

Pokemon Blacked Version
Blackedanon at it again

Welcome to the wonderful world of Pokémon! It's a world much like your own, but filled to the brim with creatures known as Pokémon. These creatures take many forms and come in many shapes and sizes - however, they all have one thing in common. Each and every one of them has an obsession with Dark type trainers. Or, that is to say, black men. From the Afri-Khans region. I'm sure you know what that means.

Or, if you'd prefer a somewhat more cohesive storyline-

After a surprise upset in the Pokemon World Coronation tournament a few decades ago, Tyrone, a trainer from the lesser known Afri-Khans region managed to claim the title of the strongest Pokemon trainer in the world. This victory catapulted his homeland into the spotlight, turning it into a new land of opportunity. Everyone wanted to know what it was about the Afri-Kahn region that allowed for this to happen. Were the Pokemon there simply stronger? Did the rougher nature of the region produce a training method that was superior? Was there simply something in the water? With trainers flocking to the region, businesses followed their customers and invested in almost everything they could, turning the once neglected land into the new capital of the world.

The conclusion that was eventually reached was - yes, there was something in the water. You see, the natives of the Afri-Khan region all bore a single mutation that made them stand out. They were Dark type. Humans with Pokemon types weren't an unknown factor, Aura users are well known if rare, and a not insignificant number of Psychic Gym Leaders genuinely have Psychic powers. And of course, certain people will, after their death, return to life as a Ghost type Pokemon. But I digress - an entire nation sharing a type, no, having a type other than Normal is extremely abnormal. Research was done into how this was possible and what it meant for the world as a whole.

The end result? The average Dark type trainer was several times more physically powerful than their normal counterparts, and this was something that bled into their Pokemon given the right circumstances. Specifically, upon having sex with them. While shocking, the proof that doing so could result in trainers and teams of Pokemon that were statistically and provably better than others caused many trainers to accept it with open arms. Or, in other words, for the past several decades, getting fucked by black men has been an important part of the journey for any Pokemon trainer who wants to be one of the greats.

+1000 cp

Origins

Dark Type Trainer

You are a trainer from Afri-Khan. Or, at least, you have the bloodline of someone from Afri-Khan. You may be a citizen of another region if you wish, having perhaps moved there recently or whatever excuse you wish to use. In terms of Pokemon battling, you're skilled and competent, and as you are an Afri-Khan, many female trainers will want to test themselves against you. And if they lose, you can probably expect them to try and bribe you into giving them whatever skills or tricks you have in exchange for their body.

Normal Type Trainer

The vast majority of the population of the world doesn't have anything special to their name. In other words, they're totally normal. Or rather, Normal. And now you're one of them. If you're taking this origin as a woman, then you'll probably enjoy your stay. If not... Well, you'll either enjoy it a lot less or enjoy being abused. No judging, promise.

Pokémon (Free, 100, or 200)

Or, on the flip side, you could not be a trainer. You could be here to get trained. To be shown your place and worship at the feet of your betters. Don't worry, that's not strange - entire species of Pokémon, such as Neterovee, the Unfaithful Pokémon, have been defined in the public mind for years by how much they love Dark Type trainers. However, there is the matter of price.

For 200 cp you may be a Pokémon that doesn't evolve, or the final evolution of one that does. For 100 cp, you may be the base stage of a two-stage Pokémon, or the middle stage of a three-stage Pokémon. For free, you may be the first stage of a three stage pokemon. Additionally, being a Legendary or Mythical requires both the 200 cp purchase here and the White Blaze perk, found later.

All origins may discount one perk and item of each tier.

Perks

Dark Type Trainer

Dark Type Immunity (100)

There are certain interesting implications that come with humans having a Pokemon type. For example, a Dark type Pokemon would be immune to Psychic powers, but weak to Fighting, Bug, and Fairy. Now, I'd never make you pay for a weakness, so let's ignore that for the most part and concentrate on the positives. You are immune to Psychic powers. But that's boring. So instead, rather than being immune, you're simply... fuzzy, to them. A psychic looking into the future for a way to defeat you in battle would only ever see your utter victory and then probably fucking them senseless. Even when they're actually stronger than you and their victory would have been assured, them trying to use their psychic powers on you will simply make them more likely to end up with you balls deep in them. The same holds true for Ghost and Normal types if they were to try and mess with you somehow, though to a lesser extent.

Gender Rates (100)

In the World of Pokémon that you might be more familiar with, there are some species of Pokémon that are entirely male or entirely female. That's not bad in and of itself, but it is something that holds the potential to be inconvenient, so let's change that - From now on, unless a Pokemon is naturally hyper-masculine such as, say, Machop, then you'll find it's gender rates heavily weighted toward being female. This translates to about 65-70% of all pokemon species. Why? Because they exist to be bitches, of course. This doesn't just apply to Pokémon either. It can apply to aliens, demons, spirits, or basically any kind of lifeform. Additionally, if a being does not have a gender - such as, say, a Legendary - then it is now guaranteed to be female and thus fuckable.

