The World of Lolis

Ah, somehow I'm not surprised that you ended up finding your way here. Where exactly is here, you may ask? We'll get to the specific details in just a moment, but know that you shall spend the next 10 years surrounded by lewd lolis and innocent imoutos, by lecherous louts and oblivious Onii-chans. For you are now entering a universe much like the ones seen in some of those perverted manga you refuse to admit that you ever even herd of. Welcome, Jumper. Welcome to The World of Lolis.

Here, take these 1000 Choice Points (CP) to get you started. Yes, Choice Points. What else would the acronym CP stand for? Cantaloupe Partitions? Cambodian Paratroopers? Ridiculous. Now shut up and let's get on with it.

Locations:

The specifics of where you start, and indeed the very genre of the setting itself, is largely up to you. By default the setting will be much like your original world, but with a whole kitchen sink of supernatural elements hidden to the majority of people. But really the sky's the limit.

Want more fantasy? Then defend the peace of Lolidoss with your life.

More of a post-apocalyptic guy? War never changes, but repopulation efforts do.

Maybe you'd like a relatively normal modern day world, but with most of the population being anthropomorphic animals? Hey, babysit a cute little rabbit for me.

Just remember that whatever it is you end up going with, the true core of the setting will always remain that of a loli focused hentai.

Origins:

Either Origin can be a Drop In, at your wish.

Lolicon: Let's just come right out and say it, you like lolis. You like them enough to try and fuck them. Well, wouldn't you know it- you're in luck. Here in this world, they not only seem to be quite numerous but are also just as randy as you are, so have at it. Just beware of the police... and anyone else who catches you in the act of fucking their daughter/little sister. The whole "She's really 1000 years old!" speech likely won't work as well as you think.

Loli: Ah, the "be the little girl" option, for those with more refined taste. You're likely just as much of a pervert, but you also wouldn't be here if you weren't. Whatever the kind of loli you want to be, we have it here, whether it be the 1000-year-old smug vampire type, the innocent seeming little sister or the big tittied lolibaba. You'll also probably want to dodge the police as well, since they're well known to be a bunch of fun-killing prudes for your types.

Age and Gender:

Age doesn't really matter for either origin, so go ahead and pick what you want. It's pretty common to find 100+ year old lolis, and doujins have all sorts of ages for males, like fat old bastards, charming, attractive school teachers or even young teens. Gender likewise doesn't matter, at least in the Lolicon's case. Lolis, however, are usually female, with Shotas being their direct opposite. You can change both age and gender for free.

General Perks

Origin Perks have a 50% Discount, discounted 100CP Perks and Items are free

Hentai Logic [Free]: Well, given the world you're about to jump into is based on Japanese porn about small, petite lolis, you'd have an unpleasant time if you stuck to the rules of biology. So now you and everyone else in the universe no longer do. When it comes down to the bedroom, everyone throws out common logic and biology and has the world act more like a hentai doujin.

Cervixes can be penetrated without causing pain or damage, Sex becomes so pleasurable that it threatens to break minds, eyes roll into the back of the head from the pleasure while tongues loll out, bodies can take far more than they should to the point their body slightly bulges, pregnancies will never have complications for parent or child, nor cause a flat mother to gain unwanted boobage, and bodies remain clean and fresh regardless of what people did to them.

Finally, you gain an intuitive sense of how to pleasure your partner and pick up sexual skill quite quickly, ensuring you don't end up disappointing your lover(s) with your (lack of) skill.

Race [Free/200/400]: There are plenty of doujin out there in which the loli is of a different race, such as an elf, a demon, a vampire or an oni. This perk will allow you to achieve that, though with certain rules in play. The free level of this perk allows you to either be a human or be a race with some minor benefit, like a higher magical potential for an elf, or being sneakier than normal for a goblin or a halfling. At 200 CP, this gives you more than just a small benefit, but still not the peak of what's possible- a sizable strength boost for an oni, or the ability to phase in and out of existence for a ghost. 400 CP is the superlative race option, allowing you to be exceptionally powerful creatures like vampires or demons, which often have a whole host of abilities.

Nice View [Free/100]: As this is a world mostly based on japanese porn, it shouldn't surprise many that the people in the world around you get an upgrade in appearance. While the adult population, both male and female, gain enough of an upgrade to knock them up a couple of points from where they were originally, the true effect of this perk is to enhance the lolis around you, making their appearance ratings bump up to 8's at the minimum. Whether they look sexy or cute, or even some manner of both is up to you.

This has an added effect of making said lolis around you dress more skimpily, or otherwise in clothing you'd find attractive or arousing in some way, with their clothes sometimes even defying common logic or even physics, depending on the world or your personal tastes. Seeing lolis wearing nothing but what are essentially metal pasties and a pair of thin panties is something that can become commonplace, if you want.

If you wish to take this even further, you can spend 100 CP to be able to change the style of the world into that of your favorite artist, or even multiple styles from multiple artists, turning every loli in the world into ones drawn with the style of your favorite artists. This also includes you, if you decide to change yourself. This will never be noticed by anyone except you unless you wish it, and depending on the style can even change how biology works in certain small ways...at least when it comes down to sex. This can be toggled on and off, just in case you tire of this ability or don't want to be chased around by the jumpchain police.

Lolicon

Charming [100]: There's just something about you that tends to bring in your kouhai, jumper. You have a charming nature that can allow you to seduce anyone you like, though it has a magnified effect when you're trying to seduce people younger than you are. You're guaranteed never to stumble over your words, as well finding the right ones in a given situation, making you a pretty effective intermediator. People just seem to get along around you, even when the personalities surrounding you might threaten to be quite volatile when mixed into a room together.

To top it all off, you also gain a natural kind of confidence when dealing with people or situations, giving off a dependable air that's sure to make you quite popular.

Majestic Elephant [100]: Unless you want to be the ugly bastard for some reason, a little sprucing up will never go amiss. This provides you with an overall boost to your appearance which may be slanted toward a specific look or theme should you so desire, and if applicable gives you a rather impressive "trunk" to call your own.

What's more, lolis always seem to not only consider you attractive, but also find your form to be like a most enticing mystery. Spending time around you creates a desire in them to learn more about your body, to touch, and to see more of it should it be covered. Lolis who take this perk may choose to have these effects work upon older males instead.

"Trust Me" [100]: While these are usually the words of a very untrustworthy person, you actually can make them work in your favor- there's just something about you people trust, even if they really, really shouldn't. Whether it's being hired as a babysitter for a while, or maybe being offered to tutor some sweet girl, you'll find your appearance and even your demeanor won't be a detriment to whatever awful, no-good goals you have in mind.

