Out of Context Toriko(Gourmet Cells) Supplement V2.0

By Dragoniaumz, Inspired By FutureMobile4 and Original Template by DeverosSphere

Intro

Welcome to the Gourmet Age.

There is a simple truth shared by every living thing.

Everything hungers.

Whether for food, power, knowledge, companionship, adventure, or something greater still, every desire is born from Appetite. In the world of Toriko, that desire is not merely metaphorical. It is a fundamental force of existence, older than the Gourmet Big Bang itself, giving rise to Gourmet Cells, Appetite Energy, Appetite Demons, and the endless cycle of evolution that drives all life.

This supplement allows you to carry that philosophy beyond the Gourmet World.

Rather than merely granting individual powers, this supplement introduces the biological, spiritual, and metaphysical systems that define Toriko itself. Gourmet Cells continuously evolve through experience and consumption. Appetite grows stronger the more relentlessly you pursue your desires. Legendary ingredients become catalysts for transformation. Every hunt, every meal, every discovery, and every hardship becomes another opportunity to surpass your previous limits.

Whether you choose to become a legendary Gourmet Hunter, an unrivaled Gourmet Chef, a master of Knocking, a miraculous Saiseiya, a pioneering Gourmet Researcher, or forge your own path entirely, the journey of evolution never truly ends.

Nor does it stop with Earth.

The Gourmet World was only one hunting ground among countless others. Beyond its skies lie worlds, dimensions, and cosmic ecosystems where planets become ingredients, stars are prepared as delicacies, and galaxies gather around the banquet tables of the Gourmet Gods. No matter where your journey takes you, there will always be greater ingredients to discover, stronger beings to challenge, and new horizons waiting beyond the next bite.

In the Gourmet Age, there is no such thing as reaching the end.

Only finding a greater Appetite.

+2000 CP

If this Supplement is instead taken as an Isolated Jump, you may select a setting of your choice, even if it doesn’t have a Jump Document, and use this document as a ten-year-long Jump.

Table of Contents

Intro..... 1
Origins..... 11
Tiered Perks..... 11
Discounts..... 11
Capstone Boosters..... 12
Booster Perks..... 12
The Gourmet Journey..... 12
Meta Perks..... 13
Gourmet Bank [400 CP]..... 13
Freedom of the Gourmet Path [400 CP]..... 14
The Entire Menu Is Mine [600 CP]..... 15
General Perks..... 16
The First Course..... 16
A Gourmet Hunter Eats Everything [Free]..... 17
Gourmet Appraisal [100 CP]..... 17
Gourmet Cells - Free / 100 / 100 / 100 / 200 / 200 [Or 500 CP For All]..... 18
Red Universe Cells [Free]..... 18
Blue Universe Cells [100 CP]..... 19
Green Universe Cells [100 CP]..... 19
Black Universe Cells [200 CP]..... 19
White Universe Cells [200 CP]..... 19
Multiple Universe Cells..... 19
Capstone Booster: Primordial Gourmet Cells..... 20
Appetite Energy (Tiered Perk) - Free / 100 / 200 / 400 / 600 CP..... 20
[Tier] Awakened Appetite [Free]..... 21
[Tier] Professional Gourmet Hunter [100 CP]..... 21
[Tier] Top One Hundred [200 CP]..... 21
[Tier] Heavenly King [400 Cp]..... 22
[Tier] Eight Kings / Acacia's Disciple [600 Cp]..... 22
Appetite Manifestation [100 CP Each / 500 CP for All]..... 22
Boosted: Perfect Appetite Manifestation..... 23
Gourmet Demons (Tiered Perk) Free / 100 / 200 / 400 / 600 CP..... 24
[Tier] Dormant Appetite [Free]..... 24
[Tier] Awakened Demon [100 CP]..... 25
[Tier] Perfect Partnership [200 CP]..... 25
[Tier] Complete Manifestation [400 CP]..... 25
[Tier] True Appetite Incarnation [600 CP]..... 25
Designing Your Gourmet Demon..... 26
Gourmet Luck (Tiered Perk) - Free / 100 / 200 / 400 / 600 CP..... 26
[Tier] Gourmet Fortune [Free]..... 26
[Tier] Hunter's Fortune [100 CP]..... 26
[Tier] Gourmet Destiny [200 CP]..... 27
[Tier] Miracle Appetite [400 CP]..... 27

[Tier] Gourmet Providence [600 CP]..... 27
Fortune Cannot Hunt You [400 CP]..... 28
Metaphysical Providence [600 CP]..... 29
The Endless Menu..... 29
Gourmet Adaptation (Tiered Perk) [100 / 200 / 400 / 600 CP]..... 30
[Tier] Adaptive Constitution [100 CP]..... 30
[Tier] Accelerated Evolution [200 CP]..... 30
[Tier] Supreme Resistance [400 CP]..... 31
[Tier] Infinite Evolution [600 CP]..... 31
Gourmet Potential (Tiered Perk) [100 / 200 / 400 / 600 CP]..... 32
[Tier] Promising Appetite [100 CP]..... 32
[Tier] Limit-Breaking Prodigy [200 CP]..... 32
[Tier] Monster Without a Ceiling [400 CP]..... 33
[Tier] Infinite Gourmet Potential [600 CP]..... 33
The Perfect Recovery Meal [200 CP]..... 34
Perfect Metabolism [100 CP]..... 35
Perfect Foundation [400 CP]..... 35
Adaptive Perfection [400 CP]..... 36
Gourmet Cell Activation [300 CP]..... 37
Cell Evolution [600 CP]..... 37
Boosted: Evolutionary Apex..... 39
Boosted: Foundation That Devours Its Flaws..... 39
Law of the Predator..... 40
Sovereign Cells [400 CP]..... 40
Sovereign Identity [400 CP]..... 40
Secret Recipe [400 CP]..... 41
The Course Grows Back [400 CP]..... 42
Hunt Your Own Evolution [600 CP]..... 43
Predator's Presence [100 CP]..... 43
Predator's Immunity [600 CP]..... 44
The Price of Holding a Predator..... 45
Boosted: Status Devourer..... 46
The Feast Is Not Yours [400 CP]..... 48
Beast That Outlived the Feast [200 / 400 / 600 CP]..... 49
Endless Years [200 CP]..... 49
Old Monster of a Thousand Feasts [400 CP]..... 50
Rampaging Gourmet Beast [600 CP]..... 51
Gift Without Chains [400 CP]..... 52
No Equal Portions [400 CP]..... 53
Boosted: The Food Chain Does Not Balance Itself..... 53
No Easy Prey [400 CP]..... 54
The Meal Returns to No One [400 CP]..... 54
Unfading Existence [400 CP]..... 55
Irreversible Course [600 CP]..... 56

Senses of the Gourmet World....57
Communion of Appetite [100 CP]....57
Gourmet Senses [100 CP Each / 400 CP for All]....58
Gourmet Nose [100 CP]....58
Gourmet Eyes [100 CP]....58
Gourmet Ears [100 CP]....59
Gourmet Touch [100 CP]....59
Gourmet Tongue [100 CP]....59
Boosted: Perfect Gourmet Senses....60
Natural Presence [400 CP]....61
Boosted: The Unseen Course....62
The Gourmet Path....63
Gourmet Genius (Tiered Perk) [100 / 200 / 400 / 600 / 800 CP]....63
[Tier] Gourmet Prodigy [100 CP]....64
[Tier] Heavenly Talent [200 CP]....64
[Tier] Gourmet Monster [400 CP]....65
[Tier] Full Course Genius [600 CP]....65
[Tier] Genius of the Endless Menu [800 CP]....66
Universal Application [200 CP]....67
Gourmet Tempo [400 CP]....68
Energy Is an Ingredient [400 CP]....68
Refined Gourmet Energy [400 CP]....69
Harmonization [300 CP]....70
Boosted: Higher Order Appetite....71
Boosted: The Meal Is Already Served....72
Food Honor [200 CP]....73
Boosted: Gourmet Energy Mastery....74
Food Immersion [100 CP]....74
Intuition [200 CP]....75
Perfect Food Honor [400 CP]....76
Boosted: Perfect Flow....77
Imitation [600 CP]....78
Boosted: Perfect Imitation....78
Boosted: The Infinite Curriculum....79
The Final Course [200 CP]....80
Boosted: Demon Devouring Demon....81
Boosted: Universal Assimilation....81
Arts of the Gourmet Kings....82
Enbu [200 CP]....82
Master Enbu [400 CP]....83
Ultimate Routine [400 CP]....84
Boosted: Instinct of the King....85
Weapon of the Gourmet King [400 CP]....86
The Knife Cuts What I Choose [200 CP]....86

Boosted: Monkey King's Dance..... 87
The Appetite Within.....88
Appetite Growth [200 CP].....88
Unyielding Appetite [400 CP]..... 88
Boosted: Endless Pursuit..... 89
Unbound Appetite [400 CP].....89
Boosted: Freedom Beyond Boundaries..... 90
Dreaming Appetite [400 CP].....90
Boosted: Bottomless Gourmet Fortune.....91
Boosted: Only One Original.....92
Boosted: No Second Serving..... 93
Boosted: Distributed Consciousness.....93
Distributed Weaknesses [200 CP].....94
One Appetite [600 CP]..... 94
Boosted: Absolute Appetite.....95
Boosted: Every Cell Has an Appetite..... 96
The Five Courses of the Self.....96
Flesh That Never Starves [400 CP].....97
Mind That Never Dulls [400 CP].....98
Soul That Never Thins [400 CP].....98
Appetite That Never Bows [400 CP].....99
Existence That Never Ends [600 CP].....100
Boosted: Perfect Vessel, Perfect Mind.....100
Boosted: Soul of an Unbroken Appetite..... 101
Boosted: One Beast, Every Form.....102
Boosted: The Self That Crosses Every World.....102
Boosted: One Continuous Full Course.....103
The World Becomes a Feast..... 104
The World Within [600 CP].....104
Gourmet Territory [600 CP]..... 105
Gourmet World Stabilization [600 CP].....106
The World Is a Kitchen [400 CP].....106
The Planet Wants to Feed You [600 CP].....107
Boosted: The Gourmet Big Bang Continues..... 108
No Accidental Extinction [400 CP].....109
Boosted: The Feast Is Yours..... 110
Inheritance of Acacia..... 111
Capstone Booster: Acacia's Successor [600 CP]..... 111
Perfect Fundamentals [600 CP]..... 112
Universal Understanding [400 CP]..... 113
Boosted: Omnidisciplinary Insight..... 114
Gourmet Memory [400 CP].....115
Boosted: Universal Mastery.....115
Boosted: Apex Predator's Law..... 116

Boosted: One With the World..... 117
Boosted: Feast Without Horizon..... 117
Acacia's Final Menu..... 118
Acacia's Full Course..... 119
Hors D'œuvre: CENTER [600 CP]..... 119
Soup: PAIR [400 CP]..... 120
Fish Dish: ANOTHER [500 CP]..... 120
Meat Dish: NEWS [600 CP]..... 121
Main Course: GOD [800 CP]..... 121
Salad: AIR [400 CP]..... 122
Dessert: EARTH [500 CP]..... 123
Drink: ATOM [500 CP]..... 123
Boosted: Perfect Full Course..... 124
Meta Booster: The Full Course You Always Carry..... 125
Boosted: Eternal Satisfaction..... 126
Boosted: Bottomless Full Course..... 127
Back Channel [200 CP]..... 128
Boosted: Full Course Territory..... 128
Boosted: Banquet of the Monkey King..... 129
Origin: Gourmet Hunter..... 130
Hunter's Instinct [100 CP]..... 131
Predator's Pursuit [200 CP]..... 131
Apex Hunter [400 CP]..... 132
Boosted: Feast of Predators..... 132
Full Course Partnership [500 CP]..... 133
Perfect Full Course Team..... 133
King of Hunters [600 CP]..... 134
Boosted: Divine Hunter..... 134
Origin: Chef..... 135
Perfect Preparation [100 CP]..... 135
Flavor Harmony [200 CP]..... 136
Legendary Chef [400 CP]..... 136
Boosted: Banquet of Miracles..... 137
Boosted: The Meal That Awakens..... 137
Kitchen of the World [500 CP]..... 138
Boosted: Perfect Banquet..... 139
Absolute Chef [600 CP]..... 139
Boosted: Divine Chef..... 140
Origin: Knocker..... 140
Rhythm of Life [100 CP]..... 141
Master of Knocking [200 CP]..... 141
Living Pulse [400 CP]..... 142
Boosted: Harmony of Life..... 142
Grand Knocking [500 CP]..... 143

Knocking the Calamity [200 CP]....143
Boosted: Eternal Rhythm.... 144
King of Knocking [600 CP].... 144
Boosted: Divine Knocking Master.... 145
Origin: Saiseiya....145
Miracle Medicine [100 CP].... 146
Restorative Arts [200 CP]....146
Master Saiseiya [400 CP]....147
Boosted: Garden of Life.... 147
Sanctuary of Life [500 CP].... 148
Saiseiya of the World [200 CP].... 148
Boosted: Eternal Restoration.... 149
King of Saiseiya [600 CP]....149
Boosted: Divine Saiseiya....150
Origin: Researcher....151
Endless Curiosity [100 CP]....151
Living Encyclopedia [200 CP]....152
Age of Discovery [400 CP].... 152
Boosted: Age of Innovation.... 153
Theory of Everything [500 CP].... 153
Boosted: Unified Knowledge.... 154
King of Researchers [600 CP]....154
Boosted: Divine Researcher....155
Origin: Craftsman....155
Master's Hands [100 CP].... 155
Living Materials [200 CP].... 156
Legendary Craftsman [400 CP]....156
Boosted: Living Masterpiece.... 157
Forge of Legends [500 CP].... 157
Boosted: Eternal Forge.... 158
Absolute Craftsman [600 CP]....158
Boosted: Divine Craftsman....159
Beyond the Gourmet World....159
Boosted: Cosmic Hunter.... 160
Boosted: Cosmic Chef....161
Boosted: Cosmic Knocking Master.... 161
Boosted: Cosmic Saiseiya....162
Boosted: Cosmic Researcher....163
Boosted: Cosmic Craftsman....164
Boosted: Ultimate Gourmet Evolution.... 165
Boosted: Absolute Freedom....166
Boosted: Beyond Observation....167
Boosted: Omniscient Appraisal.... 168
Boosted: Divine Appetite Incarnation.... 169

Gourmet God(dess) [Ultimate Capstone]..... 170
Split Requirements..... 170
Gourmet Techniques..... 171
Signature Technique [50 CP]..... 171
Signature Style [100 CP]..... 171
Legendary Technique [200 CP]..... 172
Gourmet Arts [400 CP]..... 172
Items..... 172
Gourmet Knife (Tiered Item) 50 / 100 / 200 / 400 CP..... 173
Gourmet Cookware (Tiered Item) 50 / 100 / 200 / 400 CP..... 173
Golden Gourmet Equipment 600 CP..... 174
Gourmet Hunter Gear (Tiered Item) 100 / 200 / 400 CP..... 175
Gourmet Knocking Kit (Tiered Item) 100 / 200 / 400 / 600 CP..... 175
Restoration Satchel (Tiered Item) 50 / 100 / 200 / 400 CP..... 176
Research Archive (Tiered Item) 50 / 100 / 200 / 400 CP..... 176
Craftsman's Field Kit (Tiered Item) 50 / 100 / 200 / 400 CP..... 177
Endless Material Mine (Tiered Item) 100 / 200 / 400 / 600 CP..... 177
Endless Cure Water [400 CP]..... 178
Gourmet Laboratory (Tiered Item) 100 / 200 / 400 / 600 CP..... 179
Melk Workshop (Tiered Item) 100 / 200 / 400 / 600 CP..... 179
Craftsman's Material Vault (Tiered Item) 50 / 100 / 200 / 400 / 600 CP..... 180
Gourmet Restaurant (Tiered Item) 100 / 200 / 400 / 600 CP..... 181
Gourmet Farm (Tiered Item) 100 / 200 / 400 / 600 CP..... 181
Gourmet Sanctuary (Tiered Item) 200 / 400 / 600 CP..... 182
Life Island (Tiered Item) 200 / 400 / 600 / 800 CP..... 182
Gourmet Dimension (Tiered Item) 400 / 600 CP..... 183
Farland of the Gourmet Gods [800 CP]..... 183
Personal Full Course Menu (Tiered Item) 100 / 200 / 400 / 600 CP..... 185
Gourmet Cell Bank (Tiered Item) 200 / 400 / 600 CP..... 185
Gourmet Library (Tiered Item) 100 / 200 / 400 / 600 CP..... 186
Gourmet Encyclopedia (Tiered Item) 100 / 200 / 400 / 600 CP..... 187
Gourmet Cookbook (Tiered Item) [100/200/400/600 CP]..... 188
Gourmet Aquarium (Tiered Item) 100 / 200 / 400 / 600 CP..... 190
Ingredient Reserve (Tiered Item) Pantry Tier [50 CP] / Storehouse Tier [100 CP] / Warehouse Tier [200 CP] / Estate Tier [400 CP] / World Tier [600 CP] / Farthest Land Tier..... 191
50 CP: Pantry Tier..... 191
100 CP: Storehouse Tier..... 191
200 CP: Warehouse Tier..... 192
400 CP: Estate Tier..... 192
600 CP: World Tier..... 192
Farthest Land Tier (Requires: 600 CP: World Tier + Any Cosmic Origin)..... 192
Bacchus Sea (Tiered Item) 100 / 200 / 400 / 600 / Cosmic..... 192
100 CP: Island Tier..... 193

200 CP: Planet Tier..... 193
400 CP: Star Tier..... 193
600 CP: Gourmet Galaxy Tier..... 193
Farthest Land Tier (Requires: 600 CP: Gourmet Galaxy Tier + Any Cosmic Origin).... 193
Gourmet Ingredient Vault (Tiered Item) 100 / 200 / 400 CP..... 193
Gourmet Technology Suite (Tiered Item) [100 / 200 / 400 / 600 CP]..... 194
100 CP: Personal GT Robot..... 194
200 CP: Advanced GT Robot..... 194
400 CP: Gourmet Technology Arsenal..... 195
600 CP: Living Gourmet Technology..... 196
Camping Monster [100 / 200 / 400 / 600 CP]..... 197
100 CP: Traveling Camp..... 197
200 CP: Gourmet Caravan..... 197
400 CP: Gourmet World Camp..... 198
600 CP: Wandering Gourmet World..... 198
Gourmet Seed Vault..... 199
Gourmet Hunting Grounds (Tiered Item) 100 / 200 / 400 / 600 CP..... 199
Gourmet Biotope (Tiered Item) 100 / 200 / 400 / 600 CP..... 200
Gourmet Beast Companion (Tiered Item) 100 / 200 / 400 / 600 CP..... 200
Drawbacks:..... 201
Empty Stomach..... 202
Gourmet Addiction..... 202
Bottomless Hunger..... 202
Appetite Rampage..... 202
It cannot permanently possess you or remove your free will, but mastering this inner hunger becomes a challenge every bit as difficult as mastering your own power..... 203
Dormant Potential..... 203
Unstable Evolution..... 203
Silent Partner..... 204
Ravenous Partner..... 204
Hunted..... 204
Rare Delicacy..... 205
Apex Territory..... 205
Wanted..... 206
Most Wanted..... 206
Public Enemy..... 206
World's Deadliest Frontier..... 207
Survival of the Fittest..... 207
Nature's Challenge..... 207
No Shortcuts..... 208
Forgotten Masterpieces..... 208
Twisted Fortune..... 208
Balance Demands Payment..... 209

Eternal Rival....209
The Next Acacia....209
Native of This World....210
Rival Gourmets....210
Legendary Gourmets....211
Gourmet God's Amusement....212
Divine Interference....212
Rogue Appetite Demons....212
Gourmet Cell Clone....213
Annual Catastrophe....213
Twelve Legendary Ingredients....214
Local Scale....214
Hostile Appetite Demon....214
Gourmet Cell Instability....215
Poisoned Appetite....215
Endless Hunger....216
One of the Eight Kings Notices You....216
Acacia's Legacy....216
Scenarios....217
Scenario: The Road to Gourmet Divinity....217
Taking the Scenario....217
Gourmet Divinity Credits....218
Trial of the Gourmet Hunter....219
Reward: Hunter's Divinity....219
Trial of the Gourmet Chef....219
Reward: Chef's Divinity....220
Trial of the Knocking Master....220
Reward: Knocking Divinity....220
Trial of the Saiseiya....220
Reward: Saiseiya Divinity....221
Trial of the Gourmet Researcher....221
Reward: Researcher's Divinity....221
Trial of the Gourmet Craftsman....222
Reward: Craftsman's Divinity....222
Trial of the Perfect Full Course....222
Reward: The Price of the Full Course....223
Final Trial: The Banquet of Ascension....223
Final Reward: Earned Divinity....224
Scenario Completion....225
Notes....226
V4.3 Wip....226
Major Rework: Gourmet God(dess)....227
Scenario Added....230
V1.3....230

V2.0 232
Major Expansion and Rewrite Since V1.3 232

Origins

Choose one Origin.

Your Origin determines your discounted Perks and Items while reflecting the profession that shaped your life before the Jump began.

Origins are not restrictions. Every profession may eventually learn from every other profession, though true mastery naturally requires dedication.

The available Origins are:

- Gourmet Hunter
- Gourmet Chef
- Knocker
- Saiseiya
- Researcher
- Craftsman

Tiered Perks

Perks and items that list multiple prices are tiered purchases. The named entries beneath them represent the individual tiers. Purchasing a higher tier automatically grants every lower tier unless explicitly stated otherwise.

Discounts

Each Origin provides a 50% discount on all of its associated Perks and Items.

Each Origin also grants its associated 100 CP Perk for free. This counts as purchasing the Perk for the purpose of meeting prerequisites.

In addition, every Jumper may choose one 100 CP Perk, one 200 CP Perk, one 400 CP Perk, and one 600 CP Perk from among the General Perks at no cost. These free purchases also count as having been purchased normally for prerequisites and similar requirements.

General Perks, General Items, Drawbacks, Scenarios, and Meta Perks are available regardless of Origin unless otherwise stated.

Unless a Perk or Item explicitly states otherwise, it may only be purchased once.

Purchasing a higher tier of a tiered Perk or Item automatically grants every lower tier unless otherwise stated.

Capstone Boosters

Some Perks are marked as Capstone Boosters

Rather than granting new abilities outright, these Perks elevate compatible abilities to their highest potential, unlocking new applications, removing previous limitations, and allowing multiple Perks to evolve together.

A single Perk may benefit from multiple Capstone Boosters if it meets all listed requirements.

Booster Perks

Some Perks are marked as Booster Perks with the Boosted:

Unlike ordinary Perks, Booster Perks cannot be purchased on their own. Instead, they represent the natural evolution created by combining two or more complementary abilities.

To purchase a Booster Perk, you must first own every listed prerequisite.
There is Requires: just under the Perk Name/Title.

For example:

Boosted: Perfect Flow

Requires: Food Honor, Food Immersion & Intuition

Boosted Perks build upon the strengths of their prerequisite Perks rather than replacing them, often unlocking entirely new applications or combining their abilities into something greater than either could achieve alone.

Unless explicitly stated otherwise, all listed requirements must be purchased before a Booster Perk becomes available.

The Gourmet Journey

Toriko is a setting built upon continuous growth.

Very few abilities within this supplement possess fixed ceilings. Training, experience, extraordinary ingredients, and the pursuit of your Appetite naturally improve almost every aspect of yourself throughout your journey.

Many Perks continue evolving long after they are purchased, while others gain entirely new applications through practice or by combining them with additional Perks.

The greatest rewards belong not to those who seek the quickest path, but to those willing to continue exploring.

For there is always another ingredient waiting beyond the horizon.

Meta Perks

Some rewards transcend individual worlds.

Unlike ordinary Perks and Items, Meta Perks are not tied to any single setting. Instead, they affect your Chain itself, altering how future Jumps, Supplements, and other fiat-backed documents interact with one another.

Unless otherwise stated, Meta Perks remain active throughout your entire Chain, applying before, during, and after every Jump. They may interact with any compatible Jump, Supplement, Scenario, Gauntlet, or other fiat-backed content, regardless of its origin.

Meta Perks never invalidate the rules of a Jump. They instead provide new options, improve long-term progression, or allow your journey to grow in ways that extend beyond any single world.

After all, the greatest Gourmet Hunters never think only about their next meal.

They prepare for every feast yet to come.

Gourmet Bank [400 CP]

Meta Perk

Not every investment should be spent immediately.

You gain a personal Gourmet Bank that exists independently of any individual Jump, Supplement, or Chain.

Any unspent CP at the end of Character Creation or upon successfully completing a Jump is automatically deposited into this Bank instead of being lost. You may also voluntarily deposit CP during Character Creation for later use.

At the beginning of each new Jump, your Bank generates additional funds equal to 5% of its current balance. This return permanently increases by 1% for every Jump you successfully complete, allowing your investments to steadily grow alongside your journey.