Ass Kissing Competition (200)

The Pokemon of the Afri-Khan region are well accustomed to their normal treatment by their Dark type trainers, to the point where even wild Pokemon will curry favor with them in order to be accepted onto a team - and by extension, into their new trainers bed. Similarly, female trainers from all over the world have taken to effectively whoring out their teams to Dark type trainers in order to make them stronger... and often themselves as well. Regardless of whether or not you're actually a good trainer, women will actively seek you out for one thing or another and place themselves in a position where you can easily abuse their kindness and generosity if you have even the slightest desire to do so. Additionally, when setting terms to them, they're willing to go a lot farther and do things they'd normally find humiliating with a smile on their face as they think about what a good deal they got. After all, not only did they get your help, they got to fuck you too.

Named (200)

There's a certain trend in a certain Pokemon-themed card game. Cards that are based on the Pokemon of a Gym Leader or other significant individual are marked as being that person's Pokemon, and are often - though not always - better than just the regular version. For you, this isn't merely a visual signifier or a marketing gimmick. Your Pokemon are actually stronger because they're specifically your Pokemon. Simply put, the more famous you are, the more benefits you'll receive - if you're famous for being an amazing trainer, your team gets a number of minor but useful boosts. If you're famous for being an amazing fuck, then you'll be able to ruin your next partner even harder.

Ball Crusher And Ball Taker (400)

The Afri-Khan region as a whole is fairly hostile to non-Dark type life, which is why every native and a significant portion of its Pokemon population are Dark type. While the Dark type men are happy to defend the Normal type women, weak Normal men have no such boon and are often grinded into the dust by the region's general harshness. More to the point, once they've been ground into the dust, perhaps by losing ten or twenty battles to you in a row, you're allowed to claim a prize from them. This will somewhat depend on how you defeat them, but for now - if you defeat them in a Pokemon battle that badly and that often, it should come as no surprise that a member or two of his team might decide that they want to be a member of your team instead.

Coronated By The World (600)

As mentioned previously, several decades ago an Afri-Khan man was crowned as the strongest trainer in the world, creating a cultural shift that made the sexual domination of black men to be commonplace and often sought out by men and women alike. You're going to carry this torch forward. Afri-Khan Pokemon are stronger than their counterparts because they're from Afri-Khan. Your Pokemon are stronger than Afri-Khan Pokemon because they're your Pokemon. Not only are you a highly skilled Pokemon trainer, but you have a special power. The more you indulge in this domination, the better off you are. Your Pokemon team fights harder the more addicted to your cock they are. The women you battle expect you to demand their body as payment, and will bow easier and quicker the more often you do so. Abusing weaker men inevitably results in you gaining something of value from them as they give up and allow you to rummage through their things. In short, your life gets easier and easier the more you sleep around and spread the domination of the Dark type trainer.

Normal Type Trainer

Graded Cruelty (100)

As time passes and more and more of the world bows down to the superiority of Afri-Khan trainers, certain skill sets will become more and more important. Generally speaking, that translates to anything you can do to please your black master, but more often than not it means how good you are in bed. And the Afri-Khan region will respond to that trend by offering identity cards that fully display how willing you are to service them and how good you are at each act or position. For Dark type men, this includes anal and titfucking, rimjobs and blowjobs, spitroasts and gangbangs, bondage, dancing, and a general level of flexibility and worship. For Normal type men, this includes such things as ball kicking, verbal abuse, orgasm denial, heartbreaking, pegging, femdom, and various other ways to express how much worse a Normal type man is than a Dark type man. In any event, please pick one of these two categories and you'll gain a significant amount of skill in the various areas it encompasses. As a side effect, this will also cause you to become more attractive in the eyes of that group - black men will take more pleasure in your service, and white men are more willing to let you abuse them.

Crushed For Luck (100)

Press B and hold down while catching Pokémon to increase your capture rates! Make sure to yell 'Gotcha' into the microphone too! These myths and many others like them surround the act of catching a Pokémon. So it should come as no surprise that several other superstitions have popped up in relation to Dark type trainers. Things like how performing a certain ass-shake dance before flirting can increase your chances, or that being extra mean to Normal type men can make you luckier. Strictly speaking, there's no truth to this, but I'm going to give it to you anyway. The meaner and crueller you are to Normal type men, the better your luck with Dark types. From battling them, to flirting with them, to learning from them, there's nothing about your interactions with them that crushing the dreams of the pathetically pale Normal type man can't help you with. Not by much admittedly, but by enough to make it worth doing.

Dark Skinned Goddess (200)

Now, I've gone into a great amount of detail about how amazing Dark type men are and how all the Normal type women love to submit to them and value them above Normal type men. But I haven't particularly mentioned Dark type women, have I? Well, they're exactly as above Normal type women as their male counterparts are. This means that white boys have a tendency to try and worship you, thinking that you can train them to be better the same way Normal girls hope for from Dark men. This may or may not be true, but it does mean that you can use and abuse them to your heart's content and they'll probably thank you for it. This also extends to Normal girls as well, though to a lesser extent. While they're mostly trying to use you to get an introduction to a Dark type man, they're more than happy to be a little bit lesbian if it's for you.