Furthermore, this perk also nets you more opportunities to use this perk more often; maybe somebody you know as a friend has a kid that needs watching, or stumbling on ads requiring teachers or even students. I'd say not to use this for evil, Jumper, but we all know where we are right now.

No Judgement Zone [200]: It's such a shame, isn't it? The law is so ruthless against the purity of the love between a man and his loli. Well, they would be, if you weren't the exception. You seem to have a knack of just having the law ignore you and what you do to those poor lolis, within reasonable bounds, in any case. They probably won't come down on you for lewding those lolis, but those noise complaints are still noise complaints. This effect includes the world around you as well, though it does just seem to be localized to you in particular.

You're not likely to find any discrimination against you for your choice of relationships, with most instead choosing to ignore that part about you and treat you instead about your actions. This effect even includes the parents of said lolis, but it won't stop them from being as protective as a normal parent would be when faced with somebody trying to steal their daughters away.

The Family Pillar [200]: Quite the family man aren't you, Onii-chan? You certainly have what it takes, the aura of a competent protector, the warmest of hugs, and you can tell a mighty fine bedtime story. But let's face it, we both know that's not what you're really after here.

You'll now find that any daughters, imoutos, younger cousins, and the like you may have will all enjoy your company and love you more than they probably should, and that the exact sort of love they feel for you is... mixed. Also, for some reason inbreeding is never a problem for any children you might have. Lolis may if they desire have this effect their older male relatives instead, like fathers, big brothers, etc.

A Lewd Kind of Luck [200]: You might find yourself in a world that doesn't play very nicely with lewdness, much less one that contains lewd lolis. You'll no longer have to worry about that now, as this and future worlds seem to bend over backwards to push you into ecchi harem anime shenanigans revolving around lolis, shifting your luck around to consistently push you and your potential lovers into various lewd scenarios and accidents that have you get closer to the lolis, or push the lolis around you to wish to do various kinds of lewd things with you.

This also gives you a certain kind of protection against things that would interfere with your sexy times, although it's limited towards being a little more than a shield while you are in one of those aforementioned scenarios. If you're having a quickie before a battle, circumstances will push the actual battle back a bit while you have your fun, at least until it's time to get ready for the battle. It won't do much for wanting to have sex in the middle of the battle, however, though you or others may still find themselves in a sexy accident.

Grand Teacher Jumper-Sama! [400]: It has always been the duty of the older among us to teach and guide the young, thankfully that is a responsibility you are well suited for. Helping others learn just comes naturally, in how you can keep almost anyone's attention, in the way you explain things, children lucky enough to be taught by you will see great improvement under your tutorship. Though for some reason lolis especially benefit from training under you, apparently gaining an incredible learning potential that edges on what's considered normal in some cases.

And then once your little students truly trust you, you are able to make use of some more... unorthodox teaching techniques. They'll believe you when you say that "yes, kung fu training in the nude is essential for proper chi cultivation", or that "utilizing whips and chains in math lessons is all the rage in Europe". This makes it rather easy to train them in things like exhibitionism, or in the joys of submission, without them even noticing. Funnily enough, doing this never seems to hurt their gains in the main topic they should be learning either, odd that.

Not So Useless [400]: You really are a true lolicon, aren't you? Apparently every aspect of your being, from your mind, to your body, to even your very soul, responds strongly to positive attention from cute little girls. Any actions taken by a loli to help improve you just work better than they otherwise would, and/or negative side effects may be lessened! And so like some of the luckier lolicons who came before, you may end up benefiting from your perversions in many unusual ways before all is said and done.

Being embraced by The Dark Mistress would find you stronger than any fledgling vampire ought to be. Frankenchan's cybernetic enhancements work just as intended, and are unlikely to explode. Your pint sized Sensei finds you to be an unusually quick learner, and hardly ever feels the need to threaten unleashing the forbidden "Pedo Pounding Penis Punch" technique on you as motivation to train harder. So go forth now and enjoy the fruits of their labor!

Jumper and the Mystery of Sprungkette [400]: Isn't it strange how often in these sort of stories that the protagonist's quest takes him down paths that heavily feature attractive young lasses, and how sexing them is frequently key to saving the day or otherwise accomplishing his goals? Well now you can take that wonderful bit of narrative convention with you on your chain. For from now on as you go about your business you'll find that the world around you, and your life in particular, has far more cute little girls in it than before, much more than could be reasonably explained.

And while it's not 100% guaranteed, your endeavors will now usually have what you might think of as an optional “side quest/objective” that entails... well engaging in carnal activities with one or more lolis, with the end result of somehow helping you with your main mission. It could be as simple as seducing a palace guard's daughter into stealing the treasure room's keys. Or as crazy as that demon lord you pissed off having hidden a large chunk of its essence in a female child, using her as a vessel to help keep itself bond to this word, but would be weakened if its power was tainted by you putting some of your own “life essence” into that girl yourself (and knowing your luck this would also force the lord into a cuter form much more like that of the vessel's).

Powerful Admirers [600]: A common theme that many lolis share is a prodigious or powerful nature, where they’re oftentimes the strongest or the most capable of the worlds they’re in. While the details on what said loli is differ; such as being an Android, a Vampire Queen, or a hardened Supersoldier, you have a habit of sneaking into the hearts of these heavy hitters, often without even meaning to. You’re like a kind of catnip that draws out the weird- if a loli is powerful, there’s a likely chance she’ll end up crossing your path one day, and she'll quickly find much about you that she likes. Even the coldhearted or evil ones may well open up for you.

The maximum cap on the strength is dependent on the world you’re in, but you’ll always find lolis that edge up against the strongest or most capable of the setting, even when it doesn’t really make sense to find a loli there. Maybe they heard about you in a rumor, or you were lucky enough to be assigned near their area; maybe it was simply love at first sight, you’ll never be without the company of some incredibly powerful young girls, all vying for your love and attention.

Biggest Brother [600]: In a world gone mad, where innocent men are in constant danger of being abducted by roving gangs of vicious little girls, possibly lured to windowless vans with promises of beer and Pink Floyd CDs, there is told a prophecy. A prophecy in which a Chosen One within whom all the might of the legendary lolicon heroes of old would flow. Greatly empowering his efforts against the adorable hordes to staggering new heights. That prophecy tells of one... just like you.

Their strength would seem to wane in your grasp, the words you speak to them carry far more weight booming with authority, and a stern look from you could give even the brattiest of imoutos pause. But all that pales in comparison to what you are able to bring to bear upon them in all matters sexual. With nigh limitless stamina in bed and the ability to cause unheard of amounts of pleasure within their tiny forms with the greatest of ease, you could even bring a loli to multiple orgasms with nothing more than headpats should you put your mind to it.

