

Welcome Jumper! To the world of "Girls Bravo" a place full of romantic drama, abuse, perverts, aliens, hot girls and one sided morality… Look, you will start a week before Akinari, a gynophobic high-school student is suddenly transported to Seiren and makes the insanity go up a few levels.

I'm feeling a little bad about this, so have:

+1000cp

Age & Gender: Feel free to choose whatever age or gender you deem convenient… nah, only male or female, and an age number that doesn't instantly kill you.

Origins

Drop in
No new memories to help or hinder your start in this strange place. To be honest, it's probably for the better. There're some weird things around, after all. You start with a room paid for the month, papers proving who you are and the promise of an interesting future.

Normal Student
Well, maybe 'normal' is used a bit loosely here, but you're undoubtedly less strange than most of the cast… maybe. Attending your local study center or maybe already working, this place is well known by you, having living here all your life.

Company Heir
It seems like your family is a well off one. Even more, they not only own a big, probably multinational company, but you are the legit heir to the business and riches of your makers. Money is really a useful thing to have, so try to not lose it.

Space Management Agent
Tasked with the duty of implementing the interspatial law and prosecute those who break it, you are a full-fledged agent of what equals to the spatial police. Sadly, it seems you haven't got a good assignment in a while…

Locations

Japan
Located in the vanilla planet earth, pretty alike to the one you come from. This place isn't much different from the modern day country that you know too… well, it could be a tad stranger, but surely you can deal with it.

Seiren
A mysterious alien planet, located somewhere near earth (definition of "near" may vary). It possess a strange variety of animal and plant life. Their population is composed of 90% females and 10% males, making the search for a mate quite difficult (for women).

Perks

100cp perks free to origin, rest is discounted.

Drop In

New Friend (100cp)
You aren't a part of this place, you lack friends and background to help you connect with the natives of here. Yet, for some reason, that doesn't stop you at all, on the contrary, you seem to be able to use that 'mysterious' origin to make friends quick and easily. With a couple of interactions, you will become part of that group that knows each other since childhood and interact with them as an equal.

Innocent Onlooker (200cp)
In a place so full of… weird events, that happen every week at the latest. One's bound to end up tangled with some of them. Not you, however, people now are aware of your innocence and lack of guilt in any weird event that happens near you. You won't be accused of being a pervert when some rich blonde starts stealing female underwear. Have in mind that this won't work if you really had a hand in the problems to being with.

Another Weird Day (400cp)
Let's face it, this place is downright bizarre, there's bath that connects to other worlds, interplanetary agents with daddy issues, perverts, wannabe magicians, aliens… The list goes on and on. I would feel kind of bad if all of this gets to your head. So, this is a mental protection to help you maintain your sanity and level-headness, no matter the circumstances. The strangeness of this place won't be enough to faze you, unless you allow it.

Hand-Holding (600cp)
Honestly, this place is full of cute or handsome people, that still remain single in virtue of being jerks, abusers, liars… You get the idea. It's not a surprise why so many of them can find a partner. You, however, are in the other side of the spectrum, being able to be noticed by other by small gestures of kindness or basic appreciation. Probably being a decent person in constant basis will make various individuals enamored with you, but believe that it isn't as good as it sounds with the people here.

Normal Student

Take Care Of The House (100cp)
Truth be told, one needs to ensure everything is going well in one's home. Making food, cleaning, washing and more. It's not the most glamorous job nor the less taxing, but pretty necessary, nonetheless. You are really good at those chores, so at least that's a worry less in your daily life, and of those who live with you.

Non-Lethal Karate (200cp)
Certainly some people here deserve a good beating for their antics, and that's exactly the reason why you went for some self-defense classes under the best in the field. Of course, giving the common state of this place and your temper, there's bound to be more than one time where you will use your teachings for more than self-defense. Thankfully, you also learned how to make your blows non-lethal, merely knocking out your victims, even when you break their poor necks.

A Maid's Honor (400cp)
The greatest prove of a retainer's capacity is the ability of always help and protect their masters while in the shadows, letting them shine while you take care of the minor inconveniences that lurk in the shade. You can presume being one of the best at this, almost like a ninja. Your skills in, combat, hiding, tracking and spying are in par with the best of the Fukuyama's servants. Try to put a good use to this.

Greatest Aide Around (600cp)
Following that a good ruler needs a good retainer, you have honed your abilities to be useful for your employer and bring the best out of them. Namely, you became proficient in everything one would expect of a high class leader, a professional fighter and a veteran soldier, with the goal of being able to always help from the shadows. Be in taking his seat at the company while he takes a vacation or spying in his latest love interest.

