This solves that little problem and allows you impregnate men, despite them lacking the right plumbing, and despite this perk being discounted to futas may optionally be treated as a World Perk to share the breeding.

Futa Fitness (200): Futas are bigger than men on average and stronger than most men of similar size, why exactly this is could be hard to say for certain but whatever that reason might be seems to be exceptionally strong in you. In addition to being extremely fit as well as maintaining that fitness or any you gain going forward with essentially no effort you're extremely receptive to anything that improves your physical performance. Most simply it just means that you build up your body much more easily than most people but if you get any sort of ability that improves your physical prowess or take any manner of performance enhancing drug aimed at your body you'll see noticeably better results.

May the Best Dick Win (200): It seems that those you pursue rarely allow their preexisting relationships get in the way of starting something with you, while you're going to need to beat the competition if you want to properly steal them away potential lovers (fuck toys) are never going to let an existing commitment get in the way of letting you take a shot at doing so. Should you prove a better lover (in or out of bed) you'll find that your new lover will have no issues ditching their spouse for you instead. While the person you're cucking might not be happy about it they'll lack any real drive at getting back at you or their former partner, though they will become a fair bit weaker to any efforts you might make to claim them as well; something the girl you stole from them might be rather eager about if their relationship was strong before that big cock of yours got involved.

Can't Beat the Cock (400): Lots of futas have big dicks, that's normal and frankly expected in most cases, but what's swinging between your legs is something entirely different; your cock is nothing short of a divine sword meant for conquest. The sight of your shaft makes anyone you find attractive want to serve it and is extremely intimidating to everyone else; demanding that someone surrender, get on their knees, or both is an entirely reasonable thing to do just by dropping your pants and unless they have strong willpower or powerful motivation most would simply obey. Even those with the strength and conviction to defy your holy sword will find themselves weakened at least somewhat by its presence, being intimidated or distracted by thoughts of submission. Unfortunately, this power is entirely focused on your cock and thus requires you to bare it or at least have a fairly obvious bulge in order to function; naturally the bigger and harder you are the more potent this is.

Tainted Seed (400): Futa cum is an insidious substance that warps the minds of those who taste it to become the eager fuck toys of their feeder; despite this other futas could likely steal away your pets with their own seed, those same 'competitors' are immune to it due to having constant access to their own pheromones, and a prized toy might just have it in them to wean themselves or otherwise seek a 'cure'; partial as those latter solutions often end up being. Your seed is something different however as anyone, even other futas, who taste even a single drop of your cum will become addicted not to just futas in general but to you specifically and it will never fade; even if you were to be apart from one bound by your seed for years at a time they would react to you when you reappeared in their life as if they'd been freshly bound and are eager to please you. Some sufficiently strong-willed holes might still resist you even with such a hold on them, but they will always be affected and a large part of them will always want to serve you despite what other goals might give them the motivation to fight against their proper place beneath your shaft.

Non-Futa Perks:

Fuckable Meat (100): Hentai physics goes a long way toward making it not simply safe but even pleasurable to take dicks that would otherwise be of damaging or blatantly fatal size in your holes but there's being able to take a harsh fucking and then there are those such as yourself who are built for it. Every one of your holes that can be fucked is an exceptional delight for any cock that pushes its way inside and feels just as nice for you when it gets stuffed as an especially thirsty cunt if not more so. Beyond this you'll also find that when on the receiving end of anything lewd they are just far more pleasurable for you and your partners than they otherwise would be, a more dramatic sort might see your body as the goddess's gift to futanari given how amazing you are to fuck and play with. Interestingly it seems as if you are extremely resistant from harm done to you in the course of sex, being only a little sore the next morning after a night under a futa dragon in her full grandeur.

Situational Awareness (100): Believe it or not there are plenty of people who don't really want to end up as a mind broken slut worshipping some random futa's cock, when trying to avoid such a fate you need to be aware of what's going on and identify when some futa has you in her sights as a new fuckpet. Fortunately, you seem to have an exceptional sense for when someone has potentially troublesome intentions for you as well as things which might let you avoid, dissuade, or escape them without too much issue. Naturally this also helps with your awareness of your surroundings overall, which can certainly assist in a lot of other things as well; finding the 'right' futa to become the fuck pet of for instance.

Loyal Lovers (200): Being cuckold is rarely fun, even those who enjoy such things are likely not to appreciate the lasting problems it causes for their relationships. Your partners seem to be extremely loyal however, the idea of cheating on you never crossing their mind and rejected out of hand if suggested. Even a futa who might otherwise try to force herself on your partners finds herself unable and unwilling to actually follow through on it, just stuck frustrated and defeated. That being said, this does nothing to prevent your partners from suggesting that the futa go after you first, after all a girl who won't cuck her boyfriend with a futa is often a girl who wants to be the one getting cuckold instead; more over this really only stops a futa from stealing your girl, it's not stealing if the futa becomes yours too and unlike your partners there's nothing stopping a futa from 'aggressively convincing' you to start getting with her too. Incidentally while this keeps your lovers from cheating it'll also make them more accepting of your indiscretions or even the building of a harem, even if said harem wasn't formed entirely consensually on one side or the other.

Naturally Resistant (200): Something that many non-futas worry about and makes a great many hesitant to (willingly) sleep with a futa even if attracted to one is being bound, being addicted to futa cum and pheromones with potentially devastating mental degradation as well depending on the world. You however are immune to the worst of the effects binding chemicals cause; you'd still be addicted but any mental degradation is lessened while only occurring during withdrawal, have an easier time recovering in general, and make a proper full 'recovery' with no notable lasting effects from your time bound. This also provides the same benefits to other detrimental mental effects or addictions, protecting you from most of the worst effects, recovering far easier, and more completely. Also protects you against being properly mind broken by sex, or at least from any lasting consequences of being full on fucked into an incoherent puddle with no real thoughts beyond more.

Futa Tamer (400): Generally speaking, it's assumed that in any relationship between a futa and a non-futa it's the girl with the cock who's going to be in charge; in most relationships between a man and a futa the only time the guy will be doing the fucking is if she's trying to get knocked up. That said there are exceptions and those non-futas who can keep their well-hung ladies firmly under their thumbs, none more so than you. You possess a bizarre talent for dominating futas both in and out of the bedroom, even futas you've never really met before will often just obey your commands if not too unreasonable and those you've got a real relationship are quite likely to be your bitches. There's one flaw in this talent of yours though, namely that it tends to arouse futas you dominate quite a bit and if you fail to relieve the lust you inspire in one on your terms, she's likely to take you on hers; making a futa in especially urgent need of relief restrain herself is outside your gifts.

Conquered Gently (400): Whether you've pissed them off or they simply want to go after you for reasons all their own those hostile to you are rather averse to doing you any severe harm, unless possessing a particularly severe hatred for you or their lives are in immediate danger your enemies put on kid gloves against you as they instead seek to capture you in place of something more permanent. Now your captors might have other ideas you'd like to stay clear of if they captured you, like a futa wanting to turn you into her meat toilet or other such degeneracy, but it's far better than being killed or crippled right? In addition, you carry something of an inverted Stockholm syndrome; being unusually good at building up a good relationship with any captors and potentially winning them over to your side or at least joining theirs as something other than a prisoner given enough time.

Items: Items may be imported or combined with existing ones or each other if similar or otherwise somehow related.

General:

Fancy Toys (Free/50/100): Futas often 'need' sexual relief and while most prefer a proper hole by a wide margin sometimes they'll want a toy that may literally be carried anywhere they go rather than a slut who likely has their own needs. You've acquired a sex toy, likely an onahole or dildo but anything smaller than a full-size love doll would be available with this and you've got an effectively endless supply of spares in case you or someone deciding to 'borrow' it were to, somehow, break it. For an extra 50CP you may take an additional toy or for 100 you may have a large supply of various sex toys that always seems to have some new toy or variant if you dig through your literal toy chest for long enough. If this world is home to more exotic or interesting toys you could choose from them, such as an onahole that automatically preserves and packages your loads to feed your holes, so long as they give no significant utility beyond the lewd kind.

Installed Fixture (100): This piece of bondage furniture created with technology or magic allows for a living occupant to remain inside indefinitely, ensuring their needs are met and they'll stay physically and mentally healthy even after spending years trapped within the structure. This piece can leave an occupant's holes available for use and depending on your preferences this could be a table, chair, or even a chunk of wall in your home so as to have the prisoner's mouth available as an always occupied glory hole. When someone is trapped in this device they can't speak or do anything with their mouth other than provide service which their body will automatically do when it's used and someone cannot escape unless they're let out or break out of the device which is stronger than most types of steel. Comes with the instructions for creating more such fixtures in a variety of forms, in addition to a single example of your preferred specification.

World Trinket (100): The ways in which you can arrange this world are wide and varied so wouldn't it be nice to get something nice made possible by the magic, technology, or other oddities you've chosen? For each purchase of this you can get something useful that could be found in the setting you're arriving at. Perhaps a magical sword if you are heading to a more fantastical place or a laser weapon in a more technological one? It won't be anything hugely powerful but even so it could definitely help to have a weapon or other tool ready to help you out, if you choose something of with some more perverse potential it may be more significant than if it was purely practical; such as a shrink ray instead of a simple laser gun for instance, now don't those have some fun applications.

A Hole for Every Peg (200): There is every opportunity to gather up quite the vast retinue yet you might not be able to find a place for each of them quite so easily, until now at any rate. This provides you not with a tangible object or property but rather a place within the world for those with you, any companions or followers who aren't otherwise brought into this or any other world you travel to will be able to gain a history and background; a fairly mundane (or at least normal) one relative to them and the world in question but it will fit them into things in a way that suits them, you, each other, and the world. No matter how many you've got following you however this won't let you overtake a world just by having every role in the world filled by your people, this at most providing enough places in each setting to be a small fraction of those in it; when in smaller worlds, or if you gain a massive number of allies, it will mean that you'll be limited in how many can gain a place through this, though in some worlds you might prefer not to bring anyone in at all. . .

Lewd Academy (200): Whether it takes the form of a highschool, college, or perhaps even an escalator school you're now the owner of an exceptional school to which students may travel long distances for or compete over spots in to attend. This good reputation and high quality of education remains despite (or perhaps partially because of) an exceptional level of sexual freedom among and between the students and staff. Not just allowing but even encouraging sexual exploration, in some cases requiring some lewd services which would be the catch in a sense I suppose. This school holds a number of sexual policies that affect everyone teaching or attending; certain students being entitled to the bodies of others, a teacher being able offer sexual rewards/punishments, poor performers being given as fun rewards to more successful classmates, and other things of that nature. What form exactly these rules take are up to you, in this world at least it will be expected for futas to benefit the most from them but perhaps you'll buck the trend? In future worlds this school could be fused with another that you enter its world as a student or teacher in, this won't give you ownership over that school but it will have all the lewd policies you prefer from the start and a tendency to keep going in that direction.