However, be ye aware that while a powerful force multiplier, this is not completely infallible. You could still be overwhelmed by a loli who simply outclasses you by enough, or by sheer numbers. Still, if any man could survive getting themselves trapped on the Loli Train... it would be you.

Loli is Justice! [600]: Cute lolis are without a doubt the most innocent and precious of beings, and therefore the most deserving of your personal protection. You are able to sense whenever a little girl is in true danger within a radius whose size is “as far as you can reach in time to help” though you may reduce it at will should you not wish to be bothered by a whole city's worth of problems, or whatever. When your senses do activate you are instantly made aware of exactly where the endangered child is, and are given a vague idea of what they are in danger from (e.g. drowning, falling piano, attacked by frumious bandersnatch, etc.).

Once you do decide to intervene in such an encounter you'll find that the purity of your mission gives you added strength. So long as you are directly acting to save one or more lolis from an immediate threat your skills, will, and physical abilities all act at their absolute zenith, possibly even slightly beyond your peak if who you're trying to save is one whom you truly care for. And of course once the day is saved I think you'll find the rescuee(s) feeling more than a little admiration towards their hero, and often very eager for the chance to know you better.

Loli

Actual Loli [100]: You wouldn’t be a proper loli without looking the part, now would you? You now have the body of a perfectly cute loli in whatever fashion you wish, neither growing old or needing to maintain this form in any way, staying cute and petite no matter how much time passes- even magical curses that try and change your body won’t change you, if you don’t want them to. This does make you unaging by default, and any children you have also remain unaging lolis themselves unless they choose to grow old on their own. This loli form is also boosted in attractiveness, easily making you become an easy 9 out of 10, more than enough to star in your own loli doujin, if such things exist in your current world.

This conscious choice to grow older is also one you yourself have, for whatever reason, and you’ll always be able to return to this form when you are bored of being an old hag. As a final bonus, this perk becomes a template you can overlay onto other races post-jump, ensuring you never become an old, flabby hag in any future worlds that lack lolis.

Really 1000 Years Old [100]: Being in the form of a little girl might get old quickly, if you’re constantly pulled away from the fun things in life. Well, you no longer have to worry about that, as people will seem to ignore the fact that you are a loli when you want them to, allowing you to get jobs or do things meant mostly for adults. No longer people find it weird that a loli is drinking them under the table, though you can always tweak this power to have people recognize that they are being beaten by what looks like a little girl.

This perk can even enhance your attractiveness in some ways, for those who want to play the part of a lolibaba, helping you give off a sense of otherworldliness or a grandmotherly aura that people tend to listen to out of fear or respect. All you have to do is say that you’re older than you look and act that way and then suddenly all of your problems go away.

Durable [100]: For a loli, you sure can take a lot of damage. This synchronizes with any kind of hentai logic perk to make you incredibly durable for the little girl you appear to be, allowing you to take all kinds of rough play with your playmates without feeling any kind of pain, or turning that pain into pleasure for those of a more masochistic bent. It also makes you more flexible, allowing you to bend and twist in ways those old hags simply can’t, opening up new ways to have fun with onii-chan.

This durability also comes with a incredible stamina boost and makes it so that you're always up for sex, like some kind of sexual energizer bunny. It's likely you'll tire your playmates out before you do. As an optional effect, you can increase the sensitivity of your body, just in case you're one of those people who looks for every bit of pleasure they can manage to find.

Anti-Creep Technology [200]: There will sometimes be somebody that you aren't attracted to trying to get into your panties. You are cute, it's inevitable. Now, you have a particular luck in making sure those kinds of people are rare, or that when they do show up that you aren't so helpless against them. You now have an inner sense of who a person is and what they intend to do with you, with dangerous people giving you a sinking feeling in your stomach and a bad aura. This sense is preternatural, allowing you to know where those dangerous people are relative to you, even warning you where they're hiding when they try to stay out of sight.

This sense also gives you knowledge of where something or someone is that can help you within a large radius, even including how they will help you get away from those bad actors, ensuring that not only are you not caught off guard, but you're never further away from something that can get you away from them. You'll also know how to take advantage of your size in situations like this, ducking under and hiding in places that would normally be hard to get into.

"Innocent" [200]: You know the ancient art of getting away scot-free. You can give off a sense of innocence that completely masks your lewdness, allowing you to give off the impression of innocence that can get you into and out of situations, including getting away from trouble when you get caught doing something you weren't supposed to. People tend to be more lenient with you as a result, allowing you to get away with more than you normally should be able to. This act is so good you can actually step in to defend other people with it, like those poor bastards who got caught trying to "teach" you things.

This perk also makes people more protective of you in general, making them think the world of you and believing that you're innocent and pure rather than the lewd individual that you are. This can fill them with a little bit of shame when they realize they've become attracted to your innocence, but you'll love them anyway; won't you, jumper?There's a limit to this, however; being caught multiple times will eventually have people catch onto you, and people who genuinely know the real you will probably end up punishing you as well as the guy or gal you've seduced.

Childlike Wonder [200]: Immortality can be a lonely, bitter road for many. Seeing friends die, having once beloved experiences becoming dull and mechanical or even having new experiences eventually all blend together for as many times as you've experienced them. It can be hard to care about things. For most immortals except for you, that is. You'll never seem to tire of life, living it or finding new experiences. Your favorite food will remain your favorite, and taste better to boot. It's like you're back to being a child, with all of the wonder that comes from it as well.

You'll always find a good time, or a fun new adventure if you look for it, even making one up from something as boring as going to the store. You have this good-natured youthfulness about you that people both notice and become attracted to, as well as a kind of simple-minded wisdom that manages to break past even the most cynical of hearts. This wonder can also infect those around you, allowing you to revitalize once dead or tired hearts once more, allowing you to help them see what you do in life, in turn helping them revitalize others as well.

Damsel in Distress [400]: There will eventually come a time where your cuteness will no longer help you, or even directly land you in trouble. Maybe a huge, dangerous looking monster has found and cornered you, or you've insulted a couple of scumbags and they've managed to overpower you. These would normally lead to a bad end for most lolis, but for you there is always a way out. You have incredible luck with getting away from bad situations, whether it be through a brave onii-chan coming to rescue you from the monster, or a sudden police car showing up before it gets too dangerous with those scumbags.

There will always be at least a lucky way out, if you want one. However, for those who don't mind using sex as an alternative way out, you can instead ensure that the monster only wants to do lewd things to you, or that those scumbags will only teach you a lesson in manners instead of getting you into any real danger. This won't always work, as sometimes those people really just want to do horrifying things to you, but with this you ensure that more often than not you manage to get away.