All fiat-backed purchase currencies are treated as interchangeable within your Bank. Whenever CP, SP, BP, RP, GP, FP, Tokens, Karma, Favor, Credits, Souls, or any other equivalent fiat-backed purchase currency is deposited, it is automatically converted into a single universal Bank balance. Whenever funds are withdrawn, they are seamlessly converted into whatever legitimate purchase currency is required by the destination Jump, Supplement, or Meta document.

Exchange rates are always perfectly fair. One point of purchasing power always becomes one point of purchasing power, regardless of the name, format, or origin of the original currency.

Banked funds may be freely withdrawn at any time to purchase any Perk, Item, Companion option, Property, Scenario Reward, or other fiat-backed purchase from any Jump you have already completed, provided you could have legally purchased it. All original prerequisites, restrictions, discounts, purchase limits, scenario requirements, and other purchasing conditions still apply.

Banked funds may also be freely transferred between any of your completed Jumps. Currency earned, saved, refunded, or deposited from one Jump is never tied to that document and may instead be spent on any other completed Jump as though it had always belonged there.

Likewise, should a previously completed Jump later receive new content, revisions, or updates, you may spend Banked funds to purchase any newly added options for which you now qualify.

You may freely deposit or withdraw funds whenever fiat-backed currency would normally be gained, spent, refunded, or exchanged, allowing the Gourmet Bank to function seamlessly alongside any Jump, Supplement, or Meta document.

Your Gourmet Bank has no physical, spiritual, dimensional, conceptual, or metaphysical existence to interact with. It is a fiat-backed ledger rather than a location, existing independently of all worlds, realities, timelines, dimensions, and Chains. As such, it cannot be stolen, copied, destroyed, sealed, altered, counterfeited, detected, or otherwise interfered with by any outside force unless you willingly allow it.

A wise Gourmet never wastes a valuable ingredient. Neither do you waste a single point.

Freedom of the Gourmet Path [400 CP]

Meta Perk

A Gourmet Hunter does not abandon an ingredient because someone wrote the wrong profession beside their name.

Across future Jumps, Supplements, and compatible Chain documents, an option being restricted solely because you did not select a particular Origin, Background, Race, Faction, Class, profession, or equivalent Character Creation category does not by itself prevent you from purchasing it.

You must still pay its legitimate price and satisfy every substantive prerequisite attached to the purchase. Required Perks, Items, abilities, Scenario completions, achievements, compatibility conditions, mutually exclusive metaphysical states, and other genuine requirements remain unless another ability legitimately resolves them.

This does not automatically grant another Origin's discounts, freebies, stipends, starting resources, narrative position, memories, relationships, or other benefits. It also does not remove mandatory Drawbacks attached directly to the individual purchase or bypass restrictions whose exclusivity represents something more substantial than a Character Creation label.

If the only thing stopping you from buying something is effectively "wrong Origin", that restriction no longer closes the menu.

Your Origin may describe where your Gourmet journey began. It does not decide which courses you are allowed to pursue.

The Entire Menu Is Mine [600 CP]

Meta Perk

A true Gourmet never accepts being told that two courses cannot be served at the same table.

Across future Jumps, Supplements, Scenarios, Gauntlets, and other compatible Chain documents, you may select, purchase, earn, retain, or develop multiple options that would normally be mutually exclusive, provided you individually satisfy their legitimate requirements and pay their normal costs.

If a document says "choose one", you may choose more than one.

Hero and Demon Lord. Light and Dark. Holy and Demonic. Mortal and Immortal. Rival factions. Contradictory classes. Incompatible bloodlines. Opposing supernatural alignments. Exclusive evolutions. Competing destinies. Normally impossible combinations may all coexist within you.

Each choice remains genuine.

Light does not become fake Light because you also possess Darkness. A Hero path does not stop being heroic because you also qualify as a Demon King. Two conflicting bloodlines do not automatically overwrite one another. Opposing transformations, metaphysical states, classes, titles, and evolutionary paths remain fully real unless you deliberately combine or alter them through another ability.

This applies both during Character Creation and afterward. Becoming one state does not permanently close another path merely because canon or the document says the two cannot coexist.

You must still earn every course separately. CP costs, Perk prerequisites, Items, quests, achievements, training, sacrifices, materials, transformations, Scenario completions, and other substantive requirements remain. This Perk removes exclusivity, not effort.

It also does not duplicate truly singular objects or positions. If only one specific sword physically exists, this does not create a second copy. But qualifications, powers, titles, paths, transformations, fiat purchases, rewards, and similar personal options may coexist when the only barrier is mutual exclusivity.

When multiple choices would normally force the setting to pick one narrative route, reality adjusts by the minimum amount necessary to recognize you as an exception. You may belong to rival factions, satisfy opposing prophecies, or hold contradictory supernatural statuses without one being declared invalid merely to restore the original script.

You decide whether incompatible systems remain separate, interact, or are later harmonized through other abilities. The Entire Menu Is Mine does not forcibly fuse them.

If another Meta ability allows later or retroactive purchases, this Perk also applies whenever mutual exclusivity would otherwise be the only reason that purchase could not be made.

The menu may say appetizer or dessert, Hero or Demon King, Light or Dark. Your Appetite answers with a simpler choice: all of them.

General Perks

The Gourmet Path is larger than any single profession.

These Perks represent the foundations shared by Hunters, Chefs, Knockers, Saiseiya, Researchers, Craftsmen, and every other person willing to pursue their Appetite beyond ordinary limits. Gourmet Cells, evolution, instinct, mastery, survival, and the endless desire to improve all begin here.

No matter which course you choose first, every path eventually returns to the same table.

The First Course

Every Gourmet journey begins with hunger.

These Perks establish the fundamental forces of the Gourmet World: Gourmet Cells, Appetite Energy, Gourmet Demons, Gourmet Luck, and the instincts that allow extraordinary beings to survive what should have killed them.

Before becoming a legend, you must first learn what kind of creature is sitting at the table.

A Gourmet Hunter Eats Everything [Free]

The Gourmet World contains ingredients that scream, crawl, stink, wriggle, ferment, explode, or look like they should never have entered a kitchen.

To you, food is food.

Anything genuinely edible to your current biology can be eaten without involuntary disgust, gagging, texture aversion, loss of appetite, or psychological revulsion preventing you from enjoying the meal. Slime, insects, alien organs, bizarre fermentation, raw monster flesh, living dishes, and cuisines completely foreign to your upbringing are all fair game.

You still possess standards. You can recognize awful cooking, rotten flavor, terrible texture, or an ingredient you simply dislike. You are not forced to enjoy everything.

This also provides no protection against poison, disease, parasites, curses, or other genuine hazards contained within the meal.

It simply ensures that appearances never stop a Gourmet from tasting a potentially legendary ingredient.

A Gourmet Hunter does not ask whether it looks edible. They ask how it should be prepared.

Gourmet Appraisal [100 CP]

In the Gourmet World, strength is not one number.

You instinctively perceive two separate measures of any creature, ingredient, object, environment, or phenomenon you can meaningfully evaluate.

Cell Level measures intrinsic development: body, mind, soul, Gourmet Cells, Appetite, internal energies, regeneration, senses, supernatural output, resistances, and other qualities that are genuinely part of the being itself.

Capture Level measures how difficult the target actually is to confront, capture, defeat, survive, prepare, or overcome after techniques, equipment, transformations, intelligence, environmental advantages, regeneration, preparation, special abilities, and similar factors are included.

A being might possess Cell Level 12,000 but an effective Capture Level 18,500 because of exceptional techniques, weapons, domains, preparation, or unusual hax. Another creature may have an enormous raw Cell Level but a lower Capture Level if it lacks skill or useful abilities.

The appraisal is intuitive rather than a floating game interface unless you want one. You may read approximate values, compare specific qualities, and understand what is raising or lowering the final Capture Level.

You can also focus on individual traits such as strength, speed, durability, Gourmet Energy, Appetite, regeneration, soul strength, perception, intelligence, resistance, or supernatural output.

Cell Level has no fixed maximum. As your complete existence genuinely develops, the number rises because the creature itself has become greater, not because an arbitrary statistic has increased.

Capture Level may rise even faster when superior techniques, equipment, territory, preparation, or circumstances make you more dangerous than your raw development alone would suggest.

Cell Level tells you how great the ingredient has become. Capture Level tells you how dangerous the hunt will be.

Language of the Feast [100 CP]

Every civilization eventually develops its own way of describing the feast.

You can speak, understand, read, and write every genuine language you encounter, including living, dead, ancient, alien, magical, spiritual, artificial, and otherwise unconventional languages.

Unknown scripts, alphabets, symbols, grammar, pronunciation, idioms, and cultural meanings become naturally understandable, and you can express yourself with the fluency of an educated native speaker.

This extends to languages communicated through signs, scent, color, telepathy, energy patterns, supernatural symbols, or other meaningful forms of communication your senses can perceive.

Ancient texts and forgotten languages, therefore, present no linguistic barrier. If you discovered a cookbook within the Gourmet Pyramid, you could read, understand, translate, and reproduce its writing normally.

This does not automatically reveal deliberately encrypted information, hidden codes, or knowledge that was never actually encoded in the message, at least not at first glance. An unfamiliar language is understood immediately, while deliberate encryption, ciphers, coded symbolism, and intentionally obscured meanings still require actual analysis. However, because you perfectly understand the underlying language, structure, grammar, symbols, and intended forms of communication, deciphering such concealment becomes dramatically easier, and sufficient study can reveal anything that can genuinely be decoded from the information present.

No recipe is lost merely because the chef who wrote it spoke another tongue.

Gourmet Cells - Free / 100 / 100 / 100 / 200 / 200 [Or 500 CP For All]

Mandatory: Purchase at least one Universe Cell.

Everything in the Gourmet Universe begins with Gourmet Cells.

Born from the five primordial universes that existed before the Gourmet Big Bang, these miraculous cells possess limitless evolutionary potential. They continuously adapt through what you consume, survive, create, and accomplish, with every permanent improvement becoming the foundation for future growth.

Your Gourmet Cells are perfectly integrated with your body, soul, race, and every future form you acquire. They evolve through food, training, combat, cooking, craftsmanship, healing, research, and every sincere pursuit of your Appetite.

Initially, they primarily evolve through food. As they mature, they learn to safely digest other forms of nourishment, eventually treating Mana, Ki, Chakra, Spiritual Power, Divine Energy, Life Force, magical substances, and similar energies as ingredients.

Choose one Universe Cell. Additional Universe Cells may be purchased separately, with each permanently integrating into your existing Gourmet Cells.

Red Universe Cells [Free]

The balanced cells of the Red Universe, home of Gourmet Earth.

They excel equally in physical growth, Gourmet Energy, adaptation, and long-term evolution, making them the ideal foundation for any build.

These are the Gourmet Cells possessed by most Gourmet Hunters and the origin of Toriko's Red Ogre.

Blue Universe Cells [100 CP]

The cells of the long-devoured Blue Universe.

They dramatically increase the generation, storage, recovery, circulation, and efficiency of Gourmet Energy, making them ideal for techniques requiring immense reserves.

These are the cells from which Toriko's Blue Demon originated.

Green Universe Cells [100 CP]

The harmonious cells of the Green Universe.

They specialize in adaptation, precision, sensory perception, biological control, environmental compatibility, and the efficient use of every resource available to you.

Black Universe Cells [200 CP]

The primordial cells of the Black Universe.

They embody endless Appetite, instinctively treating compatible matter, energy, techniques, bloodlines, and biological traits as nourishment for further evolution. Whenever multiple paths of growth exist, they naturally favor the one producing the greatest increase in power.

White Universe Cells [200 CP]

The primordial cells of the White Universe.

They embody perfect integration. Compatible evolutions harmonize instead of conflicting, while resistance to corruption, degeneration, hostile mutation, and cellular manipulation increases dramatically. Whenever multiple paths exist, they naturally favor the most complete and stable evolution.

Multiple Universe Cells

Universe Cells are fully compatible with one another.

Purchasing an additional Universe Cell permanently integrates it into your existing Gourmet Cells rather than replacing them. Each new Universe Cell retains its own strengths while naturally harmonizing with every other one you possess, allowing them to reinforce and evolve together.

For example:

- Red + Blue combines balanced evolution with immense Gourmet Energy reserves.
- Red + Green produces a body that adapts efficiently while maintaining exceptional long-term stability.
- Blue + Black allows overwhelming Gourmet Energy to continuously fuel rapid evolution through consumption.
- Green + White creates an organism capable of integrating new adaptations with extraordinary precision and stability.
- Black + White balances endless consumption with perfect integration, allowing you to devour compatible forms of growth without sacrificing biological stability.
- Red + Blue + Green creates an exceptionally balanced foundation, combining physical evolution, efficient energy usage, environmental adaptation, and refined biological control.
- Red + Black + White balances limitless evolution with the wisdom to integrate only the most beneficial changes.
- Blue + Green + Black continuously converts vast amounts of Gourmet Energy into adaptive evolution.
- Blue + White creates an organism whose immense energy reserves are used with exceptional efficiency while remaining remarkably stable.
- Green + Black + White creates a body that rapidly adapts, perfectly integrates new traits, and instinctively avoids harmful or unstable mutations.

Every additional Universe Cell increases the number of possible interactions, causing your Gourmet Cells to become steadily more complete.

The true strength of Gourmet Cells lies not in following a single philosophy of evolution, but in ultimately uniting them all. Those who acquire every Universe Cell awaken Primordial Gourmet Cells, returning their evolution to its original, complete form.

Capstone Booster: Primordial Gourmet Cells

Requires: Every Universe Cell.

Before the five universes separated, there existed only one complete form of Gourmet Cell.

By uniting every Universe Cell, your Gourmet Cells return to that primordial state, combining the balance of Red, the reserves of Blue, the harmony of Green, the appetite of Black, and the perfection of White into a single unified whole.

Your Gourmet Cells instinctively determine the optimal method of evolution for every situation, knowing when to adapt, integrate, preserve, or consume. Every future biological improvement is automatically refined before becoming part of you, then spreads efficiently throughout your entire existence.

Learning, adaptation, regeneration, compatibility, and evolutionary potential increase dramatically while conflicts between biological systems become exceedingly rare.

This perk counts as a Capstone Booster for compatible perks throughout this supplement.

Appetite Energy (Tiered Perk) - Free / 100 / 200 / 400 / 600 CP

Everything that lives possesses an Appetite.

Whether it is the desire to eat, survive, protect, create, learn, or continue growing, every living thing is driven by an Appetite. From this desire is born Appetite Energy, also known as Gourmet Energy, the primordial energy of the universe itself.

Older than the Gourmet Big Bang, Gourmet Energy is the source of Gourmet Cells, Appetite Demons, and every Gourmet technique.

This perk determines both the quantity and mastery of your Gourmet Energy.

Tiered Purchases: Some perks, items, properties, and other purchases are bought in tiers. Each purchase includes all previous tiers. Purchasing a higher tier automatically grants every lower tier unless otherwise stated.

[Tier] Awakened Appetite [Free]

Your Appetite has awakened.

Gourmet Energy continuously reinforces your body, Gourmet Cells, instincts, and vitality while naturally recovering through food, rest, and the pursuit of your Appetite.

Although you cannot consciously manipulate Gourmet Energy, it constantly strengthens every aspect of your existence.

[Tier] Professional Gourmet Hunter [100 CP]

Your reserves and control increase considerably.

You may consciously reinforce your body, greatly enhancing strength, speed, endurance, senses, and resilience while maintaining these enhancements far longer than ordinary hunters.

Pain, exhaustion, fear, and similar limitations become much easier to overcome through sheer determination.

[Tier] Top One Hundred [200 CP]

Your Gourmet Energy rivals the greatest Gourmet Hunters.

Its quantity, quality, recovery, and efficiency improve dramatically, continuously strengthening your body while naturally protecting your mind and spirit against fear, despair, and intimidation.

Your presence alone begins exerting instinctive pressure upon weaker creatures.

Although still primarily internal, your mastery has reached an exceptional level.

[Tier] Heavenly King [400 Cp]

Your Appetite rivals one of the Four Heavenly Kings.

Gourmet Energy may now freely exist outside your body, allowing you to create weapons, armor, tools, barriers, autonomous techniques, and countless other manifestations.

You instinctively understand how to develop legendary techniques such as Knife, Fork, Flying Fork, Fork Shield, Nail Punch, Leg Boomerang, and countless original techniques of your own.

You may reinforce or temporarily mutate parts of your body while your Appetite becomes tangible enough for others to physically feel your overwhelming will.

[Tier] Eight Kings / Acacia's Disciple [600 Cp]

Your Appetite has reached one of the greatest heights ever attained by mortal life.

Comparable to the Eight Kings, Acacia's disciples, and the greatest predators in history, every cell of your body overflows with Gourmet Energy.

Your mastery rivals legends such as Ichiryu, Jiro, and Midora. Gourmet Energy may now take virtually any form your imagination and skill allow, including living techniques, autonomous constructs, predatory beasts, abstract manifestations, weapons, barriers, tools, and countless original creations.

You possess the mastery required to perform legendary techniques such as Dinner of Kings, Minority World (where applicable), Chopsticks, Rising Wolf Guinness Punch, or to create techniques worthy of standing beside them.

Your Gourmet Energy naturally harmonizes with every compatible energy system you possess, allowing them to grow together while preserving their unique strengths.

Your overwhelming Appetite becomes a force of nature, capable of suppressing weaker manifestations of Gourmet Energy and causing vastly weaker creatures to instinctively lose the will to oppose you.

Finally, your Gourmet Energy has reached the level required to safely inherit Acacia's Successor.

Appetite Manifestation [100 CP Each / 500 CP for All]

Appetite Energy is more than power.

It is the physical expression of your Appetite, capable of taking on countless forms while remaining fundamentally Appetite Energy.

Each purchase teaches you to shape your Appetite Energy into one compatible manifestation of your choice, such as flames, lightning, water, wind, ice, earth, light, darkness, crystal, metal, mist, sound, threads, plants, gravity, or another compatible phenomenon.

Unlike ordinary elements, these manifestations remain pure Appetite Energy. They possess all the normal properties of your Appetite while expressing the qualities of their chosen form. They cannot be permanently extinguished, dispersed, absorbed, suppressed, or controlled merely because they resemble natural elements.

Each manifestation naturally excels at both combat and creation. An Appetite Flame may cook, forge, purify, refine, heal, or destroy. Appetite Lightning may stimulate Gourmet Cells, engrave materials, or power machinery. Appetite Water may preserve, ferment, cleanse, nourish, or restore. Every manifestation continually develops new applications as your mastery of Appetite grows.

Each manifestation is an extension of yourself, responding as naturally as moving a limb. You instinctively know how to shape, compress, expand, refine, and manipulate it with perfect precision, allowing it to become uniquely yours.

This perk may be purchased up to five times. Each purchase grants one different compatible Appetite Manifestation of your choice. Purchasing it for the fifth time grants complete mastery over Appetite Manifestation, allowing you to freely manifest your Appetite Energy as any compatible phenomenon and unlocking Perfect Appetite Manifestation.

Boosted: Perfect Appetite Manifestation

Requires: Five Purchases of Appetite Manifestation.

You have mastered the art of giving form to your Appetite.

The manifestations you have learned cease being individual techniques and instead become different expressions of the same limitless Appetite. You may freely shift between them, merge them together, or create entirely new compatible manifestations without additional purchases. Every new manifestation is instinctively understood and refined as your knowledge of Appetite grows.

Every manifestation automatically adapts itself to your purpose. A flame intended for cooking becomes the perfect culinary flame. The same flame used for forging becomes the ideal smithing fire. Used for healing, it becomes a gentle restorative flame. Every manifestation naturally expresses the ideal qualities for hunting, cooking, Knocking, Saisei, craftsmanship, research, cultivation, construction, or combat without requiring separate techniques.

Your Appetite is no longer confined to your hands or even your body. You may manifest and channel your Appetite through any part of yourself or any compatible extension of yourself, including your hair, breath, voice, blood, aura, shadows, clothing, equipment, weapons, tools, constructs, creations, and similar mediums. These become natural conduits for your Appetite, responding with the same precision and control as your own body.

Likewise, your compatible powers, techniques, spells, skills, perks, and abilities are no longer restricted to their original methods of expression. Whenever reasonable, you may express them through any part of your body or any compatible extension of yourself. You may perceive through your hair as though every strand were a fingertip, project techniques through your voice, release healing through your breath, channel attacks through your tools, or wield your abilities through your aura, shadow, weapons, or creations. If there is a logical way for an ability to be expressed, you instinctively know how.

Your manifestations also inherit the qualities of the medium through which they are expressed. Appetite carried through your voice may resonate as sound, through your hair may grant each strand extraordinary precision and sensation, through a weapon may become one with its edge, through your aura may permeate your surroundings, or through your creations may permanently empower them. As your mastery grows, you continually discover new and more refined methods of expression.

No longer are you merely shaping Appetite Energy.

Your Appetite itself has become the medium through which every compatible power you possess may be expressed, allowing your entire arsenal to evolve into techniques that are uniquely and unmistakably your own.

Gourmet Demons (Tiered Perk) Free / 100 / 200 / 400 / 600 CP

Every Gourmet Cell possesses an Appetite.

When enough Gourmet Cells gather, that Appetite may awaken as a Gourmet Demon, a living embodiment of your instincts, desires, and potential. Neither wholly biological nor entirely spiritual, a Gourmet Demon grows alongside its host, becoming stronger as your Appetite evolves.

Your Gourmet Demon naturally reflects your personality, experiences, and Appetite, though it remains an individual with its own appearance, thoughts, and temperament. It may be monstrous, humanoid, divine, mechanical, abstract, or anything in between.

Tiered Purchases: Some perks, items, properties, and other purchases are bought in tiers. Each purchase includes all previous tiers. Purchasing a higher tier automatically grants every lower tier unless otherwise stated.

[Tier] Dormant Appetite [Free]

A Gourmet Demon sleeps within you.

Though not yet awake, it quietly guides your evolution, subtly improving your compatibility with Gourmet Cells, Appetite Energy, and future growth. As your Appetite develops, so too does your Demon.

You may freely design your Demon's appearance, personality, and the form it will eventually take.

[Tier] Awakened Demon [100 CP]

Your Gourmet Demon has awakened.

It may communicate with you, share its instincts, offer guidance, and lend you a portion of its strength. Likewise, it benefits from your own experiences, gradually growing alongside you.

Although an independent intelligence, it is naturally loyal to your shared Appetite and cannot betray you without extraordinary outside interference.

[Tier] Perfect Partnership [200 CP]

Your bond has become complete.

You and your Gourmet Demon freely share senses, memories, Gourmet Energy, techniques, and understanding. Either of you may temporarily guide the other's actions with complete trust, while growth achieved by one naturally strengthens the other.

Your Gourmet Demon may also partially manifest outside your body for brief periods.

[Tier] Complete Manifestation [400 CP]

Your Gourmet Demon has become a complete combat partner.

It may fully manifest independently, merge with your body, or freely shift between both states. While manifested, it possesses physical abilities, Gourmet Energy, and techniques comparable to your own, developing its own fighting style while remaining perfectly synchronized with you.

Together, you may perform techniques neither of you could achieve alone.

[Tier] True Appetite Incarnation [600 CP]

Your Gourmet Demon has reached the level of the greatest Appetite Demons in history.

Like the Red Ogre, Blue Demon, White Demon, Don Slime, and Neo, it has become a complete lifeform while remaining perfectly united with your Appetite.

Either of you may exist independently or merge into a single perfected being. Knowledge, Gourmet Cells, Gourmet Energy, techniques, memories, and evolution are continuously shared, ensuring neither can permanently surpass the other.

Whenever one learns, evolves, or grows stronger, the other gradually gains the same benefit. Your Gourmet Demon also develops its own personality, creativity, techniques, and understanding, allowing it to continue growing even while acting independently.

You are no longer a host and a demon.

You are two complete beings sharing one Appetite.

Designing Your Gourmet Demon

Your Gourmet Demon is entirely your own.

Its appearance, personality, species, abilities, and mannerisms are yours to determine, provided they broadly reflect your Appetite and remain appropriate for your current level of development. As your Appetite grows, your Gourmet Demon naturally evolves alongside you, often changing its appearance and abilities to reflect your continued evolution.

Gourmet Luck (Tiered Perk) - Free / 100 / 200 / 400 / 600 CP

The Gourmet World is filled with impossible coincidences.

Hunters stumble upon legendary ingredients by chance. Long-lost recipes appear at the perfect moment. Prey wanders into the path of those destined to catch it. Entire journeys are shaped by what can only be called luck.

Whether it is fate, the will of Gourmet Cells, or the Appetite of the universe itself, fortune favors those with a powerful Appetite.

This perk determines how strongly that fortune favors you.

Tiered Purchases: Some perks, items, properties, and other purchases are bought in tiers. Each purchase includes all previous tiers. Purchasing a higher tier automatically grants every lower tier unless otherwise stated.

[Tier] Gourmet Fortune [Free]

Fortune smiles upon you.

Minor coincidences occur more often than they should. You rarely miss opportunities through simple bad luck, useful items are easier to find, food spoils less often in your care, and chance encounters are slightly more likely to work in your favor.

Life simply seems a little kinder.

[Tier] Hunter's Fortune [100 CP]

Your luck rivals accomplished Gourmet Hunters.