Island of Lost Futas (300): Hidden from the rest of the world by secrecy and potent magic is this wonderous island paradise; the climate is never too hot or too cold, the weather is an idyllic mix of cloud tempered sun with pleasant rains, and the inhabitants are immortal amazons with supernatural physical abilities. While lacking modern technology, even if it's common in the world at large, they make up for it with magic that supports their warriors and provides comforts for the populace; the island's society resembling a magical paradise version of some historical warrior culture. Despite all this the most startling feature would be the fact that the populace has known no man since they retreated to the island in their early history, with futas replacing them since even before isolating themselves. The exact situation of your discovery of this island has exempted you from their prohibition against outsiders, especially the one against any males if you are one, and given you their services as your vassals if not exactly direct rulership over them. Do keep in mind however, while they will serve you loyally they do have their own ways of doing things and if you're not a futa and especially if you're male their respect could be harder to earn than their loyalty; one of their warriors might happily fulfill any tasks you give her but insist that she knows best as to how to get them done and that your mouth is better off put to work thanking her for her service rather than detailing your plans on the subject. For an extra 100 you'll find that the inhabitants will include up to four futas with extraordinary powers beyond the 'ordinary' amazons, while largely limited to the rather blunt and traditional flying brick package the sheer might they possess with those powers is incredible.

Empire State (300): Within the lands run and controlled by futas there could be a number of different countries, perhaps you'd like to claim one for yourself? This country of up to the rough size of a middlingly large American state and at most a few million inhabitants now answers to you as the ultimate sovereign, even if you might have a president or prime minister executing your desires. Unless you wish to create your own 'Free Male State' your new country will be an example of futa dominance in whatever flavor and strength you'd prefer, possibly being an its own unique culture built around some of the things enabled by your World Perks. The details of your new country are up to you but it's almost certainly stable, largely self-sufficient, and has something to offer to the outside world though trade or services that could make it truly prosperous. Should you desire your nation could be an exceptional example of or gathering point for the results of any World Perks you've taken, this won't make your nation a powerhouse in the realm of magic, technology, or anything of the sort it could be well known for it and have potential for you to develop. Having the place directly under your official control might have some issues, including distracting you from getting laid or not being taken seriously if you aren't a futa, but this state comes with a very competent administrator to enact your will; her performance improves with proper encouragement from her dear leader.

Futanari:

Hole Harem (100): While each of them is fairly normal (by local standards at least) you've got yourself around a dozen cute boys and/or girls absolutely who are devoted to you and your cock. Perhaps they laze around your home like pampered fuck pets, serve you as your maids, or work hard to support you with tributes offered for the privilege of a life in service of you but regardless they're all massive simps. If you want anything out of them beyond sex, housework, and maybe a half decent job to help fill up your wallet you'll need to train them for it yourself but they're quite good for all those to begin with. One thing they will never figure out is anything that even vaguely resembles defying you, as they're a quite bit too sycophantic to really challenge you on anything even if it would be helpful in certain situations; there is such a thing as too obedient after all.

Futa Grade Contraceptives (100): Sad as it may be not every hole is eager to get knocked up or bound by the first futa to sweet talk them into bending over or getting down on their knees for a blowjob, many futa would argue there's no need to accommodate the desires of cocksleeves in waiting but this package of futa grade condoms, birth control pills, and binding suppressants nicely prevents these issues when worn or taken by the futa involved with your supply seemingly never running out and always being available when you have a use for them. As a bit of an extra feature your potential partners automatically trust you with regards to wearing or taking these contraceptives as long as you actually do so, that trust also does not automatically fade when you stop using them even if it's no longer kept up by the unusual qualities of these prophylactics. Futa grade condoms are also commonly used as meal storage/transport devices for non-futas, able to contain even extraordinarily large loads and keeping them fresh/warm for long periods; though this isn't a special trait exclusive to these ones in particular.

Studmare Studios (200): It likely won't surprise you that porn is a big deal around here for a number of reasons and sex sells in a variety of forms, you now have ownership of a nice business built on its supporter's libidos. This could be a porn studio, brothel, or strip club certainly however it might also be a less obviously lewd group such as an office that keeps workers in line with binding, a streaming org funded by simps, or perhaps an adventurer's guild using thirst for their fuckable twink cleric to get jobs and recruits depending on what kind of world you find yourself in. Regardless you'll get a decent profit as the owner/leader of the group (even if their business model doesn't really make sense), have access to the holes and/or cocks of your group, and enjoy any other services they can offer. Taken along with Throne of Power they may optionally be an elite part of your powerbase and provide it an exceptional ability to turn lust into practical various more practical benefits, not that sex isn't a fantastic benefit to begin with.

Symbol of Authority (200): Resembling some form of badge with a perhaps unwholesome design this symbol tells pretty much everyone that you're a figure of actual legal authority, authority they will recognize as legitimate. Essentially this allows you to stop, search, and temporarily detain individuals based on whatever nonsense you happen to come up with when trying to justify it; also fuck them, that's a rather common abuse of a badge around here so there's no reason you can't do it too. Not everyone will just obey even if you seem to have legitimate authority to do these things but most people will react as if there's real chance of legal trouble if they fail to comply. Beyond this you'll find that authorities often treat you as a colleague when carrying this badge and you can act as if you were deputized by a legitimate officer or outright impersonate one without consequence so long as you're bearing this symbol. The fact that the badge likely depicts a futa fucking someone rather than a normal civil service or police emblem never seems to prevent anybody from taking it seriously as a proper source of legitimate authority.

Throne of Power (400): Every queen needs a seat of power, a base which provides her the standing to elevate herself above those below. Depending on the world you find yourself in this might be a powerful corporation, an affluent city state, or perhaps something else entirely but regardless of the form it takes this supplies you a significant amount of wealth, influence, and leverage which you can use to your advantage. Alongside the simple social status and ample supply of eagerly submissive holes cozying up to the one in power you'll find that your position is rather easy to use to your advantage in less than legitimate ways with minimal chance of getting caught unless especially careless. You can decide what sort of seat of power you find yourself in, what it focuses on, and what in turn it may offer you in terms of resources and connections; in each world you'll gain a similar such power base to rely on although perhaps changing to fit your situation in them.

Non-Futa:

Baits and Shrouds (100): Whether you want to draw in a potential partner or ward off an unwanted advance you need to dress for success, you now have an expansive wardrobe with plentiful gorgeous (and often quite lurid) outfits on one side and lots of casual (and often downright frumpy) clothes on the other. Unless dressed intentionally poorly in the more lurid outfits or skimpily in the more homely ones you'll find they work exceptionally well at drawing the eye of those you're interested in or warding off the interest of anyone you don't want pursuing you respectively. Despite how some of the casual clothes might appear your entire wardrobe is very high quality and comfortable, it also comes with both men's and women's clothes in a variety of sizes; in case you want to dress someone else up in something nice/discrete. . . or if you happen to be a trap.

Allowance Card (100): Perhaps a gift from a futa rich enough to forget or not care about supporting a cute thing like you regardless of if she's actively fucking you this pink luridly designed debit card is connected to an account into which your 'allowance' equal to a part time job's paycheck gets deposited each week. Strangely the amount you get is a bit fluid and seems to increase the more sex you've had that week; incidentally wealthy, futa, and dominant partners seem to result in the biggest increases with a combination of the three seeing the best results for your wallet. You do actually need to use the card to access your allowance however, the card being extremely unsubtle with it being under the name Sugar Baby and having an outline of a very 'gifted' futa on the front. You might want to make all your purchases in private or transfer the funds to something less conspicuous, unless you don't mind being seen with this thing out in public. This card is oddly compatible with just about any payment system you might find and you can somehow directly pull cash out of it for those few it isn't or for when you're somewhere without any such system.

Commission Retainer (200): You've received a point of contact for an anonymous and yet very skillful artist focused on all manner of. . . cultured media. They will create any kind of lurid or fetishized artwork that you may want including but not limited to pictures, stories, videos, and even expansive hentai games. They work very fast with simple requests like a picture or piece of erotica often arriving moments after you request it and things such as a large pornographic RPG being delivered in a week. Your mysterious artist would happily produce any kind of lewd artwork you request and does great work in general but it seems like their best work is always on projects that involve futas in some way which they will always try to include to some degree in any project they could fit into.

Sugar Palace (200): This large and well-appointed palatial home wasn't always yours but it is now, though there are some rather obvious features left behind by whoever give it to you hinting at. . . certain things. The house and its furnishings are built to accommodate people quite a bit larger than yourself, this is not necessarily unusual depending on where you are but your home's appointments very much are. Faucets are part of statues with a futa's shaft as the spouts, support pillars are sculptures of futas with cocks at eye level for you, the ceiling above your bed is painted to depict a futa with her dick pointed down at where you sleep, and it's otherwise built/decorated to feel like you're always staring down large futa cock with disturbingly high quality. The house is absolutely decadently luxurious however and always fully stocked as well as self-sufficient regarding utilities, it does seem to be oddly inclined to keeping the aesthetic however, feeling lessened if it's removed for some reason. If taken with Supportive community this may be incorporated into it as the most opulent house if you'd like, making the compound entirely self-sufficient and maybe even spreading the futa heavy décor and architecture to the whole community.

Supportive Community (400): Essentially a clannish upper-middle class gated community tied together by blood and friendship with no bad HOA in sight, with your household near the center both figuratively and literally. Many of the residents are hung futas with at least a mild interest in you and probably a not so mild one for some, though they are perfectly willing to let you stay unmolested so long as you aren't too much of a tease or otherwise give them a strong reason. Those living here are all impressive specimens of one kind or another and may be especially affected by your World Perks, perhaps being made up of a majority anthros and/or an oddly high number of powered individuals depending on what you chose for this world. Regardless the inhabitants of this neighborhood will pretty much always have your back and will follow you to other worlds, where they can be inserted as part of your origin as your family, friends, and neighbors if you so choose.

Companions: Two OCs may be taken for free; OCs may optionally receive 'relatively' minor benefits from your World Perks for free so long as they don't give any serious powers while individuals from them may be put through Import/Creation at the normal cost, this may also allow you to import an existing companion into them as well.

Harem Retention (Free): Lets be honest, it's pretty likely you're going to pick up a number of lovers during your time here. That might mean picking up a selection of holes, becoming the fuckpet of a few futas, or perhaps even flipping the script to make all those futas into your playthings instead but there's more than likely going to be some you'd rather not just leave behind once your time here is over. Anyone who can rightfully be called 'yours' whether as your holes, your partners, your mistresses, or so on can join with you as companions in future worlds so that you don't need to part at the end.

Import/Creation (50-200): For 50CP each, discounted to 200 for eight, you may import an existing companion with 600 CP to spend or create a new companion with the same; they cannot purchase further companions or modify the setting with World Perks, though said perks can still be taken for any direct personal benefits they might offer.

Futa Expy (50): There are plenty of interesting people out there who might be made that much more appealing if only they were a futa, in taking this you may acquire a local version of anyone who might fit into the world defined by your chosen World Perks. Naturally this will be a futa version of them with a relationship to you of your choice, any potential shifts as a result of them being a futa also being your choice within reason. This can be taken as many times as you can afford for additional futa versions of individuals you're interested in adding to your entourage should you desire them. Should you choose someone native to the same world this one is combined with via Supplement Mode you can have the local version be the futa version you pick up to join you through this.

Hungry Wingfuta (50): Once upon a time this huge futa was actually quite small, you stood up for her when she was picked on and she very much remembers it now. Unlike a number of less pleasant futas who might join you in looking for dates together she has absolutely no intention of cucking or raping you, she legitimately wants to help you out and keep you safe from unsavory individuals. As for those who might try to prey upon you however she's considerably more aggressive, other futas trying to snatch you or shitty holes who'd try to use and abuse you look like prey in her mind; having those she thinks are unworthy of you disappear into her belly or balls. Though she may have high standards she's very good at setting you up with lovely partners and seems to enjoy doing it; suggestions that she's got a thing for you or is a cuckqueen herself would be vigorously, but unconvincingly, denied with one rather large and hard indication of that below her belt.