You Like Lolis [400]: They can deny liking little girls all they like; their hard-on says otherwise. You have a supernatural attractiveness about you, something that seems to transcend the personal taste of the person being attracted to you. Your expressions, your appearance, even your actions; their eyes tend to glue onto you while they watch you move about, and your every action turns into incredibly suggestive ones, even by accident. Something as mundane as eating a popsicle can make a person's heart beat faster as they watch you act in ways that just bleed lewdness.

They might be embarrassed or ashamed of themselves after, but you can sear the sight of you into their brain, your mere presence beginning to corrupt the people around you into liking lolis. If you were to actually focus on somebody, the effect would be magnified- they simply wouldn't be able to get you out of their head, to the point even their dreams would be all about you. It'd be easy to seduce them then, as they'd want to give into the person that just burned a new fetish into their brain.

This perk only affects the people you like and/or are attracted to and can be toggled on and off besides.

Archetypal [400]: You now have certain personality traits often seen of various different types of lolis, such as the smug loli or the motherly/sisterly loli. For starters, you gain all connected aspects that said archetype is expected to have, such as a natural kind of confidence, a domineering nature and an incredible smug expression to match that of a smug type of loli, or a motherly attitude, an endless patience and a powerful 'disappointed in you' look as a motherly loli. This perk ensures you can play to the type of loli you want, and can slide this archetype on and off like a mask whenever you wish, or just make it so that it guides you into playing your role better.

This is more than just a collection of personality traits and a handful of skills, however, as with this perk you gain a noticeable boost in power from acting as this archetype; though the type of boost you get is dependent on the kind of archetype you choose to become. A smug loli wouldn't get a healing boost, but they would likely receive a bonus to help them dominate their opponents, becoming stronger or more magically proficient as an example. This is a noticeable boost in power, enough to double or triple your normal output, though it only lasts so long as you continue acting a certain way.

Prodigious Talent [600]: If there's a common thread in most anime and hentai that involves lolis, it's always that they are masters in various different kinds of crafts. Science, Warfare, Medicine; whatever it is, there's a loli out there that can outdo anyone in the field. Now, so can you. Pick a skill or career path, you are now the best of the best in that craft, blowing past any old farts that consider themselves the masters. You'll always be better at that something than an adult will, and if there's anything new to learn in that field you learn it in a fraction of the time it would normally take.

This perk also comes with a boost to learning new skills, allowing you to pick up multiple different kinds of skills at once and master them all within a few months of effort, increasing this speed exponentially when under the direct tutelage of an adult. This also helps you win the heart of said teacher, allowing you to grow closer to them and possibly throw you onto the bed as a reward for your efforts.

It should be said that you can't learn anything that isn't a part of the world's nature- learning actual magic in a world where it doesn't exist is impossible unless you already have said magical powers, for example.

Purity [600]: You know what sucks? Finding a unicorn, or some kind of cool sword or magic power only to drive it away because of your inner lewdness. Now, you no longer have to worry about something like that, as you'll always pass those pesky tests of purity. It doesn't matter what supernatural effect it happens to be or where it came from, if it tries to ask for or test your purity in some way, you will always manage to pass the test, no matter the kind of degenerate you are in reality.

Creatures like Unicorns won't snub you for being a pervert, those cool powers won't pass you over for somebody else or try to destroy you or refuse to work for not being pure, those magical items will no longer fall from your grasp and refused to be used; even things like angels or even the gods themselves won't be able to tell the real truth: that you are actually an incredibly lewd person who always has impure thoughts.

Loli Dominance [600]: A loli like you has control over the bedroom, even if it looks like you're just a cute, innocent looking mess. You've managed the fine art of manipulating the people around you, particularly when it comes to the bedroom. You know how they tick, what they're capable of on their own and what you'll need to push them into doing, as well as the best way to cheer them up or calm them down. This manipulation is so fine you can shift their personalities, even if it's only slightly. All the while never breaking your innocent facade.

For those lolis who don't like subtle manipulations, or just feel like being the one on top for once, your control can also be a bit more direct. You'll know exactly what makes their bodies tick as well as you do their heart, allowing you to find their weak spots and easily make them reach an orgasm, or even deny them one altogether if that's more your style. You'll always be able to play their bodies like an orchestra, your sexual skills unmatched- they'll be so addicted to you that no old hag could ever be as satisfying.

Items:

[400 CP Stipend]

Lolicon:

Loli Hentai [100]: It seems you've stumbled across quite the treasure trove, jumper. And by that I mean a grand library of all of the loli doujin, comics, hentai and artwork in existence, written in a language you understand, perfectly translated, with no loss of context or detail, placed categorically into various different kinds of tastes. I do mean all loli media, as well. It even updates, both from the world you came from (even if it's frozen…don't think about it too much) to the new worlds you land in.

You can find this library attached to a place of residence, or inside of your warehouse; both of which are capable of being perfectly hidden if you so wish- perhaps some aren't ready for the knowledge your library contains.

The Perfect Gift(s) [100]: Don't you hate gift shopping? You spend so much time trying to find just the right thing, and there's no guarantee that they'll even like what you end up getting. Well those problems are all behind you now. This otherwise unremarkable looking box with a large S on the top always contains just the right present for the one you are thinking about when you open it. While it only ever produces mundane objects, and nothing too extravagant, you can bet that it will always be something its intended recipient will appreciate. If you pay attention you might even learn something new about your loved ones from the things you end up pulling forth. Takes one day to recharge between uses.

Loli-fication Candy [200]: A pair of blank pill bottles with strange caps. The pills inside each are pink and blue, respectively. Inside each bottle are sweet smelling candies, with a special trait- anybody who eats the pink candies gets transformed into loli versions of themselves. They essentially get the Actual Loli, Durable and Hentai Logic perks for free, and the transformation lasts indefinitely until they take the blue candies, which will return them unharmed to their original state.

Any person you show these to will feel a strong compulsion to taste one, and they won't have any desire to change back to their original forms, often becoming addicted to their new form for whatever reason. These candies have 100 candies each inside of the bottles, and refill every month, replacing any missing candy. Your companions do not feel this compulsion, nor do they get particularly addicted to their new form if they don't want to.

Childcare Credentials [200]: Did you know that most people want some kind of assurance that you're qualified before letting you work with their kids? Well so long as it involves working with lolis, these documents are all the proof you'll ever need. Just show them to any potential employers and they will believe that not only are you qualified, but that you are literally the best possible person for the job. Teacher, pediatrician, babysitter, it doesn't matter, the only way you're not getting the job is if there's no available position and they can't make one.

A word of warning. These don't actually make you any more able to DO the jobs if you are lacking the right skills, nor will they help you keep them if someone important finds out that you've been full of shit from the start.