Not Actually Normal Type (200)

Well this is interesting. I've been assuming for the most part that you're yet another Normal type trainer getting ready to feed themselves to the nearest black man, but it seems that's not the case. You've got a latent ability of some kind, such as Psychic powers or perhaps you've mastered your body and unlocked your Ki. You aren't anything special, not compared to, say, a certain Psychic leader from Kanto, but impressive in your own right. You can choose something other than Psychic and Fighting, those are simply the ones we have the most information on. Though, do keep in mind, if you pick this, then you'll also pick up a small handful of sexual preferences to go with it. For example, if you're somehow a Water type, you might find electro-stimulation to cause you far more pleasure than it has any right to.

Highly Trained (400)

Your average trainer, depending on how committed they are to the dream every trainer shares, to become a Pokémon Master, can be quite skilled in a number of seemingly random areas. The owner of a Magnemite might have a surprising amount of knowledge about electrical coils, for example, or the owner of a number of Ghost type Pokémon might have picked up how to perform an exorcism. You aren't highly skilled in a random area - you're highly skilled in your area, because you're now qualified to be a Gym Leader, Elite Four member, or perhaps a Pokémon Professor. Or you could always be a Juggler or an Athlete, but I assume you want the big name stuff. In addition to this, as you become more professionally successful, you also gain the skill needed to effectively control a relationship with a Normal type man with an iron grasp. As a Gym Leader, you could very well have a husband in name only who exists to raise the children you have with other men.

Spades Badge (600)

As the cultural shift caused by the discovery of Dark type males grows larger and larger, the rules of Pokémon battling very slowly began to shift with them. The standard eight badges needed to participate in a proper Pokémon league were given an addition. The Spades and Cuck Badges. Strictly speaking these hold no inherent meaning to the government, but simply serve to act as a badge of pride... or shame. More relevantly, whenever a challenger defeats you in some manner, you may give him a Spades Badge. This will grant him a number of minor boosts, including slight physical increases to him and his team, an increase in sexual virility, and a commanding aura. On the flip side, whenever a challenger loses to you, you may give them the Cuck Badge, which will have the exact opposite effects - he will become frailer, less assertive, and quite possibly his dick will shrink. This effect can stack if they lose to you multiple times, and will not be removed upon victory.

Pokemon

Regional Variant (100)

As part of the Afri-Khans sexual excess, the vast majority of Pokemon within the Afri-Khan region possess bodies that are not quite the same as their counterparts from other regions. Such variance is actually a fairly well known phenomenon these days, with Pokemon having different forms and sometimes Typing depending on if the regions they call home have vastly different environments. In the case of Afri-Khan Pokemon, thanks to years and years of sexual intercourse with their trainers, you're fuckable. In fact, you're now fuckable no matter what kind of form you take. Whether it's a cat, a dog, a fox, or a sentient ice cream cone you'll always have the parts needed to be sexually compatible with humans. Additionally, you may choose whether or not you want to breed via the traditional method of mysteriously appearing eggs, a nine month pregnancy, or anything in between.

Brutal Preference (100)

With the existence of regional variants comes the acknowledgement that something has caused this species of Pokemon to drastically change. And in the case of most Afri-Khan pokemon, it's how often they take Dark type cock. As a result of this, most Afri-Khan Pokemon have extremely negative reactions to Normal type trainers - specifically male ones. Snowpunny, for example, will intentionally attack weak trainers with the intention of leaving them sterile, and several species such as Kinkaton and Luxspade are fond of creating chastity cages and forcing them upon weak male trainers. As such, when expressing your sexual preference, you can go much further than most would expect or be comfortable with, such as physically abusing those you disapprove of in public or outright worshipping the body of your preferred king of man and getting away with it without issue or any kind of backlash.

Black Owned (200)

I spoke before that the Pokemon of Afri-Khan trainers were stronger than their counterparts, but allow me to explain how that works in slightly more detail - you can now directly translate the amount of time you've spent taking black cock into battle prowess. Consider it something like an extra mechanic added to a game, one that references your loyalty to the Dark type in order to calculate its effects. Going into battle freshly fucked will see you throwing around stronger attacks easier and quicker, having a number of tattoos proclaiming your loyalty will cause you to deal extra damage to those without any, and watching your allies get fucked as you fight may cause them to spontaneously heal small amounts of damage as they suddenly fight harder for the right to get fucked next.

Miss Snowqueen (200)

Battling isn't the end all and be all that a Pokemon can look forwards to, no matter how much they may enjoy it. There's also Contests to consider. Displays of skill and control to an audience, rather than tests of general competence to a judge. And you, my friend, are cut from the perfect cloth to make it big in that area. You now exemplify one of the five contest stats - tough, cool, cute, smart, or beautiful. Showing off in this manner comes to you incredibly easy, as does learning moves that fall under this category - or twisting moves you already have into something that would qualify. Hell, you can even get fucked into oblivion and somehow give the impression that you're exceptionally smart, that's how skilled you are at it.