Renewable Hive (50): These seven gorgeous redheads look extremely similar, identical to each other in fact aside from their builds. In truth they are all the same person, a result of the original being a scientist focused on cloning and reformation which an accident caused to develop a rather strange ability. She's now unusually simple to clone with them growing extremely fast and easy with no need for any indoctrination or simulated education, being a true distributed intelligence with each able to gain basic knowledge and skills from other versions of her. Unless carefully tailored during their creation each clone of hers ends up embodying a random trait of hers, at times creating consistent 'types'; just among the first seven there's the original scientist 'her', an aggressive futa 'her', a sporty athletic 'her', an unusually big predator 'her', a submissive maid 'her', a nerdy gamer 'her', and a very eager gutslut 'her' who has already demonstrated that individual 'hers' can be revived from just making a new clone only to find that an old one has come back. Repeatedly; the predator 'her' has eaten that last one several times, also the nerdy one at least once. While a futa version of her can impregnate other women normally any 'her' that gets knocked up just ends up creating a new (or reviving an old) 'her' via an extremely fast and easy pregnancy leading to an even faster maturing clone. Considering the original has a house containing a decent cloning lab and (in this world at least) likely a job that gives her access to a much better one a hoard of 'hers' could be a problem, fortunately she's a bit distracted from the idea of making an empire of herself by a bit of a romance issue. She has fallen head over heels in love with you, rather since they are all the same woman at the end of the day the current seven and all future 'hers' are crazily in love with you and honestly the only thing keeping them from jumping you is that they're conflicted which of them should do it first with any further clones making it worse. They want to fuck you, get fucked by you, eat you, get eaten by you, serve as your footstool, tie you to a bed, do weird things with your dirty laundry, and honestly the original has enough fetishes to expand that list as more of her clones are created; so good luck with this hot mess.

Demons and Dog (50): This horned, red skinned, and clearly demonic shortstack has found her way into your life and stuck around for the long haul. Despite often seeming like a very sweet and polite southern belle she shows her more aggressive and depraved side often enough that you never forget her more violent inner nature. Extremely skilled at any form of violence you care to name and seeming to get even better when directing said violence at anyone she feels has threatened or mistreated you she makes for an excellent protector should you feel a need for one. Despite her violent and at times vulgarly perverted nature she's actually quite romantic and even a little bashful about your relationship with her, it's how she wants to see you with others that truly lets her debased side out. She loves seeing you dominate, be dominated by, and especially breed other women; the first one being a favorite alternative of hers for bitchy but hot girls who haven't quite earned being stabbed by something sharp. She's rather hesitant to be a mother too soon but would love to help if you bred (or got bred by) another girl, though she might be a bit less happy about it if it's with a girl she thinks goes beyond tolerable levels of bitch. Top of her list of girls she most definitely wants to see you breed with are her mother, her sister, and the doggirl who her family took in as a pet/third daughter; they may optionally join her in joining you and are happy to get away from the forsaken spot of land the past few generations of the family has grown up on, at least one of them is most likely a futa.

Grand Draconic Matriarch (50): The great beast, a burning terror, greatest calamity of her age, and many other titles of clear meaning accurately describe the past of this serpentine woman but she's mostly calmed down. Mostly. These days she's looking to settle down to have a clutch of eggs and has taken a liking to you, a sentiment of 'you poor bastard' from any old enough to remember her 'rambunctious youth' aside she's quite the catch for just about anyone. Rich, intelligent, beautiful, able to easily tear down or burn to molten slag a massive stone fortification in short order, and more can all be counted among the virtues of your venerable draconic suitor. There is one minor issue however, her more humanoid form is an imposingly shapely futa but unless you happen to be a dragon yourself she'll be needing you to breed her for her children to be true dragons as she hopes, she does want the best for her kids after all, but her pride will not allow her to be fucked like a mortal by a mortal unless he can truly prove himself worthy of doing so. Until then she will be happy to content herself by breaking you down on her own meat and she's quite patient but if it looks like you're taking too long or display a sufficient lack of potential she's going to insist on the 'other' route, demanding you lay with and seed her while she inhabits her true full glory as a dragon. Don't bother trying to reject her, she won't accept, and don't worry if a little issue like lacking the right equipment to breed her stands in the way; she's not a true master of magic but any dragon worth her gold is at least decent at it and that is very easy to solve with some remarkably common spells.

Enormous and Breedable (50): Standing at eye level with the tops of major skyscrapers is this exceptionally huge and beautifully bestial futa, having been known to cause a serious amount of property damage with her amorous treatment of certain buildings which were her suitably sized targets. Ironically she can actually shrink herself down to merely being a more typical sort of huge (by local standards at least), but convincing her to do it for any extended period requires the assistance of someone she actually gives a shit about since trying to force such a vast woman who can shrug off missile strikes is an exercise in futility nobody bothered with for long. Fortunately for everyone she has developed a rather large crush on you and is happy to remain at a less outrageous size for the sake of spending her time with her new crush, acting more like a shy and exceptionally obedient schoolgirl for you so long as she's not too angry at anything. Do keep in mind that if she gets too angry at you she might just decide to express that anger by using your home as a toy at her full size which is unlikely to leave anything but a cum soaked ruin where it once was, that said the prospect of you sleeping with her at her full size would calm her from almost anything whether that means you being able to grow to match her or if you're willing to get inside her stem/flower for a less conventional method. Wants at least five daughters who'll each eventually be just as big and powerful as their mother and expects you to fulfill your duty as a parent for each of them, in her culture this means she intends to share you with them once they're old enough to for that sort of thing.

Eager Busybunnies (50): Although cute, and in no way lacking when it comes to her body, this rabbit woman you've met is a bit lacking in stature; an unusual trait given she's found herself a position in law enforcement. Despite her small size, especially compared to many of those she has to arrest, she's extremely capable in her job to an extent that few of her colleagues match even well over twice her mass. She gets a bit upset when judged for how small she is but it's pretty obvious that she also enjoys it, at least coming from somebody she likes such as you. Even after her very successful efforts to overcome the disadvantages of her height she still does fantasize of being a big strong predatory futa rather than a cute little bunny rabbit, able to easily subdue (and fuck) perps rather than using frankly absurd amounts of high effort agility to make up for her size. She's already got some useable ideas for that but could fairly easily be domesticated as your eager sex sleeve too, or both since some of her ideas don't have to be a permanent thing. Regardless this officer rabbit quite likes nosing into your business despite never actually arresting you for any misdeeds that she might catch you in, though she might require some distracting if you want her to stop pestering you about them. Optionally she can come with her mother(s) and large numbers of sisters and the farm they all live on, though she'll want you to get along with the entire herd of bunny girls and likely help expand it one way or the other.

Devious Cock Sleeve (50): A skillful master of political scheming and social maneuvering this lithe young woman dreams of being the power behind the throne as it were and has chosen you to be the one sitting in the big chair. Despite being extremely good at shaking things up and moving people around for your (and by extension her) advantage she's just such an incorrigible brat that it's hard not to want to force her head against the ground as you roughly 'correct' her behavior. This is in truth entirely intentional, she enjoys teasing and controlling you with her skillfully applied attitude and the inevitable harsh fucking it leads to; just as planned with little real chance of any 'punishment' working for long.

Baited Trap (50): Prettier than most girls aside from his flat chest this little trap enjoys the simple sport of trying to get fucked as much as humanly possible by the biggest roughest dick he can find. Depending on what exactly you're packing you might be either his ideal or perhaps his partner in his quest for the ideal cock to be owned by. Either way it would be hard to find a more loyal partner in crime as there's little he wouldn't do to help either his closest friend or the owner of the dick he's sworn himself to. Despite seemingly lacking any notable abilities beyond looking cute, smug, and fuckable he seems to be able to get extraordinary things done simply with determination together with some truly abnormal luck when properly motivated. Naturally the best way to get this short pile of optimism to get motivated is the power of friendship, or dick; both would be ideal.

Sugar Cock Mommy (50): Exceptionally tall and curvaceous even by futa standards is this hot rich MILF has taken a rather keen interest in you, intending to guide you through many of the finer things life has to offer. She enjoys taking you out on expensive dates, buying you all manner of gifts, and otherwise showing off her wealth to you in a manner that she somehow manages to avoid making seem unpleasantly gaudy. Now she's far too gracious to demand your body in exchange for her gifts or what she spends on you, no she greatly enjoys taking care of you after all, but if you'd put out for her she'd rather naturally want to display her appreciation for you more than usual. She's rather gifted in not making you feel like too much of a whore when suggesting that you might get that new console, piece of jewelry, outfit, computer, or even car she saw you eying if you were to show her just how much you want it with a blowjob or twelve. Despite her pursuit of you her nest is not quite empty either and she's eager to see you get along with her wife as well as their two daughters, with the other three women in her house having similarly lustful and generous intentions toward you despite certain differences from each other. Despite often seeming a bit. . . vapid mentally speaking your new sugar mommy and both of her daughters are brilliant when it comes to business management, commerce, and investment respectively; though her trophy wife is indeed a trophy wife, still she's a lovely woman and an amazing lay which your new lover would encourage you to confirm for yourself.

Order of the Shaft (50): An Orc warrior, Elven ranger, Human paladin, Half-Elf mage, and Goblin rogue; these five experienced adventurers have banded together in search of glory and treasure in the traditional fantasy way. They haven't exactly slain any dragons for their hordes but their group is doing quite well for themselves as general problem solvers who go around doing various jobs, hunting bounties, and even fighting a few proper monsters when the occasion calls for it. Despite each being a beautiful young (by her race's standard at least) woman their lifestyle, questionable choices, and sheer bad luck in that regard has left them all with a persistent dry spell which some of them believe is an outright curse by one of their past enemies. Curse or not you've broken this streak of bad luck for them and they've gotten extremely attached to you as a result; likely in the form of them being fully broken in by your cock if you're a futa, devoted simping for your tight holes if they're futas, or perhaps even both depending on how things have worked out. Regardless they're now firmly in your corner and would be eager to see you join up with them or even just become their new boss, in either case what they'd be happy to have your body as your contribution to the group and would be very happy for that arrangement even if getting involved with you were to force them above their usual paygrade multiple times over.

Prized Princess (50): Despite being a 'spare' several steps down the line for being the heir to her nation's throne this young noble lady still has expectations to uphold; she's a gifted talent in matters of diplomacy and economics that her mother as well as her older sisters consider very valuable for the future of their country. Although she plays her part well and has no real issues with helping her family her passion lies elsewhere, namely in the pants of her bodyguards. Four futas mostly sought out from less civilized parts of the world lend considerable strength of arm to her protection, or the breaking of the legs of anyone who happens to displease her. While it's a very well-kept secret, even from most of her family, the princess spends much of her time thoroughly enjoying their services in a manner that might make them worry for their jobs but that they're never able to actually refuse when it comes up. Recently you've come to the princess's attention too, perhaps as a candidate for a fifth member of her personal guards or just a friend who can join in her hobby at the end of their spears and she's very good at getting what she wants. If you're willing to help her out, scratch that itch for something new or give her a partner on her side of the games she's got going on, then she'd be very happy to assist you as well; putting her skills in the arts of finance and diplomacy to work for you just as she does for her family. She may also be willing to lend you one or two of her bodyguards on occasion as well should you need some recreation or even actual protection, despite her typical use for them they're quite good at their official jobs as well and any one of them is fully able to maintain security by herself should the others be off duty or attending to their charge's 'other needs'.