Adoption Papers [400]: You just want to give someone the better life that you know they could have with you. Why does that have to be such a messy hassle? Wouldn't it be far better for everyone to just skip all the red tape? Buy these and you can. If you can get a loli to sign on the dotted line, and so long as she fully knows what that will entail, they will become legally and indisputably yours. How her now former guardians might feel about the matter is completely irrelevant. And should she not have any known prior guardians that would be fine to, as an undocumented, red eyed, old fashioned, and strangely pale loli can be made your legal daughter just as easily.

What's more, should any of your new family members still remain in your custody at the end of a jump, and wish to come with you, you may make them into a follower and bring them along in your adventures.

Comfortable Home [400]: A house is a fine thing, but a place you can call home is far more special. Your abode in this world isn't merely shelter from the elements, as it practically radiates coziness, warmth, and all the comforts of home. The effect is even more pronounced on the young, food tastes better, sleep is more restful, and physical pleasures... Spending any real time here as a child would almost certainly become a treasured memory. Not only that, but it never seems to become crowded or cramped. Always having more than enough rooms no matter how many little “guests” you might have staying with you.

You may choose to have a similar home at the start of any future jumps, or apply the effects of this item to a property you have following you. However once the choice is made you're stuck with it until the next jump.

Loli

A Type of Poison [100]: Before you ask, this isn’t actually poison- it’s just a metaphor for a kind of unhealthy thing you like. In this case, it’s a bag of candy that has a limitless amount of candy that you can keep to yourself or share, and you can pull out specific kinds of candy that you like by simply reaching inside of the bag to pull them out. This candy can also be aphrodisiac in nature, if you choose, which acts fast and seems to last as long as it needs to. It’s also unnoticeable, as a bonus.

If candy isn’t your deal, you can instead choose something else like a rack of alcohol of all kinds, including especially rare or tasty ones that never seem to run out. Another example might be rare cigars or cigarettes that never seem to do anything harmful to your body.

Costume Closet [100]: This walk-in costume closet is a huge collection of a multitude of different outfits, all of them perfectly fitted for you in such a way that all are comfortable; some more than others. These clothes are all cute, but there are also quite a few skimpy, sexy outfits for you to try on of various different styles, to the point each outfit has its own skimpy version for you to try on. This closet also comes with a variety of cosplay outfits that give you a little bit of acting ability when you wear them.

This closet can be connected to whatever property you own, or can be directly accessed from your warehouse. These clothes are not only self-cleaning, but they also repair themselves when damaged as well.

Clubhouse [200]: A cute little toy building shaped like an animal that is much, much bigger on the inside. This interior is around the size of a large two story building, cutely designed and decorated to the walls with various different kinds of things that you like, with state of the art equipment for whatever kind of hobby you enjoy and a cute set of clothing to go along to match, like a doctor's coat and some safety goggles for a chemistry lover. Nobody can enter this building without your permission, and it never seems to run out of power, water or food.

It does have a very comfortable bed inside, one that will give you a good night's sleep almost as soon as your head hits the pillow- though you can always choose to stay awake. You can choose the design of everything, even incorporating aspects of your archetype, if you wish.

Blackmail [200]: Even loli's can play the blackmail game, it seems. You seem to have a strange vanilla folder in your possession, one that allows you to mark a target that you want, whereby the folder will suddenly be filled with dozens of incriminating photos and evidence detailing the target getting up to a bunch of lewd shenanigans. These photos will always be believed as a real thing, even if the target in question would never do such a thing.

You can then use this information to make your target do whatever you want with them, as they will do anything short of murder to make sure you don't release those photos. Whenever you're done, you can simply change targets by focusing on a different target.

Lewd Magical Girl Lolichan! [400]: A set of 6 magical trinkets with a super special power- the power to turn people into genuine magical girls. Of course gaining a series of magical powers that any good generic magical girl should have- super destructive laser beams in her favorite color, flight, and enhanced physical capabilities especially durability. And all of it can be powered up by either love or lust!

It even comes with a new outfit and a transformation sequence, conveniently storing your clothing away. You may choose a theme for the costumes these generate at the time of purchase, but they will always be tantalizingly provocative, leaving practically nothing to the imagination, and every girl who uses one will have personalized touches unique to her. The costume is relatively easy to damage, but it will be repaired, good as new next time you transform. Even better, since you're powered up by lust so long as the Flames of Desire burn inside you'll be able to keep fighting despite being reduced to wearing strips of cloth, or perhaps just your birthday suit! The more damaged your costume gets, the stronger your magical girl powers become.

Admittedly, once powered down the trinkets need a break for their energy to settle before they can safely release what they've stored, leaving you naked. While this can lead to some awkward situations as you wait to get your clothes back... it should be fine, right?

Heiress [400 CP]: You're one of those bratty, rich bitch lolis, huh? However you gained it, you now have a massive, sprawling mansion that's lavishly decorated to your standards and filled with maids and guards of all sorts who think the world of you, in a sort of theme you want. Want yakuza thugs as your bodyguards and ninja maids? Go for it. As a bonus, they're actually pretty damn good at their jobs, with each person individually being capable of fighting off entire forces at once. They'll even help you seduce the people you chase after, if that's what you want.

This mansion has been completely paid for, constantly restocks its sizable pantries, has infinite power and water and is no longer subject to taxes. As a bonus, it comes with enough money that you can live in utter extravagance for your ten years here, with a wallet that respawns every jump into the most popular currency. Never worry about wealth again.

Companions:

FBI (Friends Being Imported) [50]: Have some "old" Companions you wish to make less so? You may import or create a Companion for every 50 CP you spend here up to a max of 8, and each will receive an Origin and 600 CP to buy perks and items. Companions do not gain the extra item stipend.

OC Companions:

[Two for free and 50 CP for each additional]

Loli Smug-cubus: This red-skinned sub-cubus is a teasy, smug, condescending brat who enjoys being put in her place. She latched onto you for whatever reason and found you too good to just let go of, going so far as to tie herself magically to you and call herself your personal succubus. She especially likes teasing you in particular, goading you into putting her in her place and punishing her in the way she craves. She's pretty powerful for a demon, though most of her powers revolve around having sex for obvious reasons.

The version of her a fellow Loli gets is a bit different. She's friendly with you, though there is a bit of competitiveness involved. She considers you a dear friend, and will often form up with you to bag a guy or girl you like and double-team them. If not, she can usually be found seducing people into bed, and she's happy to share. May or may not like you in that way, which might change her behavior. If you are a demon yourself, it's entirely possible you are a sibling.

