Lewd Virus

Based on the hentai manga by Kawahagitei
Jump by dragonjek
v1.2

Hope you weren't looking for a world with a deep and involved plotline, Jumper, because this ain't it. Japan has been struck by a unique kind of virus, one with a 100% fatality rate in women... unless you get the cure. The cure being, of course, a good hard dicking.

Well, giving birth, to be more specific, but sex is usually involved in that.

Symptoms of women who have caught the lewd virus include dressing in sluttier clothing, losing common sense in regards to sexual appropriateness, increased horniness, enlarged breasts, the discharge of milk even when not pregnant, extreme resistance to fertilization, and the secretion of creamy white lubricating fluid from the vagina when aroused. The symptoms of men, on the other hand, include enlarged cock, the ability to release ludicrous volumes of cum, and infected men are the only beings capable of impregnating infected women.

And for some reason, infected males are really rare.

I'm sure you've seen enough hentai to guess where this is going. That's right, infected males are given free license to impregnate any and all women who show signs of infection (even if that means rape), and in order to make detection easier, the government will soon pass a law forcing women to wear clothing that allows "easy access", both to make it easier to fuck them and so the infected men can smell them out easier. Oh, did I forget to mention? Infected men can smell the creamy lubricant infected women exude. So yeah, that's a thing.

You arrive in this world a week before Minakami Yuu is raped by his virus-maddened elder sister and discovers he was infected too. Here's 1,000 CP to get started for the 10 years you'll be spending on this world.

Location

Although the manga only discusses Japan, the virus seems virulent enough that it seems a safe assumption to say that it's significantly more widespread. As such, you can start anywhere on Earth that you wish. All governments will proceed to pass laws equivalent to what Japan is about to.

Origins

Any origin may be taken as a drop-in, although if you're an Infected Beneficiary you'll need to register with the government to be licensed to impregnated victims in public.

Uninfected:
Congratulations! You don't have the lewd virus. But you still have to live in a world where the effects of the virus can be seen everywhere, so sorry about that. You can be of any age or sex. Do note that this doesn't prevent you from catching the virus, it just means that you don't have it yet.

Infected Victim:
You have been hit by the lewd virus, and unless you have a baby, you will die. Normally, only the biological ladies could take this origin, but see the Gender Equality perk if you're interested in taking it as a man. Your age is set to somewhere between 10 to 20 years of age; if you object to this age range, check out the Topsy Turvy Time Twister perk.

You'll be cured by having a baby; if you don't, then in a couple of weeks you'll die, ending your chain unless you have a 1-up waiting in the wings. Being cured makes no difference to what your origin is, as it only establishes your history up to the point of jump insertion.

Infected Beneficiary:
You have been hit by the lewd virus, and this is pretty much an entirely positive thing. Normally, only the guys and futanari—yes, they exist in the setting, although they're rare—could take this origin, but see the Gender Equality perk if you're interested in taking it as a woman. You can be of any age.

Perks

Perks under your origin are discounted by 50%, but discounted 100 CP perks are free.

General Perks

Gender Equality (Free):
Want to be reduced to a sex-drunk fuck-addict, but you're male? Want to drive others into a sex coma, but you have a pussy instead of a cock? The setting of Lewd Virus has firmly established roles for each sex, but let's customize that a bit, shall we?

You may, as a one-time deal, switch which sexes are affected by the virus. You could make it so that males are driven to obscene excesses of desire, and the only cure is to impregnate someone. Or perhaps futas need to be knocked up to cure them, the details are up to you. You could even make it so that only men are affected by the virus at all, but some individuals are beneficiaries while others are victims who can be impregnated despite being male. This naturally changes which sexes can take the Infected Victim and Infected Beneficiary origins. For convenience's sake, the jump assumes that women are Infected Victims and men are Infected Beneficiaries, but feel free to alter the text as appropriate for the different sex roles in your version of the jump.

If you'd like some real gender equality, though, you can pay 200 CP, and you may optionally be treated as being any gender/sex, or no gender/sex at all, in terms of any qualifications, powers, or effects that focus on specific a specific sex (or sexes), for all future jumps. For instance, you could take a background limited to a certain sex, take a perk that can't be taken by your sex, or be of a different sex even if you're inserting as a member of a single-sex species (or even as a species without a sex at all). You have complete control over what sex or gender you are considered to be at any given point in time.

Topsy Turvy Time Twister (free):
The virus only targets women in the age range between 10 to 20. And while for some Jumpers that's not an issue, for others it's a deal-breaker that would see them drop this jump like it was a live rattlesnake. For such Jumpers, we have this on offer; a one-time age adjustment. Not only does it increase the age of all named characters in the setting by 10 years, it also changes the target ages of the lewd virus to those aged 20 to 30.

But this is hardly the only jump with problematic ages. As such, if you pay 200 CP, then in future jumps you may freely alter the ages of any characters in the jump setting before inserting into the jump. As few changes as possible will be made to the setting to accommodate for the new ages, but it will somehow make sense, even if it shouldn't. Regardless of age changes, everyone will have roughly the same status, relationships, and position in life as they did before, and their life expectancy won't change at all. Furthermore, you can't de-age an adult to an infant, or age an enemy to the point that they're just a feeble old person who would die to a stiff breeze. Character power levels will be unaltered by the changing of age, even if realistically they should be.

All Night Long (-100 CP):
Even sleep can't stop you from having sex. Like Yuu, you have the peculiar ability to keep fucking someone even while you're asleep. This won't wake you up, and you'll still be just as skillful at it as you would be if you were awake... if "skillful" is the right term for something you aren't consciously doing. Also like Yuu, this will keep your partners up all night as they try and fail to sleep through the ceaseless orgasms you cause them.