Promising Sisterhood (50): Roughly a dozen young futas with promising futures and a tight bond between them formed their own informal sorority during college, planning for their group to stick together during and for the foreseeable future beyond school as each young woman pursues her own aspirations. They've got a nice big house that at times feels a bit crowded when they're all trying to do things at once but they're close as kin and have few real issues with that minor problem. Each girl has her own plans for the future with talents in their chosen paths that range from business to science and at least one artist, really the lot of them are just a bunch of close friends who want to stick together. Each one is doing quite well toward becoming a success and they could be very good people to know once their careers have gotten rolling but for the time being they're just young women who've got their lives on track. That said they can't be responsible all the time and you've become one more thing pulling them together; one of the girls developed a bit of a crush on you it seems, this has since spread to the others, and subsequently gotten a bit 'worse' as they have decided to instead of allowing it to create a conflict would rather support each other and share. Each one is currently trying to simultaneously hook up with you herself and set you up with the other futas in their sisterhood, a prospect that if they're successful could easily see you spending most if not all of your time being 'entertained' by them. Each one has her own intentions for you from the sweetly romantic to the obscenely lewd which all of them want to explore with you and introduce to each other. Recently they've extended an open invitation for you to move in with them; while large their house holds a big group already so there's no open rooms, meaning you'll be passed between theirs.

Traditional Household (50): This household consisting of around half a dozen women may be your wife and daughters, your mom(s) and sisters, or perhaps just some family you've gotten rather close to be in any case they're quite fond of you and very much want to have you as part of their very traditional family. Traditional by local standards that is. If you are a futa then they want you to take your natural position at the head of the house, fucking them all whenever, wherever, and as often as you want even to the point of just casually bending them over a table to fuck anytime the mood strikes you. Often they'll be outright encouraging it whether through subtle flirting or the blatantly offering themselves to take care of your lusts in pretty much any situation. If you aren't a futa though, then at least a couple of them are and expect you to join the other side of those roles, it's fine if it takes a bit of time for you to really get into being a family onahole but they will be doing quite an impressive job of getting you into it. Perhaps with some work you could readjust what they consider to be proper for a futa and a hole but it would take quite a bit of work, that said perhaps a father could bond with his futa daughters by fucking girls together instead of simply getting fucked by them?

Rogue Servitors (50): Someone with a bit too much time, money, sex drive, and skill with robotics decided to create this pair of futa gynoids to serve as personal attendants able to satisfy some eccentric tastes. While clearly artificial with distinct yet matching looks both are fully intelligent and self-aware, albeit with personalities that were constructed to meet certain requirements of their creator. Each is proportioned like their creator's ideal image of a futa; making them tall, fit, curvaceous, and packing an outrageous amount of heat to use on their 'owner'. That really being the crux of the 'problem'. Due to the creator's fetish the literal sex machines view the words Master, Mistress, Owner, etc. as synonyms to Hole, Sleeve, Cumdump, and Toy. They'll still perform their duties as attendants and caretakers with great commitment and dedication but even as they do so they'll view and treat you as a receptacle for their very active sex drives, any moment that you have free is the right time for them to utilize you for some relief and they're somehow able to detect when you are just making up things to do instead of servicing them. Such tasks are obviously nothing that should get in the way of their 'needs' and further they're extremely adept and cutting down your workload; learning and taking over tasks to get them out of the way faster, let them use you while they work, or just let one play with you while the other handles things for you herself. Further they have built in functions that allow them to manipulate the size of themselves and others, making themselves massive or others (you) tiny to enjoy some fun means that they're more than capable of taking charge of even an exceptionally gifted toy with minimal resistance. In a moment of clarity their creator realized that while sexy being reduced to their toy pretty much full time while her attendants took over most of her life was a bit reckless, so she unloaded them onto someone else they imprinted on at first activation; congratulations on your new "servants", optionally their creator can come too with an interest in observing and perhaps enhancing her masterworks further.

Incorrigible Sleevebait (50): A younger futa with a dark tan, a huge cock, and an otherwise smaller build than many others has developed a huge crush on you but seems not to know how to show it without juvenile bullying; though perhaps it would be better to just call it sexual harassment. While she can definitely dish it out she actually can't handle very much in return, quickly showing a shy submissive side should you return fire instead of accepting her nonsense; treat her like your bitch or push her down and she'll respond with flustered embarrassment even as she leans into it. Actually it's nearly impossible to get her to stop her bullying or attempts to have her way with you without doing the same to her, it's far from a lasting solution but her future efforts might be more bait for correction after you've taught her enough lessons. Optionally she may come with a few of her friends; who are also quite taken with you while seeing any fun they have with you as a good way to tease her, with much the same results as if you give her some of her own medicine.

Superfuta (50): Powerful enough to stand as, or at least among, the mightiest in this world is this tall heroic looking futa stands ready in anticipation of battles for peace, justice, and your rather nice-looking ass. Despite her heroic persona she does in fact have needs much like any other futa, needs which are best served by fucking her crush into a mushy puddle (figuratively speaking, she has plenty of control to avoid it becoming literal) with that crush naturally being you. Despite the cheerful confidence she displays in general she easily gets flustered and shy at your praise or attention, something that also seems to recharge her almost instantly after a long stressful day either as a heroine or her day job. Even with all her battles and maintaining her public identity it seems like she always arrives right when you need her, almost as if she's using her powers to ~~spy on~~ watch over you.

Fisher Cuck-San (50): This attractive man, woman, or perhaps futa has a taste in partners that deeply aligns with yours and is extremely fortunate when it comes to starting up new relationships with desirable partners. Fortunately (for you) they're far less fortunate when it comes to keeping those lovers from ditching them in favor of yourself, as women and/or men in their life seem to shift their affections toward you with even the slightest effort on your part to win them over. Cuck-san is oddly enough extremely fine with this, to the point they actually appear to enjoy it whenever you get chosen over them, happily serving you and their spouse as an obedient cuck or going out fishing for more lovers you can steal as it pleases you. Optionally comes with their entire (potentially quite large) family, with each member being in some way your type and eagerly favoring you over cuck-san.

Muchin Satsuki (50): Knowing each other since you were quite a bit younger and perhaps even being your little sister is this futa who, despite being only the size of a fairly short girl overall, hides a massive cock under her skirt that only looks bigger because of her limited stature elsewhere. Incidentally she enjoys stealing your partners and breaking their minds on her cock any chance she gets, chances she's unnaturally good at finding and exploiting with startling regularity. She seems to only really ever be interested in those you're seeing or at least pursuing, relishing in stealing them away from you perhaps even more than the sex itself. Just the sight of her cock makes her targets want to serve it and anyone she gets on it is quickly broken into an eager cocksleeve, though her interest in them tends to fade a while after she's broken them in as she anticipates your next lover. There's at least some indication that a big part of her efforts to steal your lovers is a possessiveness toward you and that she sees them as stealing her 'big brother', or maybe she's just a futa bull who's unilaterally decided you're going to be the one she cucks. Either way it's probably only a matter of time before she points her 'sword' in your direction, especially if you go too long without finding a new lover she can conquer. She's hinted that helping instead of cucking you may be on the table if you submit to her, assuming you even want her to.

Church of the Latter-day Cock (50): Residing in a rather large monastery sat upon a scenic plot of land just slightly apart from the rest of civilized society are these roughly four dozen futanari nuns, living in cozy isolation from the rest of the world able to focus on prayer to their hung goddess with the support of their home; which always remains maintained and supplied by the blessing of Her. While strong devotion gives these ladies quite a bit of the discipline and piety you might expect from a nun what they actually get up to in their little chunk of the world may surprise you, or not given the nature of this place. These nuns are worshippers of a futa goddess and thus their worship largely consists of worshipping each other's bodies as living shrines to her glory. Each one of them is extremely fit, curvy, hung, and tall such that they stand as nearly platonic ideals of futa exceptionalism beneath the habits they wear when not in. . . prayer. Despite largely shunning the outside world these holy women would be happy to help you anyway they can and would be delighted should you want to take refuge in their temple for a while, though stuck on only one side of their prayers unless you happen to be a similarly impressive futa yourself. Should they be taken alongside Pillar of Divinity she may be the one they worship (and possibly her sisters) with them being an excellent source of faith and vessel for blessings.

Thirsty Amazon Cake (50): When a tall, stacked, and rather muscular woman goes around trying to steal somebody else's lover you'd normally expect her to be a futa but instead of a futa looking to cuck other cocks she's just a regular girl looking to cuck her fellow holes out of their lover's attention. When she went looking for someone special to claim as hers towering woman has her eyes set upon you, having already decided in her mind that your body is something she needs to claim as her own. Even if your wife or girlfriend wasn't at all interested in being a cuckquean this amazon is extremely good at making them see the light on the subject and will actually get along unusually well with any partners you might have, despite getting fucked by you in front of them. Should you find yourself hanging off the cock of a more typical futa bull you might find them competing over who can make a bigger mess out of you in front of your lover and she has a good chance of winning.

Anti-Territorial Spouse (50): You've really hit the jackpot when it comes to partners; being exceptionally attractive, having complimentary interests, greatly enjoying doing things for you for its own sake, and always putting you first in their life without being uncomfortably clingy or otherwise stifling. Despite this however your new lover has less than no interest in keeping you to themselves, being both a huge cuck and an eager advocate of you having the best (and possibly biggest) harem possible. In addition to being an excellent lover your significant other is an extremely gifted harem manager; resolving conflicts, carrying much of the weight in juggling many lovers, helping to recruit new ones, and otherwise ensuring the smoothness of will hopefully be your exceptionally large household.

Draft Slaves (50): These four horsegirls are all imposing and carry the sort of meat a porn studio might salivate over, each one could gather and fuck into submission a small crowd of holes without much difficulty if they were inclined. Despite this they've found more of an unconventional calling for such impressive futas, becoming utterly debased subs eager to put to work both sexually and otherwise. They enjoy the idea of being exploited in a lot of different ways but they especially like the idea of being treated as beasts of burden; to get put to work naked on a farm doing the work of true draft animals, pulling a big cart or carriage they've been harnessed to, and all sorts of other hard menial labor calls to them even more than being made the bitch of someone most would expect them to use as their casual cumdump. As a sign of just how degenerately submissive they really are they've all signed themselves away to you as literal property, they'd be eager and capable of fucking you into a puddle if you wanted but they'd prefer it if you used, abused, and put them to work instead. Incidentally while it may be hard to provide a farm for them to drag a plow for they've already got a couple of carts and carriages that became yours alongside them, both simple sturdy ones for hauling things and fancy ones nicer than some luxury cars.

Country Farmer Marybelle (50): Out in the countryside running a scenic little farm is this picture-perfect example of a farmer's gorgeous daughter, or rather a farmer herself as she started and runs one of her own now. Unlike more traditional farms she doesn't have cows and chicks nor does she use much in the way of big agricultural machines; rather she has her farm full of futas who take triple duty as farmhands, livestock, and farm equipment as they've signed themselves over to her for a simple 'lifestyle'. Despite what you might think of Marybelle as the only non-futa on the farm she's an almost kissless virgin saving herself for marriage; treating her girls as friends, workers, and milkers she entertains no advances from whether in the barn or when they're doing more normal work. Still she knows they have needs and despite saving herself she has the exact opposite expectation of a spouse, expecting them to 'get along' very well with her girls. She's taken a liking to you for herself as well as her girls who agree with her assessment, hoping to get you in the barn to make sure you're 'compatible' and if she likes ~~the show~~ how you are with her girls her hand and farm will be yours through marriage. Honestly both Marybelle and the 'livestock' are very confident in their choice and won't give up easily, firmly believing that you're 'the one' for them but the trial run is important to ~~commit you to your role~~ be sure. Marybelle has had some ideas on expansion and would like to stop clothing her 'livestock' to take on the role of normal workers so if you've got anyone experienced with farmwork or who'd be into a life getting milked, getting 'milked', or pulling plows she'd be happy for them. Also even if you don't want to service her girls she'd be happy to share some of her produce, milk, or 'milk'; though be careful she doesn't mix the last two in trying to convince you.