Ancient Vampire Loli: A pale-skinned, blonde haired vampire noble has found you interesting in a playful way. While she does enjoy teasing you, it's mostly for your reactions- it's been a while since she's interacted with a human in any meaningful way and she's starved for both blood and company. She finds yours particularly sweet in both cases. She often has stories of her homeland and the kind of stuff she got up to as a vampire.

She has the works when it comes to vampire powers- regeneration, flight, charms, you name it. She has a nasty habit of going about in nothing but a cloak around her shoulders for clothing.

Amazonian Princess: Being headstrong, aggressive, and perhaps just a bit arrogant, this muscular little warrior is nevertheless well meaning, with a truly heroic spirit. As a matter of fact she used to be one of the most famous superheroines in the world, renowned for her incredible strength, durability, formidable combat prowess, and breathtaking beauty. But after getting caught in some supervillain's mad science beam that deaged her back into a loli, and finding out that she actually lost none of her former power, she's working on rebranding her image, and has decided that you would make for an excellent sidekick.

Realizing that she actually much prefers her new body, her transformation has unleashed a rather lewd nature that she had previously repressed. With a definite fondness for ropes and submission holds that she seems to enjoy using FAR too much, you'll probably find yourself used as “practice” quite often if she can get away with it. But if you should somehow reverse things on her, instead of being mad she'll seem to become all the more... enthusiastic about the whole situation.

Android Totally 18+ I Swear: A robotic little girl that imprinted on the you as her administrator, she’s subservient and always willing to do whatever the administrator wants. Faint clicking and whirring can be heard when she moves, and she definitely does not move like a normal human would, being much too mechanically precise. Its original creator meant for her to be a combat/infiltration model, however her database also includes a variety of information on music, maid duties and hacking as well.

Appears emotionless at first, but that's because her creator never finished working on her emotion programs. By interacting with people (and with you in particular) she will begin to form emotions and a personality of her own, if treated even slightly well she'll quickly take on a rather familial role towards you and yours, constantly worrying about you, and not much about herself.

No Titty Goth GF: This pale-skinned, purple-haired little goth is moody, cynical, extremely dry of wit, and packing some serious daddy issues. She always believed in the supernatural even before she discovered her prodigious talent for the all the arts of magick. And now she has latched on to you, claiming either that “her scrying revealed that you are the perfect partner for “tantric mana generation” or “you are destined to join her coven”.

There's no one else in her coven besides you, by the way. The actual truth, no matter your origin, is that she's been very lonely, as her cold demeanor, and obsession with the occult has left her without any real friends to call her own. And though she'd never admit it, she really just wants an excuse to spend more time with you. Although there does appear to be some truth in the tantric mana generation thing, as any such acts involving you do seem to massively empower her spell casting (what fun!).

Magic Warrior For Justice!: With neon-colored hair and a bright as sunshine smile on her face, this absolutely adorable new magical girl is an overwhelmingly positive, kind, and helpful person, if perhaps a bit clumsy. She also considers you to be her “one true absolutely bestest friend forever” and so far you've been the only one she's trusted enough to reveal her secret life to, and seek advice from.

To help in her fight against the dark forces she somehow came into possession of a powerful magic transformation trinket like the ones given by the Lewd Magical Girl Lolichan! Item, but for some reason her version is quite a bit stronger than the generic brand, though it does still have all the same problems that they do as well. Which could be a major issue as her main weakness is that she's very easily embarrassed, and the source of her power seem determined to leave her as exposed as possible, as often as possible. Luckily you're here to help! Since her strong feelings for you does provide a large increase to her power level, just so long as you're close by that is.

Kung Fu Fighting Lolibaba: A martial arts master in a very short qipao with really nice legs, who also doesn't seem to be wearing anything else but the bandages on her hands and feet. Incredibly skilled in all forms of hand-to-hand combat and knowledgeable in many powerful ancient techniques, but is an incorrigible degenerate as well. Long ago she learned the secret to regain her youth permanently, but due to her fetishes knowingly chose to regress even further which is why she now has a child's body.

A heavy drinker and pretty condescending towards her charges, but friendly enough once you get used to her quirks. She does like to hit on you, will always be roping you into various schemes, and often times make you dress in skimpy outfits while trying to grope and molest you. She is actually serious about training you however, and is pretty wise when you really need advice. She's surprisingly attached to you in truth, as her perverted personality pushes most people she meets away. Amusingly she's completely unused to anyone reacting positively to her advances, or being teased back, making her easy to manipulate, but expect lots of drooling and nosebleeds from your poor Sifu should you decide to do so.

Foxy Bride: This small kitsune girl appeared before you one dark night, claiming that you are the reincarnation of her one true love, who long ago unexpectedly died just after the two of you were properly wed. Apparently she was so heart broken by this, that her nine-tailed mother agreed to put her into a magic sleep until you were reincarnated. Well now that she's found you again at last, she insists on getting remarried at once. "And thou hadst better not die again, mine love!"

Although old fashioned in dress and speech, she's actually very young by kitsune standards. Nevertheless she's not without powers to call her own. She's able to freely shapeshift into a fox, into a little girl with fox ears and a tail, and into something in between the two (though be prepared for some light teasing if you should ask her for sex in that last form, not that she cares if you're a furry). She can also hear your "prayers" (thoughts that you direct at her) no matter how far away you are, and is capable of some rather impressive illusion magic as well. But above all she's a master at all wifely duties, and no one can pamper quite like she can.

Neko Shadow-Loli From Beyond the Stars: Something has been watching you, and it likes what it sees. This eldritch being has made an uncharacteristically logical attempt to appear comforting and not scare the ever living shit out of you by taking on a form inspired by the two cutest things in the universe, little girls and kittens. The resulting loli with a cat's tail and ears is indeed adorable, though the intended effect is somewhat lessened by the glowing red eyes and the too many sharp teeth that fill her mouth. She also has great and varied powers over darkness and shadow. Able to do such things as see and travel though them, merge into them, and summon forth tentacles with way too many eyes and teeth from them to strike down any who may so trespass her by threatening you.

While it definitely loves you, an would never hurt you, or willing allow you to come to any harm, she does have some funny ideas on how to go about showing one's affections, and often comes across as more of a psychotic stalker than as a clingy lovestruck girlfriend. Offering to consume your enemies, using her powers to literally watch you from the shadows (including your own), and really wants to fill the stars with your progeny, but since she doesn't seem to bare children any faster than a human, that's more of a long term goal.

Harassed Teacher: This young man is a natural with little girls. His reliable and friendly demeanor, excellent teaching skills, and handsome good looks draw lolis in like honey while making them feel all warm inside. The only problem? He really doesn't want to be a lolicon. That's not to say he isn't sorely tempted by all their charms and aggressive attentions, but he believes that giving in would be an unforgivable betrayal of their trust in him, and so far he's been able resist no matter how much they throw themselves at him.