Variant Evolution (400)

With the existence of regional variants comes the rare phenomenon of variant evolutions - Pokemon who can only evolve specifically because they are a variant, or whose conditions of evolution are sufficiently mysterious that other forms of them have never managed to evolve. An example might include Creameon, a Pokemon that highly resembles but very much is not Vaporeon. Another might be Snowpunny, a further and previously undiscovered evolution of Lopunny. In any event, once per jump you may evolve as well, even if you're not a Pokemon or species that is supposed to be able to do that. This may slightly increase your power and can potentially change your typing. The trigger for this, naturally, is your sexual preference. Spend your days worshipping Dark type trainers, and you'll most likely gain the Dark type yourself, as well as a body more suited to whatever positions and acts you've been used for the most.

White Blaze (600)

Legendary Pokemon are often surrounded in myths about their prowess and rage, having slowly faded from the public mind after hundreds of years of slumber. When they wake up, however, they tend to shake the world in some manner. You may or may not be one of those, but even without that you still manage to attract a following. Like Snowshiram, who preaches Dark type superiority as Truth, or Melorappa, who uses her musical talents to create extremely vulgar songs that nevertheless sell like hotcakes. Any cause you champion begins to explode in popularity, with many of the people you convert genuinely worshipping you. The farther into this you go, the larger the effects become. Additionally, you may choose a single 'immunity' that exists within the world of Pokemon and gain the ability to ignore it, such as being able to burn a fire type Pokemon, or harm a Dark type with Psychic moves.

Items

Dark Type Trainer

Snowkedex (100)

Much like how the Pokedex is a compilation of information on the habitats and daily lives of various Pokémon species, the Snowkedex is a compilation of their sexual habits. Which, going by the name if you haven't noticed it, is very heavily weighted towards a preference for Dark types, at least in the Afri-Khan region. In any event, this functions as an additional app, a submode, or some other secondary program on a device of your choice, be that a Pokenav or an actual Pokedex. It will record sexual data on any species you interact with, granting you insight on the best way to reduce any given Pokemon - or similar creature, in worlds without any - into cocksucking sluts in future jumps.

Blacked Gym (100)

You might be thinking to yourself - why would anyone offer a Pokemon Gym for so little? Well, because it's not your Gym, sadly. The actual Gym Leader is probably a close friend of yours, if not outright a fuckbuddy, but that's not entirely relevant. What matters is that the theme for this Gym, is that it is in fact a gym. You know, with treadmills and weights and possibly yoga classes. Beyond being a good place to go to find bitches to fuck, this place has the added bonus of exaggerating the sexual traits of anyone who works out here. A Dark type man - such as yourself, presumably, would find their dick growing larger and stronger after every session. Effects may vary for everyone else, which can be slightly controlled by having a chat with the Gym Leader.

Mysterious Plates (200)

In certain regions a series of eighteen strange plates can be found, often inscribed with symbols and in a color representing one of the types. These plates are Arceus's plates, a tool used in the creation of the world. What you have... well, it's very similar to those plates, but it's not one of them. An attempt at replicating them, perhaps. It's also broken, and has since been worked into some other shape. A necklace or bracelet, perhaps, or maybe a set of earrings or piercings. What matters is that these trinkets have the odd effect of increasing your damage against the corresponding type by a small amount. Or more accurately, by increasing the pleasure you deal to people who might potentially fall under that category - for example, a necklace made from a fake thunder plate might cause swimmers and other 'water' trainers to be like putty in your hands... though they might make your odds with a 'rock' themed trainer a little worse.

Trainer Supplies (200)

While the average Dark type trainer will spend more time training women to suck cocks than they will spend training their Pokemon to battle, that doesn't preclude the possibility that they are good at both. If anything, the fact that all these changes came about from a Afri-Khan trainer being recognized as the best trainer in the world should go to show that it is just as important. To that end, you have what I will refer to as a basic kit for being a Pokemon Trainer, as well as a small amount of loot gathered on your journey. A bag that is slightly bigger on the inside, a case for badges and another for Technical Machines, perhaps something for berries, and a random collection of things that have been found, bought, or won in battle such as evolution stones, TMs, berries, potions and pokeballs, and various held items.

Hisui Isekai Adventure (400)

Something strange has happened. One day while you were taking a walk, you tripped and fell - and when you landed, you were a few hundred years in the past. The good news is, on your way down you had a chat with god and she told you to be fruitful and multiply. Once per jump you may mysteriously encounter a time-space rift that will deposit you no more than 500 years into the past, where you will likely encounter the ancestors of all the cutest and sexiest waifus that you had been flirting with in the present. You will stay here for one year, during which time any effect you might have on the timeline will be simultaneously smoothed over and vastly magnified. If you were to go around impregnating every woman you met and converting them to the glory of Dark type cock, you will find that once you return to the present, the vast majority of the population will abruptly have an intense fetish for just that.

