FROM THE ACADEMY AWARD®-WINNING DIRECTOR OF SLUMDOG MILLIONAIRE AND THE WRITER OF LOVE ACTUALLY

YESTERDAY

IS A SUPPLEMENT COMING SOON TO A JUMP NEAR YOU

Yesterday is a supplement, where you gain no choice points, and can add it to any jump you want.

One day Jack Malik was riding his bike home from a gig when everything turned off for 12 seconds all over the world. While it was dark, he got hit by a bus, and suddenly the world changed. All sorts of things, like Harry Potter, Coca Cola, Oasis, Cigarettes, and the Beatles seemed to have vanished from the memory of the world, even their physical remnants disappeared. But the complete musical failure, Jack Malik could remember them.

Whether you're replacing Jack Malik, or joining him in his burgeoning career is up to you. You must take drawbacks to gain any additional choice points here.

PERKS

Free Singer/Musician

You have a beautiful voice, and astounding skill on guitars and the piano, alongside some alright with percussion instruments and exotic instruments like ukuleles, Indian sitars, flutes, tabla, darbouka, and tampur drums.

100cp Love Me Do

You could be a nervous wreck right up until you pick up your instrument and start to play, but even then, you'll never suffer stagefright, being able to sing your songs while playing, dancing, and knowing that your current lyrics suck. People will love you for your performances.

200cp Some Wisdom From John

Seems like John Lennon is alive, you've been given his address, and every year he'll have you around for a cup of tea and conversation, where he'll give you the sorts of wisdom he's gained over the years. You can even have a hug, though he may think you a bit weird. By the end of the conversation, you'll feel better, like all your psychological issues have been fixed, for now.

300cp Yesterday, By You

I didn't write it, Paul McCartney wrote it, the Beatles. The Beatles. John Paul George and Ringo, the Beatles. The pop group, Beatles. Nick, help me out here.

What? Other people don't recognise them? A google search doesn't bring up anything about them? Any of their works have physically, socially, and intellectually disappeared from the world without anything changing at all?

Weird, but somehow you seem to remember them, how to play and sing their songs, you can completely reproduce their work. It's strange that only a couple of people from all over the world remember them, but they're just happy that the world will have the Beatles music back in it and will support you completely. So, you can take complete credit for their works if you want. In future jumps, you can change who the artist is that's disappeared.

ITEMS

Free A Job Packing Shelves.

Customers like you. Your boss doesn't like you though. Your thick beard gets on his nerves, he doesn't like the way you're always late, he doesn't like the way you dress, and worse, he gets the feeling that you think you're better than this job. Still the customers like you, so he's offered you the chance to go full time, with all the benefits of a full-time position in the U.K.

100cp Best Manager In The world!

There's this right proper gorgeous person who's been following you since you were in school together. When you started doing your busking gig, they became your manager. They're so damned good, that they managed to get you a gig at a proper festival. Even if you completely suck as a songwriter. Where that goes is up to you. Also, they're maybe kinda sorta completely head over heels in love with you.

200cp Recording Studio

You have a massive recording studio, massive mixing desks and all sorts of stuff, Any instrument you can find will be here, alongside lots of producers who'll be able to polish 'your' songs into the hits they were always meant to be.

300cp I'll See You In Los Angeles.

"We need you to come to L.A. See we pay, and you come, and you write songs, and we release them, and you make a tonne of money, and then we take most of it." Except that here, you'll get complete creative control over the art, and your music will bring in millions of [currency] each year.

COMPANIONS

100cp Deborah

On the face of it Deborah is a fairly rude individual, but she’s an outstanding manager who will never shirk from telling you the bald faced truth, without bothering about trying to make it polite. If you want someone who’ll never be a sycophant, this manager’s who you want, and she comes with connections to a major recording studio.

100cp Ed Sheeran

No, it’s not Nick. It’s Ed Sheeran, and he’ll happily bring you into his whole music world by having you as his warm up act until your music catches on with a wider audience.

100cp Gavin

Gavin’s a top bloke of a producer, with a by the tracks recording studio who’ll happily produce your music for free. He’s charming, funny, and skilled. He’s the sort of producer who can make do even in a world without top quality equipment, and could record your music to even a wax vinyl in a bronze age fantasy world.

100cp Jack Malik

Jack’s the main character of this fantasy rom-com, and a pretty good singer and musician. He’s a shite songwriter of original works, but by golly can he remember song lyrics. That’s probably a good feature for a singer. If you replaced him upon entry, then you get a clone of yourself as a companion.

DRAWBACKS

There is no limit on the amount of CP you can take from drawbacks here.
Drawbacks taken here, don't count against the drawback limit in the main jump.

Free Maybe, Not The Beatles? (Toggle)

Maybe in this world, it wasn't the Beatles that disappeared. Lots of things disappeared, like Coca Cola, Oasis, cigarettes, and Harry Potter. Maybe it was a different artist, group, or entirely different group of things altogether. Whatever it was, you can pick what it was, and if you bought the perk 'Yesterday, by You', you can reproduce that instead.

+200cp Wow. Your Roadies Suck.

Your roadies believe in you, sure, that's great. They also really like you, that's also neat. But gods damn, could they do their fucking job and not sit around stoned, insulting other artists, all while being famously world class morons? Yes, they could, maybe. But from the default start time until the default end time of this jump, they're not going to be. It doesn't matter how often you fire and replace your roadies, the next lot will continue to suck too. Even if you go without roadies, and leave it up to the event to organise, they'll start to suck as well.

+400cp Is This The Best That You Can Look?

Oh, you were beautiful before? Hell, even moderately attractive? No. You're not very attractive. You are out of shape. You are skinny, yet somehow round. You don't get the appearance benefits of any perks or powers you might have. However, since the music is so joyful, it'd be a shame if it was let down by your being so.. off putting, hopefully you'll at least get the benefits of an image manager to try and create something from your.. youness.

+600cp Ouch..

All over the world electricity went out, just for twelve seconds, but in those seconds, you're going to get hit by a bus, while riding a bike. Ouch. Your bike will be a total write-off, you will loose two teeth, and be in a hell of a lot of pain and inconvenience for a while. To add insult to injury, your beard was shaved off, and you look very amusing, so people will laugh at you when they see your knocked out teeth.

NOTES

Created by RichardWhereat from /r/JumpChain

I reserve the right to edit this document in order to win internet arguments, better suit my current jump, or because the grammar needed fixing. Feel free to notify me of any grammar or punctuation that needs fixing. Any updates will be put in the changelog.

Current Version 1.1

Changelog v1.1
Added Jack Malik as a companion.
Updated the perk Some Wisdom From John.
Added drawback notes under the Drawback heading.