But if you still want sleep sex but want to be considerate of your partners, you can instead make sleep sex with you be soothing and sleep-inducing. Don't worry about how that makes sense, Jump-chan will take care of it. Your partner, like you, will sleep deeply and healthily, and experience the mother of all wet dreams to accompany the pleasure their body is feeling. Depending on the perks you purchased, though, waking up might be a surprise when they find their stomach has bulged out with an entire night's worth of cum.

If for whatever reason you don't want to fuck your bed-partner in your sleep, you can toggle this ability off before going to bed.

Enslaved by Jumper's Dick (-200 CP):
The pleasure felt and dealt by the infected is superlative, inducing ahegao almost as soon as penetration occurs, and all thoughts but sex are soon washed out of their mind as waves of orgasmic bliss overcome them. When having sex, you can choose to amplify the pleasure either yourself or your partner feels, inducing a similar state of such overwhelming pleasure that the pupils dilate into hearts.

It'll Still Fit (-200 CP):
In males, the symptoms of infection include their penis growing larger, and producing vastly more cum than before. Seriously, it's insane; not only do they have the stamina to fuck quite literally all night long, but by the time they're done they will have spewed out quite possibly their entire body mass (or more!) in cum, all without drinking any extra water or suffering any detriments to their health. And just as crazy is the infected female's ability to not only survive being bulged out by giant cocks and inflated like a balloon filled with cum, but greatly enjoy it.

Both of these abilities are now granted to you. Your sexual attributes receive an increase in size, ranging from your choice of a simple inch of growth all the way up to impossible and unrealistic proportions (to the point that if you have a cock, its outline will be clearly visible in anyone you fuck). To go with this, your body is now capable of producing a limitless supply of sexual fluids as your needs require with no risk of dehydration. Furthermore, your body, and those of people you fuck, becomes stretchy, being fully capable of pleasurably distorting around massive intrusions and taking in otherwise-lethal volumes of cum. As a part of this stretchiness, entering the womb not only becomes possible, but immensely pleasurable.

This perk is free for Infected Victims and Beneficiaries for the duration of this jump, but you can keep it by paying the listed price.

Treatment, Not Netori (-400 CP):
It's unpleasant to think about, but being in a relationship is no barrier against catching the disease, and male infectees are rare enough that it's unlikely that a given infected woman's partner will be able to cure her. Unless they're willing to die, that means she needs to get fucked by another man. This perk ensures that if you're involved in someone else's infidelity—willing or otherwise—your actions by themselves won't ruin their relationship. If you were to impregnate a man's girlfriend, he might be upset, but wouldn't hold either you or her responsible, would willingly and lovingly raise the resulting child (assuming they're the sort of person to raise a child lovingly in the first place), and would remain just as loving and close to his partner as he was before. He might even stick around and watch you fuck her so she doesn't "have to go through it alone".

This of course does nothing to keep the relationship whole if she decides to abandon him for you.

Romancing the Womb (-400 CP):

A number of the infected retain enough rationality to protest against treatment, but some objections are quickly overwhelmed by an onslaught of spine-tingling carnality and sexual pleasure that turns opposition into wholehearted and eager acceptance. When you have sex with someone, pleasure = attraction. The more you can please them, the more they will desire you and the more romantically interested in you they will be, until whatever objections they may have had disappear like dust in the wind. Give them enough pleasure, and you'll even be able to change their minds on other matters, too, such as convincing them you were right in an argument you had, convincing a teacher to give you a better grade, or convincing someone to accept a creampie when they otherwise don't want to risk having children.

Uninfected Perks

Self-Control (-100 CP):

When women were forced to walk around half-naked, sex crimes saw a drastic rise, even before taking into account the actions of the infected. But then you have people like Professor Sukima Kuroo, who can calmly talk about and watch sex acts with hardly any response whatsoever. Maybe he has excellent self-control, maybe he's ace, it doesn't matter—what does matter is that this perk gives you perfect self-control over your own arousal and lust. You can simply make yourself stop feeling desirous towards others if it's interfering with your life or your work, or you can instantly get yourself in the mood when the time comes to actually fuck.

Staying Safe (-100 CP):

If recent experiences with viruses have taught us anything, it's that the idea of widespread compliance with disease treatment or vaccinations is just as ridiculous as a virus that lets you splooge out your entire body mass in cum

(if not more so). And yet, the populace makes at most token efforts to resist treatment, and objects even less to the vaccinations (which are giving birth to the child of an infected male). Now, you can bring this compliance with you to other worlds. When there are safety protocols that need to be followed for the safety of the public, the vast majority of people will comply with these protocols and do what is needed to keep themselves and others safe, with only the exceptionally rare individual actively attempting to circumvent these safety measures.

Disease Immunity (-200 CP):
Just look at what's going around! Of course this is going to be on offer. It's impossible for you to be unwillingly infected by any form of illness, be it from bacterial, genetic, or viral origins, or even something stranger such as a prion- or magic-based illness. It even includes motion sickness! This also prevents you from being a transmission vector for disease.

Voyeur (-400 CP):
When infected men find female infectees, they're allowed to give them treatment right away—no matter where they are or what they're doing. This means a lot of very public sex. And while there are certainly people who object, when it comes to you? No one really minds. Everyone is fine with you watching them have sex, even in a private setting. The fucking couple might even ask you to help them, and won't even ask what you're doing in their house.