Big Black Cock Mommy (50): A tall, muscular, stacked, and exceptionally hung ebony futa pushed herself into your life not too long ago; sticking around with the clear intention of courting you while just being more persistent the harder you are to snag. Despite the fact that she's seemingly perpetually unemployed she has a nice place and somehow is always flush with cash to spend on herself as well as showing you a good time, she's very discrete about where it comes from and it's suspicious but she seems to treat 'you' mostly nicely even though she's very proud of how often people are afraid of her. Outside of giving you attention and whatever illicit activities that she's using to earn her money she's rather lazy, preferring to just spend most of her time lounging around despite a bizarre variety of skills that she'll show off if you manage to motivate her. To her however everything is secondary to her cock, as nice as she might treat you most of the time she's very open about the fact that she really wants to turn you into her truly literal fuck pet; something she's more than capable of if you're the type to let her really get to work on you. Should you give into her she may just decide to drop her shady not quite job for her old not quite so shady career, namely being a pimp with you as her product; she'd have to sell your ass a lot to get by but she's sure plenty of other futas would like it just as much as she does. It would get in the way a bit of her little fantasy about having you drink her cum for every meal she isn't taking you out for, since a few will want to enjoy the full date experience, but it's hardly a huge compromise in her opinion.

White Collar Cock (50): Despite often being distracted by their needs futas are usually the breadwinners of their households and you've lucked into a particularly excellent lover on this front. Having a fantastic office job in a well-paid evergreen field she's actually good at she brings home more than enough to ensure a comfortable income for you and a family should you build one with her. With voluminous brown hair and emerald eyes she may be the platonic ideal of a beautiful office lady, though there is one thing she's missing at work each day. During the day she has to take multiple breaks to release her rather demanding cock and while she performs well at her job despite that there's. . . room for a simple way to fix that, in the form of a standing job offer for you to take your own role at her workplace right under her desk. This would allow your household to pick up a second paycheck while likely increasing hers as not only would she no longer need to take 'relief' breaks but also see her performance increase enough to earn her some extra bonuses despite the added distraction. Naturally she's very fond of the idea and would like you to take the position (it would be nice to spend a bit more time together and 'introduce' you to her work friends she's been bragging about you to). In future worlds you'll find she always has a suitable clerical or office job and it will always have an open offer for you to take up an under-desk position at her workstation.

Futa Slave Pls Help (50): Through some clerical error, likely instigated on her end, you have come into ownership of a rather imposing futanari slave. Despite technically being the one in charge as her owner and her enthusiasm for serving you this does nothing to deter her rather aggressive attempts to make you her cocksleeve, something she seems to consider among the greatest services she can offer you. As far as she can tell being a futa's fuck toy is the greatest joy anyone can have and she's obligated as your slave to provide it for you, despite any protests you might make on the subject. Outside of occasionally slipping some of her cum into your food, trying to be a bit forceful when helping you bathe, or any of an extended list of other ideas she has for having her way with you she's a very dutiful servant in most regards; though a bit aggressive and insistent on providing her services.

Micro Futa (50): Only the size of a normal woman and packing less heat than an especially well-endowed man this young and unusually submissive futa seems wants to prove she's able to break a bitch on her cock with her eyes set on you. She's really not very good at it, her seed is relatively weak when it comes to binding and will easily roll over for you should you make even a tepid attempt to take charge. Honestly getting bound by this girl is likely going to require your active help rather than simply letting her fuck you and despite a fair bit of deeply unconvincing bluster she'd be quite happy being your bitch instead. Though if you do help her conquer you the girl would make for quite a capable and loving domme given time to grow into the role, getting her up to par on the outside could be harder but she'd very much appreciate some help in that direction too.

Riding Studmare (50): Centaurs may or may not be commonplace depending on the world you've chosen but this lovely woman is a very impressive example. Few centaurs or horses could match the size or fitness of her lower body and the only likely complaints for her as a war mount in a world with cavalry would be that she likely tramples enemies under her hooves or crushes them with her own weapons before her rider gets a chance to do much of anything. She has a knightly demeanor and is proud of herself being your knight as well as your steed, roles which she's more than able to fulfill. Despite her obedient nature she's got some interesting ideas as to the nature of her service to you and while she'd never do something as uncouth as demand her liege get strapped to her under-saddle to get fucked while riding her she can be fairly creative with finding indirect ways to suggest it and varied reasons why it might be a good idea. Like many futas she's prone to losing control after a long while without relief and can't actually reach under herself to masturbate, suggestions that she hides her needs beneath her knightly demeanor so that they build up until she's got both a chance and excuse to aggressively mount her liege would be uncouth to speak aloud to a noble lady such as herself.

Genie of the Shaft (50): Residing within this fancy lamp, bottle, ring, golden penis idol, or other decoration is a powerful genie; despite her sultry demeanor this exotically beautiful futa is ancient and very clever. Fortunately she seems to have taken a liking to you as her new 'master' and is quite happy to grant your wishes, for a modest price. In return for the fulfillment of your desires with her extremely potent and versatile magic she asks only for your body; for a minor wish such as for an especially nice meal or gold bar a quick handjob is likely sufficient, while enacting a powerful piece of magic or creating an item of any real power might demand you get on your knees or bend over, and the height of her power at which point she's truly (if somewhat modestly) warping reality to fulfill your wish she'll be looking to bring you into her palatial home hidden within her 'lamp' to have her way with you for a full day and a night. Her powers are greatly weakened outside of granting wishes and she has her limits even when doing so, she's mighty but 'phenomenal cosmic power' would be a bit of an overstatement to be sure. Incidentally the harem girls she has serving her within her home are those she has 'eaten' to enhance her power, calling on them from within her shaft much like she herself comes from her 'lamp'; perhaps keep an eye on that habit, it's worth it to know that while abnormally loyal (to you) for a genie she's still quite mischievous and doesn't appreciate being called without ~~pleas~~ purpose.

Pillar of Divinity (50/150): Discovering a derelict but clearly once glorious shrine you have been chosen as the champion and lover of a true goddess; while she is a far cry from when she once led her own pantheon she can still offer fairly useful blessings, rewarding quests, and divine legitimacy for your pursuits. Given time, tribute, and worship to let her recover she'll be an excellent and very grateful divine patron; though she might be a bit pushy on the subject of her champion's rise to greatness, you are hers and must become great as it just would not do otherwise. In addition to a more 'traditional' divine purview she holds power as a goddess of futanari, which might just be her strongest aspect at present given the state of the world; worship of a more sensual nature toward her, her representatives, and especially her cock tend to feed her recovery and growth especially well. Her temple may stand on its own or be attached to a property/territory you own and will be restored to its former glory as she herself recovers, though she'd appreciate some more active work on it as well. Hidden within or perhaps metaphysically above this temple is her home, an as of now modest divine realm hardly deserving of the title but as she recovers it will turn into a palace worthy of a goddess. For an additional undiscounted 100CP there can be up to a dozen other broken shrines surrounding the main one representing her wives, sisters, and/or daughters who formed her pantheon; as she recovers her former glory they'll also slowly return one by one all quite eager for the pantheon's new champion, though getting even one of them back to their full glory will be a major and rather long term goal.

Drawbacks:

Supplement Mode (+0): Rather than starting from modern Earth or a generic world as the starting point for this jump you may instead attach it to another jump; doing this will make it fair a bit lewder, add futas to the setting, make them a dominant social group, turn many notable characters in the world into futas, and generally merge the world you're building here with that of the jump that you attach this to. Your budget for each jump must be kept separate, however items and companions obtained within one may be imported into the other at the normal cost for preexisting ones. Your purchases from this jump may also be altered to better fit into the world of the jump it is attached to and your place in it, within reason and without giving yourself any unjustified advantage.

Overactive Libido (+100): Futas often have rather impressive sex drive and you share this to an even greater extent than most of them, even if you yourself aren't a futa. Every day you need to get off at least half a dozen times to avoid your lust being a constant source of distraction. Masturbation alone won't satisfy this and if your horniness builds too much you'll completely lose control and pursue sex much like an aggressively ravenous beast in need of urgent relief and no proper self-control. Even when 'satisfied', or flat out sexually exhausted, you'll still find your thoughts turning in lewd directions much more easily than normal, coloring your behaviors to a degree regardless.

Regretful Indulgence (+100): While there's a lot more lewdness going on here than most places there is one fetish in particular that's fairly common and which you're embarrassed to enjoy and bothers you quite a bit every time you indulge in it. Despite wanting to cut it out of your life you're going to find it pushed onto you rather frequently in ways that'll be hard to avoid and at times when you're weak to poor decisions even knowing it will make you mad at yourself later. Post nut clarity is going to be a common source of dejection and other uncomfortable feelings during your time there. What exactly your dirty interest may be is up to you, but it will always be something that bothers you even if you'd normally be entirely fine with engaging in it extremely enthusiastically.

Fated Vulnerability (+100): You've managed to get yourself a sort of targeted bad luck, as a result you tend to find the world steering you toward various lewd situations for a futa to take advantage of. Opportunities to get stuck into a hole at dick height, tripping hazards that would see your mouth land on a futa's cock, the exact spot where a futa in a hurry is expecting her blind hole waiting to serve her, and similar events are common encounters for you as well as being harder to avoid than they really should be. The world seems to be trying to get you caught in such situations and if you do get into position you'll find a futa will be quick to start using you to get off with you unable to not go along with her.

Cuckquean Courtship (+100): Your relationships invariably seem to come across the same snag each time, namely that every partner you have seems to have something of a fixation on you being railed by various futas. They're always happy for your time together to have interruptions in the form of a well-hung girls wanting to have their way with you, perhaps arranging such things intentionally if needed. Regardless you'll find that any love interests you might find will insist on your holes being open to futa cock such that it takes a central role in your relationships and may overshadow them entirely, even if you try dating a futa you'll find she'll insist on sharing you out with other futas either to show you off or due to her being a rather submissive cuck herself.

Lacking Endowment (+100): Your cock if you're a guy, your chest if you're a girl, and both if you're a futa are rather lacking in size; at best you might be above average. . . by normal standards, in a world that operates under hentai futa standards. You're very self-conscious about this deficiency and will have it brought up quite frequently in intimate situations by your partners, on the plus side there are plenty of futanari who don't mind or even prefer for their holes to fall significantly short of themselves but those same futa are usually also the type to tease you the most for it.

Poor Hunting (+100): Generally speaking futas don't have a difficult time finding cute girls and boys to stick their dicks in and finding a futa probably isn't hard either, but you seem to have rather bad luck with finding partners. When you go looking for someone either to fuck or build an actual relationship with most of those you find tend be objectionable for you in some way; perhaps they're unattractive, are part of something that's a massive turn off for you, consider you just a source of sex, or another issue entirely but regardless you are going to have a much harder time than normal finding a partner you actually like than the majority of people around here.