Afri-Khan Region (600)

Far to the south of the Paldea region is a region composed of long rivers, lush forests near those rivers, and heavy deserts everywhere else. This is the Afri-Khan region, a harsh and unforgiving and - until recently - backwater region that most tended to forget about. Nowadays, however, the Afri-Khan region is all but synonymous with excellence, with its hard landscapes being well known to be the crucible in which greatness is forged. It's an odd mix between rural villages scattered throughout the desert, and bustling cutting edge cities at the mouths of rivers. It also has a very unique trait in that over 90% of its population are a unique subspecies of humanity that are Dark type, as compared to the vast majority of humanity that is Normal, or the rare Fighting and Psychic type humans. Dark type, in this case and in future worlds, is a metaphor for being black, which according to the rules of Pokemon mean that the average citizen of Afri-Khan is just straight up better than your average human. It also has a very high concentration of Dark type pokemon, fairly evenly split between hyper-masculine and massive sluts. If you think you have the skills to hold the rank, you may be Champion.

Normal Type Trainer

Blacked Service (100)

As Afr-Khan culture swept through the world, people became more and more obsessive about having access to it, participating in it, and spending time around its people. Unfortunately, with throngs of women flocking to the source, there are inevitably those who don't make it in time, who can't afford the ticket, or who are simply not favored by luck. The disorganized chaos causes people to be passed over or left out. Thankfully, there's a team dedicated to fixing that. You might call it a dating service of sorts - BlackedService allows women to skip past all the posturing and positioning and just place an order for a black man to come ravage them. Of course, that's not all it does. You can also order battle training, cooking lessons, for an artist to come paint you, or any number of things. It can get a bit pricey depending on how specific your request is, but it will always be answered. It doesn't even have to involve sex, it's just the main use of the app.

Starter Kit (100)

You can't exactly call yourself a Pokemon Trainer if you have no Pokemon to train, now can you? Don't worry, I have you covered. You now have a backpack that is slightly bigger on the inside, which contains two thousand Pokedollars, five Pokeballs, three Potions, and an Escape Rope. Everything a starting trainer gets, plus a bit more. Refills each jump, and may optionally shift to more appropriate items for that jump. In addition to those things, you may also have a starter Pokemon. Any regular starter will do, which will mostly leave you with a selection of Fire, Water, and Grass types. With that said, Pikachu, Eevee, and any regional variants of those regular starters are also valid picks.

Vacation Destination (200)

Being a Pokemon Trainer is a rough lifestyle. Most days you're either camping out under the stars or thanking Arceus that Pokemon Centers have free lodging, and if you really sit down and look at your pocketbook, you probably don't make all that much money. Which makes it even greater that you've somehow won free tickets to a popular vacation spot. Where? And when? Don't worry about that, they're to wherever you want to go, whenever you get there. This kicks in up to five times per jump, and comes with a suitcase full of absolutely scandalous swimsuits if you want them, or other inappropriate clothing if you end up somewhere other than the beach.

Dark Stone (200)

Visually indistinguishable from a Dusk Stone at first glance, looking at this Dark Stone carefully reveals a vine-like pattern set into its surface along with something that resembles hearts. It's an evolution item unique to the Afri-Khan region that, interestingly, has little to no effect on any Pokemon native to the region. Instead, its purpose is to be used on other Pokemon, as using it on them will transform them into an Afri-Khan variant of the pokemon. Or, in other words, any Pokemon you use this on becomes fuckable and slutty. Using it twice will then instill them with a deep love bordering on addiction to black cock. Each stone can naturally only be used once, which is why you receive a box of twenty of them each jump. Additionally, the stone can be used on women if you desire, though more often than not it will simply default to the second usage unless the individual is particularly ugly - most women are already fuckable, after all.

10 Million Pokedollar Contract (400)

There are a good number of women in the world who would pay for the privilege of spending time with a Dark type trainer, but even once getting fucked in public becomes common, there will still be a market for porn. That's where you come in. You've been given an offer from Blacked, the premium producer of Dark type porn. For three years you'll fuck an uncountable number of Afri-Khan trainers on camera, and you'll get paid a truly phenomenal amount of money for your time. In each future jump, you can opt to have this contract be on hold or to have already been completed, something that will very likely make you the most famous and well paid pornstar on the planet.

Pokemon Taking Cocks Game (600)

Within the world of Pokemon, there are many people who want to go on a Pokemon journey and rise to the top. And, there are also people who don't want to go outside and do things, and instead want to play games all day. The Pokemon TCG is a sort of middle ground between the two. It's a Pokemon themed card game that is almost as popular as being an actual trainer, to the point where they have their own Pokemon Card Game League, complete with Gyms and Badges, an Elite Four and Champion, and a Pokemon professor dedicated to it. However, much like the rest of the world, this game is significantly lewder than you might expect, with a large portion of it's best strategies revolving around the player or their cards getting utterly fucked through the use of 'Darkness Energy' in order to bring out their decks full potential. In future worlds, the game will effectively 'reset' to the Pokemon TCG you might expect, and both the game and its players will become more and more perverted as you indulge in a specific fetish, such as black men.