Premier Pathologist (-600 CP):
Like the good professor, you have a remarkable talent for studying and understanding diseases. This covers all branches of pathology, from virology to bacteriology to epidemiology and everything in between. You can quickly identify the method of transmission for new diseases, can pinpoint the exact incubation period of a disease from only a handful of sample cases (even if scientifically speaking such a small sample size isn't enough to produce accurate data), and can even predict the long-term consequences of diseases before they ever manifest.

You can identify what illness someone has contracted from merely a description of their symptoms, even if those symptoms are superficially identical to other diseases. Furthermore, you can also identify the best method to go about synthesizing a treatment for the disease—or, if it already exists, can easily discover what preexisting substances work as a cure. Finally, you are equally adept when it comes to engineering diseases as you are at identifying and curing them; this includes creating diseases which violate the law of conservation of mass such as the lewd virus does.

This is a mix between expert knowledge, an unrealistic degree of very specialized luck, and just a little bit of the supernatural.

Infected Victim Perks

Continue the Lesson (-100 CP):

Infected men are expected to rail infected women whenever and wherever they are found, but sometimes—oftentimes—said woman has a job to do. You gain the ability to remain focused on a task no matter your mental condition, allowing you to continue to perform at a normal level regardless of how tired you are, how aroused you are, or how obsessed your thoughts have become with the overwhelming pleasure of your womb surrendering to the cock. You could be fucked in the middle of class and keep teaching like normal, or get railed while driving a bus with no loss in performance.

A Natural High (-100 CP):

Can you feel the heavy aroma of cock filling your nose and throat, drowning out your thoughts with the weight of desire? You gain a peculiar adjustment to your sense of smell; the scent of your preferred sex becomes both stronger and more sexually appealing to you. The smell from their groin is particularly strong, and serves as an aphrodisiac to the point that just burrowing your face into your partner's crotch would be enough to give you a minor high. The effect is only increased with exposure to sexual fluids.

The Milk Maid (-200 CP):

The breasts of the infected grow larger and start to lactate; this serves an additional purpose, however. As it is very difficult to impregnate an infected woman, many creampies are needed, sometimes even more than the infected men can produce. The milk of an infected woman, however, also serves as a powerful aphrodisiac to infected men, enabling them to function and produce more semen even when they by all rights should be drained dry. But for you, jumper, this is a bit more versatile, as you can, at will, make any of your bodily fluids function as the same sort of strong aphrodisiac, but one capable of affecting anyone regardless of infection status. Let your partners be as virile as you want them to be.

To Be Impregnated (-400 CP):
The only known cure to the virus—as well as the only vaccine—is to be impregnated by an infected male and give birth to their child. This is a bit of a problem, as growing a baby normally takes most of a year. Or rather, it would be a problem if the virus didn't conveniently speed things along. Infected women experience extremely rapid gestation and development of the child, reaching a state equivalent to roughly eight months of pregnancy in a single week, before the process slows for the remaining weeks of the pregnancy, giving birth in a total of a single month.

This does not consume as much energy or nutrients as it seems like it should, is perfectly safe to both parent and child (unlike such rapid growth has any right to be), and the developing fetus is unusually protected, preventing the pregnancy from interfering overmuch in the daily life of the woman in question; they can even get bloated up cum again without risking the baby. Strange cravings, morning sickness, and the daily pains of pregnancy are entirely absent. Furthermore, the mothers-to-be experience a higher degree of serotonin, the so-called "happiness hormone", resulting in them being much happier with their condition than they might ordinarily be... which is important, considering that they need to carry the baby to term to survive the virus.

The effects of this perk are free to Infected Victims for the duration of the jump, but if you want to keep the effects for future pregnancies, even pregnancies without the virus, you may purchase it for the listed price. Men who take this perk will provide the benefits of it to anyone they impregnate.

It's the Law (-600 CP):
Soon enough, laws will be passed forcing women to wear skimpier clothing, forgo underwear, and keep their crotch exposed at all times. And people actually go along with it. Now, you gain the ability to mandate a specific dress code, and everyone in the setting will go along with it and treat it as normal. This could be anything from demanding a widespread gothloli aesthetic, to demanding that all men keep their crotches exposed, to banning shirts for women.

Somehow, everyone will have the clothing needed to accommodate the new requirements, as anyone in violation of the new dress code will be treated as a criminal—no worse than a small-time shoplifter, admittedly, but a criminal nonetheless. You can decide how broad an area this rule applies to; it could be as localized as a single school, or as widespread as the entire world. You can alter this dress code at any time. Everyone the code applies to will understand that they need to follow it as soon as you make the rule.

Infected Beneficiary Perks

Smell Them Out (-100 CP):
Infected females secrete a creamy white fluid from their pussy. This releases a scent that infected males are particularly sensitive to. Now, this part applies to Infected Beneficiaries for free during the jump, but you benefit a bit more than most do. Not only can you detect individuals infected with the lewd virus, but you can also precisely determine someone's physical health through their scent, including identifying what diseases they may have (if you've smelled it before, at least), whether they're injured or not, their level of sexual skill, how recently they've last had sex, and whether or not they have any sexual abilities beyond the human norm.

Family With Benefits (-100 CP):
Ever had sisters who want to jump your bones, but you don't want the resulting children to be born with eleven fingers? Jump-chan has your back, so that you can put them on their backs without worry. Your children will never experience any genetic deformities from incest, and any incestuous relationships you're in will never compromise the normal feelings of familial love you have for your relatives or vice-versa. Furthermore, your incestuous relationships will also never result in any mental health issues for those involved in it.