You often find the clues needed to continue your journey, discover hidden resources others overlook, and arrive at important places when your presence matters. Hunts, expeditions, research, cooking, and crafting all benefit from fortunate timing and favorable circumstances.

Good fortune never replaces effort, but it frequently rewards it.

[Tier] Gourmet Destiny [200 CP]

Your fortune rivals Toriko and the Four Heavenly Kings.

Remarkable coincidences become commonplace. Rare ingredients, exceptional teachers, powerful allies, and unexpected opportunities seem drawn toward your path. When several equally plausible outcomes exist, events naturally favor those that best support your Appetite.

Likewise, those traveling beside you often benefit from your good fortune, making successful expeditions, discoveries, and survival significantly more likely.

[Tier] Miracle Appetite [400 CP]

Your luck rivals Komatsu’s.

The impossible begins occurring with surprising regularity. Ingredients thought forever lost are rediscovered. Perfect conditions arise at exactly the right moment. Catastrophes narrowly miss you, while countless small coincidences align to produce extraordinary outcomes.

Even the most temperamental ingredients seem unusually willing to cooperate, and the natural world often provides exactly what is needed to continue your journey.

Your luck never guarantees success, but it consistently creates opportunities where none should exist.

[Tier] Gourmet Providence [600 CP]

Your fortune rivals Zongeh himself.

Probability itself seems determined to keep your story moving forward. Disasters become opportunities, impossible situations produce unlikely escapes, forgotten treasures reveal themselves at the perfect moment, and events align with astonishing precision to support your continued journey.

This fortune is not limited to yourself. Entire expeditions, civilizations, and ecosystems may benefit simply because they have become part of your Appetite. Allies survive impossible odds, miraculous discoveries become surprisingly common, and circumstances repeatedly conspire to create opportunities for growth.

Most importantly, your luck possesses remarkable restraint. Rather than solving problems for you, it continually creates opportunities for you to overcome them yourself. Your victories remain earned, but fate ensures they are almost never denied by meaningless chance alone.

The universe itself seems eager to see how your Appetite will shape the future.

Fortune Cannot Hunt You [400 CP]

The Gourmet World is filled with impossible coincidences, Food Luck, miraculous escapes, and predators favored by fate. You have learned the opposite lesson as well.

Misfortune does not get to hunt you.

Hostile luck manipulation, probability distortion, jinxes, curses of bad luck, destiny-based accidents, karmic punishment, manipulated coincidence, and similar effects cannot deliberately worsen events for you unless they genuinely overcome your defenses.

An enemy cannot make your weapon fail at the worst moment, force every attack to narrowly miss, arrange absurd chains of accidents, or turn the surrounding environment against you through "bad luck" while pretending they never targeted you.

Your own fortune also possesses a permanent floor. When multiple genuinely possible outcomes exist, random chance cannot select a harmful result solely because you were unlucky.

You do not randomly choose the poisoned cup, trigger the only hidden trap, suffer catastrophic equipment failure despite proper maintenance, or lose a critical event because probability happened to pick the worst possible outcome.

This does not make every random event beneficial. Neutral outcomes remain possible, and genuine consequences remain genuine. Falling from a cliff is not bad luck if gravity is simply doing its job, and a perfectly aimed attack does not become a miss merely because being hit would be unfortunate.

Pure chance, however, cannot meaningfully betray you.

Gambling, lotteries, random selections, loot tables, critical failures, random encounters, and similar systems produce at least a neutral result unless you willingly allow otherwise. Your own luck abilities may improve that result further.

Attempts to steal, invert, suppress, poison, transfer, consume, redirect, or weaponize your luck must also overcome this protection rather than automatically turning your fortune against you.

Fortune may favor another predator, but misfortune no longer gets to put you on its menu.

Metaphysical Providence [600 CP]

Requires: Fortune Cannot Hunt You

Luck was only one ingredient in a much larger meal.

Your protection now extends to Fate, Destiny, Karma, Providence, auspiciousness, synchronicity, causal favor, spiritual alignment, metaphysical significance, and similar properties that determine how reality itself relates to you.

A beneficial or neutral metaphysical state cannot be casually inverted, corrupted, reassigned, or degraded into something harmful. Good fortune does not become calamity, protection does not become vulnerability, healing does not become disease, purification does not become corruption, and favorable destiny does not become inevitable ruin merely because an ability claims to reverse them.

Hostile burdens also cannot simply be transferred onto you. Debt curses, inherited misfortune, transferred illness, karmic burdens, sacrificial consequences, family curses, redirected injuries, spiritual pollution, destiny liabilities, and similar effects must genuinely overcome your defenses before they can become yours.

Accepting a gift, talisman, inheritance, contract, blessing, or object does not count as consenting to hidden metaphysical burdens. Deception is not permission.

Each protected metaphysical quality also develops a stable personal floor based upon the best legitimate state you have established. Passive cosmic cycles, hostile realms, curses, or foreign metaphysical systems cannot arbitrarily drag that state below its secured baseline.

This does not automatically maximize every property or erase genuine consequences. A real oath may still matter, a blessing may still depend on a grantor if it was never truly made yours, and actions may still carry legitimate karmic consequences.

What disappears is the ability to make reality itself your predator through arbitrary metaphysical bookkeeping.

The Gourmet World has many invisible food chains, but none of them get to declare you prey for free.

The Endless Menu

There is always another ingredient.

These Perks govern growth, adaptation, recovery, potential, and the evolution of your Gourmet Cells. Limits become obstacles to overcome rather than walls that permanently define what you may become.

The Menu does not end because you reached the final page.

It simply grows another course.

Gourmet Adaptation (Tiered Perk) [100 / 200 / 400 / 600 CP]

Life grows stronger by surviving hardship. Your body continuously adapts to every challenge you overcome, permanently developing resistances that never fade. Every poison endured, every frozen wasteland crossed, every blazing volcano survived, every crushing gravity well escaped, and every hostile environment conquered strengthens your body, mind, soul, and powers.

These resistances apply to both raw damage and secondary effects. Fire resistance protects against heat and burns. Poison resistance protects against toxins and diseases. Mental resistance protects against mind-affecting abilities, and so on.

Resistances are measured as percentages. While no resistance can completely negate effects that explicitly bypass resistance, any resistance beyond 100% instead converts excess protection into additional benefits. Excess physical resistance may reduce impact, improve durability, or accelerate healing. Excess elemental resistance may absorb or convert energy. Excess mental or spiritual resistance may reinforce your will, soul, or recovery. The exact benefits naturally adapt to the type of resistance.

Tiered Purchases: Some perks, items, properties, and other purchases are bought in tiers. Each purchase includes all previous tiers. Purchasing a higher tier automatically grants every lower tier unless otherwise stated.

[Tier] Adaptive Constitution [100 CP]

Your body gradually develops permanent resistance through repeated exposure to physical and environmental hazards, including heat, cold, toxins, disease, electricity, radiation, gravity, pressure, starvation, dehydration, exhaustion, and similar dangers. Your instincts warn you before attempting exposures that would be immediately fatal.

Soft Cap: 50% resistance per category.

[Tier] Accelerated Evolution [200 CP]

Adaptation occurs dramatically faster, and related resistances strengthen one another. Fire improves heat resistance, poison aids disease resistance, gravity reinforces impact resistance, and similar hazards naturally overlap. Regular exposure continues strengthening your resistances even without dedicated training.

Soft Cap: 100% resistance per category.

[Tier] Supreme Resistance [400 CP]

Your accumulated adaptations become extraordinary. Existing resistances accelerate the growth of new ones, and sufficient exposure can eventually render ordinary hazards completely harmless. New resistances develop much faster than before.

Soft Cap: 250% resistance per category.

[Tier] Infinite Evolution [600 CP]

Your adaptation now extends far beyond the physical.

Any hostile phenomenon that affects you can become something your evolution learns to resist. Magic, psychic attacks, soul damage, spatial and temporal manipulation, reality warping, conceptual attacks, curses, corruption, sealing, possession, power suppression, nullification, causality manipulation, existence erasure, and stranger threats are all valid sources of adaptation.

Your Gourmet Cells do not need to understand a danger before responding. The moment an unfamiliar hostile effect reaches you, adaptation begins. If you survive even a moment of exposure, the lesson is permanently recorded.

Repeated exposure strengthens resistance rapidly, while related adaptations reinforce one another. Learning to resist one form of soul damage improves your foundation against others. Surviving temporal manipulation helps against future distortions of time. Every resistance makes later evolution faster.

There is no soft cap and no maximum resistance.

Once ordinary resistance is surpassed, further adaptation may transform the threat into an advantage. Fire may become fuel, poison nourishment, hostile energy additional reserves, mental attacks greater mental resilience, and soul attacks reinforcement for your spirit.

Abilities that bypass resistance are not exempt. Durability negation, true damage, defense piercing, resistance bypass, immunity negation, and similar effects are themselves hostile phenomena. If they affect you and you survive, your Gourmet Cells begin adapting to the method that bypassed your defenses.

Your adaptations are permanent and remain through age, inactivity, transformation, reincarnation, and travel between worlds.

This does not guarantee survival against something overwhelmingly beyond your current abilities. A threat capable of destroying you before adaptation can matter may still kill you.

But anything you survive becomes something your evolution can eventually overcome completely.

Every wound is a lesson. Every enemy is an ingredient. There is no final resistance.

Gourmet Potential (Tiered Perk) [100 / 200 / 400 / 600 CP]

The Gourmet World does not reward those who stop growing.

Potential determines how easily your body, mind, soul, Gourmet Cells, Appetite, internal energies, techniques, professions, supernatural systems, and every other genuinely improvable part of you can continue advancing.

This is not merely a training multiplier. Training multipliers determine how much progress you gain from effort. Gourmet Potential determines how difficult the next step is to reach, how severe your bottlenecks become, and whether a natural ceiling exists at all.

Higher tiers include all lower benefits.

[Tier] Promising Appetite [100 CP]

Your potential is exceptional.

Training produces cleaner progress, plateaus are easier to overcome, mistakes teach more, and advancement that would normally demand years may require only months of serious effort. Natural limits are noticeably more flexible, allowing you to continue improving beyond what others of your species, profession, bloodline, or power system would consider ordinary.

Your Gourmet Cells respond especially well to challenge, nourishment, combat, study, and meaningful pursuit of your Appetite.

You are not yet without limits.

You simply reach them far later than most.

[Tier] Limit-Breaking Prodigy [200 CP]

Your potential belongs among the greatest natural talents of the Gourmet Age.

Difficulty caused purely by advancement curves, bottlenecks, diminishing responsiveness, or increasingly demanding breakthroughs is reduced by roughly 90%. Skills remain trainable, reserves remain expandable, Gourmet Cells remain responsive, and increasingly advanced stages require far less effort than they normally would.

Substantive requirements still matter. A technique requiring genuine understanding still requires understanding, and a transformation requiring a necessary biological component still requires that component.

What becomes easier is the climb itself.

Where another Hunter finds a wall, you usually find another ingredient to prepare.

[Tier] Monster Without a Ceiling [400 CP]

Your potential has reached the level of monsters such as the great disciples of Acacia.

Natural hard caps no longer determine how far you may legitimately develop.

Species limits, genetic ceilings, maximum statistics, fixed mortal potential, ordinary biological limits, final skill ranks, conventional cultivation ceilings, and similar restrictions cannot permanently stop a quality that can genuinely improve.

Reaching the supposed maximum simply means you have exhausted the existing path. Through training, combat, nourishment, experimentation, evolution, meditation, practice, or another legitimate method, you may begin developing beyond it.

Diminishing returns caused purely by already being extremely advanced are reduced by approximately 99%.

More importantly, rare progression resources are no longer automatically mandatory merely because the system expects them.

Acacia's disciples became monsters long before consuming his completed Full Course. Your potential works by the same principle.

If further advancement can logically be achieved through sufficient training, hunting, combat, nourishment, adaptation, contemplation, or another valid method, you may continue progressing even where others require a legendary elixir, divine fruit, bloodline awakening, evolution stone, ascension pill, unique treasure, or similarly rare progression key.

This does not bypass requirements that are genuinely fundamental to the ability itself. If a transformation literally requires a specific component, you still need it. If a technique requires understanding a law of reality, you still need that understanding.

Extraordinary ingredients remain enormously valuable.

They simply stop being the only road forward.

Your Cell Level possesses no natural maximum.

[Tier] Infinite Gourmet Potential [600 CP]

Potential is no longer something you can exhaust.

Anything about you that can improve continues to improve without a final ceiling.

Your body, mind, soul, Gourmet Cells, Appetite, internal energies, skills, techniques, professions, transformations, bloodlines, supernatural systems, and every other aspect of yourself capable of development remain permanently receptive to further growth, regardless of how ancient, perfected, transcendent, or absurdly advanced they become.

Hard caps, maximum statistics, racial ceilings, genetic limits, final skill ranks, cultivation bottlenecks, completed transformations, and supposedly ultimate stages cannot permanently stop your advancement.

Reaching the end of an existing progression simply means you must create the next step yourself.

A finished technique can be refined further.

A final transformation can develop another stage.

A cultivation system can be pushed beyond its highest realm.

A supposedly perfect ability can become even stronger, faster, more efficient, more precise, or more versatile.

Diminishing returns caused purely by already being extremely advanced disappear. Training does not become worthless because you have trained for millennia, and an ability does not stop improving simply because it has already reached absurd heights.

Growth still requires something to drive it, whether training, battle, nourishment, study, cultivation, experimentation, evolution, experience, or another meaningful source of development.

But the obstacle is never simply that you have already grown too much.

You are not granted infinite power.

You are granted infinite room to acquire it.

There is always another course.

The Perfect Recovery Meal [200 CP]

In the Gourmet World, even monsters need to eat, rest, and recover before the next hunt.

Whenever you receive proper nourishment, sleep, meditation, medical treatment, relaxation, or another legitimate period of recovery, temporary strain is restored with exceptional efficiency.

Physical exhaustion, mental fatigue, spiritual wear, overtraining, technique recoil, energy imbalance, accumulated stress, and similar temporary degradations recover far faster and more completely than normal. Minor problems may disappear after a meal or short rest, while severe strain that would normally require weeks or months can often be reduced to days with appropriate care.

Recovery also restores balance. If one energy system has been overused, your internal state naturally stabilizes. If training has left your body, mind, or soul unevenly strained, rest directs recovery where it is most needed.

This does not regenerate permanent losses or replace missing resources that must genuinely be replenished. It simply ensures that when recovery is possible, very little of the process is wasted.

The stronger your Gourmet Cells, metabolism, Food Honor, and Cell Level become, the more effective this recovery becomes.

A banquet after battle may restore more than calories. It may be exactly what your existence needed to return to peak condition.

A Gourmet Hunter survives the impossible, eats until satisfied, and stands ready when the next course arrives.

Perfect Metabolism [100 CP]

Life exists to be enjoyed, not constantly maintained.

Your body becomes the pinnacle of biological efficiency. Every compatible resource you consume, including food, drink, air, nutrients, sunlight, compatible energies, and similar necessities, is utilized with near-perfect efficiency. Almost nothing is wasted, dramatically reducing your ongoing needs while allowing you to extract the maximum possible benefit from everything you consume.

As your power, size, and biology continue to grow, your requirements no longer increase proportionally. Whether you are the size of a person, a mountain, a planet, or greater, your hunger, thirst, and other maintenance needs remain surprisingly modest compared to beings of similar scale. You never need to consume absurd quantities of resources merely to maintain yourself.

Likewise, periods without food, water, air, sleep, or other compatible necessities become vastly easier to endure. Your body instinctively conserves resources, prioritizes essential functions, and safely enters states of extraordinary efficiency whenever appropriate.

This does not prevent you from eating enormous meals if you wish.

It simply ensures you are never forced to do so.

Perfect Foundation [400 CP]

The Four Heavenly Kings did not survive the Gourmet World by stacking power upon a fragile body. Their strength, senses, Gourmet Cells, Appetite, instincts, and techniques grew together until each new breakthrough had a foundation capable of supporting it.

Yours works the same way.

Your body, mind, soul, Gourmet Cells, Appetite, internal energies, transformations, bloodlines, supernatural systems, and other integrated aspects automatically develop the structural support needed for your legitimate growth.

Greater strength reinforces bones, organs, connective tissue, coordination, and control. Greater speed improves perception, reactions, durability, balance, and processing. Larger energy reserves strengthen the channels, storage, recovery, and spiritual structures required to contain them. Transformations, mutations, implanted systems, supernatural organs, and similar additions integrate cleanly rather than creating unnecessary incompatibilities or hidden weaknesses.

Rapid growth does not leave your existence badly assembled. Training mistakes, rushed breakthroughs, poor development, and temporary imbalances gradually correct themselves as you continue practicing, fighting, eating, evolving, and gaining experience.

This does not grant abilities you never acquired or remove truly substantive requirements. It ensures that whatever genuinely becomes part of you is supported by an increasingly stable whole.

Your Cell Level reflects this cohesion. As it rises, the complete creature develops rather than a handful of disconnected statistics.

A body capable of throwing an Eight King level punch should also be capable of surviving the act of throwing it.

The Gourmet World does not forgive weak foundations, so your foundation grows strong enough to carry every meal that comes after it.

Adaptive Perfection [400 CP]

Perfection is not a fixed destination.

It is the continuous ability to become exactly what the present moment demands.

Your body, mind, soul, Gourmet Cells, Appetite, and every compatible ability continuously adapt to your current circumstances. Rather than waiting for deliberate training or conscious effort, your entire existence instinctively refines itself to perform more effectively in whatever environment or challenge you repeatedly face.

Hostile climates become easier to endure. Frequently used techniques become more efficient. Repeated injuries encourage greater resilience. Constant combat sharpens your reactions, while long periods spent crafting, cooking, researching, or healing steadily improve the abilities most relevant to those pursuits.

Unlike sudden mutations, these adaptations are stable, harmonious, and accumulate over time. Once fully integrated, they become part of your natural baseline, providing a stronger foundation for future growth instead of temporary advantages.

Likewise, your body instinctively avoids harmful or inefficient developments. When several possible adaptations exist, it naturally favors those that best support your long-term goals, existing abilities, and overall health, minimizing unnecessary weaknesses and reducing conflicts between compatible systems.

Adaptive Perfection does not grant instant evolution or limitless power. Rather, it ensures that every challenge leaves you better prepared for the next, allowing your entire existence to continuously move toward a more complete version of itself.

Your greatest adaptation is no longer surviving change.

It is learning to benefit from it.

Gourmet Cell Activation [300 CP]

Requires: Gourmet Cells

Ordinary meals nourish Gourmet Cells. The right meal makes them awaken.

Consuming an ingredient or a completed dish sufficiently exceptional for your current development may trigger a Cell Activation, producing a sudden permanent evolutionary leap instead of ordinary gradual growth.

An Activation may dramatically improve your strength, speed, durability, senses, regeneration, Gourmet Energy, cellular quality, adaptations, or other traits genuinely supported by what you consumed. Exceptional compatibility between you and the ingredient produces greater results.

There is no fixed limit to how many Activations you may experience, but your Gourmet Cells demand increasingly worthy meals. Once you have grown beyond an ingredient, simply eating more of it will not endlessly reproduce the same breakthrough.

You can also deliberately trigger Autophagy when sufficiently starved or depleted, causing your Gourmet Cells to consume stored reserves for a tremendous temporary surge of power. This rapidly exhausts you and becomes dangerous if you cannot replenish yourself afterward.

Cell Evolution and similar Main Jump growth abilities naturally improve the quality of future Activations.

Some ingredients fill your stomach. The legendary ones make every Gourmet Cell scream for the next course.

Cell Evolution [600 CP]

Adaptation has become evolution.

Your Gourmet Cells actively analyze every improvement you experience and turn it into the foundation for further growth.

Training, battle, injury, recovery, food, Cell Activations, techniques, transformations, bloodlines, energy systems, technology, cultivation, research, and other meaningful experiences all become evolutionary ingredients.

Your Gourmet Cells do not simply preserve improvements as they are. They refine them, remove inefficiencies, reinforce useful traits, and integrate them into the rest of your existence.

If your strength increases, your bones, organs, nerves, and structure evolve to support it.

If your energy reserves grow, your channels, control, recovery, and storage capacity improve alongside them.

If you acquire a transformation or new power, your body gradually restructures itself until using it feels increasingly natural.

Repeated use also drives evolution. Techniques become faster, stronger, cheaper, and more instinctive. Transformations become easier to maintain. Foreign systems become increasingly integrated. Weaknesses and inefficient structures are steadily corrected.

Improvements also spread between systems whenever the same principle can benefit both. Better regeneration may strengthen spiritual recovery, superior energy circulation may improve multiple power systems, and lessons from one transformation may enhance your base form.

Your Appetite gives this evolution direction. When several possible evolutionary paths exist, your Gourmet Cells favor the ones that best support your goals, abilities, and desired future.

They also prepare you for breakthroughs before they occur, reinforcing your body, mind, soul, energies, and internal structures so that major awakenings, transformations, mutations, and Cell Activations can be integrated more completely.

Your Gourmet Cells continuously learn what can serve as nourishment for evolution. Matter, energy, biological traits, bloodlines, techniques, supernatural systems, technologies, environments, and stranger phenomena may all provide useful information once you encounter and understand them.

Your improvements are permanent. They do not disappear through inactivity, changing forms, reincarnation, or leaving the world where they were acquired.

Every evolution makes you better at evolving again.

Nothing you experience is wasted.

Every course becomes another ingredient in what you become next.

Boosted: Evolutionary Apex

Requires: Cell Evolution & Adaptive Perfection

Evolution no longer waits for necessity.

Your Gourmet Cells constantly simulate, evaluate, and refine countless possible futures, instinctively preparing your body for challenges before they are encountered. Rather than merely reacting to change, your evolution begins anticipating it.

Compatible adaptations develop faster, require less external pressure to manifest, and naturally complement your existing strengths instead of competing with them. As your understanding of yourself grows, your evolution becomes increasingly deliberate, allowing your body to move toward the ideal form required to fulfill your Appetite.

Your greatest strength is no longer your ability to survive change.

It is your ability to evolve beyond it.

Boosted: Foundation That Devours Its Flaws

Requires: Perfect Foundation + Adaptive Perfection + Cell Evolution

Stability was only the first course.

Your foundation now actively studies itself and evolves.

Whenever training, combat, injury, transformation, new powers, higher Cell Levels, or unfamiliar stresses reveal an inefficiency or weakness, your Gourmet Cells begin correcting it. Fragile structures reinforce themselves, inefficient energy pathways refine, bottlenecks widen, poorly integrated systems harmonize, redundant mechanisms merge where beneficial, and transformations become easier to sustain.

Once obvious flaws are gone, the process continues toward positive refinement. Energy circulation becomes cleaner, regeneration more organized, coordination sharper, supernatural systems cooperate more efficiently, and your body becomes increasingly capable of expressing its existing power without waste.

There is no final perfect configuration. Whenever your power, understanding, or Cell Level makes a better foundation possible, your existence begins growing toward it.

This remains a legitimate evolution rather than spontaneous power creation. Your foundation improves what you actually possess and what your current existence can meaningfully support.

Perfection is not the end of your foundation. It is merely the point where your Gourmet Cells start searching for a better recipe.

Law of the Predator

The Gourmet World does not reward weakness with fairness.

These Perks govern survival, sovereignty, resistance, recovery, and the natural authority of a predator that refuses to become someone else's meal. What belongs to you becomes increasingly difficult to steal, suppress, corrupt, imitate, or permanently destroy.

The food chain has rules.

Eventually, you become one of them.

Sovereign Cells [400 CP]

Your Gourmet Cells recognize only one rightful owner.

Blood, DNA, hair, flesh, Gourmet Cells, organs, genetic material, spiritual biology, and other samples separated from you remain protected by your biological sovereignty.

Without your permission, they cannot be successfully used to clone your unique nature, reproduce your Gourmet Cells, steal bloodlines, manufacture your powers, grow ability-bearing copies, create genetic weapons specifically exploiting your supernatural biology, or otherwise obtain the extraordinary qualities that belong to you.

Researchers may still study ordinary information contained within a sample, but attempts to extract your unique supernatural advantages produce incomplete, mundane, or inert results.

This protection extends to biological adaptations, supernatural organs, integrated bloodlines, Gourmet Cell mutations, and similar qualities that have genuinely become part of your body.

You may freely authorize specific samples, people, descendants, medical treatments, cloning projects, or research.

It does not prevent someone from independently discovering a power through another legitimate route.

They simply cannot use you as the shortcut.

A Gourmet Hunter may leave blood on the battlefield. They do not leave their Full Course behind with it.

Sovereign Identity [400 CP]

When someone like Zebra walks into a city, people do not need an introduction.

A legend possesses more than a face.

Your name, appearance, voice, reputation, fame, titles, image, personal signature, and social identity belong to you.

Without your permission, another person cannot successfully gain the benefits of being you through impersonation. Shapeshifting, cloned appearances, voice replication, deepfakes, magical disguises, illusions, forged signatures, stolen credentials, artificial memories, digital avatars, and similar methods may reproduce superficial details, but they cannot reproduce the authentic weight of your identity.

Someone may look exactly like you and still be recognized as not you by people, systems, supernatural senses, contracts, artifacts, or authorities for whom the distinction matters.