Pokemon

Endless Supply of Chastity Cages (100)

It probably sounds fairly odd, for one of the things a Pokemon would most want to be a product of civilization, but it turns out that they're one of the specialties of Kinkaton, so they're just laying around en masse for the most part. In any event, whenever you encounter a trainer that you don't approve of you can just chunk a number of these in their general direction and most often than not the guy will end up locked up. Do not they work best of Normal type trainers, to the point of potentially shrinking the dick of anyone caught inside them. They're also oddly compatible with your own powers - if you're an electric type, they're exceptionally conductive while also being resistant to electricity. Perfect for shocking the crap out of some poor guy without risking any damage - or freeing him.

Golden Chains (100)

By all accounts, Pokemon enjoy being owned. The wild Pokemon in the tall grass are the ones hoping to meet up with a human, to learn to fight from, to go on an adventure with. And most Pokemon are quite smart, so its always interesting to see creatures that are equal to humans in mindset so subservient. The fact that the Pokemon of the Afri-Khan region take this to extremes should serve as no surprise. You have a small handful of trinkets, odds and ends of clothing or accessories. A spiked collar, for example, or a set of golden chains meant to grandiose display submission. Optionally, you may also have a number of tattoos. People who see you wearing these accessories, or with your tattoos on display, will instinctively understand that they somehow serve as a representation of your sexual preference... and whether or not they meet your standards. And, as a side note, don't be surprised if women who share your preference but lack any such displays of their own ask for you to share.

Addicted To You (200)

Each Pokemon of the Afri-Khan region reacts to superior trainers in fundamentally the same way. Submission and a desperate desire to get fucked. The same doesn't hold true for inferior ones - sure, they may hold them in contempt, but how that is displayed changes with every species of Pokemon. For some, it's extreme violence. In your case, it would seem that you've somehow managed to gain a small... Well, I want to call it a harem, but that implies they have any chance with you. A small group of exceptionally pathetic men and perhaps the odd woman whom you have abused in such a way that it causes them to want to worship you. Perhaps you're a Poison type and they're high as a kite from chemical castration, or maybe you are a Psychic type and fiddled with their mind to get off on the beating you gave them. The end result is the same - they belong to you now.

Blackerus (200)

Strictly speaking, the whole fucking black men to get stronger aspect of Pokémon training is bullshit. The Regional Variants of Afri-Khan are stronger, yeah, but causing a Pokémon to shift like that takes more than sucking cock or getting pounded. But that's too kind to Normal type men, so let's change that. This is Blackerus, or a Dark type variant of Pockerus. While it is inside your system, getting fucked by black men will in fact cause you to grow in power, skill, and beauty the way that women everywhere are hoping to. You have a basket of ten strange pitch black berries that will infect the consumer with Blackerus, at which point they will infect everyone they sleep with and so on. The infection dies off after four days, and a person cannot be re-infected for a minimum of one year. If you need clarification, yes, it's an STD with no downsides and only benefits. Assuming you like black men.

Domain (400)

Afri-Khan regional evolutions - or Spades Evolutions, if you prefer - are remarkably human-like. This is to make them better breeding partners for Dark type men. Additionally, the more civilized of them have a tendency to hang around civilization in some manner, such as how Vollebunny spends a great deal of time playing volleyball with people, or Snowpunny simply enjoys long walks on the beach. You have an area of your own that serves as your stalking grounds. This area is perfect for your species of Pokémon, and regularly generates sexy scenarios that you will enjoy, be that black men passing through for you to worship in some manner, or white men for you to abuse in equal measure.

Legend (600)

Mythical and Legendary Pokemon are by and large referred to as such because of the legends that surround them. Those same legends often result in no small amount of worship, shrines, temples, perhaps a festival. If you wish, you may have something to this extent. A small temple with a number of priests and priestesses, a powerful artifact that enhances you in some manner, or perhaps a new holiday in which your deeds of ancient legend are celebrated. Or, if you'd prefer something more modern, you could simply have a music career that leaves you one of the most popular musicians in the world, like how Melorappa has millions of listeners who enjoy her songs about getting fucked. Technically a shallow and impersonal relationship, but it casts a wider net. You can pick and choose these as you please - you could have a small set of worshippers, a minor holiday, and an exceptionally powerful artifact, or a major religion dedicated to you with a week long festival but no artifact, for example.

Companions

You may take one companion for free

Import / Export / Create (100/300)

100 for 2, 300 for 8, they get 600. No taking drawbacks or buying companions of their own. Can be used to create OC's if the bitches already present aren't doing it for you.