If you're a Loli you'd be his biggest weak spot, being his favorite charge and the one he feels in most need of his attention, but that also means that if anyone could crack his loli resistance it would be you. Lolicons on the other hand will be considered a friendly shoulder to cry on, and should you ease his burden by getting some of the girls to leave him alone and bug someone else instead, he'd be so happy that he would probably never think to question just how and why you're doing it.

Super Loli Man: Old and fat, yet appearing more as a kindly grandfather than like an ugly bastard. This mature gentleman works as a girls' basketball team coach for the local elementary school, but his true mission in life is following innocent lolis from the shadows to protect them from all that might do them harm! (please don't call it stalking) He seems to have a sixth sense for such things, often appearing just as someone is thinking about committing a crime to lecture them on how lolis are holy beings that should be admired from afar, but if that doesn't work he has an odd power that gives him superhuman physical abilities and skills when defending the safety and honor of lolis.

Lolis will find him to be a dedicated stalk...PROTECTOR from any evil who would wish to defile the pure, but then he's never had a loli try to initiate any lewdness with him before, and would most likely have to readjust his philosophy if you should try to do so. In a fellow Lolicon he sees a potential apprentice in the voyeuris...HEROIC arts and would try to take you under his wing.

Pedro the Safety Bear: Pedro looks for all the world like an strangely anthropomorphic bear wearing a shitty mariachi disguise. He claims it's just a mascot suit, but frankly you have doubts. Whatever else he may be, Pedro is incredibly clever, inventive, and determined, often coming up with complicated plans and intricate gadgets in the pursuit of his work. What is his work, you ask? Why teaching safety to little girls of course! For example he might demonstrate why leaving your clothes unattended while swimming/bathing is unsafe, or how wondering down dark alleys by yourself is a very bad idea.

For some reason he's got it into his head that you'd make for an excellent partner in safety, and will try to convince you to help him in his various plots, though Lolis will definitely see more harassment over the course of these ventures. He also has oddly good luck when it comes to extricating himself (and to a lesser extent you) intact when his "safety lessons" don't go to plan.

Drawbacks:

Don't have enough CP for your tastes? That's fine, you can make it a bit harder on yourself for a bit of extra.

Supplement Toggle [+0]: Perhaps you want to be somewhere else than a generic, blank world flavored with a generic theme? This toggle allows you to go wherever you'd like, using this as an add-on to the base jump. Want to turn Warhammer 40k into a lolifest? Now you have that ability. I take no responsibility for the horrors that happen there, however, as wherever you go with this will likely not be as safe as this world.

Shota Toggle [+0]: Ah, I see. Not into lolis but shota is okay. I get it. It's alright though, we have you covered. Instead of lolis, you get shotas. It's just that simple. The lolicon perk tree turns to shotacon, and loli turns to shota. They pretty much work the exact same way.

The Embodiment of [Archetype] [+100]: Pick an archetype. You can't shut it off now, and it dictates most of your actions. You're now the most extreme version of your archetype, completely refusing to break character for any reason, forcing you to exclusively act in ways that somebody who has the archetype would. This drawback does not give you any special powers for acting this way beyond forcing you to act like the archetype you've picked.

Annoying Tagalong [+100]: You're being followed by a loli if you're a lolicon and an adult if you're a loli. Either way, they're incredibly annoying. They're loud and stupid in a way that's bound to irritate you and you simply won't be able to get rid of them. They're too attached, and they really, really like you. No perks can help you evade them, but they aren't evil or dangerous, nor are they unattractive… in a manner of speaking. You can probably get them to be quiet by fucking them, though. Then they'd be too tired to be annoying.

If for some reason you want them, you can take them as a companion after the jump. Maybe they grew on you.

Tags - Comedy [+100]: Oh, it's going to be one of those kind of manga. You're going to find yourself to be a magnet for slapstick during this Jump. Jealous lolis hitting you with giant mallets pulled from nowhere, falling off roofs, clothing damage galore, and much more will be your fate from now on. None of this will ever do lasting harm, or even incapacitate you for any real length of time, but they will hurt. And can be damn inconvenient/embarrassing to boot. At least this usually seems to leave you alone during sexytimes, this is still a hentai after all.

Lolis Forever! [+100 CP]: This world is just too precious for you to even think about ignoring breaking theme. If you're a Loli, your youthfulness is secured; you start your time as an 8 year old, and no force in the world will help you to age up faster or just turn you into a grown up. While you might still age normally, you'll thankfully benefit from looking on the younger side; so while it may be frustrating to get carded in your twenties, I'm sure that's a small price to pay. Boons like these don't come cheap, but I imagine that being treated as if you're younger than you actually are by most people shouldn't be a problem. After all, that's what you came here for right?

For Lolicons you'll find that other people just don't do it for you; even if the god of sex and beauty came to show you a good time, wouldn't be able to get it up if they weren't a cute girl. Loli's are justice, and non-shall impugn the purity of your devotion!

Lurid Heart [+100]: Hormones raging, beautiful guys and girls as far as the eye can see; it's enough to get anyone's motor running, though yours is definitely roaring. You've got sex on the brain; surprising I know, but most people don't give the Smug-Cubi a run for their money like you do. You're libido is certainly impressive, as is the perversion your mind can fall too; why just looking at that cute transfer student might find your mind wandering to debauched fantasies with ease. Beyond merely making you more driven to seek out, or more receptive to, sexual situations; your mind so easily sees the world through the lenses of love and eroticism, and find it spreading into your works if you don't handle your urges. Taking every chance to dress in increasingly appealing or lurid ways, making sculptures to be more than a little phallic when your gaze drifts over to that hunky art teacher, working fiercely to justify making your prototype android a lifelike loli, or outright clearing your schedule to get some sweet loving. Take care to tend to that fire burning in your loins; otherwise it won't be long before anyone who pays attention knows you're a pervert.

Responsibility [+100]: It's part of growing up you know? The time of carefree fun begins to fade, and people around you start expecting things of you; perhaps more so than before. The exact nature this responsibility manifests may vary; but it'll be a clearly defined responsibility that will form a significant part of your life here. While you won't find yourself with more work than before; if you can't find a way to balance your work and play it's definitely going to bite you in the ass somehow. A normal loli might find their parents paying a close attention to your grades and homework, or faculty members ruining your fun if you skip class for a quickie. While a Magical Girl who decides to ignore their Mascot's call to action may find that ice cream parlor they planned to go to for their date closed for repairs, or the monster's next target.