Company Heir

High-Class Looks (100cp)
That silky hair, those delicious lips, that sexy form of yours…. Yeah, you're definitely high graded in the appearance department. With a special aura of nobility around you to boost it. Few, if any, will be able to match you in sexiness here. But while you got the face, this won't improve your personality. So don't be a jerk.

Just A Joke, Bro! (200cp)
Sure, you act like a pervert, hide in the female lockers, buy embarrassing photos of your classmates… but hey! No one was hurt at the end! While people may or may not like that behavior of yours, they will ignore your perverted antics, as long as they remain harmless for those involved. Beware that harming someone seriously in any way will make the effect of this disappear, so try to control yourself.

Forbidden Knowledge (400cp)
At some point of your youth, you found a book with the teachings of certain branch of magic, one that's not so well liked by most. With time and practice, you became proficient enough to infesting a mansion with ghosts, summoning a giant octopus in the school swimming pool, causing an explosion within a shopping center or giving life to an old doll. Sure, your attempts until now haven't bore the fruits you wanted, but there's still room for improvement.

Actually A Heir (600cp)
Born with a silver spoon in your mouth, you were also raised to be a heir worthy of the family spoils and have been groomed from birth to be the perfect leader of the company. Being trained and educated in politics, business, economics, etiquette and more. You are the equivalent of a modern day noble with everything to prove it in the field.

Space Management Agent

Like Bubblegum (100cp)
Aren't you a cutie? Everyone seems to think that you're adorable, making easier for you to fit in new social environments and quickly winning the trust of those that judge based on appearances. It makes people give you more leeway too in your actions, they would hate to see you sad, after all. Have in mind that a cute look is all this gives you.

Quick metabolism (200cp)
You know what's good? Food. Too bad that most people can't enjoy much of it without getting fat. It seems like you got lucky in the genetic lottery though. Your metabolism is a little bit special, letting you eat as much as you want without gaining weight. Even if you were to take a little more muscle, it will simple arrange itself to appear in less ugly parts of your body. Say goodbye to those belly rolls!

Yeah, Tech Support (400cp)
Well, someone has to make and repair the cool toys that the bureau keeps breaking apart. That's you, the unsung hero in the technology department of the Space Management division. Not a good job, but better paid than being a simple agent. Furthermore, it seems that you are one of the few that actually knows the workings of interplanetary travel and transportation. Use your knowledge for good, I guess.

Seikon (600cp)
This is a sacred and mysterious power, in the form of a Star Mark tattoo in your forehead, it can be used to open portals between worlds by using bodies of water as a medium. Completely ignoring the distance between them, this are basically small worm holes in space. While this power is great, you cannot use it freely, since excessive or constant use will let you fatigued for a small frame of time. For some reason it also grants a very small level of hydrokinesis.

Items

100cp items free to origin, rest is discounted

Drop In

Allowance (100cp)
I can't have you dying from hunger, that would be more sad than fun at this point. I will give you the equivalent of $1000 dollars every month in your local currency, so you have a way to feed yourself. But seriously, just get a job.

Ebi (200cp)
Some strange looking and magical creature from Seiren. I'm not sure why, but it appears that took a liking to you. Doesn't count as a companion, but it will still follow you in your adventures. It seems more intelligent than one would think at first glance.

Jumper's Arena (400cp)
… Alright, please do tell me why you want a hidden fight club arena. Well, no matter anyway. This shady place will follow you through jumps and host any kind of underground tournament you like, wrestling, girls fighting in mud while wearing bikinis or deadly martial arts fights. It's surprisingly lucrative, but also illegal in some places.

Normal Student

Poyon Plush (100cp)
A little toy of one of the most popular shows around, kid's love the stupid thing for some reason. It could serve as a good gift for a child, or you could add it to that collection I know you have hidden.

House (200cp)
Well, you need to live somewhere, right? Whenever it was passed down from your parents or if you just won it at a lottery. You know have a medium-sized house, styled like most modern Japanese ones.

Interplanetary Bath (400cp)
This Japanese little bath is more than meets the eye. Yeah, while the design is quite flat, the value of this implement lies in its connection to other worlds, more specially it can be used to travel from Earth to Seiren and vice-versa. Have fun with it.

Company Heir

Rich's Clothes (100cp)
When you're this rich, you also need to look the part. Prada is probably the cheapest thing you got in your wardrobe. Keep in mind that while all these outfits are high class and expensive, most commoners won't get your superior fashion sense.