Likewise, others cannot meaningfully steal your fame, titles, accomplishments, reputation, social authority, inheritance, worship, or recognition merely by claiming them as their own.

This does not prevent ordinary lies, rumors, parody, propaganda, or misunderstandings. Someone can falsely claim that you destroyed a city or insulted a king. What they cannot do is simply put on your face and inherit the authority, trust, access, reputation, or supernatural legitimacy that you personally earned.

You may freely allow doubles, actors, disguises, avatars, clones, successors, or representatives to act in your name.

A legend may be imitated. It cannot be stolen.

Secret Recipe [400 CP]

The greatest Chefs do not reveal every secret simply because someone watched them prepare the meal.

Your techniques, powers, supernatural structures, biological adaptations, energy methods, transformations, bloodlines, cultivation paths, crafted abilities, and other personal capabilities cannot be successfully copied, reverse-engineered, reproduced, or reconstructed from you without your permission.

Observation alone is insufficient. Supernatural copying, perfect mimicry, genetic analysis, soul reading, magical scanning, technological examination, conceptual analysis, memory extraction, information gathering, and similar methods may observe what you do, but they do not automatically receive the underlying recipe.

An enemy watching your technique may learn its visible movements without gaining the supernatural principles that make it function. Someone studying your Gourmet Cells may understand their general biology without reproducing your accumulated evolution. A mage may witness your spell without extracting every secret needed to cast your personal version.

This protection includes indirect analysis. Someone cannot bypass it by studying recordings, damaged surroundings, energy residue, discarded biological material, historical records, alternate timelines, simulations, or the consequences your abilities leave behind.

You decide how much may be learned. You may reveal the entire method, teach selected principles, allow one person to copy a technique, or leave enough information for others to develop their own independent version.

This does not make your abilities incomprehensible. Others may still independently discover the same principles through legitimate research, training, evolution, or invention. What they cannot do is use you as a shortcut to a meal they never hunted.

A Gourmet Master may serve the finished dish to the entire world while keeping the final ingredient of the recipe entirely to themselves.

The Course Grows Back [400 CP]

The Gourmet World teaches that a predator's body does not stop being itself merely because part of it was damaged.

The same principle now applies to your powers.

Any ability, supernatural organ, energy system, transformation, bloodline, magical core, cultivation structure, psychic faculty, spiritual pathway, internal dimension, Gourmet Cell function, or other capability that genuinely belongs to you possesses a stable internal blueprint.

If such a capability is damaged, crippled, partially destroyed, severed, corrupted, or otherwise rendered incomplete, your body, mind, soul, Appetite, and Gourmet Cells naturally work to restore it.

Destroyed energy channels regrow. A shattered magical core reforms. Damaged supernatural organs regenerate. A severed connection between integrated systems rebuilds itself. A transformation whose internal structure was damaged gradually returns to proper function.

The more deeply something has been integrated into your existence, the easier this restoration becomes.

This is regeneration rather than immunity. Sufficiently powerful attacks may still damage your abilities, and particularly severe destruction may require time, nourishment, energy, healing, training, or other legitimate recovery methods.

It also does not restore something you voluntarily gave away, permanently sacrificed as a genuine cost, or lost through actual Chain rules.

If the course is still yours, however, your Gourmet Cells remember how it was prepared.

A predator may lose flesh, blood, or even part of its power, but anything truly belonging to the meal eventually grows back.

Hunt Your Own Evolution [600 CP]

The Gourmet World respects adaptation, but no predator gets to become stronger simply because its prey did the work first.

Abilities that automatically copy your current strength, scale to your level, become "you plus one," maintain a fixed percentage above you, mirror your statistics, generate perfect counters, or instantly adapt to everything you possess cannot use your growth as free fuel.

Such abilities must genuinely support whatever increase they claim. Their user needs enough actual power, energy, authority, understanding, adaptation, or other legitimate mechanism to reach that level.

If you become ten times stronger, an enemy does not automatically become ten times stronger merely because their ability says they always match you. If your Gourmet Cells evolve a new resistance, a supposedly perfect counter must still develop enough real power and function to overcome it. If your Cell Level rises beyond what their system can support, their scaling stops where their genuine capacity stops.

This does not disable legitimate copying or adaptation. An opponent may still study you, train against you, evolve through battle, consume appropriate resources, or use a genuinely powerful scaling ability. They simply have to actually climb.

Likewise, recursive claims such as "always stronger," "greater than any opponent," "automatically superior," or "perfectly adapted to the target" do not gain infinite priority merely from wording. They are treated as abilities with real limits, costs, and supporting power.

The same protection applies when the scaling is indirect. An enemy cannot drain your power level into themselves, use your own statistics as a free multiplier, or treat your growth as the resource that automatically upgrades their technique unless they can genuinely overcome your relevant defenses and sustain the result.

Your evolution remains your meal.

If another predator wants your place in the food chain, they can hunt their own Full Course instead of stealing yours.

Predator's Presence [100 CP]

Requires: Appetite Energy [Any Tier]

A predator does not need to announce its arrival.

Long before you are seen, heard, or understood, others instinctively recognize that something dangerous has entered their world.

Your Appetite naturally radiates an overwhelming predatory presence that communicates your confidence, determination, and position within the food chain. This aura may be consciously strengthened, concealed, or directed toward specific individuals, allowing you to intimidate enemies, reassure allies, or disappear into the background when desired.

The strength of this presence automatically scales with your Appetite Energy, becoming increasingly profound as your Appetite grows.

Awakened Appetite: Your confidence becomes naturally apparent. Animals and ordinary people instinctively recognize you as dangerous, while weaker opponents become hesitant to challenge you.

Professional Gourmet Hunter: Your presence begins influencing the emotions of others. Hostile creatures hesitate before attacking, weaker predators avoid unnecessary conflict, and experienced hunters instinctively treat you with greater caution.

Top One Hundred: Your Appetite exerts genuine pressure. Lesser creatures may freeze, flee, or submit before combat even begins, while your killing intent becomes tangible enough to disrupt the concentration of weaker opponents.

Heavenly King: Your presence rivals the Four Heavenly Kings. Entire ecosystems react to your arrival as wildlife instinctively hides or flees, powerful beasts recognize you as a fellow apex predator, and your killing intent alone may overwhelm creatures vastly weaker than yourself. Conversely, by suppressing your presence, you may pass unnoticed through environments where you would normally be impossible to ignore.

Eight Kings / Acacia's Disciple: Your Appetite has become a force of nature. Your mere existence may dominate entire regions, suppress lesser manifestations of Gourmet Energy, and cause weaker beings to instinctively lose the will to oppose you. Even legendary predators acknowledge your place within the food chain, while your presence may be projected across enormous distances or focused into a single target with extraordinary precision.

With practice, you learn to express your Appetite in countless ways. A reassuring presence may calm allies, a commanding presence may inspire followers, a concealed presence may leave you seemingly unnoticed, while your killing intent alone may feel as though a colossal predator has fixed its gaze upon its prey.

Predators need not always fight.

Sometimes, simply being recognized as the stronger hunter is enough.

Predator's Immunity [600 CP]

The Gourmet World does not care how exotic a technique sounds, because every predator must still possess enough strength to bring down its prey.

A weaker predator does not casually dominate a stronger one.

Hostile effects, whether status conditions, hax, supernatural abilities, or other forms of interference, must possess enough genuine power or authority to affect you. Brainwashing, possession, paralysis, poison, disease, curses, petrification, sleep, fear, memory alteration, forced transformation, sealing, suppression, power nullification, soul manipulation, corruption, stat reduction, conceptual interference, personal time manipulation, hostile spatial manipulation, reality alteration applied directly to you, and similar effects all obey this rule.

If the source possesses 98% or less of your relevant power and authority, the hostile effect simply fails. A Capture Level 10 predator does not command a Capture Level 10,000 Gourmet Beast because its technique happens to claim that resistance is impossible or that its effect ignores durability.

Comparable opponents must genuinely overcome your resistance, while stronger enemies find successful hostile effects substantially reduced in severity, control, effectiveness, and duration unless their superiority is overwhelming. This compares the actual force supporting the effect rather than impressive wording, so an absolute curse, irresistible hypnosis, unavoidable paralysis, perfect sealing technique, or similar ability must still possess enough genuine power to affect the Gourmet Beast it is attempting to subdue.

This protection concerns hostile interference applied to you rather than every consequence an enemy can create in the surrounding world. Someone cannot simply declare that you have become stone, stop your personal time, rewrite your memories, suppress your powers, or seal your soul without overcoming this protection, but destroying the mountain beneath you or creating a naturally dangerous environment is still something your other defenses must handle.

No unwanted hostile condition can permanently compromise you. If an opponent powerful enough to overcome this protection successfully establishes one, your body, mind, soul, Appetite, and Gourmet Cells immediately begin rejecting it. Comparable threats usually hold such effects for seconds or minutes at most, while vastly superior predators must continuously possess enough genuine power to maintain what they have imposed.

The Price of Holding a Predator

Capturing a Gourmet Beast is difficult, but keeping an apex predator restrained after it has begun fighting the cage is far worse.

The longer an unwanted hostile effect remains active upon you, the genuine power, potency, authority, energy, concentration, stored force, or other support necessary to maintain it increases exponentially.

As a general rule, every additional period equal to that effect's normal effective duration against you specifically approximately doubles the support required to maintain it. This duration is determined only after your existing resistances, adaptations, regeneration, recovery, power difference, Gourmet Cells, and other relevant defenses have reduced the effect, rather than using its duration against an ordinary person or average target.

If a paralysis technique normally lasts one minute against humans but would naturally hold you for only one second, then one second is the interval used by this protection. Maintaining it through the next second requires roughly twice the original support, then four times, eight times, sixteen times, and so on.

A poison your Gourmet Cells would naturally purge within thirty seconds begins requiring exponentially greater potency every additional thirty seconds. A curse capable of affecting you for a day becomes dramatically more expensive after that day, while a seal capable of containing you for one hour discovers that every additional hour demands increasingly absurd amounts of power.

Canceling, refreshing, replacing, or immediately reapplying the effect does not reset this escalating price. Your Gourmet Cells remember the meal even when the enemy changes the plate, so repeated stuns, recast curses, replacement seals, alternating poisons, overlapping suppression fields, refreshed transformations, or differently named abilities using substantially the same mechanism count as one continuing attempt to keep you compromised.

An enemy repeatedly applying a one-second stun therefore does not pay the original cost every second. The second application encounters the increased requirement, the third faces still more, and attempting to stun-lock you indefinitely eventually requires absurd amounts of genuine power.

The escalation resets only after you have remained genuinely free from that mechanism long enough for another application to constitute a separate encounter rather than a continuation of the previous attempt. As a general guideline, this requires at least ten times the hostile effect's normal effective duration against you, though particularly persistent mechanisms may require longer.

If nobody actively maintains the effect, its own stored potency is consumed at the same accelerating rate, causing finite poisons, curses, seals, autonomous techniques, and similar effects to burn themselves out increasingly quickly.

A vastly superior predator can still hold you if they possess enough power, but superiority does not make imprisonment free. Maintaining a hostile effect indefinitely would require endlessly escalating support, and merely canceling the technique before casting it again does not erase the accumulated cost.

Beneficial effects remain unaffected unless you choose otherwise.

In the Gourmet World, even hax has a Capture Level, and every second spent keeping an apex predator on the plate makes the next bite more expensive.

Boosted: Status Devourer

Requires: Predator's Immunity + Evolutionary Apex

Anything that fails to bring you down becomes another ingredient for your Gourmet Cells.

Whenever you resist, survive, or recover from a hostile status effect, your Gourmet Cells and adaptive abilities analyze the mechanism responsible and permanently improve your defenses against it.

Poisons, diseases, curses, brainwashing, possession, petrification, suppression, sealing, forced transformation, memory alteration, soul manipulation, paralysis, supernatural debuffs, power nullification, corruption, and similar hostile conditions may all become evolutionary lessons.

Even an effect completely rejected by Predator's Immunity still provides useful information. Your Gourmet Cells study how the attack attempted to alter, control, suppress, damage, overwrite, or otherwise compromise you, allowing later effects using the same or closely related mechanisms to encounter increasingly specialized resistance.

Repeated exposure compounds.

A condition that once required serious resistance may eventually become nearly irrelevant, while stronger variations begin facing defenses developed from everything their weaker predecessors taught you.

This adaptation primarily targets the underlying mechanism rather than one specific ability. Surviving one neurological poison may strengthen your resistance against related neurotoxins. Enduring one soul-corrupting curse may provide a foundation against similar forms of spiritual corruption. Resisting one form of forced transformation may help your Gourmet Cells recognize comparable attempts to overwrite your biology.

Entirely different mechanisms must still be tasted separately.

Your defenses do not become infinitely powerful from one trivial exposure, and sufficiently superior hostile effects may still overcome adaptations that have not developed far enough. Stronger threats also provide richer evolutionary information than weaker ones.

However, adaptation is only the first course.

Once your Gourmet Cells understand a hostile mechanism sufficiently well, they begin learning how to digest its harmful principle as nourishment.

Poison may be refined into biological energy or useful resistance. Hostile heat may become fuel. Mental attacks may strengthen concentration and cognitive defenses. Corruption may be purified into spiritual nourishment. Suppression may teach your powers to operate with greater efficiency. Forced transformations may reveal new principles of biological adaptation.

The exact benefit always reflects something genuinely present within the hostile effect. You cannot gain unrelated abilities merely because you survived an attack.

Repeated exposure makes the process increasingly efficient. What was once merely resisted becomes understood. What is understood becomes increasingly difficult to use against you. What is completely understood may eventually become something your Gourmet Cells can exploit for further evolution.

A sufficiently powerful new version of an old mechanism may still threaten you, but it never faces the same defenses as the version that came before it.

Anything you survive has made a mistake.

It gave your Gourmet Cells a sample.

The first attack is a threat.

The second is a lesson.

Eventually, your cells stop wondering how to survive the enemy.

They begin wondering how the enemy will taste.

The Feast Is Not Yours [400 CP]

The Gourmet World is built upon consumption, but even here, there is a difference between hunting your own ingredient and trying to steal the meal already digesting inside another predator.

Your personal resources cannot be involuntarily drained, siphoned, consumed, transferred, stolen, reduced through resource-draining effects, or used as fuel by another being, ability, artifact, environment, or supernatural mechanism.

This protection covers mundane and supernatural reserves alike, including stamina, calories, nutrition, blood, vitality, health, life force, lifespan, youth, Gourmet Energy,

Appetite Energy, Mana, Chakra, Ki, Chi, Qi, spiritual power, psychic energy, divine power, magical reserves, cultivation energy, soul energy, willpower, mental energy, luck, fortune, transformation duration, technique charges, spell slots, stored nourishment, regeneration reserves, experience, levels, accumulated growth, and comparable personal resources.

A vampire cannot drain your life force, a mage cannot siphon your Mana, a cultivator cannot steal your Qi, a curse cannot consume your lifespan, and a supernatural predator cannot feed upon your soul, luck, fear, Gourmet Energy, or other personal reserves. A technique that drains half your stamina or removes a percentage of your maximum energy also fails, because percentages do not grant another predator ownership over your Full Course.

Physical contact, spiritual links, possession, blood contact, psychic connections, conceptual abilities, environmental fields, parasitic powers, absorption techniques, or stranger supernatural mechanisms do not provide permission to consume your reserves. This protection follows anything genuinely belonging to your personal stores wherever it resides within your body, mind, soul, Gourmet Cells, Appetite, transformations, internal spaces, or compatible extensions.

Disguising the drain does not help. Calling stolen Mana absorption, stolen lifespan accelerated aging, stolen stamina supernatural fatigue, stolen luck misfortune, or stolen spiritual energy suppression changes nothing when the underlying effect is forcibly taking, consuming, transferring, or spending one of your resources.

This is resource sovereignty rather than unlimited power, so your own legitimate costs remain completely functional. Running still consumes stamina, healing may consume calories, transformations may burn Gourmet Energy, and techniques still expend whatever Mana, Chakra, blood, ammunition, lifespan, or other price they genuinely require. Starvation can still exhaust stored nourishment, and anything you deliberately donate or spend leaves your reserves normally.

You may spend what belongs to you, but another predator cannot spend it on your behalf.

Ordinary physical possessions are not automatically impossible to steal. Someone may take an unattended wallet, destroy a fuel tank, raid a warehouse, or physically steal supplies they can actually reach. What they cannot do is use supernatural resource theft to drain your inventory, fiat-backed reserves, stored ammunition, banked wealth, equipment charges, or similar possessions merely by declaring ownership itself to be something their ability can consume.

Combined with Sovereign Cells, your biology cannot become an endlessly harvestable source of supernatural resources. Combined with Predator's Immunity, hostile effects cannot bypass either defense by disguising resource theft as a debuff. Combined with Food Immersion, nourishment properly incorporated into your existence remains securely within your side of the food chain, while The Feast Is Yours ensures powers that have truly become yours cannot simply be disconnected from their original source and drained back out of you.

Your Appetite hunted for every calorie, every drop of Gourmet Energy, every reserve of power, and every scrap of growth stored within your existence.

Anyone hungry enough to want your meal can enter the Gourmet World and hunt their own Full Course.

Beast That Outlived the Feast (Tiered Perk) [200 / 400 / 600 CP]

Some monsters of the Gourmet World measure their lives in centuries.

Jiro measured his in meals.

Higher Tiers include all lower benefits.

[Tier] Endless Years [200 CP]

Your natural lifespan has no upper limit.

Once you reach your preferred maturity, age no longer weakens or kills you. Your Gourmet Cells remain vigorous, your organs do not deteriorate from accumulated years, and your body may remain in its prime indefinitely.

You may freely maintain any natural apparent age your body has already reached, allowing you to appear younger or older without sacrificing your actual condition.

Centuries, millennia, or geological ages can pass without old age claiming you.

This is agelessness, not invulnerability. You may still be killed by injuries, starvation, poison, destruction of the soul, or anything else capable of genuinely ending your life.

The years may keep counting. Your Full Course does not have to end with them.

[Tier] Old Monster of a Thousand Feasts [400 CP]

There are monsters whose strength comes from talent.

Then there are monsters who have simply been alive long enough to have experienced everything.

You gain the accumulated development of an ancient Gourmet monster.

At the beginning of every Jump, or whenever ten years have passed since this effect last activated, whichever occurs first, everything genuinely capable of improving through training, practice, use, study, cultivation, combat, experimentation, meditation, or experience receives the equivalent progress of 1,000 years of dedicated development.

Whenever this effect activates, its ten-year interval resets. If the beginning of a new Jump and the ten-year interval occur at the same time, they count as a single activation.

This applies to your body, mind, soul, Gourmet Cells, Appetite, energies, skills, techniques, professions, powers, Perks, transformations, senses, resistances, supernatural systems, crafting, cooking, research, martial arts, Gamer or LitRPG systems, and every other trainable or improvable part of yourself.

Your Perks and powers receive this benefit as well whenever their abilities can improve through use or mastery.

You gain both the resulting improvement and the experience that produced it.

A power that becomes stronger through practice receives a thousand years of practice.

A spell system receives a thousand years of magical training.

A cultivation method receives a thousand years of cultivation.

A martial art receives a thousand years of refinement and combat experience.

A crafting discipline receives a thousand years of projects, failures, breakthroughs, and masterpieces.

A Gamer, LitRPG, skill-level, proficiency, or similar progression system receives the genuine advancement that one thousand years of relentless legitimate training would produce under its own rules.

You gain both the resulting improvement and the experience that created it. Techniques feel lived-in rather than downloaded, instincts reflect countless repetitions, and lessons learned during those centuries are as natural to you as memories from yesterday.

Anything new you permanently acquire during a Jump receives the same treatment once, granting the equivalent of one thousand years spent seriously learning, training, and developing it.

This does not fabricate unique external resources, teachers, artifacts, sacrifices, or discoveries that training alone could never provide. If advancement fundamentally requires something outside yourself, you still need to obtain it.

But whenever time, effort, practice, and experience are enough...

You have already paid them.

With Infinite Gourmet Potential, these thousand years never run into a final ceiling. However powerful you have already become, there is always meaningful progress for those centuries to pursue.

You do not begin a new world as someone who obtained their powers yesterday.

You arrive as the old monster who has already spent a thousand years learning how to use them.

[Tier] Rampaging Gourmet Beast [600 CP]

Jiro was raised on Nitro and beings saturated with Appetite until the distinction between man and Gourmet Beast became increasingly academic.

Your own Gourmet Cells now possess similar monstrous potential.

Your body, Gourmet Cells, and Appetite become capable of supporting an existence far beyond ordinary biological limits. Your baseline strength, speed, durability, regeneration, Gourmet Energy, and physical performance increase approximately x100, while future physical development gained through training, exceptional food, Gourmet Cell Activation, evolution, combat, and similar legitimate growth becomes roughly x10 more effective.

Your Gourmet Demon may also fuse deeply with your physical existence, allowing flesh, Gourmet Cells, Appetite, and Demon to reinforce one another as parts of the same predator. If another ability allows your Demon to manifest independently, you retain that option.

Your monstrous physiology also produces an effectively inexhaustible supply of life force and biological vitality. You possess no finite reservoir of personal vitality that ordinary expenditure can permanently exhaust. Techniques, transformations, regeneration, martial arts, cooking methods, healing arts, rituals, or supernatural abilities that consume your own life force, vitality, lifespan, or equivalent biological energy may be sustained and repeatedly used without aging, crippling, or killing you through that cost alone. This does not grant infinite instantaneous output or make unrelated resources infinite. You simply possess enough life within your Gourmet Cells to pay every finite or recursively finite valid vitality cost forever.

Like Jiro, you instinctively learn to suppress your own monstrous power. You may maintain an ordinary or younger-looking body while restraining enormous amounts of strength beneath the surface, then progressively release that restraint through increasingly bestial or perfected forms of your own design.

Releasing yourself never damages your body simply because your own strength became too great for it. Your biology naturally develops the structural integrity required to contain whatever power you legitimately possess.

This does not give you Jiro's individual techniques, Grand Knocking, or his exact level of strength for free.

It gives you the kind of Gourmet Beast physiology from which something like Jiro could be built.

Acacia taught Jiro technique because raw strength like his needed chains. Your Appetite has begun growing the same kind of monster.

Gift Without Chains [400 CP]

The Gourmet World is filled with beings willing to offer power.

The dangerous part is often what they expect in return.

Whenever you legitimately receive a blessing, curse carrying beneficial properties, divine favor, pact, contract, mark, bestowed transformation, bloodline gift, supernatural inheritance, symbiote, empowerment, or similar granted power, you may separate the benefit from unwanted strings attached to it.

You may reject obedience, compulsions, corruption, personality alteration, surveillance, ownership claims, hidden commands, loyalty requirements, involuntary worship, harmful biological changes, spiritual contamination, remote shutdowns, or similar conditions while retaining the legitimately bestowed benefit.

A god may bless you without gaining the right to command you. A demon may grant power without hiding itself inside your soul. A bloodline transformation need not saddle you with an inherited madness simply because previous wielders suffered from it.

This does not let you steal a gift you were never given, avoid a price that must genuinely be paid before receiving it, or remove a limitation that is literally necessary for the power to function. If a technique works by burning fuel, you still need fuel unless another ability solves that requirement. If sacrificing something is the actual act that creates the power, you cannot retroactively decide the sacrifice never happened.

What you may reject are unwanted chains added to the gift rather than the gift itself.

Take the ingredient. Leave the poison on the plate.

No Equal Portions [400 CP]

The Gourmet World does not divide strength fairly. An Eight King is not weakened merely because weaker prey would prefer an equal hunt.

Abilities that equalize, normalize, cap, average, redistribute, or reduce your strength relative to others must genuinely overcome your defenses. They cannot automatically make combatants equal, lower you to an opponent's level, divide your power, or standardize your statistics simply because their mechanic says so.

This protects strength, speed, durability, Cell Level, Gourmet Energy, Appetite, reserves, resistances, skills, and other genuine personal qualities. Percentage reductions such as "halve strength" or "remove 90% of Mana" must possess enough real power to cause that reduction.

Likewise, your own scale cannot be freely used to raise someone else to your level.

You may voluntarily accept normalization whenever desired.

The Gourmet World never promised equal servings, and reality does not get to cut your Full Course into smaller portions for fairness.

Boosted: The Food Chain Does Not Balance Itself

Requires: No Equal Portions + Hunt Your Own Evolution + Predator's Immunity

Rules, systems, domains, and abilities cannot automatically scale you downward or enemies upward merely to preserve difficulty or parity.

Level synchronization, enemy scaling, boss scaling, adaptive difficulty, forced handicaps, "always comparable," "twice your level," and similar mechanics must possess enough genuine power and authority to establish their claimed result.

Hostile effects also cannot use your own magnitude as free ammunition. An attack dealing 50% of maximum health must actually possess enough power to inflict that much damage against you. The same applies to percentage damage, fixed fractions of life, durability, soul, lifespan, energy, or effects scaling directly from your Cell Level or maximum capacity.

If you can survive a planet-breaking attack, a weak technique saying "lose 50% HP" does not suddenly gain planet-breaking force.