Perfect Balance (-200 CP):
Sometimes you got places to be, but you still got girls to fuck. The answer? Fuck while you walk. Sounds nice, but it's actually much trickier than it sounds, as you need both strong arms and a good sense of balance to maneuver around while you're so top-heavy. Fortunately, you have that strength even if you have a skinny build, and your sense of balance is good enough that you could descend a flight of stairs even while the girl you're fucking is orgasming all over your cock. In short, you have perfect balance, and can carry anything you can pick up in the first place for as long as is needed.

Extensive Insemination (-400 CP):
Infected females are highly resistant to impregnation; it's entirely impossible for the uninfected to succeed, and even infected males and futas won't manage with just a single load, no matter how big. It takes time, and a lot of orgasms, to manage. Fortunately, you can certainly handle it. Even without ingesting the aphrodisiac milk of infected women, you have the stamina to keep fucking all day and night, keep getting it up, and keep cumming full-sized loads without risking dehydration. Your refractory period is nonexistent, and you're able to keep fucking immediately after orgasm without worrying about getting soft or experiencing the pains of hypersensitivity.

It's Not Rape if It's Treatment! (-600 CP):

The main character gets away with some pretty outrageous behavior by excusing his behavior as being for “treatment”, even if he could have at least waited until they weren’t in public. But he didn’t wait, and now you don’t have to, either. As long as you have an excuse, you can get away scot-free with any sort of sexual misconduct. It doesn’t have to be a good excuse, or even a real or valid one—any excuse at all will work. But if the excuse is actually half-decent, you could even get them to help you get away with it.

Rape someone in front of the class? They exhibited signs of the virus and needed to be treated right away. Cum in someone after promising not to? You forgot. Impregnate your girlfriend’s mother? It was an accident. Want to impregnate a cheerleader? Tell the rest of her squad it’s to keep her alive, and they’ll gang up to hold her down for you.

Items

Here you can grab some additional stuff to benefit from in this jump, and to bring with you on your chain. Discounts are 50% for the respective origin, with 100 CP purchases instead being free.

Uninfected Items

Infinitely-Stretching Condoms (-100 CP):

With the size of people’s junk in this jump, and the amount of cum their cocks spew out, you’re going to need these. They’re a set of condoms that, as the name says, can stretch as far as needed to fit on anything, and will keep stretching to contain as much semen (or other fluid) as gets pumped into them. Despite this, they always have a pleasantly tight fit, and feel so thin that you might as well not be wearing one at all for how little they interfere with your sense of touch. They will never tear, nothing will ever leak out the base of the condom, and they will always be easy to remove.

The Vaccine Machine (-200 CP):

You have here something that would completely change the future of this setting, and save millions, if not billions, of people from having to bear children. This is a laptop-sized device that, when exposed to a sample of a disease, will create a vaccine against that disease in a 24-hour process. It won't be a terribly effective vaccine—it doesn't provide true immunity, only a 40% increased resistance to the disease—but it can be produced quickly and slow the spread of a disease long enough to hopefully produce a more effective vaccine. However, if you possess Premier Pathologist, you can spend those 24 hours working on refining the process to instead produce a vaccine that increases resistance by 90%.

The Lewd Virus (-400 CP):

If you like what you see in this world, then you can bring this virus with you to the next. You get a single vial full of the disease at the start of each jump. But if you want to ensure that it spreads, a machine will be added to your warehouse that will allow you to insert the lewd virus (but not any other disease) into an entire setting. It won't guarantee that everyone—or even the majority of people—catch the virus, but it will ensure a worldwide spread, although you can localize the contagion if you wish.

Infected Victim Items

Legally Mandated Slutwear (-100 CP):

You receive a wardrobe full of slutty clothing, all of which leaves your crotch exposed at the bare minimum, and often more. The wardrobe has clothing for a wide variety of functions, from school to formal dinners to funerals to weddings to clothing suited to whatever jobs or hobbies you might have. No matter how little you are wearing, as long as its from this wardrobe no one will ever object to you showing up so exposed. Furthermore, no matter what fluids it is exposed to this clothing will never stain or get dirty... unless you want it to, for some reason.

Chikan Zone (-200 CP):
Why would you want this...? Well, since you asked for it, here it is. In any form of public transportation you enter, there will always be a section of the vehicle that is "reserved" for the effects of this item. Anyone who stays in this section of the vehicle will be molested by other passengers. No one will be able to identify the molesters, it will always be very pleasurable (even if the victim doesn't want it to be), and no one will ever get in trouble for acts performed in this section of the vehicle. In case you don't want random people caught up in this, you can "turn off" this item if you so desire, and you can also selectively exclude yourself or other people from this effect.

Cheer Squad Uniforms (-400 CP):
A set of uniforms for a full squad of cheerleaders, complete with pom-poms. If anyone wearing this does even a passable job cheering for someone (or someones) engaged in any activity where they can hear it, it will not break their concentration in whatever they are doing, and will instead drive them to perform at 100% physically, mentally, and spiritually, with every drop of skill they have (a more useful ability than it sounds like, as even when they try their best, people are rarely capable of performing at the maximum they are capable of).

At your discretion, these may be fully or in part replaced with ōendan uniforms.

Infected Beneficiary Items

License to Fuck (-100 CP):
As long as you have this license, you won't get in legal trouble for having sex in public (although this does nothing to stop people from personally interfering, they'll just do so fully aware that they have no legal backing). Furthermore, if you impregnate a person, you will have no legal requirements to provide for the child, and the government will provide the parent a stipend to pay for the baby. If you are instead the one impregnated, then the government will still provide for you a stipend for the child's needs. After this jump, Jump-chan will be the one providing the stipend, so don't worry about the government going broke from your legion of babies. The additional money from this stipend won't affect the economy, either.