For an additional +100CP however, there might be an added troublesome layer to these responsibilities. Perhaps you're a young heiress being sent to a public school due to some nonsense about "building character" or "keeping you grounded" when you'd much rather be in some prestige all-girl's private school. A young super hero forced to maintain a secret identity as a normal kid; in addition to keeping up with your hero training, and duties as a sidekick. Or maybe you're just a normal Lolicon whose day job keeps you busy and faraway from anyone you'd consider attractive; ensuring that if you want some fun you're going to have to go out, and look for it yourself in your spare time.

Pure as Snow [+100]: The beauty of youth is everything is new and wonderful; an regardless of how drenched in debauchery you may have once been, yours is a pure virginal soul now. While I'm sure someone with more experience might adore the chance of educating you; I imagine that losing all your experience and skill in sexual matters might be a bit humbling, especially since your know-how is at best comparable to a kid whose snuck into their sibling's porn stash a few times. If you've taken any perks that would grant you impressive sexual skill; these are instead promises of the great sexual potential and instinct laying dormant within you, though you'll need quite a few notches on your belt before you can live up to them.

Though for another +100CP we can take this a step further to some of your other purchases here; where once you may have been a mighty hero(ine), now you're just a whelp having believed herself to be a normal person until recently, a promising prodigy freshly chosen by a witch or perhaps a magical girl on her first night out. You'll have quite a bit of learning to do; but you'll surely live up to those expectations in time.

Fairy Troublesome [+200]: Okay, so maybe this world isn’t quite as normal as you first thought. Fairies, aliens or some other kind of fantastical creatures and forces lay in wait; they’re just pretty good at hiding from most grownups for one reason or another. Whatever they are, they’re not exactly malicious; but they do love playing lewd pranks on people, especially you. Usually these a simple things like pixies making the school bully and class president fall madly in lust, hexes that turn uptight adults up into horny kids for a few hours, or getting molested by the science club's runaway invention. Though somethings might be a far more troublesome to deal with; like a cursed bracelet that makes you perpetually horny yet unable to orgasm until you can find a way to remove it, ghosts that possess people so they can feel the pleasures of the flesh again, or a 100 year old drow princess who publicly attempts to court you in increasingly bold ways despite looking like a chuuni 10 year old into BDSM. Even if you might normally enjoy some of these events, such shenanigans are bound to come up at unexpected times or throw you into more than one awkward situation; making what might've been a relaxing weekend into something far more eventful.If taken with Negima Syndrome this basically makes you a magnet for One Shots and Filler Arcs to take up your down time between the major villains.

Uohhhhhhhhh!!! [+200]: Bit of a soft touch, huh? Basically those that you consider to be sexually attractive will have an incredibly easy time manipulating you. It's not like you'd suddenly betray your deeply held beliefs, or knowingly hurt those you care about, but if they should give you the puppy dog eyes and maybe show a bit of skin, you'll find your common sense and critical thinking instantly nosediving as the blood leaves your head and starts moving downwards.

Actually Indefensible [+200/Restricted to Lolicons]: You no longer benefit from any law bending perks. People don't like lolicons and hate you in particular, and that's final. This doesn't stop you from having sex with lolis, mind you, but you should expect trouble almost all the time, as the police are out in force and practically crawling out of the woodwork.

> They Know [+300/Restricted to Lolicons]: It's like the law has a near supernatural ability to know when you're up to no good. It's even harder to have fun now, as you'll find police around damn near every corner and all of them staring you down with one of those blank, disgusted looks. They know you're up to no good, jumper. They just need a reason to bag you.

The Sound of The Police [+200/Restricted to Lolis]: You may think you'll have an easier time with the law now that you're a little girl, but with this drawback the police will usually manage to stymie your efforts and frustrate you in some way. Adding onto the fact that the police are practically gleaming, incorruptible saints who won't take bribes or be seduced by you.

> Totally a Bait Trap [+300/Restricted to Lolis]: With this drawback, it's also almost guaranteed you'll have a smaller pool of people to have fun with as your potential partners eventually catch onto the incarceration rate of anybody who tries to interact with you sexually, with most writing you off as a bait trap.

Yandere [+300]: There's somebody out there who loves you, jumper. To the point of obsession. They are dangerous, powerful, and totally crazy, which probably means great things when it comes to the bedroom. The problem is that they don't share, and will kill off anybody that cares about you, including your dog, for the cardinal sin of looking in your direction. They also have a nasty habit of drugging you, tying you up and taking you to strange places when you sleep. Oh, and they're a loli. Obviously.

Did you somehow like this treatment? Well, you can take them along as a companion then, and they either get a free racial 400 CP perk to show in what way they were powerful, or the Prodigious Talent perk. They likely won't have cooled it with the murder and the clinginess, but you were probably ready for that.

Negima Syndrome [+300]: You thought you came here for a nice lewd time, but it was ME, SHONEN JUMP-SAN! I've taken it upon myself to make the world a bit more interesting- while it will play out mostly the same as it would normally, like maybe you found yourself an overworked and underpaid teacher to a bunch of lolis, but now there are these cool things called STAKES and POWER LEVELS, as well. Even better, these continually escalate until basically you're fighting a dark god on the moon. Y'know, the good shit.

The End

Looks like your ten years are up, Jumper. Time for you to make one last choice here.

Return

Yeah. Right. Pull the other one, it's got bells on.

Stay

I guess I can see the appeal of living in a world as cute and funny as this one.

Move On

Now we're talking! So much more to see! So many people to do!

Notes:

On Races:

These are generic/lewd versions of the races, so they shouldn't be capable of overpowering dedicated racial perks of other jumps. This is mainly a porn jump that's pretty generic to boot, so other jumps are going to be a little stronger in this regard. Assume you gain the most common abilities attributed to popular (read: archetypal) depictions of your race, adding or subtracting some other abilities.

On Items:

If you should leave any of the trinkets given by Lewd Magical Girl Lolichan! behind in a setting, by giving one to a local for example, you shall receive a replacement at the start of your next Jump.

On Companions:

Most of the companions are to to one extent or another expies. The inspirations are listed below.

Loli Smug-cubus – Meruccubus.

Ancient Vampire Loli – Yupiel.

Amazonian Princess – Mostly Wonder Loli.

No Titty Goth GF – I honestly wasn't trying to base this one off anything, but looking at it now I'm sure I was subconsciously thinking of Raven from the original Teen Titans cartoon.

Foxy Bride – Mostly based on Kirara from Yume no Mahoroba, with just a bit of Senko-san thrown in.

Neko Shadow-Loli From Beyond the Stars – The Shadow-spawn from beyond the stars gf meme, and some weird eldritch catgirl loli pics by Hitomaru.

Pedro the Safety Bear – You should know this one.