Likewise, "always stronger than the target," "target plus one," "perfect counter," and similar scaling only rise as far as the real power, authority, energy, or adaptation supporting them can reach.

Enemies may still train, evolve, combine strength, or wield genuinely powerful scaling abilities. They simply cannot use your Full Course as the ingredient paying for their growth.

Percentage wording does not outrank the food chain. If a technique wants half an Eight King, it must bring enough Appetite to take the bite.

No Easy Prey [400 CP]

The Gourmet World does not let a weak Hunter skip the capture just because their technique calls the final bite an execution.

Effects that automatically reduce you to a vulnerable state must genuinely possess enough power to do so. "Set HP to 1," "reduce the target to critical condition," "leave only a single heartbeat," "break all defenses," "make the next attack lethal," and similar mechanics cannot bypass the actual durability, Cell Level, vitality, soul strength, or resistance protecting you.

The same applies to execution effects based on thresholds. Abilities such as "instantly kill anyone below 50% health," "guaranteed death while wounded," "execute targets beneath a certain level," or "destroy anything weakened by this amount" must still possess enough genuine force and authority to finish you.

Being injured does not make your remaining existence arbitrarily easier to destroy. If half your vitality remains, that half still belongs to the same Gourmet Beast.

Legitimate weaknesses and accumulated damage still matter, and a sufficiently powerful predator can exploit them normally. What disappears is the ability to turn a numerical threshold into a free killing blow.

You may freely allow such mechanics when beneficial or desired.

A wounded Eight King is still an Eight King. The final bite must be earned like every bite before it.

The Meal Returns to No One [400 CP]

The Gourmet World has enough predators without letting your own technique become one of them.

Your attacks, techniques, powers, projectiles, curses, Knocking, energy, summons, and other effects cannot be automatically reflected, redirected, rebound, returned, transferred, or turned against you merely because another ability claims to send attacks back to their source.

A reflected Flying Fork does not suddenly become your enemy's Flying Fork. A curse cannot be bounced back onto you for free. Damage cannot be reassigned to you simply because you caused it, and an attack cannot automatically reverse direction while retaining all of the power you supplied.

Someone may still physically dodge, block, intercept, absorb, manipulate, or overpower your attack if they possess enough genuine ability to do so. A sufficiently powerful spatial technique might redirect a projectile by actually moving it, and a skilled fighter may deflect a blow through real force and technique.

What fails is free reflection based solely upon ownership or origin.

If an ability genuinely captures your attack and then tries to fire it back, it must actually contain, control, and reproduce enough of that attack's power to do so. Your own strength is not automatically donated as ammunition.

You may freely allow reflection, redirection, transfer, or cooperative combination when desired.

A Gourmet Hunter may miss the bite, but their own Knife does not turn around and decide that the Hunter was the ingredient.

Unfading Existence [400 CP]

Some places do not kill you with an attack. They simply wait until existence itself wears you down.

That no longer works.

Your body, mind, soul, Gourmet Cells, Appetite, life force, memories, internal energies, identity, and other genuine parts of your existence cannot involuntarily erode, dissolve, disperse, decay, attenuate, or wear away merely from prolonged exposure to an environment or metaphysical realm.

A spirit world that slowly dissolves souls, a void that erases identity, a temporal wasteland that grinds beings into nothing, an entropy field that weakens immortals, or an afterlife that gradually strips away memory cannot defeat you simply by waiting long enough.

Time by itself cannot accumulate this kind of degradation. Ten years, ten thousand years, or geological ages of passive metaphysical attrition leave you fundamentally intact unless something possesses enough actual power to harm you directly.

This protection applies equally to environmental rules such as "all outsiders eventually lose themselves here", "souls inevitably become mindless", "immortals decay after enough ages", or "foreign powers slowly destabilize until they vanish."

Direct danger remains direct danger. Fire can still burn, crushing gravity can still injure, and a powerful enemy can still attack your soul. This Perk protects against erosion through continued existence, not every form of damage.

Beneficial change remains possible. You may still evolve, transform, adapt, reincarnate, refine your soul, or allow a realm to alter you when the result is genuinely advantageous.

Your memories and accumulated development are protected as well. Endless years do not gradually blur your identity, training, skills, or personal history simply because a mortal mind was never meant to remember that much.

The Gourmet World has predators that hunt with teeth, claws, poison, and time itself. You have stopped being edible to the last one.

Irreversible Course [600 CP]

The Gourmet World is filled with techniques that matter because once they land, the meal has already changed.

Whenever you successfully create an effect through a technique, power, attack, Perk, ability, or other legitimate method, you may declare that effect and any chosen consequences are fixed.

A Knocking effect remains in place. A seal stays sealed. A curse remains active. A transformation stays established. A wound remains inflicted. A barrier continues standing. A frozen region stays frozen. A destroyed structure stays destroyed. A healed injury remains healed.

Attempts to dispel, cleanse, suppress, reverse, overwrite, rewind, redirect, nullify, heal away, or otherwise interfere with the fixed result must genuinely overcome the power, skill, Cell Level, authority, and operational layer that established it.

Generic wording such as "removes all curses", "dispels any magic", "reverses all damage", or "restores the previous state" does not automatically bypass this protection.

You decide exactly what becomes fixed.

If your fireball burns a forest, you may fix only the flames, only the destruction, only selected areas, or the entire intended aftermath. If you Knocking someone for one hour, that duration cannot be shortened. If the Knocking is intended to remain until released, it does not naturally expire unless something actually overcomes it.

Repeated attempts do not gain free progress simply by changing names or methods. Time reversal, healing, purification, reality alteration, causal rewriting, replacement seals, alternate rituals, and similar efforts are still attempting to undo the same prepared course.

Your own authority remains supreme over your fixed effects. You may weaken, alter, release, or remove them whenever you choose.

Beneficial effects may also be fixed. Healing, restoration, blessings, environmental improvements, stabilized transformations, and similar results can be protected just as strongly as hostile ones.

A true Gourmet Master does not merely prepare the course. They decide whether reality is allowed to send it back to the kitchen.

Senses of the Gourmet World

A Gourmet Hunter must notice the meal before the meal notices them.

These Perks expand perception beyond ordinary sight, sound, smell, taste, and touch while teaching you to control how the world perceives you in return.

The greatest predators do not merely see more.

They decide whether they are seen at all.

Communion of Appetite [100 CP]

Food speaks.

Most never learn to listen.

You possess the rare ability known as All Speech, allowing you to hear and understand the voices of compatible ingredients, Gourmet Beasts, plants, fungi, microorganisms, Food Spirits, Gourmet Cells, ecosystems, and other compatible forms of life, much like Komatsu. These voices are not ordinary speech, but expressions of instinct, nature, condition, and desire, allowing you to understand what they need, what they lack, and how they wish to be treated.

Likewise, they can hear you.

By speaking with genuine respect and understanding, you may calm frightened creatures, soothe enraged beasts, encourage plants to flourish, reassure ingredients during preparation, communicate with Food Spirits, and build trust with compatible life far more easily than would otherwise be possible. While this does not grant absolute control or compel obedience, those willing to listen instinctively recognize your sincerity.

This gift greatly improves your ability to hunt, harvest, preserve, cook, cultivate, heal, and research. Ingredients naturally reveal when they are perfectly ripe, beasts indicate hidden weaknesses or preferred methods of capture, plants communicate their ideal growing conditions, and damaged ecosystems subtly guide you toward restoring them.

As your understanding of the Gourmet Path deepens, so too does your Appetite Voice. It gradually expands to encompass every compatible form of life and existence you encounter throughout your Chain, allowing communication even where language would normally be impossible. Whether speaking to an ancient tree, a colony of microorganisms, a legendary beast, a magical forest, a living dungeon, an intelligent artifact, or an entire ecosystem, you can always understand one another so long as meaningful communication is possible. Your words naturally carry the respect, empathy, and sincerity that define a true Gourmet.

Gourmet Senses [100 CP Each / 400 CP for All]

The Gourmet Path begins with perception. By refining your senses beyond mortal limits, you can perceive a world hidden from ordinary beings.

Each purchase enhances one of your senses to legendary levels, comparable to the greatest masters of Toriko. Every enhanced sense naturally improves alongside your overall growth and extends to compatible supernatural energies, lifeforms, and phenomena.

Your senses are perfectly regulated. This extraordinary sensitivity never causes discomfort, sensory overload, unwanted distractions, or prevents you from enjoying ordinary meals, everyday life, or your surroundings. Likewise, your heightened senses cannot be turned against you through overwhelming stimuli, sensory attacks, information overload, or similar attempts to exploit their increased sensitivity unless such effects would overwhelm your overall abilities through sheer power.

Gourmet Nose [100 CP]

Your sense of smell reaches legendary heights. Every scent becomes a source of information, allowing you to identify ingredients, creatures, poisons, diseases, compatible energies, emotions, weather, environments, and individuals from incredible distances. You may follow countless scent trails simultaneously, distinguish the faintest traces left years or even centuries ago where an original source remains, and effortlessly locate hidden ingredients or concealed beings. A single scent can reveal species, ancestry, age, health, biological condition, compatible energy systems, habits, favorite foods, reproductive state, and countless other details. Even invisible or naturally concealed locations often reveal themselves through subtle traces others could never perceive.

Gourmet Eyes [100 CP]

Your eyesight reaches legendary levels. You perceive microscopic details, immense distances, weak points, internal structures, energy flows, camouflage, illusions, and environmental changes with perfect clarity. Your eyes naturally perceive compatible wavelengths and forms of energy beyond ordinary sight, allowing you to observe magical, spiritual, biological, technological, and other compatible phenomena.

Your perception of movement becomes extraordinary, making even the fastest motions appear slow enough to accurately analyze and react to. You instinctively recognize patterns, probabilities, and subtle changes, allowing remarkably accurate predictions based on what you observe. Whether reading countless moving objects simultaneously, identifying minute flaws, or foreseeing the likely outcome of unfolding events, your eyes constantly reveal information others would never notice.

Gourmet Ears [100 CP]

Your hearing becomes unparalleled. Conversations across cities, distant heartbeats, shifting air currents, structural vibrations, compatible energy fluctuations, and countless other sounds become perfectly distinguishable. You can isolate individual sounds from overwhelming noise while recognizing details that others would never notice.

Your hearing extends beyond ordinary sound. Changes in rhythm, breathing, heartbeat, movement, intent, and countless subtle vibrations naturally reveal information about your surroundings. You instinctively recognize approaching danger, hidden life, environmental changes, and even the moment an opponent approaches defeat through the countless subtle sounds produced by the world itself.

Gourmet Touch [100 CP]

Your sense of touch becomes impossibly refined. Every part of your body possesses fingertip-level sensitivity without any accompanying drawbacks. You constantly perceive pressure, vibration, airflow, temperature, movement, texture, structural integrity, compatible energies, and life signs throughout your surroundings.

This awareness extends far beyond direct contact. Your tactile perception naturally spreads throughout the nearby environment, allowing you to continuously perceive everything within a considerable radius as though gently touching it yourself. Hidden creatures, incoming attacks, invisible objects, environmental hazards, and subtle changes become immediately apparent, granting extraordinary spatial awareness and precision without relying upon sight.

Gourmet Tongue [100 CP]

Your sense of taste surpasses all ordinary limitations. A single taste reveals an ingredient's composition, quality, freshness, nutritional value, beneficial properties, impurities, poisons, medicines, compatible supernatural effects, ideal preparation methods, and hidden potential. You instinctively recognize perfect flavor balance and may distinguish differences so subtle that they would be completely imperceptible to others.

Your extraordinary palate never becomes a burden. This heightened sensitivity never causes discomfort, sensory overload, or prevents you from enjoying ordinary meals. Nor may it be exploited through unpleasant flavors, overwhelming tastes, or similar sensory attacks. You retain complete control over what you perceive, allowing you to appreciate both humble home cooking and the greatest gourmet feasts alike.

Boosted: Perfect Gourmet Senses

Requires: All Five Gourmet Senses

Your five senses cease functioning as separate faculties and instead become a single, unified perception, beginning at a level comparable to Guinness, the Wolf King, one of the Eight Kings. Like his, your perception continually evolves alongside every other aspect of your existence without possessing an upper limit.

Every sense reinforces every other. You may smell shape, hear movement, taste energy, feel intent, see sound, and freely interpret information through whichever sense is most appropriate. Losing one or more senses no longer meaningfully impairs your awareness, as the remainder instinctively compensate.

Your perception evolves beyond conventional sight. Darkness, illusions, camouflage, invisibility, optical deception, and ordinary attempts to conceal compatible phenomena become largely irrelevant. Your senses naturally perceive compatible energies, life force, souls, Gourmet Cells, Appetite Energy, magical power, spiritual power, dimensional structures, concepts, information, probability, causality, and countless other compatible phenomena. As you continue growing, your perception continually evolves beyond what would traditionally be considered True Sight, Divine Sight, Mystic Eyes, Sage Perception, or similar abilities, naturally adapting to perceive every compatible aspect of reality you encounter.

Your awareness reaches extraordinary levels, rivaling and eventually surpassing the greatest sensory abilities in fiction. Like an endlessly evolving form of Observation Haki, your awareness constantly encompasses your surroundings, instinctively recognizing danger, hostile intent, hidden opportunities, environmental changes, weaknesses, disturbances, and significant events long before they become obvious. Surprise becomes increasingly difficult as your awareness continues expanding alongside your own growth.

Like Guinness, every trace tells a story. A single scent, sound, vibration, taste, or touch may reveal an individual's species, ancestry, age, health, compatible energy systems, abilities, emotions, habits, history, preferred environment, favorite foods, Appetite, and countless other details. Organic and inorganic matter alike naturally reveal their composition, structure, history, and condition through careful observation.

Like Coco, your perception naturally extends beyond ordinary reality. Every compatible energy, force, wavelength, field, and phenomenon becomes as obvious as color, allowing you to instinctively predict movement, recognize intentions, identify weaknesses, understand complex systems, and foresee the most likely outcomes of unfolding events through observation alone.

Like Sunny, your awareness fills the surrounding world. Everything within your perception exists as a complete three-dimensional model regardless of visibility, allowing invisible creatures, hidden structures, environmental hazards, attacks, and subtle changes to become immediately apparent without relying upon direct line of sight.

Like Zebra, you hear far more than sound. Every compatible being, object, ecosystem, dimension, and phenomenon possesses its own rhythm. You instinctively perceive these rhythms and recognize disturbances within them. You may hear the approach of danger, the collapse of structures, the flow of energy, the heartbeat of worlds, the movement of distant stars, or the footsteps of death itself, sensing when something has reached the point where its end has become all but inevitable. Your hearing continues expanding without limit, eventually allowing you to perceive sounds and vibrations across planets, star systems, galaxies, dimensions, and even greater distances whenever compatible means of transmission exist. Distance alone ceases to be a meaningful barrier to your hearing.

Beyond the traditional senses, you awaken every compatible higher sense your existence can support. Every new form of perception you acquire throughout your Chain is seamlessly integrated into this unified awareness, continuously strengthening every other sense rather than existing separately.

Despite the immeasurable amount of information available, your perception remains perfectly ordered. You instinctively focus upon what matters while filtering out distractions. Your senses can never become a burden, be overloaded, or be turned against you through excessive information, sensory attacks, or similar effects unless they would completely overwhelm your overall abilities through sheer power.

Nothing that can be perceived remains beyond your notice for long. As your existence evolves, so too does your perception, forever revealing deeper truths about reality and allowing you to understand the universe with ever-increasing clarity.

Natural Presence [400 CP]

The greatest Gourmet Hunters are not unseen because they hide.

They are unseen because nature accepts them.

You possess complete control over your presence. Sight, sound, smell, body heat, vibrations, killing intent, life force, Appetite Energy, magical aura, spiritual pressure, psychic signature, and every other method of detection may be reduced, altered, or concealed at will.

While moving with appropriate care, your presence naturally blends into your surroundings. Creatures instinctively overlook you as part of the environment unless they have reason to actively search for you. Even automated sensors, supernatural detection, divination, tracking abilities, and similar methods find you remarkably difficult to perceive.

This is not invisibility.

Rather, the world itself subtly treats you as though you belong exactly where you are.

Likewise, you instinctively understand how your own presence affects the environment, allowing you to move without disturbing air currents, water, snow, vegetation, loose gravel, or other natural signs unless you deliberately choose otherwise.

Boosted: The Unseen Course

Requires: Natural Presence + Appetite Manifestation

You may conceal not only yourself, but the powers you use.

Any energy, technique, spell, projectile, manifestation, aura, curse, construct, transformation effect, or similar ability you create may become completely imperceptible to sight, supernatural senses, spiritual awareness, magical detection, psychic perception, technological sensors, and comparable methods.

A Ki blast may produce no visible light or detectable energy. An Appetite construct may be impossible to sense. A spell may reveal no magical signature. A psychic attack may create no mental disturbance before it lands. A spatial technique may produce no detectable distortion, while a transformation may occur without an obvious supernatural release.

The concealment remains after the effect leaves you. Beams, projectiles, traps, delayed attacks, fields, summoned weapons, remote techniques, and similar manifestations can remain hidden throughout their operation.

You may conceal individual properties separately and decide who can perceive them. Allies may see a technique normally while enemies detect nothing, or an opponent may see an attack while being unable to sense the energy powering it.

Activation signs such as energy buildup, supernatural pressure, flashes, magical circles, ambient disturbances, dimensional fluctuations, and similar warnings may also be hidden whenever they are not fundamentally required for the ability to function.

This does not erase physical consequences. An unseen fireball can still produce an explosion, an invisible slash still leaves a wound, and a hidden gravitational attack still moves whatever it affects. Observers may infer that an attack occurred from its aftermath, but they cannot directly perceive the concealed effect itself.

Concealment does not automatically make an attack unavoidable. Prediction, extraordinary instinct, knowledge of your habits, or other methods that do not directly perceive the hidden effect may still provide a way to respond.

You may suppress or restore this concealment instantly and independently for any ability you use.

The prey may understand what happened after the wound appears. It does not need to see the predator's teeth beforehand.

The Gourmet Path

Power without mastery is just an ingredient waiting to be prepared.

These Perks improve learning, refinement, efficiency, integration, imitation, energy control, Food Honor, and the ability to apply everything you know in increasingly versatile ways.

Every skill becomes another flavor.

Every discipline becomes another course.

Eventually, the distinction between them begins to disappear.

Gourmet Genius (Tiered Perk) [100 / 200 / 400 / 600 / 800 CP]

The Gourmet Age rewards obsession.

Toriko pursued ingredients no one else could capture. Komatsu turned impossible foods into masterpieces. Melk devoted an entire life to blades. Jiro refined Knocking until even planetary forces could be treated like pressure points.

You possess that same terrifying potential for mastery.

Choose one learnable skill, profession, art, science, craft, or discipline as your Main Course. Cooking, hunting, Knocking, Saisei, biology, medicine, swordsmanship, engineering, martial arts, mathematics, magic, cultivation, music, strategy, or almost any other field may qualify.

Your Main Course represents the subject your talent naturally devours fastest.

This perk improves learning speed, comprehension, training, practical refinement, creativity, problem solving, experimentation, productivity, and your ability to turn knowledge into genuine skill. It does not merely make you memorize information faster. You understand what you learn, recognize why it works, and become increasingly capable of improving upon it.

Every other learnable discipline benefits as well. Secondary fields begin at half the talent multiplier of your Main Course, but this difference is not permanent. Through genuine practice and meaningful experience, you may gradually raise your personal aptitude in any secondary discipline until it equals your Main Course. Once raised, it never falls.

Your talent also extends to efficiency. As your mastery rises, you instinctively eliminate wasted movement, unnecessary steps, excessive materials, poor yields, failed attempts, wasted energy, and other inefficiencies. When superior skill can legitimately reduce what a task requires, you need less time, fewer ingredients, less material, less energy, and fewer expendable resources to achieve the same finished result.

This cannot create matter from nothing or remove something genuinely indispensable. A recipe that absolutely requires one unique ingredient still requires it, and an object that physically contains ten kilograms of material still needs those ten kilograms. What you eliminate is waste, excess, and inefficient use.

Tier 1 may be purchased repeatedly to designate additional Main Courses. Higher tiers automatically improve every Main Course and every secondary discipline you have trained.

[Tier] Gourmet Prodigy [100 CP]

Your Main Course develops at roughly x10 the normal rate, while other learnable disciplines develop at x5.

You possess the instincts of an exceptional natural talent. Concepts that require months of practice may become comfortable in weeks, mistakes reveal their causes quickly, and good teachers find you remarkably easy to instruct.

Even unfamiliar aspects of your Main Course tend to feel recognizable once you begin working with them. A Chef quickly understands an unfamiliar cuisine, a Hunter adapts rapidly to new prey, and a Knocker recognizes the logic behind an unfamiliar pressure point.

Your skilled work also requires roughly 10% fewer consumable resources whenever better technique can reasonably improve efficiency. A Chef wastes less meat while butchering, a Craftsman loses less precious material during forging, and a Saiseiya stretches medicinal supplies further without reducing the quality of treatment.

You have found the course your Gourmet Cells were born to taste.

[Tier] Heavenly Talent [200 CP]

Your Main Course rises to x100, while other disciplines rise to x50.

Your talent has entered the realm of the extraordinary.

You rapidly recognize patterns, underlying principles, hidden relationships, and inefficient methods. Knowledge from closely related fields naturally spills over into your specialty, allowing progress in one subject to illuminate another.

When skill is the main limitation, suitable work may be completed roughly x10 faster without sacrificing quality.

A month's worth of culinary experimentation may be compressed into days. A difficult hunt can be planned with remarkable speed. Research, surgery, smithing, training, or technical work similarly accelerates wherever your own expertise is what normally consumes the time.

Your efficiency likewise improves. Equivalent results may require roughly 25% fewer consumable resources whenever superior skill can compensate.

To ordinary experts, mastery is a destination. To you, it is breakfast.

[Tier] Gourmet Monster [400 CP]

Your Main Course reaches x10,000, while other disciplines reach x5,000.

You are now the sort of talent that makes established masters reconsider what should be possible.

Meaningful attempts produce insight even when they fail. A ruined dish reveals exactly where its preparation went wrong. A broken blade teaches you something about the material. A missed strike exposes weaknesses in your technique. An unsuccessful experiment still gives you useful information rather than merely consuming resources.

Your creativity scales alongside your learning. Once you understand the foundations of a discipline, you naturally begin developing new techniques, recipes, theories, tools, strategies, and applications rather than simply reproducing what already exists.

Suitable skilled work may proceed roughly x100 faster where greater expertise can legitimately accelerate it.

Comparable finished results may also require roughly 50% fewer consumable resources where skill can influence the process. You still need the ingredients that genuinely matter. You are simply terrifyingly good at making certain that nothing valuable is wasted.

The Gourmet World is full of monsters. Some of them carry knives instead of claws.

[Tier] Full Course Genius [600 CP]

Your Main Course reaches x1,000,000, while other disciplines reach x500,000.

At this level, calling you a prodigy has become inadequate.

Your mind approaches difficult work like a Full Course, many separate preparations serving one final result. You can maintain roughly fifty specialist-level lines of skilled thought or work simultaneously without meaningful loss of precision.

A Chef may coordinate dozens of preparations at once. A Researcher can test numerous hypotheses in parallel. A Craftsman can mentally track every component of a colossal construction. A martial artist may analyze an opponent, refine technique, regulate breathing, track the battlefield, and formulate counters simultaneously.

Where a task can genuinely be accelerated through expertise, organization, parallel work, or superior technique, suitable projects may proceed up to roughly x10,000 faster.

Your resource efficiency becomes equally extreme. You may achieve an equivalent finished result with roughly 90% fewer consumable resources whenever greater mastery can actually compensate. A spoonful of a legendary seasoning might accomplish what another Chef would need an entire jar to achieve because you extract nearly every worthwhile property from it.

Your ability to optimize also reaches absurd levels. If a task possesses a realistic theoretical minimum determined primarily by technique, coordination, or expertise, you may eventually outperform that conventional minimum by as much as 50%, provided your skill can genuinely influence the limiting factor.

This does not make crops instantly mature because you understand farming or force an immutable chemical reaction to happen faster through talent alone. It allows impossible-looking performance wherever mastery can actually matter.

A Full Course is eight dishes working toward one perfect meal. Your mind has learned the same principle.

[Tier] Genius of the Endless Menu [800 CP]

Your Main Course reaches x100,000,000, while every other learnable discipline begins at x50,000,000.

There is no longer such a thing as a field being outside your talents.

Complexity, novelty, alien methodology, or unfamiliar terminology do not inherently reduce your aptitude. A completely foreign discipline still needs to be encountered and understood, but once genuine learning begins, your full talent applies normally.

Every secondary discipline may be trained until it reaches the same x100,000,000 multiplier as your Main Courses. Given enough genuine practice, your list of specialties can expand without limit.

Your productivity undergoes its final transformation. Where greater skill, thought, coordination, technique, automation, or parallel activity can accelerate a task, you may perform suitable skilled work up to roughly x1,000,000 faster than an equally equipped ordinary professional.