House Calls (-200 CP):
Not everyone with the virus is discovered out-and-about by infected beneficiaries; others report themselves, or are reported, to the government, who then contacted infected males to go take care of it. Now, at least three times a week you will be contacted regarding someone in your area with the virus who needs to be impregnated. You can turn this down without consequence if you so desire. This person will always be attractive to your standards.

After this jump, you will still receive messages about people who have contracted some rare and obscure disease that can only be cured via impregnation.

Kawahagi High School (-400 CP):
Well, it doesn't have to be a high school. You can pick a different age category for this school to cater to; regardless, the school is fully staffed with competent teachers, has an average-sized student body, and the students are all unreasonably attractive. And you're this school's principal (or dean, in the case that you made it a university). If you aren't of age to head a school... well, nobody particularly cares, as Jump-chan has handwaved away all the problems people might raise regarding a teenager running a school, or whatever your circumstances might be.

It comes with an excellent, and very lewd, secretary who is skilled at taking care of nearly all of the work needed to run a school, leaving you with no responsibilities apart from those you willingly take on. But most importantly, all the students and staff are required to obey you in all things... so long as they're in school, at least, and as long as whatever you want doesn't infringe much upon the staff educating the students. No one will find any commands you give in the school to be strange. Why, if you commanded for all the female students to line up to be impregnated, no one would so much as raise an eyebrow.

Companions

In addition to coming with you on your chain, each named companion provides you a benefit for taking them, like a miniature perk. At your discretion, this benefit can also apply to the companion themselves.

Import/Create Companion (-50 CP):
For 50 CP, you can either import an existing companion into this world, or you can create an entirely new companion to join you. Either way, they receive an origin of your choice and 600 CP to spend on perks.

Minakami Yuu (-100 CP):
Yuu is the main character of this manga, a well-meaning young man who has wholeheartedly devoted himself to saving others from the virus... even if maybe he should wait to cure them sometimes. His preferred method of applying the cure is to just fuck the infectee on the spot as soon as he discovers them. He's a good student and has a knack for explaining how to solve problems to people in a way that they'll understand.

If you take Yuu as a companion, then your teaching skill will improve, and you'll always be able to rephrase a lesson in a way that a student will most optimally understand, improving listener comprehension and boosting learning speed by 50%.

Minakami Kaya (-100 CP):
Yuu's older sister, Kaya was already ludicrously lewd even before she was hit by the virus, which may explain how no one realized anything was wrong with her until she loses all sense of morals and reason to lust, and ties up and rapes Yuu. She habitually wore the most scandalous clothing, and will eagerly embrace the new dress code.

If you take Kaya as a companion, then regardless of the lewdity of what you wear (or don't wear), you'll never get in trouble for it. People may complain about it, but you'll never face consequences for your dress or lack thereof, so long as the non-lewd aspects of your clothing still fit the occasion. For instance, you couldn't wear a business suit in place of a school uniform, but if you left the shirt of said school uniform unbuttoned and your nipples were clearly visible nobody would raise a fuss.

Minakami Akane (-100 CP):
Yuu's troublesome little sister, whose difficulties accepting her romantic attraction for her brother has led her to distance herself from him, and be rude and standoffish... although only in regards to him, as she's quite sociable otherwise. The lewd virus will help her come to terms with her feelings in a most satisfactory way, unless you change things.

If you take Akane as a companion, then nobody will take umbrage with you expressing romantic or sexual attraction to family members, nor will you face punishment or ostracization if you (consensually) act upon that attraction.

Ayatsuji Ayaka (-100 CP):
Yuu's childhood friend, she's also in love with him, although she hasn't gotten around to confessing. If things go as scheduled, Yuu will find out she has the lewd virus, and try to cure her on the spot. She'll fight back because she wants their first time to be more romantic, resulting in Yuu's narrow-minded focus on curing her to get him to recruit a couple of classmates to hold her down while he rapes her. As this is hentai, she of course forgives him.

If you take Ayaka as a companion, people will always accept your requests for a delay in a task, punishment, or similar act that may be inconvenient in the present moment, as long as it is only a delay and you fully intend to actually carry out the act at a later date.

Honjou Chika (-100 CP):
Akane's classmate, she's a graceful, quiet, calm, and gentle person that Yuu considers to be the ideal wife material. Unfortunately, after a run-in with a rapist on the train, she'll exhibit the signs of having caught the lewd virus, and Yuu will promptly administer the cure in front of the entire train car.

If you take Chika as a companion, then circumstances will always arrange themselves such that nothing purely negative will ever happen in your life; even if you went through a terrible streak of bad luck and you were raped twice, you would still find a silver lining in the situation, even if you only realize it afterwards.

Katagari Kyouka (-100 CP):
The public morals committee chairman and upright enforcer of school rules. She steadfastly believes that everyone should follow the rules, and doesn't hesitate to enforce the new dress code once all the girls are required to go panty-less in microskirts. She has a boyfriend, which made it really unfortunate when she caught the lewd virus and promptly dumped him once she experienced Yuu's cock.

If you take Kyouka as a companion, then you will always be able to remain true to yourself, your goals, and your ideals. Even after undergoing a mind-melting degree of pleasure or an incomparable torture session, you'd still make the same decisions you would as if you were in your right mind. You can't be forced to betray what you believe in, nor will extremes of sensations sway your mind.