Grimoire (200cp)
A magic book, in its pages lies an assortment of spells in dark magic, ranging from funny and harmless curses to more gruesome things. Anyone with time and will seems capable of learning the secrets inside this magic tome, so try to make sure that it doesn't fall in the wrong hands

Company (400cp)
Well, be because of your parent's demise or because they simply retired, it seems like the company is now yours to run. Starts as an already rooted, multinational enterprise, and can grow even more under your care. Of course, you can simply let that to someone else. It follows you in your adventures and automatically recruits staff at the start of every jump.

Space Management Agent

Endless Bananas! (100cp)
Just as the name suggests, a cargo full of bananas of the highest quality. You will get more every weekend if you already ate or wasted the previous ones. I heard that people from Seiren seem to like bananas.

Aqua Lamps (200cp)
The little balls that are used by the Space Management to let people travel between already connected worlds, like earth and Seiren. You have a set of six of them and know how to make more. But finding the materials may be a little problematic.

Bathroom of the Gods (400cp)
A fancy bath. More specifically, a copy of Seiren's largest and greatest bath. They really like them, so you may expect good things from this. It becomes a warehouse attachment after the jump. There is even a view of the town down below, though you can't reach it.

Companions

Import/Create (100cp/400cp)
I'm not sure if you only want more people to join the insanity or just feeling lonely, but feel free to use this option to import or create a companion for 100cp, they gain 600cp to spend in purchases. You can also import or create the full plate of eight for 400cp, they win 800cp to spent in whatever they want.

Canon Companion (100cp)
It appears that some characters took a shine to you… Not my business, if you want, feel free to take them as companions with this option. I won't pry in your relationship… too much, anyway.

Maid / Butler (100cp/Free Heir)
The servant tasked as your aid since a very young age. They're every bit as competent as they seem, even if they act a little goofy sometimes. May or may have being harboring feelings for you that go beyond your current relationship. Comes with the whole perk tree of "Normal Student".

Space Agent (100cp/Free Normal Student)
Quirky, but effective. That's the best way to describe this young man that drilled his way in your life. While technically an agent of the Space Management Bureau, and a businessman in his own right, it seems like he prefers a time for adventure and is determinate to accompany you in your travels. Comes with the whole "Company Heir" perk tree.

Seiren Bride (100cp/Free Drop In)
Well, it seems like this girl took you as her spouse. Don't ask me why or how. Loving, airheaded and trusting. This girl has a heart as big as the ocean and it's full of love for you. Comes with the whole "Space Management" perk tree, for some reason.

Innocent Kid (100cp/Free SMA)
A real sweetheart that doesn't really fit in this place of insanity. Gullible, kind and compassionate, it's a wonder how the world has yet to taint them. They see you as an older, responsible figure and have a no small amount of admiration towards you. They come with the whole "Drop In" perk tree.

Drawbacks

Really? 1000cp aren't enough for you? Well, take more cp from this section, as much as you want.

Gynophobia (+100cp)
Maybe it was the years of abuse, maybe a hidden trauma from your childhood or maybe you were born that way. No matter the reason, you got an immense fear for the opposite sex, even with physical symptoms everytime you touch someone of the opposite sex. Can be taken twice to fear everyone. Hope you can grow from this.

Maltreated (100cp)
Everyone is now more prone to go physical with you, and I don't mean it in the good way. They take any action as an excuse to hit you or give you a bad time. Even those who love you act tsundereish towards you. Thankfully never goes lethal, but the doctors at the hospital may become to know you well after so many visits.

What a Cutie! (200cp)
There's no other way to say it, everyone sees you as prime relationship material and won't take a no for an answer. This wouldn't be so bad if being with someone already doesn't slow the others down. Or if they weren't down to anything to have you for themselves.

Loveless (+200cp)
It seems that it will be a lonely ten years for you. While friendship and other kind of relationships are doable, all your attempts at love will fail. Lovers will soon leave you, if they don't outright reject you. Not even companions are free from this. On the flipside, it will be only 10 years.

Anchored (+300cp)
Well, you aren't going anywhere soon. Whatever your initial location choice was (Earth of Seiren) you aren't leaving that planet for all your stay here. It doesn't seem too harsh, but some things may become complicated in the long run.

Jumper the Idol (+300cp)
Looks like some pervert got some embarrassing photos of you (totally not brought from me). You are determinate to not let anyone see them, whoever has the photos will make you do a lot of embarrassing or stupid errands for a year, until they release those photos. You can't kill your blackmailer, not until you got the photos, anyway.

Notes

-Made by Ricrod
-If you're unsure about something, Fanwank