This does not simply mean moving your hands faster. You optimize preparation, eliminate unnecessary stages, perform vast amounts of thought simultaneously, coordinate countless sub-processes, and discover more efficient methods as naturally as a Gourmet Chef adjusts seasoning.

Processes whose duration is fundamentally external still require a legitimate way to accelerate them. A tree does not mature instantly because you know botany, but you can optimize every condition, manage immense cultivation operations simultaneously, devise improved methods, and exploit any genuine avenue available for accelerating its growth.

Your resource efficiency becomes monstrous. Where the result depends upon how effectively available resources are used, you may achieve an equivalent finished product using as little as 1% of the consumable resources normally required.

A Gourmet Chef may draw an entire banquet's worth of value from portions another Chef would squander on one dish. A Craftsman can make legendary material stretch across projects once thought impossible. A Researcher wastes virtually nothing during experimentation. A Saiseiya may turn a tiny reserve of priceless medicine into enough treatment to save entire communities.

This still cannot reduce an absolute requirement below what the finished result genuinely needs. If a ritual truly consumes one unique divine heart, you still need the heart. If a machine physically requires a particular quantity of irreplaceable material as part of its finished construction, that material must still exist.

But anything lost to poor extraction, inefficient processing, unnecessary excess, failed attempts, conventional methodology, or simple waste becomes another weakness for your talent to devour.

Your accumulated expertise also begins cross-pollinating on an absurd scale. Cooking teaches chemistry. Chemistry deepens medicine. Medicine improves Saisei. Saisei reveals biology. Biology expands Gourmet Cell research. Gourmet Cell research inspires martial evolution. Thousands of apparently unrelated disciplines become ingredients in the same intellectual Full Course.

You possess functional omnicompetence across subjects you have genuinely had the opportunity to learn, but this does not grant information you have never encountered, automatically provide supernatural powers merely because they involve skill, or bypass genuine prerequisites required to practice a discipline.

You remain a student.

You have simply become the sort of student who can look across the Gourmet World, see an endless horizon of impossible disciplines, and ask only one question:

What course is next?

At first, you were born for one course. At the end, time, talent, and every precious ingredient on the Endless Menu are yours to use without waste.

Universal Application [200 CP]

A true master sees no distinction between a weapon and a tool.

You instinctively understand how to apply every compatible ability, power, technique, element, energy, transformation, technology, or supernatural phenomenon you possess outside of combat.

Fire may roast, sear, sterilize, smelt, weld, or incubate. Ice may preserve, cool, stabilize, or refine. Lightning may stimulate life, power machinery, or perform delicate surgery. Gravity may press, shape, or knead. Sound may tenderize, diagnose, communicate, or precisely manipulate matter. Poison may become medicine, fertilizer, preservatives, or catalysts. Every compatible power naturally reveals countless peaceful, productive, and creative applications.

Likewise, you instinctively discover entirely new techniques that use your abilities for cooking, hunting, Knocking, restoration, craftsmanship, research, agriculture, transportation, construction, and ordinary daily life.

As you acquire new powers throughout your Chain, they automatically reveal similarly compatible applications without requiring you to rediscover these principles from scratch.

For others, power exists to destroy.
For you, power exists to create.

Gourmet Tempo [400 CP]

A true Gourmet Master does not waste motion, heat, thought, or time.

Whenever you perform a task you genuinely know how to complete, your effective work speed increases roughly x1,000 without sacrificing precision, quality, control, or safety.

Cooking, crafting, research, construction, healing, Knocking, cultivation, rituals, calculations, repairs, training, enchantment, surgery, and similar deliberate work all benefit. One thousand hours of your own labor may be compressed into roughly one.

This accelerates the whole process you personally control, not merely how fast your hands move. Measuring, shaping, thinking, adjusting, preparing, and other valid steps are compressed together.

External requirements still matter unless another ability can accelerate them. A century-aged ingredient still needs a century if its maturation itself cannot be sped up.

Other speed abilities stack normally.

Komatsu learned to prepare impossible ingredients before the opportunity vanished. You learned to make the entire kitchen move at the speed of Appetite.

Energy Is an Ingredient [400 CP]

The Gourmet World teaches one lesson repeatedly: everything can become an ingredient if you know how to prepare it.

You may substitute compatible personal energy for ordinary consumable materials and resources required by your abilities, crafts, techniques, rituals, spells, repairs, constructions, or preparations.

Metal, fuel, reagents, ink, catalysts, mundane spell components, medicine, ammunition, construction material, crafting supplies, and similar expendables may be replaced with Gourmet Energy, Mana, Ki, Chakra, spiritual power, or another suitable reserve.

The cost scales with the amount, quality, complexity, and supernatural potency of what is being replaced. Common steel is cheap. Divine metal is not.

Your energy temporarily assumes the functional properties needed for the recipe without permanently ceasing to be your energy.

This cannot replace things whose specific identity or sacrifice is the actual requirement, such as a unique relic, a particular soul, a named person, an achievement, fiat ownership, or a singular artifact.

If the recipe needs silver, energy can become the silver.

If the recipe needs the only knife ever forged by Melk himself, you still need that knife unless another ability says otherwise.

A lesser Chef fears an empty pantry. You look at your Gourmet Energy and see ingredients waiting to be prepared.

Refined Gourmet Energy [400 CP]

Raw power is only the beginning.

The Gourmet World does not merely produce larger beasts. It produces denser flesh, richer ingredients, stronger cells, and energy refined through countless meals and battles.

Every compatible form of internal energy you possess, including Gourmet Energy, Appetite Energy, Mana, Chakra, Ki, Qi, spiritual power, psychic energy, divine power, cultivation energy, life force, soul energy, and similar reserves, continuously refines itself into a purer, denser, and higher-quality state.

This does not simply increase the amount of energy you possess. Instead, each unit of energy gradually carries more usable power, greater stability, greater penetration, better resistance to disruption, and superior efficiency than an equivalent amount of its former state.

A reserve that once required one hundred units to produce an effect may eventually accomplish the same result with ten, one, or even less as its quality rises.

Higher density does not make your energy harder to control. The opposite occurs. Your refined energy becomes increasingly obedient, allowing enormous amounts of power to be compressed into tiny volumes, circulated through delicate pathways, released without waste, and shaped with extreme precision.

You could place enough Gourmet Energy to flatten a mountain into the edge of a Knife without damaging the hand holding it, compress tremendous Mana into a single spell without destabilizing it, or circulate immense cultivation energy through microscopic channels without tearing them apart.

Purification also removes unnecessary impurities, turbulence, leakage, instability, conflicting residue, and similar flaws while preserving beneficial properties. Fire Mana remains suited for fire, divine power remains divine, Appetite Energy still carries Appetite, and specialized energies retain what makes them valuable.

Refinement is progressive rather than instant. Training, cultivation, combat, meditation, Gourmet Cell evolution, powerful ingredients, energy-rich environments, and repeated use steadily improve the quality of your reserves.

There is no fixed final grade inherent to this Perk. If your other growth abilities allow continued improvement, your energies may continue becoming denser and purer alongside you.

A lesser predator carries an ocean of power. A Gourmet monster learns how to fit that ocean into a single bite.

Harmonization [300 CP]

Power was never meant to exist in isolation.

Whether gained through Gourmet Cells, Appetite Energy, bloodlines, magic, cultivation, technology, divine blessings, supernatural abilities, or any other source, your various powers instinctively work together instead of competing for dominance.

Whenever two or more compatible abilities could reinforce one another, they naturally begin integrating into a stronger whole. Conflicting energies stabilize, redundant abilities merge, overlapping strengths amplify one another, and entirely new applications emerge from their interaction. Genuine incompatibilities become increasingly rare as your understanding grows.

Likewise, mastery in one discipline naturally accelerates mastery in related fields. Knowledge gained through cooking may improve craftsmanship, Knocking may enhance healing, research may inspire new techniques, and experience with one energy system often deepens your understanding of others.

Perhaps most importantly, similar abilities never become obsolete. Whenever two or more perks, techniques, bloodlines, talents, or powers produce identical or closely related effects, they combine into a single stronger expression instead of leaving one redundant.

Two regeneration abilities become one superior healing factor.

Multiple learning perks combine into a greater aptitude for growth.

Several sources of physical strength, durability, perception, resistance, or lifespan all reinforce one another.

Likewise, reductions stack naturally. Multiple abilities that reduce energy costs, cooldowns, weaknesses, material requirements, or similar limitations continue improving one another with diminishing returns, ensuring every compatible ability remains valuable without becoming unbalanced.

As your collection of abilities grows, so too does the number of possible interactions between them. Every new strength enriches every compatible strength you already possess, allowing your entire collection to become steadily greater than the sum of its parts.

Your powers are no longer separate systems.

They have become a single living ecosystem.

Boosted: Higher Order Appetite

Requires: Refined Gourmet Energy + Harmonization + Cell Evolution

Your energies no longer merely become denser. They begin evolving into higher-order expressions of themselves.

Whenever an energy system possesses legitimate higher states, such as refined Qi, divine Mana, superior Chakra, spiritual pressure of greater purity, condensed life force, ascended cultivation energy, or similar evolutions, you instinctively understand how to progress toward them.

If no official higher state exists, your Gourmet Cells may gradually develop one through genuine refinement.

Each higher order retains the useful properties of the original while becoming harder to disperse, corrupt, suppress, dilute, absorb, or overwhelm with lower-quality equivalents.

Against energies of comparable quantity but inferior quality, yours naturally possesses the advantage. A small amount of vastly denser energy may overpower, pierce, suppress, or resist a much larger quantity of crude energy when the difference in quality is sufficient.

This is still not infinite power. Quantity matters, overwhelming superiority matters, and stronger beings can still overpower you.

But energy quality itself has become another axis of growth.

With Harmonization, different energy systems may refine alongside one another without losing their identities. With Cell Evolution, your body, soul, Gourmet Cells, pathways, organs, and internal structures continuously adapt to safely contain increasingly absurd density.

You may freely choose how compressed or relaxed your energy remains. A higher-order reserve can be released gently enough to cook an egg, reinforce a single cell, heal delicate tissue, or erupt with its full weight against prey worthy of tasting it.

The Gourmet World taught you that Capture Level is not determined by size alone. A single drop from the right ingredient can contain more flavor than an ocean. Your energy has learned the same lesson.

Boosted: The Meal Is Already Served

Requires: Gourmet Tempo + Energy Is an Ingredient + Harmonization + Universal Application

At the highest level of the Gourmet Age, hunting, preparation, cooking, and serving are no longer separate stages.

For any action you genuinely know how to perform and are presently capable of completing, you may compress the entire valid process into a single completed action.

A weapon that should take months to forge may be completed in one act.

A vast meal may be prepared and served immediately.

A machine may be assembled with a touch.

A ritual may collapse from hours of work into one gesture.

Healing, Knocking, research, repairs, enchanting, construction, cultivation refinement, calculations, and similar tasks may likewise be completed instantly.

You are still performing the full process. Gourmet Tempo compresses the labor, while Energy Is an Ingredient may supply any substitutable resources.

Most importantly, every relevant perk, ability, skill, technique, transformation, sense, energy system, and passive advantage you possess automatically contributes to the final result whenever it could legitimately improve the action.

Crafting perks improve the creation.

Cooking perks improve the dish.

Research perks improve the analysis.

Food Honor removes waste.

Perfect Fundamentals sharpens execution.

Harmonization combines compatible strengths.

Refined Gourmet Energy improves substituted energy.

Gourmet Genius contributes talent and creativity.

You do not need to consciously activate or remember thousands of compatible bonuses. If it could properly improve the course, it is included.

You still need the actual knowledge and capability to perform the action. Genuine unique prerequisites, required individuals, achievements, irreplaceable sacrifices, and conditions you cannot otherwise satisfy remain.

With Bottomless Full Course, finite energy costs cease to matter.

With Banquet of the Monkey King, thousands of such completed actions may be performed at once.

With Full Course Territory, entire regions may become your kitchen.

A normal Chef gathers the ingredients, follows every step, and finally serves the meal. Your Appetite already sees the finished course, so reality learns to catch up.

Food Honor [200 CP]

Food is a gift.

Every ingredient, every hunt, every harvest, every meal, and every life exists because something gave of itself. To truly understand food is to respect it from the moment it is gathered until the moment it becomes part of you.

You have mastered the philosophy and techniques of Food Honor, reaching the level taught within the legendary Shokurin Temple.

Every movement becomes calmer, smoother, and more efficient. Whether fighting, cooking, hunting, crafting, exercising, researching, or performing delicate work, you instinctively eliminate wasted motion, unnecessary effort, and inefficient habits.

Likewise, your body learns to waste almost nothing. Calories, nutrients, Gourmet Energy, physical effort, mental effort, time, materials, and every other valuable resource are used with exceptional efficiency. While this never creates energy from nothing, it ensures that almost everything available to you is put to meaningful use. As a result, your techniques, skills, spells, and compatible abilities become approximately 25% more effective while requiring roughly 50% fewer physical, mental, and compatible energy resources to achieve the same results.

Food Honor is also the highest expression of control. Your mastery extends beyond Appetite Energy, greatly improving your precision, efficiency, conservation, and fine manipulation of every compatible power system you possess. Whether using Appetite Energy, Mana, Chakra, Ki, Chi, Qi, Psionic Energy, Spiritual Power, Divine Power, or any other compatible force, you instinctively know exactly how much power is required for any task and how to apply it with the greatest possible efficiency. Waste, leakage, and unnecessary expenditure are reduced by approximately 90%, while your fine control develops roughly five times faster through use and training. Mastering control with one compatible energy naturally strengthens your mastery over all the others, and this discipline gradually extends to your body, mind, soul, Gourmet Cells, Appetite, and every compatible aspect of your existence.

Food Honor also grants extraordinary mental discipline. You exist in a state comparable to constant meditation and Zen unless you deliberately leave it. This counts as continuously meditating for the purposes of any compatible cultivation system, spiritual practice, enlightenment, passive energy gathering, comprehension, regeneration, perception, or other abilities that benefit from meditation, while never preventing you from acting normally.

You still experience every emotion, instinct, desire, and appetite exactly as before. Hunger still urges you to eat, gluttony still delights in an incredible feast, anger still burns, fear still warns, joy still uplifts, and love still inspires. However, they never overwhelm your judgment. You acknowledge every emotion completely, understand it fully, and consciously decide how it influences your actions. No impulse, craving, or emotional surge can control you unless you willingly allow it.

This clarity greatly strengthens your connection to your Appetite, making it far easier to distinguish your true desires from fleeting impulses, resist manipulation or temptation, and remain true to yourself regardless of circumstance.

Every action reflects respect.

Every movement has purpose.

Nothing of value is wasted.

Boosted: Gourmet Energy Mastery

Requires: Appetite Energy [Heavenly King Tier or higher] + Food Honor

Raw power alone is not enough.

Through perfect control, discipline, and understanding, you have mastered the true art of manipulating Gourmet Energy. Every manifestation becomes more refined, efficient, and versatile, allowing techniques to consume less energy while becoming significantly more powerful.

Your creations display extraordinary precision and may be continuously shaped, combined, and modified in the middle of combat or any other activity. Existing techniques naturally improve through use, while entirely new applications become much easier to develop.

Rather than simply learning techniques, you instinctively understand the principles behind them, allowing you to recreate, combine, or evolve almost any form of Gourmet Energy manipulation you witness.

Food Immersion [100 CP]

Requires: Food Honor

Respecting food before eating it is only the beginning.

True masters continue respecting it long after it has become part of themselves.

Your body now extracts nearly everything an ingredient has to offer. Calories, nutrients, Gourmet Energy, beneficial compounds, and compatible supernatural properties are absorbed and integrated with extraordinary efficiency, allowing almost nothing of value to go to waste. You also no longer have a practical upper limit to how much you can eat; your stomach functions as a vast pocket dimension, capable of comfortably storing incredible quantities of food and drink without hindering you.

Temporary benefits gained through food last significantly longer, while permanent improvements integrate more completely into your Gourmet Cells and body. Your internal reserves of biological energy, Gourmet Energy, and every other compatible internal energy source grow steadily without suffering the normal drawbacks of overeating, allowing you to remain active for extraordinary lengths of time using stored nourishment alone.

Digestion itself becomes another form of cultivation. Even while resting, sleeping, training, traveling, or going about your daily life, your body continuously refines, optimizes, purifies, and integrates everything you have consumed. The longer an ingredient remains within your body, the more completely its beneficial qualities become your own.

This cultivation extends beyond ordinary food. Any compatible medicine, potion, pill, elixir, supplement, cultivation resource, energy-rich consumable, or similar substance you safely ingest is refined with the same extraordinary efficiency. Beneficial effects are strengthened and retained, while impurities, waste, and harmful side effects are naturally reduced or removed wherever reasonably possible.

As long as there is something left to digest, your body is always benefiting and training. Your Gourmet Cells, Appetite, body, mind, soul, compatible energy systems, and every other compatible aspect of your existence continuously benefit from this refinement, making digestion itself another step along the Gourmet Path.

This does not create additional power from what you consume.

It simply ensures that you lose almost none of the power that was already there.

Intuition [200 CP]

Thought is often too slow.

You have awakened Intuition, reaching a level comparable to Sunny after his training with Guemon. Your body, senses, Gourmet Cells, and Appetite continuously gather and process information beneath your conscious awareness, allowing you to instinctively recognize patterns, predict outcomes, and choose appropriate actions before conscious thought could keep pace.

This extends far beyond ordinary perception. Tiny movements, changes in breathing, scents, pheromones, fluctuations in Gourmet Energy, environmental disturbances, behavioral patterns, and countless other details are unconsciously combined into complete conclusions that simply feel like instinct.

Likewise, every skill naturally becomes more intuitive through practice. The more thoroughly you master a technique, the less conscious effort it requires, allowing familiar abilities to become faster, smoother, and more efficient while freeing your attention for more important matters.

Your awareness of the world improves tremendously, making hidden creatures, concealed dangers, escape routes, opportunities, and subtle weaknesses much easier to notice, even when you cannot consciously explain how you recognized them.

You are not predicting the future. You have simply become exceptionally good at understanding the present.

Perfect Food Honor [400 CP]

Requires: Food Honor, Food Immersion, and Intuition

Your understanding of Food Honor has surpassed mastery, becoming a state worthy of the Gourmet Gods themselves.

Your body, mind, soul, Appetite, Gourmet Cells, and every compatible aspect of your existence exist in perfect harmony. Your natural state is one of perpetual enlightenment, profound meditation, and absolute inner peace without diminishing your personality, emotions, ambitions, or desires.

You are considered to constantly be in the highest possible state of continuous meditation for every compatible system you possess. Whether cultivating, comprehending laws, gathering energy, refining your body or soul, recovering, researching, enchanting, crafting, or pursuing enlightenment, you receive the full benefits of uninterrupted deep meditation while remaining completely free to fight, travel, cook, sleep, speak, or perform any other activity.

Your Intuition matures into effortless understanding. Your subconscious continuously analyzes your surroundings, your opponents, your own condition, and every compatible source of information available to you. Complex calculations, pattern recognition, timing, danger assessment, cooking, combat, craftsmanship, research, and countless other tasks become increasingly instinctive, allowing your conscious mind to focus only on what truly requires thought.

Likewise, digestion becomes a perfect cycle of cultivation. Every compatible benefit obtained through food, medicine, energy, cultivation resources, or similar consumables is extracted, refined, and integrated with near-perfect efficiency. Temporary benefits last dramatically longer, permanent gains integrate more completely, and your internal reserves continuously refine themselves while you live, breathe, and rest. Nothing of value is wasted.

Your techniques, skills, spells, and compatible abilities become approximately 300% more effective while requiring roughly 95% fewer physical, mental, and compatible energy resources to achieve the same results.

Your mastery of control borders upon perfection. Waste, leakage, and unnecessary expenditure are reduced by approximately 99.99%, while your precision, efficiency, and fine control improve roughly tenfold. Mastery of one compatible discipline, energy system, or technique naturally accelerates your mastery of every other compatible discipline, allowing your entire foundation to grow together.

Your calm, enlightened mind dramatically accelerates learning, comprehension, cultivation, training, recovery, craftsmanship, research, self-improvement, and every other compatible form of growth by approximately one hundred times. Insights arrive naturally, difficult concepts become far easier to grasp, and periods of reflection consistently produce meaningful breakthroughs. Practice that would normally require months may take days, years of study may become weeks, and even the most complex disciplines steadily reveal themselves through patience and experience. This acceleration applies equally to your body, mind, soul, Appetite, Gourmet Cells, compatible energy systems, professions, techniques, and every other compatible aspect of your existence, while never replacing the need for genuine effort, understanding, or experience.

Your emotions become a source of clarity rather than distraction. Hunger, gluttony, anger, fear, ambition, love, curiosity, and every other instinct remain as vivid as ever, yet none can overwhelm your judgment. You understand every desire completely and consciously choose whether to embrace or reject it.

Finally, your serenity naturally spreads to those around you. Allies, companions, students, and compatible beings nearby find it easier to remain calm, meditate, cultivate, recover, learn, and master themselves without losing their individuality. You may suppress or direct this influence at will.

You no longer merely practice Food Honor.

You have become its perfect expression.

Boosted: Perfect Flow

Requires: Food Honor, Food Immersion & Intuition

Thought and instinct have become one.

Your conscious and subconscious mind now function in perfect harmony. Every ability, perk, technique, and skill you possess may activate automatically whenever your subconscious determines that you would have chosen to do so had you calmly considered the situation for one minute.

Your subconscious possesses your memories, knowledge, personality, morals, priorities, judgment, and experience. It never acts against your genuine wishes, only carrying out the decisions you yourself would have made given the opportunity to think.

This remains true regardless of your condition. Sleep, unconsciousness, paralysis, intoxication, mental interference, extreme injury, or similar impairments no longer prevent you from responding appropriately, provided some part of your existence remains capable of acting.

Likewise, your abilities continuously optimize themselves. Passive powers remain perfectly maintained, active techniques activate at appropriate moments, and complex combinations are executed with flawless timing, coordination, and efficiency without requiring constant conscious attention.

Finally, every repetition subtly refines your performance. Your body instinctively removes unnecessary movement, wasted effort, and imperfect timing until your normal execution steadily approaches the greatest performance you have ever achieved.

Your peak performance gradually becomes your standard performance.

Imitation [600 CP]

Requires: Cell Evolution

The greatest predators do not simply defeat their prey.

They learn from it.

Anything you can observe and understand can be reproduced through your own body, Gourmet Cells, Appetite, or powers.

Martial arts, techniques, biological traits, supernatural abilities, bloodlines, energy systems, transformations, instincts, crafting methods, healing arts, Knocking, cooking styles, and stranger powers may all be studied and recreated after sufficient exposure.

You do not merely copy appearances. Your Gourmet Cells and mind analyze the principles that make an ability function, allowing you to reproduce it in a form suited to yourself.

Observation is only one path. Fighting an ability, being affected by it, studying its user, analyzing biological material, tasting a source of power, experimenting with it, or receiving proper instruction may all provide enough understanding.

Repeated exposure improves the copy. Crude imitations become accurate, accurate copies become refined, and mastered abilities may develop applications the original user never discovered.

Biological and supernatural traits can likewise become part of your evolution. Exceptional organs, bloodlines, energy structures, mutations, and similar qualities may be recreated as your Gourmet Cells learn how they function.

You still need enough information to understand what you are copying. Merely knowing that a power exists is not enough.

But once you understand the recipe, being born without the ingredient is no longer a permanent obstacle.

You do not become a copy of others.

You become a predator capable of learning from anyone.

Boosted: Perfect Imitation

Requires: Imitation & Harmonization

Understanding has become assimilation.

Abilities you copy automatically adapt themselves to your existence rather than remaining foreign imitations.

Bloodlines, techniques, transformations, energy systems, supernatural organs, biological traits, magical abilities, and other powers are rewritten into forms your body, Gourmet Cells, Appetite, and existing systems can naturally support.

Copied abilities shed unnecessary weaknesses, incompatibilities, harmful side effects, and redundant limitations while preserving everything that makes them useful.

Similar powers naturally combine.

Two regeneration abilities can reinforce one another.

Several fire techniques can merge into a superior form.

Different bloodlines can share their greatest traits.

Multiple energy systems can cooperate rather than interfere.

Redundant abilities strengthen the best version instead of remaining useless duplicates.

You also instinctively understand how to modify copied powers. Their activation methods, costs, applications, forms, and techniques may be altered as your mastery grows, allowing what began as imitation to evolve into something uniquely yours.

Contradictory powers no longer automatically reject one another. Harmonization separates conflicting principles, restructures them, and allows you to develop methods by which they can coexist or combine.

The original ability is only the first course.

Once you learn a power, it begins evolving as part of you.

Boosted: The Infinite Curriculum

Requires: Genius of the Endless Menu + Perfect Imitation

The Endless Menu has expanded beyond ordinary skill.

If something can be learned, developed, reproduced, cultivated, awakened, or incorporated through understanding, then you possess a path toward learning it.

Species abilities, bloodlines, racial powers, supernatural organs, hereditary talents, class abilities, energy systems, transformations, psychic powers, magical disciplines, biological adaptations, and similar qualities can all become subjects of study.

Observation is only one method.