Ebihara Nene (-100 CP):
The idol of Yuu's class, and a bit of an airhead, she's the friendly girl who everyone adores, although she'd probably be pretty upset if she learned that the guys in the class had formed an agreement that no one would touch her. She'll be the first infectee Yuu cures once he decides that he's going to help others, leading her to fall in love with him.

If you take Nene as a companion, then you'll have the benefit of knowledge whenever you develop a romantic or sexual interest in someone. You'll know whether or not you stand a chance with them, and have a general understanding of what you might need to do to improve your standing in that person's eyes as a potential lover.

Suzumi Kazane (-100 CP):
Yuu's homeroom teacher, and a straight-laced individual who earnestly does her best to help her students grow into excellent adults, even if she has to be strict with them. She's the type of person who would try to give a lesson even while two of her students are fucking in the back of the room... although she certainly didn't do a very good job of it. And when she got the virus herself, she turned it into another teaching opportunity, although this time it was a lesson on the inevitability of succumbing to the penis.

If you take Suzumi-sensei as a companion, then it guarantees that no matter your condition, what you're doing, or how you look, people will always give your words serious consideration. An excellent tool for keeping easily-distracted teenagers paying attention to your class... or to ensure that your students pay heed to your words even while you're getting railed on your desk.

Sukima Kuroo (-100 CP):
The foremost expert on the lewd virus, this scientist is not only studying the virus, but also helps with coordinating the national response against the virus. He also convinces new infected men (who seem to be pretty rare) that they need to do their part to save lives, even if it makes them uncomfortable to force women like that. He's remarkably calm and unflustered about all the sexual activities that are going on.

If you take Kuroo as a companion, then you become more attractive. Not only are you going to be one attractive guy, but if you have, or gain, any physical malformities or injuries—such as getting a burn scar or getting a receiving a skin graft—it will only ever serve to enhance your appearance or serve as an accent, and will never make you less handsome/beautiful/cute/sexy/what have you.

Kusunoki Yui (-100 CP):
Sukima Kuroo's assistant and a nurse, she has a terrible memory for chemical names (although she can remember the actual medications well enough). Soon enough she'll come around to jack Yuu off to get semen samples to study him as a rare infected male, and in the process she'll get exposed to the virus. Fortunately, she's pretty happy about getting the cure.

If you take Yui as a companion, then your hands will take on supernatural qualities, being capable of giving out pleasure far beyond what a simple hand should be capable of. You have such incredibly fine control over your fingers that your hands would feel more like the finest of sex toys. Also, you are able to easily put on or remove condoms, and they will never get "stuck" for you. Yes, that is a thing that happened.

Akina Yuzuki (-100 CP):
An example of a futanari infected beneficiary from the Lewd Virus's side-manga, she wholeheartedly embraces her role and is more than eager to "cure" as many girls as possible. Even so, she takes her responsibilities seriously, and doesn't mind serving as a mentor for people who've newly discovered their infected beneficiary status. She's got a fondness for double-teaming girls with someone else, and has a big kink for double penetration.

If you take Yuzuki as a companion, then you'll gain the ability to substitute sex for social bonding. Become better friends with someone by having sex with them, get to know someone better via blowjobs, or establish a strong senpai/kouhai relationship by sharing a girl with your new kouhai. It doesn't work on improving romantic relationships, however.

Centerpieces of the Cheer Squad (-200 CP):

This is a group purchase consisting of Cheerleaders A, B, C, and D, as well as cheerleading captain Kanae. At first they will support Kanae in her attempts to hide that she has the virus in hopes of confessing to her crush, but when confronted with her changes and the encroaching risk of her death, they'll be the ones to restrain her so that Yuu can deliver the cure... of course, then they'll discover that they're infected, too.

If you take the cheerleaders as companions, then you receive a guarantee that no matter what, actions other people take for your sake will always have beneficial consequences for you. As long as they're doing something with the intention of it benefitting you, they'll never be misled into something that accidentally harms you, take actions that ruin things for you in the mistaken belief that it will help, or be ineffectual in their attempts to assist you. Things intended to help you will always be actually beneficial. This also applies when you attempt to help others.

Anri (-600 CP):
Hm? What's she doing here? She doesn't belong here... see, this is a character from a different Kawahagitei manga, and she's a bona fide succubus. And she has fallen in love with you... or rather, fallen in love with having sex with you (or she will very soon). She's gone ahead and formed a servant contract with you, binding herself to you and offering up her powers over sex to you. She loves lewd things, has the sense of morality you'd expect from a demon, and her fondest dream is to see you conquer others sexually.

If you take Anri as a companion, you gain limited access to her reality warping powers. Jump-chan has prevented you from accessing the full, unlimited potential of this sex-based reality warping until after you obtain your Spark. Until then, you are still able to increase people's sexual sensitivity, alter the size of their genitalia, control how much fluids you produce, make people's bodies more receptive to sex, stop time to have sex, turn invisible (for lewd purposes), and mystically duplicate the feelings of your body, so that when you have sex with one person you can make other people nearby feel it too. The connection of this last power is so strong that you can even fill up multiple people with semen at once, or receive the cum from many different guys all at the same time. The big restriction to the powers of a succubus is that you can only do lewd things; you can't even exploit it to accomplish non-lewd things in a lewd manner, it's a strictly sexual power.

Drawbacks

If you're in need of extra points, you can take as many drawbacks as you feel like you can handle.

Supplement Mode (+0 CP):
It seems you've only filled out half of what you need to. Turn this jump into a supplement for a different jump, using the setting and characters of that jump along with the presence of the lewd virus from this one. Keep track of the points separately.