Attention Grabber (+100): There's something about you, something hard to fully identify but whatever it is makes you difficult not to notice. Exactly what people think of you might vary depending on who's looking but you can be certain they will and it's nearly impossible for you to remain under the radar unless very well hidden. Beyond that it makes you easy to read and identify as either predator or prey as the case may be, should you want to do anything that requires subtlety this will be a problem and especially if you need to avoid garnering attention to yourself. Naturally this can make it difficult to catch a fuckpet unless they want to be one, further it makes it harder to avoid becoming one. Your inability to be unassuming means anyone who'd consider you a nice plaything will take notice of you and if this is taken alongside Prey Coded your status as an extremely desirable fucktoy will be loudly broadcast to every futa able to see, smell, or hear you.

Inattentive (+100): Perhaps worse than people paying too much attention to you is paying too little attention to what's going on around you. Unless you're specifically focusing on it from the start it takes you a fair bit longer than most to notice things, not an eternity but long enough to miss out on certain opportunities. . . or to miss your chance to get out of a precarious situation that requires quick reactions. It would probably be a bad idea to go anywhere even slightly unsavory without someone more observant with you, getting your pockets picked would be rather easy for someone like you and that probably isn't the most significant problem this will be giving you in a world where rape is seen as a common and necessary outlet for the urges of the dominant section of the population. Then again that might still be a problem even in more civilized parts of the world too; it's not like there are that many people who see much terribly wrong with a futa having her way with someone, least of all the futa doing so herself.

Domesticated Servitude (+100): Looking at this world it's rather easy to get some fuckpets to handle the chores or if you're on the other side of that find a mistress who'll take care of all the pesky details beyond serving her cock. Unfortunately for you any fuckpets you're able to snag are messy as hell and horrible at housework while any mistress you might be taken by will be a huge slob who puts you on maid duty. Regardless of how you might try reducing the buildup, ignoring the problems, or getting someone else to do the chores it'll always end up with you needing to do large amounts of extremely tedious housework that only gets worse after trying to prevent/avoid it. Any resistance to being bored will fail you while doing your chores and being interrupted with anything actually fun, such as having sex on top of the table you were just cleaning, will always manage to create a significant amount of additional work even if it doesn't make any sense.

Possessive, Protective, and Patronizing (+100): It might not surprise you but some people around here are a bit territorial with their lovers, the threat of a futa stealing your boy or girlfriend is real for most. Your lovers however tend toward oppressively protective of you, as in going anywhere by yourself would be something they would disapprove of and want to dissuade or prevent if they can at all manage it. It's not that they don't trust you, rather that even if they can that may not matter if they can't trust everyone else. Essentially any degree of independence or freedom beyond what might be enjoyed by a fairly sheltered teenager is going to be a hard fought and recurrent battle between you and anyone who cares about you, especially any love interests. This doesn't mean that it's impossible for you to have or find more than one lover, some may insist on it in fact, but you can be sure that your current lovers(s) or possibly your parents if you don't have any will be choosing who you're even allowed to give it a shot with. Comes with a free rebellious streak that's only made more frustrating if your keepers happen to be right about anything.

Weak Seed (+100/Futa Only): Weak, timid, shy, or even submissive and breedable are all terms that have been pointed in your direction and while these traits are often attractive in a hole they rarely as appealing in a futa. To be frank most other people don't really view you as a futa, you've got the right plumbing for it but your fellow futas see you more as a hole and while holes want tend to see you more as one of them than as a mistress they'd like to be taken by. This isn't just a reputation either, no matter how big your cock may be your attitude is that of prey and being anything else takes considerable effort which never has any staying power even if you can briefly manage it. The expected privileged position most futas enjoy easily by virtue of the local culture or ability to break a few bitches upon their cocks are denied to you. Additionally your ability to bind someone is far weaker than most other futas, taking far more cum, giving you very little influence over your hole, and having them make the switch to another futa's pheromones far more easily.

Futas Always Win (+100/Non-Futas Only): Any time you find yourself in competition with a futa she seems to always have a significant advantage, not only does it seem like fate is wanting her to win but also for her to be able to have her way with you afterwards; often in an especially humiliating way as she rubs her victory in your face. Even if you win these contests things will still tend to line up so she can fuck you, even more roughly to punish or get back at you for beating her. You will not remember taking this drawback and will be inclined to be confident about beating futas in anything you're good at, being completely surprised at such contests leading to you being fucked even if this has happened multiple times before and you should've really known better. Opportunities to compete with futas, and more likely than not get fucked in an especially embarrassing way, will be common.

Sissified Life (+100/Male Only): Perhaps not overly surprising but futas, and a number of non-futas too, find the idea of feminizing men rather appealing. Perhaps as a result of the efforts of a lover or just embarrassing genetics you are now a trap, femboy, or whatever it is you might prefer to call a boy who looks more like a cute girl than many girls. Even your demeanor has changed to become more feminine and your interests expanded to include things more expected of the fairer sex. Now some people might be fine or even desire this kind of transformation but you have a significant interest in retaining your masculinity and are often embarrassed when finding yourself acting like or being treated like a girl, at least once you notice which can take a little while due to how natural it feels. Other people will also tend to treat you like a girl; due to actually thinking you are one, just because it's their preference to do so, or because they like teasing you (especially that last one). You'll find yourself unable to truly change yourself out of this form for the duration of the jump, any effort to do so either failing entirely, being quickly undone, or simply resulting in a sissified trap version of whatever else you try to transform yourself into.

Broodmare (+100/Female Only): Advancements in contraceptives are most likely beyond the norm around here but for many breeding is kind of the point, for some futas planting their seed is just as if not more important than merely releasing it. This is a common trait among your partners and even if you can add some protection into the mix it will always fail, sticking to sapphic pursuits again won't really help as your partners will have a not all that unusual (around here) tendency to sprout a very virile cock anyway. Hentai physics is quite helpful in making pregnancy a less painful and unpleasant experience but it will still prove a significant obstacle to many things and the only way to avoid getting pregnant on an abnormally constant basis is to avoid sex entirely, good luck with that here. . .

Bipolar Switch (+100): In you there are two bitches, an aggressive dominant bitch which wants to fuck and a compliant submissive bitch which wants to get fucked; you have way less control over them than you'd like. These two sides of yourself tend to swap back and forth somewhat unpredictably, you could be fucking your favorite hole into the ground at one minute and then soon after find yourself as their submissive little pet. While you have little control over these switches your partners will find them fairly simple to manipulate and will do so for their amusement/pleasure. Any futa partners will naturally want to use this to vigorously reassert dominance after you fuck them, especially if you yourself aren't one since that dynamic certainly isn't one they'll easily let stand.

Prideful Prejudice (+100/+200): This world is full of many preconceptions, holes being for fucking and futas being horny brutes being one of the most obvious ones. You'll find that these are especially strong toward you, with people tending to assume stereotypes about 'your sort' are true for you; even those close to you will tend to think you either a slut or a horny brute among any other assumptions that might fit though they'll probably be nicer about it than many others. Alternatively, you might find yourself prone to judging people like this or for +200 you'll be experiencing this issue from both sides extremely often.

Demanding Harem (+100): For many multiple lovers is a dream come true but there are a few problems that many conveniently ignore, in many cases successfully due to how lewd a world like this really is. You find yourself invariably building a harem, even if you actively try to remain single or committed, and rather than a fawning easy to please gaggle of sluts yours tends to be competitive and troublesome. While they accept each other in your life and bed there will be a great deal of petty drama, competing over your attention, and an exhausting demand on your time as well as your body. Your harem won't expect you to be giving them each the attention of a single dedicated partner anything they will expect you to put in a lot of work trying and might even expand if they think you have it too easy since they seem to like your struggle to juggle them, this can and likely will turn some others of your drawbacks into horny problems of a more collaborative nature.

Permanently Bound (+100/+300): Even if you're normally immune to any such things and even if you happen to be a futa yourself you have been bound and won't be able to break free of the condition for the duration of this jump. If you're dosed with a less severe form of futa pheromones or have some kind of resistance that lets you keep your mind mostly intact this gives you +100; with just a noticeable craving for futa cock and submissiveness toward futas most of the time while only suffering the more severe effects of becoming a brain damaged cumslut when in withdrawal after a few days without a fix. For +300 you've got the more severe version where you're always fairly stupid at best, can barely think of defying a futa who wants your holes, and would do nearly anything for a taste of futa jizz if you haven't had any after a day or two.

Gender Bended (+100): It would seem things have gotten a little mixed up; perhaps you've eaten the wrong pill, been hit with the wrong spell, something more mundane, or perhaps something far stranger. Your background in this world up to the start of this jump has been one matching your gender, a life thus far lived in the body chosen earlier whether it's the same as always or new to you. Not long ago this changed; very recently, perhaps even just a moment before the jump started, you got genderbent. Maybe you're a normal girl who'd just been turned into a futa or a male who just joined the fairer sex but regardless it wasn't at all planned or expected, it also can't be reversed for the rest of this jump. This is going to require some uncomfortable adjustments to be certain, further any drawbacks or other gender-based sources of CP this might conflict with will adapt to your new condition.

No Such Thing as Platonic (+100): Truly sexless relationships are rather rare here but you take them a bit further than most in that you're fully incapable of them, it's impossible for someone to have a relationship with you more than a casual acquaintance without them also developing more lurid intentions toward you as well. Perhaps if they're shy or there's some major obstacle in the way it could just be some underlying sexual tension but more often than not you'll be unable to maintain anything positive without putting out, with it becoming more pronounced the closer the relationship is.

Romance is Dead (+100): Naturally the main appeal to coming to a world like this is just a huge amount of intense sex, things like romance likely being a secondary concern at best compared to plain old lust. Some might prefer such base uncomplicated arrangements yet you appear to be stuck with them, unable to find any kind of true romantic connection in this jump. Finding a friend with benefits, sex slave, or just outright hooker willing to humor you with the 'girlfriend experience' would be possible but genuine romance will be wholly unavailable during your time here. This doesn't mean you can't form a bond of sorts with those you sleep with, but it will never be the kind that usually binds two people together and anything resembling romantic intimacy will just be casual foreplay at best.

Hentai 'Protagonist' (+100): It would seem that your life here has taken on the role of the protagonist, or rather POV character, of a futadom hentai. Considering you're here at all a lot of what that entails might appeal to you but know that any possible benefits from this are readily accessible without getting tied down by cheesy plots or lewd tropes you can't really escape from. Due to this you're going to be getting caught up in numerous plots that feel like lazy excuses for sex to happen, in fact you'll find that you can't resolve any of the nonsense that pops up from this without either fucking some bitch or being the bitch who gets fucked. Even if you possess vast powers that should logically resolve essentially every problem under the sun you'll only be able to deal with them using or after whatever sexual payoff is meant to satisfy the theoretical audience.

True Believers (+100): Whether it's blatant or subtle this world is going to have a prevailing belief in the dominance and superiority of futas and it seems that you've truly bought into that ideology yourself. Holes are first and foremost for fucking while futas have not only a right but also a duty to enjoy and sexually conquer any non-futas in their lives. Should you be a futa yourself you'll have a hard time thinking of anyone who isn't as more than a sex sleeve and those few who are more than that are still holes alongside whatever other kind of value they have. As a non-futa you're fully domesticated by futa supremacist ideals and whatever you believe your own place to be fully support futanari rule in general.