Fighting an ability, being affected by it, studying its user, analyzing biological material, receiving instruction, experimenting with it, consuming a relevant source, or attempting an imitation may all teach you how it functions.

Your Gourmet Genius applies fully to this process.

Simple abilities may be understood almost immediately. More complex systems may require greater study, but being something you were not born with is no longer enough to place it beyond your reach.

Perfect Imitation allows what you learn to adapt itself to your existence, while conflicting systems can be separated, restructured, and harmonized rather than simply rejecting one another.

You still require real information.

Knowing that an ability exists does not automatically teach you how it works, and something with absolutely no learnable or reproducible mechanism remains beyond this perk alone.

But if there is a path to acquiring it through understanding, you can find that path.

The Gourmet World taught you that anything can become an ingredient.

You learned to apply the same lesson to power.

The Final Course [200 CP]

Requires: The Infinite Curriculum

One sufficiently informative exposure is enough.

When you encounter an ability, technique, biological trait, supernatural system, transformation, bloodline, energy method, or other learnable power, you may understand and acquire it from a single meaningful exposure.

Seeing it used, being struck by it, fighting its user, studying a sample, tasting a biological source, receiving a good explanation, or directly experiencing the phenomenon can all be enough.

Once that exposure reveals how the ability works, your mind and Gourmet Cells reconstruct the complete recipe almost immediately.

You gain full functional mastery rather than a crude imitation, reproducing the ability at no less than the level you observed and typically around 120% of the demonstrated effectiveness where further improvement is possible.

Unnecessary drawbacks, inefficient activation methods, accidental weaknesses, and limitations that are not truly required for the power to function are removed during acquisition.

Your version is naturally adapted to your own existence through Perfect Imitation and may continue improving through your other growth abilities.

You still need real exposure.

Merely knowing an ability exists, hearing its name, or seeing an effect that reveals nothing about its underlying function is not enough.

But once you have tasted enough of the recipe to understand it...

The entire course is yours.

Boosted: Demon Devouring Demon

Requires: True Appetite Incarnation & Imitation

Your Gourmet Demon has inherited the legendary ability to consume compatible spiritual beings, Appetite Demons, Food Spirits, and similar entities.

Rather than simply absorbing their power, it digests their knowledge, techniques, Gourmet Energy, instincts, and compatible biological or spiritual traits before permanently integrating them into itself. Powerful entities require time to fully assimilate, while incompatible aspects are naturally rejected or refined.

Nothing compatible is ever truly wasted.

Every worthy opponent becomes another ingredient for your shared evolution.

Boosted: Universal Assimilation

Requires: Cell Evolution, Harmonization & Primordial Gourmet Cells

Your Gourmet Cells no longer recognize biology, technology, magic, spirit, energy, or artificial life as fundamentally foreign.

Living cells, nanomachines, symbiotes, biotechnology, magical constructs, spiritual bodies, living metals, energy lifeforms, supernatural organs, cybernetics, and similar systems may all be analyzed, assimilated, and permanently integrated into your Gourmet Cells.

Assimilated systems do not merely coexist with you. They become natural parts of your existence.

Their strengths are preserved.

Redundant weaknesses are removed.

Conflicting functions are harmonized.

Their abilities begin evolving alongside your Gourmet Cells rather than remaining static additions.

Nanomachines improve as your biology evolves.

Magical organs mature alongside physical ones.

Cybernetics become living extensions of your body.

Spiritual structures become part of your cellular evolution.

Energy-based anatomy becomes as natural to you as flesh and blood.

Once something has been fully assimilated, every perk and ability that improves your Gourmet Cells may improve it as well.

Powerful or extremely complex systems still require enough time and understanding to fully absorb, but there is no permanent barrier created merely because something comes from a different form of existence.

Anything you can successfully assimilate becomes another expression of your Gourmet Cells.

Nothing remains foreign forever.

Arts of the Gourmet Kings

The Gourmet World's greatest techniques were created by monsters who refused to fight like ordinary people.

These Perks develop combat instinct, Enbu, perfect execution, weapons capable of surviving their wielder, and techniques worthy of standing beside the legends of the Gourmet World.

Strength begins the battle.

Technique decides how much of the battlefield remains afterward.

Enbu [200 CP]

The Monkey King's martial art begins with a lesson most fighters never learn.

Your body is not a collection of muscles.

It is an ecosystem.

You learn Enbu, the art of bringing your cells into perfect physical cooperation. Rather than individual muscles, organs, nerves, bones, and Gourmet Cells fighting against one another, your entire body begins acting toward the same movement.

Through proper Enbu, you may bring up to 100% of your usable physical output into an appropriate action or body part without your own biology wasting most of that force through poor coordination.

Strength, balance, reaction speed, precision, bodily control, resistance to external forces, and movement efficiency improve roughly x10 while using Enbu.

Incoming force may also be distributed through your body rather than being concentrated entirely at the point of impact. Gravity, recoil, momentum, pressure, and similar forces become easier to endure because every part of you contributes toward receiving them.

You may perform Secret Techniques by synchronizing vast numbers of cells into a single action, temporarily concentrating extraordinary portions of your body's output into one strike, movement, defense, or other physical feat.

Enbu does not create energy from nothing. It allows the Gourmet Beast you already are to finally stop wasting its own strength.

A fist is not thrown by the arm. In Enbu, every Gourmet Cell throws the punch.

Master Enbu [400 CP]

Requires: Enbu

The Monkey King's dance no longer requires conscious preparation.

Your cellular synchronization becomes effortless and may remain active continuously. Muscles, nerves, bones, organs, Gourmet Cells, biological augmentations, and other compatible parts of your body function as one perfectly coordinated organism.

Your physical efficiency, coordination, balance, precision, force distribution, and ability to resist external forces increase roughly x100 compared to ordinary movement.

Force, tension, momentum, balance, and effort may be redistributed throughout your body wherever they are most useful. An injured limb can have its workload compensated for by the rest of you. Recoil may flow through your entire frame. A strike landing against one point can have its force spread through trillions of cooperating cells.

Any physical technique you genuinely know may be performed as an Enbu Secret Technique, bringing your entire body into the action rather than limiting it to the obvious muscles involved.

Your mastery automatically adapts as your biology changes. New organs, transformations, additional limbs, altered species, Gourmet Cell evolutions, and compatible biological augmentations are incorporated into your Enbu rather than forcing you to relearn your own body.

The more elaborate your existence becomes, the more participants join the dance.

A lesser fighter commands their body. You conduct an army measured in cells.

Ultimate Routine [400 CP]

The greatest predators do not merely hope an attack succeeds. They picture the successful result so clearly that body, instinct, Appetite, and circumstance begin moving toward it.

You have mastered the Ultimate Routine, the Conduct of the King.

By forming a vivid mental image of an action succeeding, you dramatically increase the chance that every controllable factor aligns toward that result. Timing sharpens, trajectories refine, power is applied more efficiently, movement becomes cleaner, and techniques naturally seek the most successful path available to you.

The clearer the image and the more achievable the result, the stronger the Routine becomes.

This is not unrestricted wish granting. The Routine works through what you could genuinely accomplish with your existing abilities, power, opportunities, and circumstances. It pushes adjustable factors toward success rather than creating impossible strength from nothing.

At higher mastery, the image itself becomes a weapon. Weaker opponents may perceive the successful result before it occurs, experiencing the impression of being struck, defeated, or killed strongly enough that their bodies and instincts react as though the outcome were already real. At Toriko's level, sufficiently developed Routines could overwhelm Gourmet Beasts around Capture Level 500 to 600 through image alone.

The Routine is entirely mental once mastered. You may create, alter, abandon, or replace one at the speed of thought, and repeated use improves clarity, complexity, efficiency, and scope.

Difficult outcomes demand proportionally greater concentration and energy, but better Food Honor, Appetite control, Gourmet Energy, and mental discipline greatly reduce the burden.

The Routine is not limited to combat. Hunting, cooking, Knocking, healing, research, crafting, training, cultivation, and other deliberate acts may all be guided toward the most successful result you can genuinely produce.

As your power and Cell Level rise, the Routine can also include the aftermath of your actions. A strike may be envisioned to leave a canyon, a healing act may restore an ecosystem, a warning may shape predator behavior for generations, while an Eight King level presence may leave a footprint whose emotional and ecological consequences persist for thousands of years.

Joy, gratitude, hunger, anger, tranquility, hostility, and other genuine emotional states may be deliberately woven into these long-term Routines. A happy step might leave fertile land where ingredients flourish for ages, while a hostile one may create a region feared by every creature that senses what happened there.

The duration and scale of such consequences still depend upon the real power, Appetite, authority, and control supporting them.

Before the hunt begins, your Appetite has already tasted the successful ending.

Boosted: Instinct of the King

Requires: Ultimate Routine + Intuition + Food Honor

Your Ultimate Routine no longer requires deliberate thought.

Instinct, experience, Gourmet Cells, Appetite, and subconscious perception continuously construct and refine Routines for you. Whenever you act, your instincts automatically envision the most successful genuinely achievable outcome and align movement, timing, breathing, power, trajectory, technique choice, energy flow, and other controllable factors toward it.

You may dodge before consciously recognizing the attack, choose an opening before knowing why it exists, or adjust a strike as an enemy begins moving.

The Routine continuously corrects itself. New information, hidden abilities, unexpected movement, environmental changes, mistakes, failures, and newly revealed opportunities immediately update the image rather than forcing you to restart from the beginning.

Food Honor naturally favors efficient victories. Your subconscious seeks outcomes requiring less wasted motion, energy, calories, time, collateral damage, and unnecessary risk whenever such efficiency does not compromise the result.

This applies just as naturally to hunting, cooking, Knocking, healing, crafting, research, training, cultivation, and other activities as it does to battle.

Your instincts can also consider long-term consequences. Depending on your perception, intelligence, Intuition, power, and Routine mastery, the imagined result may include what happens seconds, centuries, or millennia after the action itself.

A hunt may preserve breeding populations instead of damaging an ecosystem. A battle may destroy exactly what must be destroyed while leaving the land capable of recovery. Healing may establish conditions allowing a species to flourish for centuries. A warning may alter migration routes for generations.

At extreme Cell Levels, even an ordinary movement may become an ecological event. A joyful footprint may leave a paradise that prospers for thousands of years, while a hostile one may scar the food chain so deeply that predators remember the region long after everyone present has died.

This is not omniscience. Truly hidden information remains hidden, and genuinely unpredictable events may still surprise you. The perk instead ensures that every piece of information, instinct, and legitimate intuition available to you is used with extraordinary efficiency.

A King does not merely imagine the next strike. Their Appetite is already considering what the hunting ground will become ten thousand years later.

Weapon of the Gourmet King [400 CP]

The Gourmet World produces hunters capable of shattering mountains with their fists. Ordinary equipment was never meant to survive in their hands.

Any weapon, armor, tool, or piece of equipment you personally wield or wear scales sufficiently with your own physical capabilities to remain useful to you. Its effective durability, structural integrity, balance, handling, and ability to transmit force rise alongside your strength, speed, and toughness.

If you can strike hard enough to split a continent, your sword will not shatter simply because its original material was ordinary steel. If your body can withstand monstrous pressure, your armor does not become an obvious weak point. A bow can endure your draw strength, a firearm can survive energies you channel through it, and a hammer can actually transmit the force of your swing.

Equipment does not automatically become stronger than you, nor does this grant it unrelated abilities. It simply ensures your tools can keep up with the Gourmet Beast using them.

Items that already grow alongside you benefit especially well, including Gourmet Knives, Melk creations, hunting equipment, and other living or evolving tools.

When the Hunter reaches Capture Level ten thousand, their weapon should not still belong at Capture Level five.

The Knife Cuts What I Choose [200 CP]

A great blade can cut anything.

A great Chef knows when not to cut.

You possess perfect intentional control over what your attacks, cuts, shockwaves, destructive techniques, and compatible powers are allowed to affect.

A slash capable of cleaving a mountain can pass through a crowded kitchen and cut only the ingredient you intended. You may sever armor without harming the person wearing it, slice poison from healthy flesh without cutting the patient, carve through a battlefield while leaving allies untouched, or send a Flying Knife through a forest without disturbing a single tree except your target.

This control extends to supernatural properties already contained within a weapon or technique. If you wield a blade carrying an ancient Melk cut, curse, stored slash, destructive aura, or similar effect, that effect activates only when, where, and against what you choose.

You may freely decide whether individual portions of the same attack cut, bruise, destroy, pass harmlessly through, or simply stop.

This does not increase your ability to cut something genuinely beyond your power. It gives you absolute control over what a successful cut recognizes as its ingredient.

An amateur swings a knife and asks what survived. A Gourmet Master decides what was ever being cut.

Boosted: Monkey King's Dance

Requires: Master Enbu + Perfect Flow + Cell Evolution

Ancient Enbu was not merely martial arts.

It was a dance of one thousand linked forms, performed before the Monkey King himself.

You can now reproduce that legendary principle.

At the physical capabilities of an ordinary healthy human, you can complete 1,000 distinct, precise, interconnected physical forms in approximately ten seconds.

Greater speed improves this proportionally. At roughly x10 human speed, the Dance may be completed in one second. At x100 speed, approximately 0.1 seconds. At x1,000 speed, approximately 0.01 seconds.

You may instead use that additional speed to perform more actions rather than merely completing the same thousand forms faster.

Each movement naturally prepares the next. Momentum, posture, balance, breathing, cellular synchronization, positioning, and accumulated setup are preserved throughout the chain, turning what would normally be a thousand separate actions into one continuous performance.

Perfect Flow ensures that each transition naturally approaches your best execution, while Cell Evolution allows your body to refine the Dance as your biology develops.

Every compatible part of your existence capable of participating in physical movement joins the performance. Additional limbs, tails, wings, transformed anatomy, biological extensions, and similar features expand the possibilities rather than disrupting the kata.

There is no final ceiling of one thousand actions. That is simply the ancient form from which your own Dance begins.

Bambina needed ten seconds to show the world a thousand movements. Your Gourmet Cells intend to see how many courses can fit into the same dance.

The Appetite Within

Appetite is more than hunger.

It is the desire that tells your Gourmet Cells why they should continue evolving at all. These Perks strengthen will, freedom, identity, determination, consciousness, and the unity between every part of yourself.

A powerful body can be defeated.

An Appetite that refuses to surrender is much harder to finish.

Appetite Growth [200 CP]

Appetite grows by being satisfied, then discovering something greater to desire.

Whenever you meaningfully pursue and fulfill one of your genuine desires, your Appetite permanently grows stronger. Completing a difficult hunt, mastering a technique, tasting an extraordinary ingredient, protecting someone important, finishing a great creation, discovering new knowledge, or accomplishing any other goal that truly matters to you can all feed this growth.

Greater goals and more meaningful fulfillment produce greater development. This strengthens your Appetite, Gourmet Energy, determination, and other abilities that genuinely scale from the strength of your desires.

Repeating trivial achievements provides little benefit. Your Appetite hungers for experiences worthy of what you have already become.

Every fulfilled desire becomes nourishment for the next.

Unyielding Appetite [400 CP]

Everything that lives is driven by an Appetite, but few possess the resolve to pursue it without compromise.

Your Appetite has become an unshakable force, anchoring your body, mind, soul, and Gourmet Cells to a single purpose. Fear, despair, temptation, corruption, manipulation, coercion, and similar influences find it extraordinarily difficult to make you abandon your genuine desires or convictions. You may still change your mind through reason, experience, or personal growth, but never because your will has simply been broken.

Likewise, your determination grows stronger in the face of adversity. The greater the obstacle before you, the more completely your body and mind focus upon overcoming it. Pain, exhaustion, hunger, injury, and seemingly impossible odds become challenges to surpass rather than reasons to surrender.

Whenever your progress is halted, your entire being instinctively begins searching for another path forward. If one technique fails, you develop another. If one method proves impossible, you refine your skills until it becomes possible. So long as a solution exists within your potential, your Appetite relentlessly drives you toward it.

This resolve also strengthens your training. Every setback becomes a lesson, every defeat becomes experience, and every success becomes the foundation for reaching even greater heights. Failure no longer discourages your growth, but instead accelerates it by revealing what must be improved.

Your Appetite is no longer a simple desire.

It has become the unwavering direction of your evolution.

Boosted: Endless Pursuit

Requires: Unyielding Appetite & Appetite Growth

An ordinary Appetite seeks fulfillment.

Yours refuses to stop growing.

The moment one goal is achieved, your Appetite naturally seeks the next challenge without diminishing your satisfaction for what has already been accomplished. Every fulfilled dream becomes the foundation for an even greater one, ensuring your drive to improve never stagnates.

Your motivation no longer depends upon success or failure. Triumph fuels further ambition, while defeat only strengthens your resolve to continue. So long as you still possess something worth pursuing, your determination remains inexhaustible.

Likewise, your Appetite instinctively recognizes opportunities for growth that align with your true desires, making it much easier to notice worthwhile challenges, meaningful experiences, and paths that lead toward your greatest potential.

No summit is ever your final destination.

Every peak simply reveals another horizon beyond it.

Unbound Appetite [400 CP]

The greatest predators cannot be caged.

Your body, mind, soul, Gourmet Cells, Appetite, powers, and very existence naturally resist imprisonment, sealing, petrification, temporal stasis, dimensional confinement, spatial isolation, forced teleportation, forced banishment, and similar effects.

Even if successfully confined, every moment spent within a prison allows you to instinctively analyze and adapt to it. Seals continuously weaken against you, prisons reveal their flaws, dimensions become easier to traverse, and restraints steadily lose their effectiveness. Given sufficient time and personal power, you will eventually escape any confinement that is not backed by absolute fiat.

Likewise, your powers continue functioning whenever reasonably possible while confined. Suppressing one aspect of your abilities merely encourages your remaining abilities to compensate, ensuring you are never completely helpless.

Boosted: Freedom Beyond Boundaries

Requires: Unbound Appetite + Infinite Evolution

No prison can hold one who embodies freedom itself.

Unless you willingly allow it, you cannot be permanently sealed, imprisoned, restrained, banished, trapped, petrified, frozen in time, isolated within another dimension, locked behind conceptual barriers, or otherwise prevented from leaving.

Attempts to confine you simply fail to establish a lasting hold. Even effects specifically designed to imprison beings vastly stronger than yourself find your existence slipping beyond their grasp.

You instinctively perceive every boundary, seal, prison, barrier, dimensional wall, pocket reality, conceptual border, and similar limitation, naturally understanding how to bypass or dismantle it.

No matter where you are confined...

There is always a way out.

Dreaming Appetite [400 CP]

Sleep does not silence Appetite.

You are naturally lucid within your dreams and immediately recognize when you are dreaming, when a dream has been externally altered, or when another consciousness, spirit, curse, psychic force, or supernatural entity has entered it. Your memories, personality, reasoning, skills, and sense of self remain intact while dreaming.

Hostile dream effects must confront your normal defenses. Mental attacks face your mind, spiritual attacks face your soul, possession faces your sovereignty, and fear, compulsions, false memories, identity alteration, or similar effects gain no advantage merely because your body is asleep. An effect that makes dream injuries "real" must still possess enough genuine power to harm the corresponding part of your waking existence.

Within your own natural dreams, you possess strong control over the environment, allowing you to reshape scenery, alter your dream body, suppress nightmares, revisit memories, or create training environments. Independent supernatural dream worlds and the dreams of others remain contested territory rather than automatically becoming yours.

You may awaken whenever you genuinely choose. False awakenings, looping dreams, sleep paralysis, nightmares, and effects relying solely upon preventing you from waking cannot permanently trap you. More powerful supernatural dream prisons must actually overcome your abilities, and you instinctively recognize that you are imprisoned and begin identifying possible routes of escape.

Dreams within dreams, shared dreams, dream realms, and worlds existing entirely as dreams do not confuse your identity. You always understand which experiences belong to you and retain continuity with your waking self.

A creature entering your dream also creates a genuine point of interaction. Where your abilities can meaningfully operate through mental, spiritual, psychic, or metaphysical mediums, you may defend yourself, attack the intruder, expel it, study its connection, and potentially trace that connection back toward its source.

Combined with ANOTHER, supernatural dream worlds become another form of abnormal space to navigate. Combined with Distributed Consciousness, part of your awareness may remain active outside the dream while another portion experiences it. Combined with Absolute Freedom, even dreams eventually become another realm through which you may travel rather than a prison capable of holding you.

A Gourmet Hunter may sleep.

Their Appetite never stops hunting.

Boosted: Bottomless Gourmet Fortune

Requires: Gourmet Providence + Unyielding Appetite + Fortune Cannot Hunt You

Gourmet Luck has saved people from situations where strength, planning, and common sense had already failed.

Yours has learned to obey.

Your Gourmet Luck becomes a renewable resource you can consciously spend to force favorable possibilities into reality.

You may spend small amounts to improve timing, find a useful clue, make an enemy stumble, guide an attack slightly off course, or encounter something useful at exactly the right moment.

Greater expenditure can produce far greater miracles. A lethal strike might narrowly miss your heart, the one intact section of a collapsing battlefield may happen to be beneath you, an enemy's ultimate technique may suffer the single plausible failure capable of saving you, or an impossible hunt may suddenly reveal the trail you desperately needed.

The more improbable and consequential the intervention, the more luck it consumes.

Most importantly, your Gourmet Luck cannot permanently run dry. Spent fortune naturally regenerates. Everyday uses recover quickly, while miracles capable of changing the course of a battle or saving your life may require significantly longer.

Your luck also cannot be permanently stolen, inverted, poisoned, exhausted, redirected against you, or transformed into misfortune. Hostile luck manipulation must genuinely overpower your protection rather than simply declaring that your fortune has become bad luck.

Even while your active reserve is depleted, the ordinary passive benefits of Gourmet Providence remain.

Luck cannot accomplish something for which no possible favorable outcome exists. It may turn certain death into the one-in-a-billion path of survival, but it does not resurrect you after complete destruction merely because you wish you had been luckier.

Your Appetite refuses to accept a universe where fortune receives the final bite.

Luck was always another ingredient. Yours simply grows back after you eat it.

Boosted: Only One Original

Requires: Sovereign Identity + Sovereign Cells + Unyielding Appetite

Your entire existence carries an unmistakable authenticity.

Body, DNA, soul, memories, voice, appearance, aura, Appetite, reputation, accomplishments, supernatural signatures, and other expressions of who you are are recognized as parts of the same singular person.

Perfect clones, reconstructed souls, simulated minds, shapeshifters, memory copies, alternate bodies, artificial personalities, and other recreations remain distinguishable from the original unless you choose otherwise.

Even something possessing your appearance, memories, mannerisms, and genetic code is recognized as someone derived from you, not you yourself.

You may still designate clones, manifestations, avatars, alternate bodies, or successors as legitimate extensions of yourself when desired.

The Gourmet World may recreate the dish perfectly. There is still only one chef who made the original.

Boosted: No Second Serving

Requires: Sovereign Cells + Universal Assimilation + Unyielding Appetite

Everything that becomes part of you belongs to you alone.

Integrated bloodlines, supernatural organs, symbiotes, nanomachines, spiritual structures, transformations, energy systems, biological powers, Gourmet Cells, and other internal qualities cannot be harvested, copied, cultivated, reconstructed, or inherited from your remains without your permission.

A severed arm cannot become the seed of an army carrying your powers.

A Gourmet Cell sample cannot reproduce your accumulated evolution.

A fragment of your soul cannot be dissected into your Appetite.

A corpse, shed cell, drop of blood, recording, clone, or biological sample does not contain a free copy of everything you have become.

Even a perfect genetic clone receives none of your Perks, trained abilities, accumulated evolution, personal Appetite, fiat-backed qualities, or assimilated supernatural systems unless you deliberately allow them to inherit those things.

You may freely choose what can be passed on, cultivated, taught, inherited, or reproduced.

But without your consent, others may obtain your leftovers.

They do not receive another serving of you.

Boosted: Distributed Consciousness

Requires: Perfect Food Honor, Perfect Flow, Unyielding Appetite, Cell Evolution & Primordial Gourmet Cells

Your consciousness is no longer confined to a brain, body, or single point of existence.

Every cell, Gourmet Cell, fragment of soul, Appetite manifestation, clone, biological extension, and other part of yourself may contain your complete consciousness while remaining perfectly synchronized with the whole.

Destroying your brain no longer incapacitates you. As long as some meaningful portion of your existence remains, your thoughts, memories, personality, and will continue uninterrupted through whatever survives.

Every part of you also contributes to awareness. Losing an organ, sense, limb, or body does not create the same vulnerability it once did, as the rest of your existence compensates and continues functioning.

Your manifestations and extensions may think, perceive, and act independently while sharing knowledge, memories, and experience instantly. They remain parts of one greater consciousness rather than becoming separate people unless you choose otherwise.

Sleep, unconsciousness, paralysis, mental interference, severe injury, and apparent death cannot fully interrupt your awareness while enough of you remains.

Your mind has become decentralized.

To destroy your consciousness, one must destroy all of you.

Distributed Weaknesses [200 CP]

Requires: Distributed Consciousness

A single weakness no longer threatens your existence.

Damage, exhaustion, corruption, poison, curses, mental attacks, cellular degeneration, and similar harmful effects naturally disperse throughout your entire existence instead of concentrating upon a single point. Rather than suffering catastrophic failure from the destruction of one vital area, every surviving part shares a fraction of the burden, dramatically reducing the impact of localized attacks.