Oh, and in case you were hoping to escape from stupid government decisions by going to another jump, don't worry—they'll be just as ridiculous there as they are here, regardless of that government's usual competency.

I Could Have Done a Better Job (+0 CP):
This would be the self-insert option; you can choose to be any of the characters in the manga, inserting into their life and gaining their memories and relationships. If you took the character you inserted into as a companion, then you still gain their companion benefit, but won't gain the actual character as a companion until the end of the jump. Alternatively, you may insert alongside the companion as their twin.

Double the Pregnancy, Double the Fun (+0/+100 CP):

If you have sex while pregnant, you will become pregnant again in a double pregnancy. Every time you have sex while pregnant, this will happen, leading to a number of pregnancies only limited by how often you have sex. You will somehow be able to survive all these pregnancies, the babies will survive, and you won't even require extra nutrition to provide for them all. But moving while pregnant with so many babies will be very uncomfortable, or even nigh-impossible.

In recognition of the fetishes of some jumpers, this can be taken by all sexes, but only provides points to those capable of being impregnated; for the impregnators, this "drawback" can apply to those pregnant women you have sex with. If you so desire, you can bring this effect with you after the jump, in which case it ceases to be a drawback becomes a toggle you can turn on and off.

If you are capable of being impregnated, then at some point during this jump you will carry a child to term. You can't avoid the risks of this drawback just by avoiding having a kid in the first place.

Idiopathic Erectile Syndrome (+100 CP):
You suffer from a rare sexual disorder—one so rare, it actually comes from a different Kawahagitei manga entirely. In short, you're going to get aroused regularly. The bad part is, it won't go down on their own. And in addition to you now suffering from all the health downsides from an extended state of arousal, if you can't get your junk to calm down then your testicles or ovaries will literally explode. Unfortunately, for one reason or another masturbation is unable to deal with your arousal, so you're going to need to get someone else to pleasure you until orgasm.

Oh, and if you have some method of healing that would let you fix up your exploded balls or ovaries, the healing won't function on those organs. Sorry about that. Fortunately, having sex regularly shouldn't be a problem in this setting.

Baby Making Machine (+100 CP):

Your sense of self and identity is entirely tied up with your ability to reproduce. And once you have children, it will get equally tied up with your ability to raise your children. There will be nothing more important to you than having more children, and raising those children well.

No Sense of Timing (+100 CP):
When you learn that you need to do something, you do it immediately, even if it would be a better idea to wait. You don't get things like discretion or patience, and always try to resolve issues right away. Why, if you encountered an infected woman who had just escaped a molester, you'd try to give her treatment on the spot.

Strains of the Pandemic (+100 CP):
In the manga they established a pretty effective method of limiting the spread of the virus through mandatory vaccinations, if even that was just having the infected men impregnate everyone preemptively. Now that won't work anymore; the virus is going to change and develop new strains over time (although they'll have the same symptoms), and will continue to come back over and over for the duration of your stay in this jump. If you're an infected origin, you're guaranteed to catch the new versions of the disease too.

Lost Love (+200 CP):
During this jump, you will come to care for someone romantically. Then, this person will contract the lewd virus. If they're a woman, then they're going to be fucked in treatment by someone other than you, and will be so overwhelmed by the process that they'll devote their life to their curer's cock. If they're a man, they're going to experience a whole host of different women, and fall in love with someone else instead of you (not "in addition to", but "instead of"). You will never be able to regain their affections for the duration of the jump.

Mandatory Vaccinations (+200 CP):
You are deemed to be a particular risk of viral transmission, and will be vaccinated... even if you're a male. Take note that for the lewd virus, being vaccinated means you are impregnated and forced to give birth. If you're male, your biology will change to allow you to safely carry and bear a child to term. At least you'll get the choice of whether a man or a futa impregnates you.

Maybe He's Ace? (+200 CP): [Uninfected exclusive]
You don't have the virus, and you will never catch the lewd virus, either. Why? Because you're so asexual that you emit an anti-lewd aura that repels the virus from you. You are entirely incapable of feeling lust or sexual attraction for the duration of the jump.

Realistic Pregnancy (+200 CP): [Infected Victims exclusive]
Well, for a given value of "realistic". They're still drastically shortened in duration—you'd flat-out die from the virus if you had to wait a full 9 months—but you'll have the world's worst morning sickness, having extreme hunger pangs in accordance to how rapidly the baby grew, and you will almost always feel painful and uncomfortably bloated and stretched. Every ache and pain ever associated with pregnancy will be yours to enjoy. Oh, and if you used Gender Equality to be male and a victim... guess what? The way the virus interacts with pregnancies has changed. Now women inject their egg down the penis of the man where it gets impregnated in the balls, and transfers into the womb to gestate. Don't think too hard about the biology behind it or why a man has a womb, it just works.

Sexual Connection Syndrome (+200 CP):
Another rare disease from a different Kawahagitei manga, you have an unusually indiscriminate variety of the supernatural disease called the Sexual Connection Syndrome. In short, your genes really want to reproduce, so whenever you have sex with someone, your genitalia will be incapable of separating until one of you are impregnated... which can take anywhere between 6 to 10 days after sex. So you're just going to be stuck with someone attached to your junk until then. If you'd rather not impregnate someone, you could take some medicine for it... but it takes between a month to a year to change your genes via this medication, and until that time you're going to be stuck to whoever you have sex with.