Crimson Ruin Princess (100)

Other dimensions exist. Other timelines exist. Certain Pokemon, or certain technologies based on those Pokemon, can reach them. Due to an extremely unlikely series of events, a young woman from another world has made her way to the world of Pokemon. Registering as a Fire/Dark type Pokemon despite being visually indistinguishable from humans, she very quickly adapted to the Afri-Khan culture - after all, in her world, black men had already conquered hell in order to lay claim to more bitches. She's beautiful to the point even black men will simp for her, and even a simple walk through town will result in a legion of pale white minions ready to do everything she asks. You'd think she was mind controlling them, but no, she's really just that fucking hot. She's also taken a liking to you, though whether that's because she wants to be your slave or bully you to death is anyone's guess.

Normal Type Specialist (100)

When you hear the words 'Normal Type Specialist', you're probably thinking of some wimpy guy with a team of Ratatata and Bidoof. And while that's reasonable, it isn't what or who we're talking about. This lady is Dark type. See, she specializes in taking Normal types and turning them into... well, not threats precisely, but helping them be the most they can be. She's bodacious, energetic, with an almost cowgirl look to her, and even if you're the saddest sack of white shit she'll still grab you off the ground, dust you off, and do her best to screw your head on straight.

Monkeying Around (100)

Some people have a very strange sense of humor. Take this particular Pokemon for example - this Panpour is something of a fan of cosplay, so they have a habit of dressing up as gym leaders and other notable trainers in an attempt to get Dark types to fuck them. Quite often this is a certain water type leader from Galar, which seems to regularly alternate between being something people find hilarious and something people find offensive. Specifically the Normal type simps think it's quite offensive, while the Dark type men think it's hilarious. And since those are the ones she cares about, it's all good as long as it gets her fucked. Optionally, this may be a completely different monkey pokemon such as Pansage, Pansear, Mankey, Slakoth, or any other similar 'mon.

Galactic Level Mistake (100)

In another, older, version of this world, there was a man who desired the power of god. Who reached into the space between dimensions, found a way to recreate the world, and when he was defeated, jumped even further in despite his almost certain doom. All because he refused to admit that he was wrong. ...He may regret that, because in the end he did actually manage to create a new world. This one. Which is absolutely nothing like the one he meant to make. I'll leave it up to your discretion how the man himself turned out - whether he, like the majority of his former team, is now a black man who is highly abusive in an attempt to beat free will out of the women he enslaves... or if she is instead now at the mercy of her own minions, only good for ensuring they have a fresh supply of bitches.

Drawbacks

Funhouse Mirror (+0)

If you want this jump to run on bleached instead of blacked, then that's badwrongfun but sure, go ahead. Normal types are sexual monsters who fuck pokebitches for days, Dark is just another flavor of waifu to be conquered. Flip all mentions of Dark and Normal/black and white and such as per bleached and go from there. The Dark Type Trainer origin is still full of men who fuck, but are probably not black anymore.

Socially Acceptable Distractions (+100)

Look, its understandable. Its probably why you're here in the first place. You're really really into this kind of thing. Unfortunately, you're a bit too into it. Once you get a taste of something you like, you now have a tendency to dive into it headfirst to a quite frankly disturbing level. Find a trainer you like battling? You become a bit of a stalker, keeping track of their growth, who else they've fought, creating mathematical models for the optimum time to challenge them - it's not your fault, surely. You just enjoyed battling them. You also enjoyed fucking that one guy, which is why you let him do you on live tv. And why you lost your job and are banned from that one restaurant chain for life. Basically? If you enjoy something, you have absolutely no chill.

A Sidestory About A Prequel (+100)

One day while you were taking a walk, you tripped and fell - sorry, have I told this story before? Well, it doesn't change much. You've somehow ended up way back in the past, at least a hundred years before the start of the jump and absent the social shift that would have turned this place into a paradise for Dark type men. In order to get back to the present and to the main part of the jump, you need to impregnate 100 women. Well, assuming you're a guy. And black. Anything else, and you'll instead wake up next to a black guy and will need to have him impregnate one hundred women. Once that's done, you'll be sent to the modern era when and wherever you actually wanted to go. Oh, and you only have one year to do this, or a spacetime rift will tear the region - and your way back - to shreds.

The Pokemon Experience (+100)

You know, it just wouldn't be Pokemon if there wasn't at least something driving you to become a Pokemon Master, would it? Whether you start there or not, you'll eventually make your way to the Afri-Khan region where you will need to complete their gym challenge. It's an odd mix between ordinary battles to prove your competence in big city gyms, and ancient tests of manliness or survival skills out in the rural parts of the desert. Thankfully Afri-Khan is one of the regions with more than eight gyms, and you only need that many to participate in the league. Pick your team, pick your battles, and enjoy this overwhelming desire to get the 'real' Pokemon experience out of your time in this jump... And the dose of bad luck that's going to drag you into conflict with at least one group of criminals.