Publicly Available Free Use (+200): During your time here you're going to deal with a little issue that some may consider a bit inconvenient; you're now socially, legally, and mentally obligated to have sex with any futa you meet who wants a piece of you. If you yourself are a futa (or perhaps a guy with a really nice cock) some might occasionally want to suck you off or get fucked themselves but most of the time they'll be wanting to take you and unless you've got a very good reason not to you'll be expected to comply, legally obligated to get them off, and feel a strong urge to fulfill your obligations. This (mostly) just applies to any 'normal' positions and services so you aren't required to do anything too weird (with just this) and obvious bad intentions would be a good reason not to comply but in general you are going to be spending a great deal of extra time on your back and knees if you go pretty much anywhere in public, futas will be able to sense this 'duty' of yours.

Venomous Hole (+200): There's this delightful piece of ass who pushes all your buttons in addition to looking like your ideal fucktoy, they're very much your type on the inside too; or at least very good at pretending to be. This bitch is nothing but trouble however, causing you never ending grief and dropping problems to deal with at your feet on a regular basis like a cat who leaves way worse presents than dead rats. Despite this each and every time things turn to shit because of them they can get you to forgive and solve things for them by shaking their ass or giving you some head and they know it.

Casual Objectification (+200): Treating people as sex objects, even literally, is nothing new or even odd around here but there is something about you that makes this go farther than normal even by the local debauched standards. It seems like just about everyone looks at you and sees a humanoid onahole and/or dildo more than a person with even those close to you simply seeing you as both while disconnecting you as a person with you as a literal sex toy they can just casually enjoy using. Just having a conversation could easily result in whoever you're talking to just casually start trying to fuck or ride you and just confusedly try to push through any resistance. If this is taken with Prey Coded they will magnify each other greatly and you will likely find people just casually try to snatch you up off the street to take home with only your partners seeing anything untoward about it, and even then often seeing it as theft first and kidnapping second.

Dick for Brains (+200): While they might often give off the impression of being sex addled sluts the people around here aren't actually any dumber than anywhere else, unless they get too pent up or have been literally fucked stupid, but you fit the expected mold a little more than usual. You tend to be a little dumb in the same way that water is a little wet, a person with the exact level of intelligence of someone in a cheesy porno or hentai where the solution to most problems is fucking or getting fucked. Hopefully you've got someone to handle the more complicated aspects of life for you or you're likely to be fucked over a great deal in the less fun meaning of the phrase. Strangely enough it seems that your full unreduced intelligence occasionally rises to the surface, in one specific situation; anytime your main goal is sexual gratification you can think as well if not a bit better than you could without this drawback getting in your way.

Office of Futanari Affairs (+200): The government fucks everyone, a fact of life few have a chance to get away from and you certainly aren't amongst them. During your time here it will come to pass that the authorities will be intruding upon your life in various unneeded, obstructive, and/or lurid ways; they may even be directly responsible for some the other drawbacks you choose. You may find yourself with a difficult legally mandated partner, the state might decide you're the one they go after for some obscure rarely enforced breeding quota you fall under, perhaps lots of unusually frequent traffic stops that somehow always include the officer fucking you, and should you find yourself on the wrong side of the law (such as if you decide to blow off any of this bullshit) they have lots of blatantly degenerate ideas for how exactly they punish you such as community service satisfying the inmates of a local prison complex. Luckily the manner in which the government is screwing with you is at least rather hot but even so it will manage to be a persistent problem, getting around the unusual amount of lewd bureaucratic intrusion on your life isn't impossible but even if you do new problems will pop up given time.

TF Application (+200): At some point you signed up for a rather sketchy part-time job that you didn't read the fine print for, as a result you're regularly transported and transformed into a toy in somebody's possession; usually this happens when you're alone and available but not always, especially if you're trying to avoid it to prevent this. Whether turned into a more normal dildo/onahole, a 'stretchy' tiny body usable as either, an immobile full size sex doll based on yourself, or perhaps some stranger sex toy there's no getting out of being put to work as a toy. Each week you'll spend an average of 15 hours per week transformed as a sex toy, usually in shifts of a few hours each during which you'll be vigorously used by whoever gets you, and once this ends you'll be returned with nobody other than you being inconvenienced by your absence. Fortunately, those using you will be those you'd happily lay with normally, at least in their appearance, but some of your 'regulars' will be familiar and recognize you to tease you about your time spent as a toy while seeing nothing wrong with the situation you've found yourself in. You do actually get paid for this but at typical minimum wage, meaning very poorly for such an exotic form of prostitution; aside from a "mild" risk of sensory overload/mind-break there are no risks from the time spent as a toy and you may keep a copy of whatever technology or magic enables this; whether to keep this up with more control or reverse engineer the lewd nonsense is behind it.

15 Minutes of Shame (+200): Perhaps it was a rumor that got out of hand, some asshole trying to smear you, or even a viral sex tape but you've acquired an embarrassing widely known reputation. Regardless of the nature of this source of public shaming it makes you uncomfortably flustered any time it gets brought up, which it often does. While not known to absolutely everyone it is rather easy to find and meeting someone who's unaware of it frequently just means they'll discover it while you're there. On the plus side it's a fun topic for your love interests, who'll enjoy such a video of you being mind broken by futa cock or whatever else the source of your embarrassment might be.

Repressed Tease (+200): Rather unusual for this world you're extremely pure of heart and mind with little if any perversion found within you, at least that's what you are consciously and in your own opinion. On the more subconscious level you're an incredibly aggressive tease, instinctively incorporating innuendo and lewd teasing in your words and actions on an almost constant basis and never noticing unless pointed out to you. This combined with your 'pure' 'innocent' nature will frequently lead you into lewd situations you are not at all ready for and constantly see you act in an embarrassingly perverse manner often with no awareness of it at all. Despite the fact that this will likely lead to you being dropped in the sexual deep end rather quickly you'll find that you'll never be able to truly move past such 'purity' and remain as easily flustered as a sheltered virgin maiden.

Shallow Holes (+200): There's more to life than sex wouldn't you say? Sure a tight hole or hard cock certainly feels nice but it's just one part of a far larger and more beautiful whole, wait no that wasn't supposed to be an innuendo. For certain reasons, a lack of self-control among any love interests being a big one, you have a hard time doing anything other than sex without it being interrupted by someone's libido; sometimes yours but often whoever you happen to be with or around at the time. Unlike some local sluts you do have interests outside of sex and this is going to get quite tiresome rather often. Any attempt you might have toward a romantic emotional moment will likely be interrupted by someone getting too horny to control themselves, not necessarily either you or your partner. Any time you want to work on something you can expect a high chance of someone slapping their cock or ass down on top of it, at times literally, to demand your attention. Any time you simply want to sit down to enjoy something someone is likely to think their body is a much better use of your time. This won't always happen, you could just get used to that, but it will get very tiresome and most often you'll give in so you get annoyed so both of you.

Wanted Fugitive (+200): Somehow you've become a wanted fugitive, perhaps you fled a futa with a legal right to your holes or you are a futa and went after the ass of the wrong elite's favorite exclusive plaything. Regardless of the situation if caught you're going to be sent to prison with a sentence covers the remainder of your time in this world, more over the place you'll be sent to will be one primarily intended for futas; likely serving your time as a toy for the other inmates if you aren't one and honestly even if you are. Certain World Perks may also make the prison, your fellow prisoners, and those trying to lock you up in considerably more effective and/or debased in their efforts. Despite your supposed crimes likely seeming quite minor they will be treated with incredible seriousness and severity by everyone else for reasons that probably only make sense under hentai logic.

Lasting Installation (+200): Due to some mistake or misunderstanding you've been placed into a rather elaborate bondage device which takes the form of a part of a wall, a piece of furniture, or some other static fixture. Regardless of what shape it takes this device leaves at least one of your orifices available for convenient use by futas and is placed in the home, workplace, or other venue of a group of futas. Time seems to flow by rather quickly when you're in this thing, outside of when you're being used which will be a lot, but once you're eventually released at least a few days, likely a few weeks, and potentially a few months will have passed with your experience of it mostly being filled by your hole(s) being stuffed by various futanari. When taken with other drawbacks you'll find they could at times lead you toward likely recurring stays within such devices, each leading to a loss of time and an experience that from your perspective resembles a constant stream of being used by futas as their sex toy unable to escape for another few days, weeks, or months real time.

Prey Coded (+200): There's something about you, some aura or impression you give off to futas, which make them unusually sexually aggressive towards you; which is saying a great deal given how they can be normally. You can likely expect at least one futa trying to have her way with you any time you go out in public with the only way to prevent this being to be in the company of a sufficiently imposing futa already, who will also be highly sexually aggressive toward you. Futas trying to force themselves on you is going to appear entirely normal to people in general and while you being overly violent in rebuffing them far more likely to be condemned or punished. While it is possible for you to have a relationship with a futa that's more than just being her fuck toy one that doesn't at least include her seeing you as a fuck toy will be next to impossible.

A Most Dangerous Huntress (+200): Sometimes a futa can get a little obsessive over holes she takes an interest in, going to considerable lengths to ensure that whatever boy or girl who caught her eye becomes the exclusive property of her cock. You have or will seen get the attention of a futa with considerable means and a certain set of skills, ones well suited for capturing her object of obsession. She's actually quite a catch in a number of ways but unfortunately, even if you're fine with becoming such an aggressive futa's plaything, you'll find that her intentions for you will conflict heavily with your own interests in one way or another. Should you manage to thoroughly defeat her and make her accept her loss it may be possible to come to an understanding that gives her your holes and lets you keep living the life you want, doing so will even let you keep her as a companion; however this will be very difficult and any other lasting resolution will see another such futa come after you within a few weeks or perhaps months at absolute most.

New World Order (+200): Rather than this world having always been one where futas are the dominant part of society, or at least having it already be settled into such, this state of affairs is a far more recent one and it isn't going smoothly. Major social unrest, aggressive attempts to reverse or deepen the changes, radical political movements, and a variety of other problems that will continue for at least a few years and will definitely keep having a significant impact for your entire time here. Beyond just these obvious widespread issues there are numerous players with lurid intentions for the world, potentially including those who caused the world to become the way it is now and definitely those who want to make their own debased interests a bigger part of it. Companies founded to push changes onto society, a perverse counterpart to the illuminati seeking to secure their position of power over much of the world, lone visionaries with more power than sense believing that their fetish is what should govern the world, and many more besides; they aren't likely to be as successful as whatever made things the way they've become but that doesn't mean they can't get a great deal of troublesome things done if not stopped.

Dietary Restriction (+200): Food is one of life's great pleasures yet it's one that will face a bit of a limitation in your case, simply put you can't consume anything solid which doesn't include or at least come with a side of futa pheromones. If you try to eat anything without 'essence of futa' included you'll start to feel sick in under half an hour and being throwing it all up soon after that, as if your body is rejecting any meal which lacks the vital nutrients only available from a futa. On the bright side a need to give head before every meal is an exciting quirk that few futas would have an objection to assisting with.

Contracted Relief (+200): Due to their intensive libidos getting a little too horny at work is a frequent issue for futas, many have to make do with a wank in the restroom or a quicky with a coworker but others have access to someone who's actual job is to keep their balls properly drained throughout the day. While not the worst paying occupation there's little if any room for promotion aside from draining a more important futa's sack and restricted vacation time since it's a rather personal and constant role. As a desk boy spending your entire day sucking your boss off under her desk, perhaps a more communal relief hole for a workplace full of futas, and/or an amenity for futa customers you're stuck with a decade contract for such a role and can't get out of it, unable to back out despite likely not having signed on to the position knowing what you were getting into.