So Much Rape (+200 CP):
The societal effects of making all women go more than half-naked, while enabling a limited number of men to rape anyone who has the disease, largely go unaddressed in the manga aside from a mention of increased sexual harassment. But now, the consequences are shoved in your face. Rape will be happening all over the place, all the time. And depending on your origin, you'll have get up close and personal with the consequences of rape yourself.

If you're an infected victim, at least one person will try to rape you, and will be resistant to whatever perks you may have to repel them. If you're an infected beneficiary, then no one with the virus will willingly consent to sex with you and no one uninfected will consent to being impregnated by you, but you will still face strong pressures to "do your job". The uninfected are going to have to deal with someone they know being raped, and will have to help them cope with the aftermath.

Violent Antivaxxers (+200 CP): [Infected Beneficiary exclusive]
Well, when the vaccine consists of having a stranger fuck a baby into you, maybe being antivax isn't so ridiculous? Regardless, plenty of people—not everybody, but more than enough—will take violent umbrage to you delivering treatment to the infected or giving people the vaccine, even if you only do it consensually. Expect death threats, violent attempts to interrupt coitus, and stalking.

Viral Warfare (+300 CP):
Doesn't it seem odd that a virus would be so... self-defeating? That it would have such bizarre and specific effects? Well, now there's a good reason for that; the virus was created in a lab as an attempt to weaken nations on a worldwide scale by incapacitating half the population with pregnancies. With the population so crippled, an invasion by a matriarchal alien species will occur, seeking to enslave the newly-increased population of earth. The good news is that they want to capture humans alive. The bad news is that they want to use humans as hosts for their parasitic grub larvae. You cannot take this drawback along with Hell of a Time.

Hell of a Time (+300 CP):
I'm sure you noticed the impossibility of the virus like this coming into existence naturally; leaving aside the absurd complexity of the interactions between male and female infectees, it violates the laws of physics in a host of ways. Turns out, it's an attempt to damn human souls engineered by the demons of Hell, and they're trying to spread rape and sexual harassment in preparation of a full-fledged invasion of Earth, where they'll corrupt good people to evil, then kill them so they go to Hell instead of reinforcing heaven. Speaking of heaven, they're going to be complete no-shows for the duration of your time here. If you take Anri as a companion, don't worry; she's more loyal to you than she is to Hell. You cannot take this drawback along with Viral Warfare.

Ending

Your time in this world draws to a close, and your drawbacks all disappear. You now have a choice. You must choose one of the following:

Stay Here:
Maybe you've fallen in love with this world's lewdity? Regardless, you stay here, and receive +1000 extra CP to spend on anything you want in the document.

Go Home:
Miss home that much? You end your chain and go back to your version of Earth, bringing with you everything you've collected on your chain so far. Gain an additional +600 CP to spend on any of the jumps you've been to in the past, including this one. You lose the ability to transmit the lewd virus to other people... unless you took the Lewd Virus item, that is.

Continue On:
There's still more to see, and there's still a Spark out there waiting for you. You take everything you've obtained and move on to the next jump. In case you were worried about transmitting the disease, don't be; you lose the ability to transmit the lewd virus to other people, although you can still use the Lewd Virus item to infect others if you so desire.

Notes:

Thank you so much to everyone on the Questionable Questing forums who gave me some much-needed advice on how to improve this.

Changelog:

- Version 1.2
    - Moved a few general perks into the origins (A Natural High into Victim, Family With Benefits into Beneficiary, and Staying Safe into Uninfected)
    - Added the All Night Long perk.
    - Altered the So Much Rape drawback so it didn't restrict your sex options to exclusively rape. That's a bit too much for a 200 CP drawback.
- Version 1.1
    - The capstone boosts have been removed, although in the case of "A matter of life and death" it was folded into the base perk.
    - The Lewd Virus item now only gives you the lewd virus as-is, you'll need to find a different way to modify it.
    - The Cheer Squad Uniforms no longer boost beyond your maximum. That's a bit too much for such a low-power jump. I also included an ouendan option for boys.
    - The Impregnation Chair has been replaced with Kawahagi High School

    - House Calls is modified to be more in line with the themes of the jump.
    - It'll Still Fit now lets you decide how big your bits grow.
    - Perks whose titles were full-fledged quotes from the manga have been renamed.
- Version 1.0
    - Minor rephrasing
    - Edited Surgical Graft so that you don't automatically benefit from any graft you receive (you'll have to do surgery on yourself if you want that benefit, I recommend some sort of duplication power), and also clarified that you can only transfer 1 of your fiat-backed abilities to any given recipient. Too much potential for exploitation from a relatively low-power jump.
    - Made it so that your companion benefits can also apply to the companions themselves.
    - "A matter of life and death" rephrased to be more useful, hopefully.
    - The Centerpieces of the Cheerleading Squad's cheering boost was moved to the items and boosted, and their remaining ability improved a bit. Oh, and I renamed it to "Centerpieces of the Cheer Squad". I forgot that groups of cheerleaders were called cheer squads...
    - Oh yeah, there are items now. The manga itself didn't really have much that would even vaguely qualify, so I had to do a bit of stretching to make it fit.
    - "My womb has fallen for him..." now primarily makes them fall in love with you, and secondarily convinces them of things.
    - Renamed "I've been enslaved by Jumper's dick..." to Enslaved by Jumper's Dick.
    - Added the Family with Benefits perk.
    - Added the Akina Yuzuki and Anri companions.
    - Added the Idiopathic Erectile Syndrome, Hell of a Time, and Sexual Connection Syndrome drawbacks
    - Increased the price of So Much Rape, and made it worse.