The Mon That Were Already Dark Type (+100)

With multiple nations worth of Normal type women being ready and willing to utterly debase themselves, you'd think that there was an utter buffet of bitches to choose from. But as it turns out, that's largely balanced out by the entire nation of Dark type men all trying to claim the choicest morsels for themselves. It also doesn't account for the Pokemon. You have a rival of sorts. It might be another man, it might be an Inceneroar, an Afri-Khan Machamp, or hell, it could even be Darkrai. Regardless, the two of you will constantly be butting heads over which girl belongs to who, with them being willing and able to walk into your house to rape your girls in their sleep. Absolutely no respect for you.

A Wonderful Ideal (+200)

Tell me. Do you believe that when Arceus created the world, she made us equal? That given the same life, the same environment, the same chances and opportunity, that any human being could achieve the same results? I'm sure that some people would fall short due to laziness, but if you could make it so that all the external factors are the same, would everyone be able to accomplish the same things? Or perhaps I should ask this from the other direction - ignoring all external factors, could you look at any two humans and say they are the same? Equality is a wonderful concept, and it is seemingly one you are devoted too wholeheartedly. It is also wrong. In the beginning there was Arceus, and then she made the Dark type - and everything she made after it is fundamentally lesser, because Dark type was her favorite. You, however, don't seem to have got this message, and will spend the jump trying and failing to aid your lessers in making something of themselves. They never will.

Type War (+200)

Dark and Normal type humans are totally a metaphor for skin color. It's not even that deep. With that said, it kind of isn't anymore. See, with this, humanity is more or less evenly divided between the 18 Pokemon types, meaning that instead of Normal type being over 90% of humanity, they're only a little above 5%. This doesn't entirely prevent the sexual domination of Dark types, this is still a porn jump and black is better right now, but it does mean that you're going to have to work for almost everything else, because that thing that made you special and a better trainer is now something most of humanity has. Worse, this is something that constantly and consistently catches you off guard.

Cuck Badge (+200)

Well isn't this unfortunate. Regardless of your actual status it would seem that you've somehow mistakenly been given a full set of cuck badges. That is to say, eight of them. This takes the edge off all your beauty and alpha-type perks, leaving you somewhat plain, even if you happen to be Dark type. It also effectively cripples your Pokemon team, with them having exceptionally lower stats than they should for their level and being somewhat likely to disobey you until you get some normal badges under your belt - which is made more complicated by them disobeying you as ought to be expected. Thankfully whoever gave these to you acknowledges that they did give you too many, so for every 100 unique Pokemon you catch in this jump, one Cuck Badge will be removed from you. Although, uh, this only applies to the eight right here. If you pick up any more later, you're out of luck.

Legends In The Unmaking (+300)

Mythical and Legendary Pokemon have a tendency to be larger than life in some manner. Perhaps its the giant statues of them in temples, the festivals held in their honor, or just the passive way that some of them can change the landscape just by being nearby. This is exceptionally unfortunate, because it seems like pretty much every Legendary and Mythical Pokemon has some reason to hate your guts. Even the most spaded of the legends, Snowshiram or perhaps Mew, would probably try to murder you rather than sleep with you, even if you had the biggest, blackest dick of them all. Why? Who knows. I hope you weren't planning to have any on your team. And don't think you can avoid them wholesale either. You'll get dragged into their business anywhere from once a year to once every month - or about however often a normal trainer traveling the world would take to reach two new towns. As an additional note, I do actually suggest avoiding Aloha.

Cosmos Conglomerate (+300)

Is the world's obsession with the Afri-Khan region a natural occurrence? Well... yes and no. The basic principle is sound, but the extremes that it gets taken to are unusual. Or they would be if anyone today compared the way of things to how they were prior to Tyrone winning the World Coronation Tournament. However, there might be a Legendary involved. Darkernatus, a highly aggressive Darkness/Dragon Pokemon who infected the entirety of the Afri-Khan region with his Dark type energy, hence their abnormal nature. Emphasis on Darkness and not Dark - for some reason, it lacks the normal Dark type weakness, while still having their resistances. Naturally, anybody who is anybody wants to use this energy for their own purposes. On one hand, you have Cosmos Conglomerate, a Galar/Afri-Khan business that seeks to use the Dark type energy generated by Darkernatus in order to generate clean energy for the world. Or, going by the way the chairman of CC treats his sexcretary - I mean, secretary, there will also probably be some brainwashing involved in order to make women think that being abused by Dark type men is completely natural. On another hand, we have Rainbow Rocket, aka literally every villainous team in the world and then some, because they've also got a couple of small timers that joined in. They want to harness the Dark type energy to become as gods and claim every woman in the world for themselves. Possibly several worlds, given Lusamine's contributions. Finally, there's you, who is now obsessed with the idea of fucking Darkernatus in the ass to prove your manliness. Oh, and there's also Darkernatus himself, who will do his damndest to break free, kill thousands, and drain the entire planet of energy into himself in order to reignite his dantian and ascend past the heavens. Given the proper - or severely improper - circumstances, it can also turn itself into a Shadow pokemon and Eternamax. Have fun!

The End

Still a better jump than reddit could make