Post Nut Paralysis (+200): Whether you're getting fucked or doing the fucking things more often than not tend to get rather intense and energetic; unfortunately for you following a vigorous sexual encounter your body will rapidly become listless and uncooperative, while you aren't necessarily unable to go for more than one round once the sex is over you'll be having trouble doing anything more than laying there for a while afterwards. Oddly, even though your body doesn't seem to cooperate with you during this time it readily complies with anyone else trying to make use of you sexually, whether that's a partner who decides they aren't actually finished or a horny futa who stumbles onto you looking for a nice tight hole to empty herself into. When you find yourself in this state anyone nearby who might take an interest in a living onahole and/or dildo has an increased chance of finding you so it would be wise to be careful about where and when you get laid.

Out of Context Restriction (+300): Whether a grand collection of powers, allies, and tools or just a largely empty warehouse you enter this world without your typical out of context resources. This is a place made for conquest with your cock, perhaps being tamed by one, or seducing those in power with your tight holes so things should be fine without all that extra baggage right? I suppose you can still rely on any local/in-context powers, allies, and gear you pick up but really sex is one of the best things to use around here, can you really call yourself the protagonist of a hentai world if you can't win that way?

Constantly Cucked (+300): One not particularly uncommon fear for someone in this world is that some excessively hung futa will steal their partner, after all futas make any but the most extraordinary example of male or female sexuality pale in comparison and have their addictive jizz to seal the deal once they get their cock in the door. Even if you're a futa you will always find that anyone you have a relationship with or even just develop an interest in ends up stolen by a futa with a bigger dick, a nicer ass, and/or a hotter body in general which your love interests will always be taken in by. Perhaps you can keep up a relationship despite this but your futa bull(s) will never go away without being quickly replaced by yet another one eager for your lover's body.

Hornypunk Dystopia (+300): There are darker sides to places such as this one but in taking this it will be a lot more prominent in the world you're going to. Essentially you've entered into a world where the darker sorts of hentai stories are more prevalent; more cruel futas who see their playthings as disposable, more people getting horribly screwed over just so someone else can get off, more promising futures cut short in favor of lust, and just more depressing bad ends than could allow for a bright happy world. There are still good people to be found and happy endings but you're entering a place where they're rarer, and you'll be encountering the nastiness of this place quite a bit more than most. Whether you fight against it or simply seek comfort in a tight hole or hard cock is up to you, though most pick the latter given the nature of this place.

Registered Property (+300): Perhaps a result of incautious night in the futa empire, getting married without reading the fine print, or just some lurid legal quirk you've found yourself as the de facto property of another. They might call it a marriage, guardianship, or another less blatant label the fact of the matter is that you're essentially their sex slave; they have the right to your 'service', the power to make most decisions for you, and consider it both fully justified as well as simply correct for them to enjoy you fully. Defying your owner will be quite difficult as obeying them will come naturally and get harder to resist as they insist further on your acquiescence. Your owner won't necessarily be cruel towards you but at the very least your relationship will be one of dominant and submissive where your dom has extensive legal rights over you as their sub while you have a hard time disobeying any firmly given command. You may choose to have one of your companions or followers take on this role but they will firmly be in charge and make eager use of that control, otherwise you may elect to have them become one at the end of the jump if you'd like.

Bad End Magnet (+300): There are plenty of futa out there with intense, sadistic, or cruel tastes that would put their chosen hole(s) in decidedly unenviable situations. You've come down with a sort of targeted bad luck; aimed at leading you into what some might call bad ends, where you essentially lose all real independence and become the fuck toy of a highly abusive futa with no intention of letting you escape in any way other than being disposed of if she loses interest in you. This is hardly unavoidable but you encounter situations that feel like they were designed to lead you into such a state fairly regularly, more over escape or rescue from such circumstances always seem to be harder than they should be and the things you'd likely be subjected to can have all manner of nasty lasting consequences after you get out assuming you're even able to.

Life of Nugget (+300): Really there's no real need for a hole to have useless things like legs or arms, sure they can be pretty and fun to grab but they kind of distract from the crucial orifices meant for fucking while also giving the hole a bit too much independence than is really appropriate. At least that's how some more. . . eccentric futas might feel about the appendages of their fuck pets, perhaps as a result of an encounter with such a futa you've found yourself lacking your limbs and are wholly unable to restore them and incompatible with any artificial replacement appendages. Suffice to say this leaves you quite vulnerable and probably entirely dependent on others to take care of you, I'd call it fortunate that in a world like this there are plenty who'd be happy to care for someone in your state but as that's likely why you've ended up like that and those same people see nuggets like yourself as literal living sex toys it probably isn't true.

War of the Shafts (+300): Perhaps the 'Futa Empire' is looking to deal with the Free Male States once and for all or some alien race has decided to invade to apply manifest destiny to mankind's orifices but this world's decent into a massive war begins now if it isn't going strong already. This isn't some relatively mild conflict with bloodshed traded for aggressive lust but rather a true gruesome war with all it's horrors and a significant increase in sexual war crimes on top. Unless you can do something about it this war will cover most or maybe all of your time here and nobody is going to put down their weapons without a fight about that too, often feeling like the powers that be want to keep the war going despite heinous casualties on all sides including theirs. Should this be taken alongside Hornypunk Dystopia the most gruesome and sadistic of sexual fantasies will be brought to life during this war with you having a front row seat to the worst of it.

Stay, Go Home, or Continue. You know the drill.

Notes:

With the 200 CP version of Futadom Worlds you may optionally apply any of your World Perks to future settings to modify them, adjusting them for the setting they're being used in, at the start of each jump. You only get personal benefits from the higher paid tiers once however, as such you don't get a new power every time Futa Powered applies to a world or anything similar. Choosing which apply to a given world and what adjustments you want to make for the setting in question must be done at the start of the jump, these changes affect what kind of world you're entering and can't be swapped on the fly.

Perks, items, companions, and drawbacks may all be adjusted to fit the setting, each other, your place in the world, and your preferences within reason. As long as it isn't giving you any advantages not justified by any of your purchases or a combination of them.

Slave Husbandry will require you to have some degree of claim to your slaves if you want society to support rather than just tolerate your ownership of slaves, such as having them bound by your addictive cum for instance; a popular reasoning for getting a pet registered as yours in the 'Futa Empire'.

Installed Fixture is the same sort of device as you'd be stuck in with the Lasting Installation drawback with them sharing most qualities aside from the drawback versions being proof against your escape attempts for the duration(s) of your time in them.

If it wasn't smacking you in the face sufficiently already the Isle of Lost Futas is based very much so on Themyscira from DC and the four specially empowered amazons available with the upgrade are Wonder Woman and your preference of her many apprentices and stand ins over the years, at least by default. The option is quite customizable and your Japanese based futazons might be very different from the default Greek inspired ones.

For powers added to the world via Futa Powered think more cartoon Justice League rather than comics Justice League, excluding crazy outliers like JLU's Amazo. The powers are real but this is not the place for more serious capeshit abilities, powers of significance even by these lower standards will also be fairly uncommon. You could potentially see a world with most people having a power like MHA but much like MHA such common powers are often more of a novelty than actual superpowers, an often-lewd novelty because of course.

The Superfuta companion is among the 'mightiest' by the above standards, if this jump is used as a supplement in a more powerful world she likely won't be as impressive by local standards when compared to others. She's a Kryptonian expy by default but she can have another classic superhero powerset if you'd prefer otherwise.

Power systems aside from simple superpowers are also possible with Futa Powered, you could for example have litRPG classes available with the strength/potential of your class dependent on the tier you purchase. By combining it with Futa Centric Culture you could determine just how the existence of powers is added to the world; such as it being known to the public, hidden by a masquerade, or recently occurred/discovered.

The above may also apply to magic systems added via Dickcraft, potentially being another form of learnable talent reliant power system instead such as ki or other such thing, limits on requiring talent to make decent progress and its overall power remain however so any attempt to use this for a xianxia style magic system won't result in the kinds of power that most such systems offer.

Out of Context Restriction locks out everything that isn't part of this jump, your Body Mod, and/or whatever jump you've attached it to with Supplement Mode.

If you really want to you may keep the Venomous Hole post jump as a companion, they'll no longer be locked into being a nuisance but fixing them (or perhaps 'correcting') them will be up to you.

World Perks can interact with each other beyond what's explicitly mentioned, such as Futa Powered and Progressive Technology leading to some niche outliers of technology beyond just the lewd in coming out from the mad science types, though those will still tend to be rather horny given the nature of this place.

Members of follower groups such as Studmare Studios and Supportive Community or any brought into a world with A Hole for Every Peg may gain racial alt-forms or the like when taken into worlds which would lack theirs, such as if they include elves or anthros and are entering a setting that doesn't contain either.

If the Genie of the Shaft cockvores you to add to her collection of harem girls, you remain her master and can get her to set you free with a wish. . . after providing payment in your body for the wish that is.

A Hole for Every Peg can be used in conjunction with other properties/organizations which follow you in-between worlds or that appear as local versions of themselves to place your companions/followers into positions in said properties/organizations that they're suitable and qualified for.

The types of regions don't necessarily all exist, any but Free Male States could take up the entire world if you prefer. Free Male States however can't take up the world's majority, as that would sort of defeat the purpose of this place.

If using this jump as a supplement you may still take a Location option for this, mainly for determining what type of region your starting location in the main jump is but potentially also narrowing it down more if the one the main jump gives you is particularly broad.

Money in the account tied to the Allowance Card will follow you in-between settings and automatically converts to whatever currency you're currently trying to use, while you may take money out of the card you cannot put money back into it.

Higher levels of futa dominance in general will equate to the 'Free Male States' being ever more dystopian and nonfunctional, taking that location will not be a way to make a heavily futa dominated world a source of no cost CP for non-futas.

Aggressive Courtship and Slave Husbandry will make it socially acceptable for you to force yourself on or enslave others respectively, they won't make people desire or even accept either happening to themselves or someone they care about. Even if hentai logic means it's not seriously held against you for doing (or attempting) it that doesn't automatically mean nobody will resist or oppose an attempt to force yourself on or collar someone. Combined with Binding is Love this will extend to, with the same caveats, things like futa binding and other forms of mind control intended to collar or get in someone's pants. A culture which encourages and accepts things like this to begin with would obviously help, such as is likely to exist in this world.

The default fetish for Regretful Indulgence is rather obviously futas, perhaps being rather uncomfortable with your sexuality and thinking futa is gay; which is of course just absurd on the face of it. Futa isn't gay, just ask Iron Man and Captain America.

This jump is primarily focused on futadom but what form it takes is very customizable, the situation of Futa Slave Pls Help being normal with futas as rogue servitors who like serving non futas but think that turning them into fuck toys while they run things is the best way to do so is entirely possible. Conversely while the world is naturally a futadom one there is nothing stopping a male jumper from coming in to dominate the futas, it's just not going to be the norm that people around here expect.

Using the World Perks with the paid version of Futadom Worlds won't require you to place futas at the top of the foodchain in future worlds, though it easily can and futas will get a bit more out of such options than most assuming they're there.

Some of the OC companions are clearly better suited to some possible worlds for this jump than others, fanwank responsibly how any discrepancies work out.

This is a generic jump based on the large number of futadom stories, captions, games, and images created in the apparent boom in such things after a few notable examples.