Likewise, your body instinctively redistributes essential functions. Hearts, brains, organs, Gourmet Cells, nervous systems, souls, and other critical structures cease to rely upon singular points of failure. As your evolution continues, your existence becomes increasingly redundant, allowing damaged portions to be replaced or regenerated while the remainder continues functioning normally.

This also grants extraordinary resistance against abilities that depend upon targeting specific weaknesses, vital points, organs, pressure points, Knocking techniques, instant death effects, or similar attacks. Unless an opponent can affect your entire existence simultaneously, destroying one part rarely determines the outcome of a battle.

Your greatest weakness is no longer a single point.

It is the totality of your existence.

One Appetite [600 CP]

Requires: Distributed Consciousness & Distributed Weaknesses

No matter how many bodies, manifestations, clones, techniques, Food Spirits, or extensions of yourself may exist, there is only one true Appetite.

Your body, soul, Gourmet Cells, Gourmet Energy, consciousness, Perks, Skills, and every genuine extension of yourself are permanently united by a single Appetite. They no longer compete for control, diverge into separate beings, or develop conflicting goals. You are you and nothing more. Every part exists for the same purpose and instinctively works toward the same future.

Growth achieved by one part naturally benefits the whole. Experience, knowledge, understanding, techniques, biological improvements, and compatible evolutions are continuously shared throughout your entire existence, allowing every part of you to advance together rather than individually.

Likewise, your powers cease functioning as separate systems. Your Gourmet Cells, Appetite Energy, supernatural abilities, bloodlines, and every compatible power instinctively cooperate as expressions of the same underlying Appetite, greatly improving their efficiency, compatibility, and ability to evolve together.

Attempts to divide your identity become extraordinarily difficult. Soul separation, possession, forced personality changes, mental fragmentation, corruption, cloned identities, and similar effects must overcome the unified will of your entire existence rather than a single body or mind. Even if temporarily divided, every fragment instinctively seeks reunion with the whole.

As your existence expands, this unity remains absolute. Whether acting through one body or a thousand, you are never many individuals working together.

You are one being expressing itself through many forms.

Boosted: Absolute Appetite

Requires: One Appetite, Evolutionary Apex & Perfect Imitation

Your Appetite has become the supreme authority governing your existence.

Every aspect of yourself instinctively aligns with your true purpose. Body, mind, soul, Gourmet Cells, Gourmet Energy, instincts, and every compatible ability continuously refine themselves toward fulfilling your Appetite with perfect unity.

Conflicting desires, unnecessary limitations, internal contradictions, and self-imposed barriers steadily disappear. Your evolution becomes increasingly focused, ensuring every improvement contributes toward the same ultimate direction rather than scattering your potential across countless unrelated paths.

Likewise, your Appetite gains extraordinary authority over your own evolution. Compatible powers, techniques, bloodlines, and biological traits integrate more completely, while harmful, redundant, or incompatible developments are instinctively rejected or refined into more suitable forms.

Your presence, will, and determination become almost impossible to shake. So long as your Appetite endures, your entire existence continues moving toward its chosen future regardless of hardship, failure, or opposition.

Your Appetite is no longer simply the source of your strength.

It has become the law by which your entire existence evolves.

Boosted: Every Cell Has an Appetite

Requires: Food Immersion + Cell Evolution + Primordial Gourmet Cells + Absolute Appetite

Your Appetite is no longer confined to your mouth, stomach, or Gourmet Demon.

Every cell and every part of your existence can eat.

Anything you physically touch, surround, engulf, absorb, or otherwise bring into direct contact with yourself may be consumed through your Gourmet Cells.

Matter. Energy. Poison. Radiation. Magic. Spiritual power.Curses. Corruption. Biological material. Supernatural substances.

And stranger phenomena your existence is capable of interacting with.

Consumption does not require chewing. Your skin, blood, organs, Gourmet Cells, soul, Appetite manifestations, and other parts of yourself may all function as mouths when you choose.

What you consume is transferred into an internal Gourmet Stomach, a vast digestive space where it may be stored, quarantined, analyzed, broken down, or assimilated.

Dangerous substances can be isolated before they harm you.

Useful matter and energy can be converted into nourishment.

Biological traits, supernatural structures, and other properties may be studied for later assimilation through your other abilities.

You control this completely. Ordinary contact does not consume anything unless you desire it, and you may determine what portions of a target are eaten.

Powerful beings, protected objects, or phenomena overwhelmingly beyond your current ability can resist being consumed.

But anything you can overpower enough to eat becomes another ingredient.

Your mouth was never the source of your hunger.

Every cell was hungry all along.

The Five Courses of the Self

These perks establish a personal minimum baseline for the Jumper. Their protected floor belongs to you, not to a particular age, species, body, Alt-Form, incarnation, or local metaphysical system.

A child body, tiny species, elderly form, mundane human Alt-Form, reincarnation, artificial body, spirit form, or other legitimate form cannot reduce the protected baseline. Likewise, entering a world without souls, magic, spiritual dimensions, or similar metaphysics does not remove genuine parts of you that already exist.

You may always voluntarily suppress yourself below these floors without actually losing them.

Flesh That Never Starves [400 CP]

A Gourmet Beast's body remembers every meal.

Your physical baseline can never permanently fall below the greatest level you have legitimately achieved. Strength, speed, durability, stamina, coordination, reflexes, senses, regeneration, vitality, biological efficiency, physical energy capacity, and similar intrinsic bodily qualities establish a permanent floor whenever they genuinely improve.

Age, disuse, atrophy, starvation, mundane disease, forced deconditioning, unwanted regression, or changing into a naturally weaker form cannot lower that foundation. Injury and temporary exhaustion still matter, but they do not redefine what your healthy body is capable of.

This floor belongs to you rather than the current body. A child, animal, tiny fairy, elderly body, mundane human Alt-Form, clone-body, or other legitimate form retains the same protected physical baseline while preserving its own useful anatomy and traits. You may freely suppress this strength when desired.

Your body also behaves as though it is training at the greatest sustainable effort available to you at all times. Every compatible training method, exercise principle, recovery technique, nutritional resource, Gourmet ingredient benefit, cultivation method, transformation, piece of equipment, and relevant knowledge you legitimately possess may contribute automatically as though you were using them with ideal technique.

Limited or irreplaceable resources are never consumed without permission.

Sleeping is recovery.

Eating is cultivation.

Existing is training.

Your muscles may rest. Your Gourmet Cells never stop preparing for the next hunt.

Mind That Never Dulls [400 CP]

Knowledge is another ingredient.

Your intelligence, memory, processing speed, concentration, creativity, perception, calculation, learning capacity, mental endurance, and similar intrinsic mental qualities establish a permanent floor equal to the greatest level you have legitimately achieved.

Age, neglect, disuse, unwanted regression, memory deterioration, mental deconditioning, or changing into a species with a weaker brain cannot reduce that foundation.

Your mind follows you, not the nervous system carrying it. A child's brain, animal brain, artificial processor, hive body, spirit form, reincarnation, or radically alien physiology remains capable of supporting your established mental baseline.

Your mind continuously trains as though you were using the best compatible methods available to you at maximum sustainable effort. Meditation, mnemonic systems, mental exercises, research methods, teaching techniques, computational aids, supernatural cognition practices, and relevant knowledge may all contribute automatically.

This does not grant knowledge you never acquired.

It perfects the mind that receives it.

A lesser Gourmet Researcher stops studying when the laboratory closes. Your mind keeps chewing after the book is shut.

Soul That Never Thins [400 CP]

The body eats ingredients.

The soul eats existence.

Your soul, spirit, spiritual durability, spiritual power, soul capacity, spiritual senses, metaphysical anatomy, and similar intrinsic qualities establish a permanent floor equal to the greatest level you have legitimately attained.

Spiritual exhaustion, reincarnation, soul erosion, lack of ambient spiritual energy, hostile environments, changing species, or ordinary metaphysical degeneration cannot permanently reduce that foundation.

More importantly, your soul is now a self-contained part of you.

Entering a universe where souls do not naturally exist does not remove yours.

Becoming a species that supposedly has no soul does not make you soulless.

Entering a purely materialistic reality does not reduce your soul to an invalid concept.

Your existence supplies the minimum spiritual conditions necessary for your soul to remain real, stable, nourished, and capable of growth. The local universe may be unable to naturally create or perceive souls, but that does not determine whether your soul exists.

Your soul continuously trains using every compatible method you possess: meditation, spiritual cultivation, purification, soul refinement, Appetite training, spiritual combat, energy circulation, supernatural nourishment, and similar practices.

If the world has never tasted PAIR, that does not make your soul imaginary.

Appetite That Never Bows [400 CP]

Will is the muscle that moves every other part of the Gourmet Beast.

Your willpower, determination, courage, discipline, concentration, emotional endurance, pain tolerance, self-control, motivation, and genuine Appetite establish a permanent floor equal to the strongest level you have legitimately developed.

Ordinary hardship cannot grind your will back down after you have genuinely grown beyond it.

Your will belongs to you, not your hormones, age, race, psychology, or current form. Becoming a child does not reduce your resolve to that of a child. Becoming an animal does not replace your will with animal instinct. Becoming a hive species does not erase individuality. Alien instincts may add new perspectives without becoming your master.

Your Appetite continuously trains as though you were facing the greatest productive challenge you can safely benefit from, using every compatible philosophy, discipline, Food Honor practice, hardship method, meditation, mental technique, and relevant experience available to you.

This does not freeze your personality.

Fear may still warn you.

Grief may still hurt.

Reason may still change your mind.

Your Appetite simply does not become smaller because life tried to starve it.

A predator may lose the hunt. Its Appetite does not forget why it stood back up.

Existence That Never Ends [600 CP]

There is something beneath flesh, thought, spirit, and will.

The fact that you continue to be you.

Your underlying existential foundation establishes a permanent floor equal to the greatest state you have legitimately achieved. Identity, metaphysical weight, conceptual integrity, informational integrity, dimensional stability, causal presence, supernatural existence, and similar qualities cannot permanently deteriorate below that point through ordinary erosion, incompatible metaphysics, changing worlds, or unwanted regression.

More importantly, your existence possesses continuous identity independent of its current vessel.

Transformation, reincarnation, resurrection, age changes, body replacement, species changes, spiritual conversion, digital existence, duplication, temporal displacement, alternate bodies, and similar transitions remain stages of one continuous person rather than creating weaker replacements.

If your body is destroyed while your soul remains, you continue.

If your soul is destroyed while another genuine anchor of yourself remains, you continue.

If both are replaced by another legitimate vessel, the resulting being remains you.

Entering a world without souls, magic, spiritual dimensions, conceptual entities, or other metaphysical structures does not erase the corresponding genuine components you already possess. Your existence carries the minimum framework required for your own continuity.

This is not resurrection from absolute nothingness. If literally every genuine anchor of your existence is destroyed, you still require another ability to return from that condition.

But so long as something genuinely you remains, there is never ambiguity about whether the Jumper continues.

Your existence also continuously refines itself using every legitimate method you possess for anchoring, stabilizing, cultivating, evolving, or deepening your state of being.

The body is one course. The soul is another. Appetite is what remembers they were always part of the same Full Course.

Boosted: Perfect Vessel, Perfect Mind

Requires: Flesh That Never Starves + Mind That Never Dulls

Hunter and Chef finally learn that they have been preparing the same organism.

Your body and mind train as one coordinated system. Every physical improvement supplies useful development to cognition, while every mental improvement increases the quality, precision, and efficiency of your physical training.

Greater speed develops the perception needed to use it.

Greater strength develops control.

Improved cognition perfects breathing, biomechanics, timing, movement, recovery, and energy circulation.

Every relevant perk, technique, training method, transformation, environment, piece of equipment, resource, and piece of knowledge affecting body or mind is automatically coordinated as though you had personally designed the most productive training regimen possible.

They reinforce rather than interfere with one another.

Your body becomes better at becoming strong. Your mind becomes better at teaching the beast carrying it.

Boosted: Soul of an Unbroken Appetite

Requires: Soul That Never Thins + Appetite That Never Bows

Soul and will cease developing as separate ingredients.

Every genuine increase in spiritual strength reinforces your determination, while every increase in Appetite nourishes the soul supporting it.

Meditation trains resolve.

Hardship develops spiritual depth.

Cultivation sharpens will.

Emotion becomes nourishment instead of weakness.

Every compatible method affecting soul, spirit, will, identity, emotion, discipline, Appetite, and spiritual energy is automatically coordinated into one continuous course of development.

Your soul and will also remain yours across every legitimate form and cosmology. A soulless species may still contain your soul. An emotionless species may still carry your chosen desires. A child's body may still possess the will of the predator who survived entire worlds.

The soul provides the fire. Appetite decides what keeps burning.

Boosted: One Beast, Every Form

Requires: Perfect Vessel, Perfect Mind + Soul of an Unbroken Appetite

You are no longer strong because of a particular body.

The body is strong because you are the one inside it.

Every legitimate Alt-Form, age, species, body, avatar, transformation, reincarnation, spiritual vessel, artificial body, clone-body, and similar expression of yourself inherits your established Body, Mind, Soul, and Will floors.

A newborn body may possess your full physical baseline.

A tiny creature may possess the durability of your greatest form.

A mundane human body may retain the mind and will of a Cosmic Hunter.

A machine may still contain your soul.

A species with naturally weak senses still receives the minimum sensory floor you established.

Natural advantages remain distinct. A speed-specialized form may remain faster, a psychic species may remain mentally superior, and a spiritual form may possess additional soul advantages.

The shared floor does not erase specialization.

You may voluntarily suppress any part of yourself to whatever level you desire without lowering the actual baseline.

Every body is another plate. The predator eating from it remains the same.

Boosted: The Self That Crosses Every World

Requires: One Beast, Every Form + Existence That Never Ends

The cosmology no longer decides which parts of you are permitted to accompany you.

Your Body, Mind, Soul, Will, Appetite, identity, Gourmet Cells, internal energies, spiritual anatomy, and other genuine components remain valid even in realities where their corresponding concepts do not naturally exist.

A world without souls still contains your soul.

A world without magic does not make your magical anatomy disappear.

A purely digital world may contain your complete existence rather than merely an imitation of your consciousness.

A dream, afterlife, spiritual realm, mundane universe, artificial reality, conceptual domain, or alien cosmology may express you differently, but none may reduce you to only the components its native laws recognize.

If the environment lacks something required merely for one of your genuine internal systems to exist and remain stable, your personal existence supplies an internal equivalent.

This does not rewrite the surrounding universe or grant its inhabitants your metaphysics.

It makes you portable.

A Gourmet Hunter does not stop being a Gourmet Hunter because the next continent has never heard of Gourmet Cells.

Boosted: One Continuous Full Course

Requires: The Self That Crosses Every World + Perfect Foundation

Body. Mind. Soul. Will. Existence.

Five courses.

One Appetite.

Your developmental floors become one continuous baseline belonging to your complete self.

Whenever one aspect improves, the others automatically develop enough to support that growth. Your body can contain your power, your mind can comprehend it, your soul can sustain your Appetite, your will can command the whole, and your existence remains stable beneath everything you become.

These aspects do not become identical. Greater physical strength does not automatically grant equal psychic power. Instead, no part of you is allowed to become a structural weakness that cannot support the rest.

More importantly, all five forms of passive development now operate simultaneously.

At every moment, you count as training Body, Mind, Soul, Will, and Existence at your greatest sustainable rate, using every training method, transformation, resource, cultivation technique, recovery ability, teacher, environment, ingredient, and other source of development available to you.

This training intelligently coordinates itself for the greatest permanent improvement. Recovery happens when useful, transformations are practiced without neglecting your base state, and resources are directed wherever they produce the best results.

Conscious training stacks with this effect.

Every permanent improvement raises the baseline carried by every future form.

Eating is training. Sleeping is training. Healing is training. Thinking is training. Existing is training.

Every second becomes another bite.

The World Becomes a Feast

Eventually, surviving the environment is no longer enough.

These Perks allow your Appetite, abilities, and Gourmet principles to extend into territories, ecosystems, planets, and increasingly vast environments. The world around you begins developing into a hunting ground capable of supporting what you have become.

A true Gourmet World does not run out of food when its predators grow stronger.

The table grows with them.

The World Within [600 CP]

A Gourmet Hunter who reaches the Gourmet World cannot demand that the environment become comfortable.

They become strong enough to survive the environment they found.

Your powers no longer cease functioning merely because a new world lacks the conditions under which they originally developed.

Magic continues working in a world without ambient mana. Cultivation techniques remain usable where Qi does not naturally exist. Chakra, Ki, psychic energy, spiritual power, divine energy, Gourmet Energy, and similar personal systems do not simply vanish because local reality does not naturally support them.

For every compatible power system you possess, your body and soul may internally reproduce the best compatible environmental conditions you have personally experienced for sustaining that system.

If you cultivate in a realm overflowing with exceptional Qi, that level of environmental support may thereafter be reproduced internally for your own cultivation. If your magic functions best beneath a particular supernatural cosmology, your existence remembers enough of those conditions to keep your own magic alive elsewhere.

Discovering genuinely superior environments may permanently improve this internal standard.

This protects against absence and ordinary incompatibility, not against actual opposition. An enemy draining your Mana can still drain it. A powerful sealing technique can still challenge your magic. A realm designed specifically to suppress supernatural powers may still contest you if its authority is strong enough.

But a world cannot defeat your abilities simply by announcing that their native ingredients are not on the menu.

You carry your own hunting ground inside you.

The Gourmet World taught you never to wait for perfect conditions. Eventually, the perfect environment learned to travel with you.

Gourmet Territory [600 CP]

A predator does not need to cross the hunting ground when the entire hunting ground already counts as being within reach.

You may establish a Gourmet Territory centered upon yourself, beginning at approximately a 100 meter radius and expanding with your power, Cell Level, and mastery.

Within it, your actions are decoupled from your body's physical position. A punch may originate beside an enemy, a knife swing may begin from any chosen point, a kick may descend from above, and a defensive block may appear exactly where an attack enters the Territory. Each action retains the strength, speed, precision, technique, energy, and other properties it would possess if you were physically there.

More importantly, everything you choose inside the Territory counts as being at zero distance from you for compatible abilities.

A target may count as being within arm's reach, touching you, touching your weapon, or otherwise satisfying a requirement based purely upon distance or proximity. Touch-based healing, Knocking, energy transfer, contact curses, absorption, sensory abilities, auras, buffs, debuffs, and similar effects may therefore operate anywhere inside the Territory.

Compatible effects may also treat two chosen points within the Territory as touching each other. An ally kilometers away may receive a contact-based treatment, a distant ingredient may be prepared as though beneath your hand, or every valid book in the Territory may count as being within touching distance for a knowledge absorption ability.

This removes distance, not unrelated requirements. A power requiring consent still requires consent. A technique requiring blood still requires blood. An ability restricted to living beings remains restricted to living beings.

You control this completely. Nothing counts as touching you unless you choose it to, preventing enemies from exploiting your Territory to establish unwanted contact.

Compatible physical techniques, weapons, Gourmet Energy, Appetite abilities, Knocking, senses, spells, supernatural powers, and similar effects may all benefit.

With Monkey King's Dance, different steps may originate from different locations. With Banquet of the Monkey King, your 5,000 parallel streams may operate from 5,000 different points simultaneously.

You remain physically where your actual body stands, and this does not multiply your available energy.

Inside your Gourmet Territory, there is no such thing as far away. Everything on the hunting ground is already beneath the predator's hand.

Gourmet World Stabilization [600 CP]

The Gourmet World proves that greater power does not need to mean a worse place to live.

You can gradually stabilize environments, ecosystems, worlds, and other inhabited regions without stripping away the extraordinary qualities that make them valuable.

Extreme gravity, poisonous atmospheres, violent weather, unstable Gourmet Energy, supernatural climates, dangerous geological activity, predator migrations, invasive species, and similar environmental hazards can be guided into sustainable patterns. Safe zones emerge, catastrophic cycles become predictable, ecosystems develop appropriate checks and balances, and civilization gains room to exist alongside powerful Gourmet Beasts.

This does not lower Capture Levels or weaken the world. A Capture Level 10,000 beast remains Capture Level 10,000, poisonous oceans can remain fantastically poisonous, and impossible climates can retain their unique properties. Instead, the surrounding ecosystem becomes increasingly capable of supporting such extremes without constantly collapsing.

You may preserve dangerous regions exactly as they are, designate protected wilderness, create safe migration corridors, establish inhabited zones, or stabilize only particular problems. The greater your understanding and power relative to the affected region, the faster and more extensive the stabilization.

At sufficiently high Cell Levels, you may apply this to planets, star systems, universes, dimensions, and eventually greater structures that you possess the genuine power to influence.

The greatest Gourmet Worlds remain dangerous enough to challenge legends, but they no longer need to kill everyone trying to enjoy dinner there.

The World Is a Kitchen [400 CP]

Humanity survived the Gourmet Age because it learned that even the wilderness can be prepared.

Infrastructure you create, maintain, design, or meaningfully oversee becomes exceptionally capable of adapting to the environments and ingredients it is meant to serve.

Homes withstand the local climate. Kitchens safely prepare ingredients whose heat, cold, poison, pressure, Gourmet Energy, size, or biology would destroy ordinary facilities. Farms adapt to supernatural plants and livestock. Hospitals accommodate unusual species and Gourmet Cells. Storage facilities preserve exotic ingredients, while roads, utilities, laboratories, workshops, vehicles, sanitation, water systems, and other infrastructure develop the protections necessary to operate reliably in their intended environment.

This adaptation scales with your genuine knowledge, materials, technology, powers, and available resources. It does not create impossible materials or technologies you have never acquired, but it makes everything you legitimately build far better at combining those ingredients into practical civilization.

Once properly established, infrastructure also becomes unusually resilient and low-maintenance. Minor damage, environmental variation, unusual inhabitants, and ordinary wear are accommodated rather than constantly causing cascading failure.

As your civilization advances, this principle advances with it. A village built for ordinary humans may comfortably survive the Human World, while infrastructure created by beings with astronomical Cell Levels can eventually support equally ridiculous populations, ingredients, energy systems, and environments.

The Gourmet World may still contain oceans of poison, mountains under impossible gravity, continent-sized ingredients, and beasts whose footsteps reshape landscapes.

Your people simply learn how to build the kitchen there.

A Gourmet Hunter conquers the wilderness long enough to eat. You teach civilization how to set the table and stay for dessert.

The Planet Wants to Feed You [600 CP]

A true Gourmet Planet does not merely produce stronger predators. As its Appetite grows, the entire table grows richer.

Worlds, ecosystems, dimensions, and other sufficiently self-contained environments under your long-term influence may develop according to the principle of Gourmet abundance. As the life and power within them increase, their capacity to support that life rises alongside it.

Stronger ecosystems naturally produce greater quantities and varieties of food, medicinal ingredients, useful materials, habitats, energy sources, and ecological opportunities. Vast forests may grow fruits capable of nourishing superhuman populations, oceans may produce ingredients suitable for beings with enormous Cell Levels, mountains may contain edible minerals, and new Gourmet species may emerge to occupy ecological roles created by increasing power.

This does not automatically weaken dangerous life or prevent evolution. Capture Levels may continue climbing without limit. Instead, increased danger is accompanied by increased abundance, resilience, and opportunity.

A world filled with Capture Level 10,000 creatures therefore does not need to support itself using resources suited to ordinary humans. Its food chains, nutrient cycles, habitats, energy density, and ingredient quality evolve toward the scale necessary to sustain such inhabitants.

The process favors sustainable escalation. New predators are increasingly accompanied by appropriate prey, stronger prey by richer plant life, greater consumption by greater renewal, and powerful civilizations by resources capable of supporting them. Ecological collapse caused by genuine devastation can still happen, but simple advancement does not inherently make a world less habitable.

You may guide this evolution toward desired themes, climates, ingredients, species, or ecosystems, though genuinely exotic results still require appropriate biological, supernatural, or environmental foundations.

There is no fixed upper scale. As your own reach increases, planets may become Gourmet Planets, star systems may develop interconnected food chains, and universes or greater environments may eventually become vast self-sustaining feasts.

In the Gourmet World, evolution should not mean less food for stronger mouths. It should mean the table grows with everyone seated around it.

Boosted: The Gourmet Big Bang Continues

Requires: Primordial Gourmet Cells + Cell Evolution + Gourmet World Stabilization + The Planet Wants to Feed You

The Gourmet Big Bang was never a singular event.

You can begin it again.

By releasing the principles of your Primordial Gourmet Cells into an ecosystem, you may cause life throughout that environment to begin developing its own native forms of Gourmet Cells.

Plants, animals, fungi, microorganisms, and stranger lifeforms evolve according to their own biology rather than becoming copies of you.

Predators grow stronger.

Prey evolves to survive them.

Ingredients become richer.

Ecosystems become more dangerous, abundant, complex, and nutritious together.

Capture Levels rise naturally without requiring ecological collapse to fuel them.

As generations pass, food chains continue escalating. Organisms develop increasingly extraordinary traits, new ingredients appear, Gourmet Energy becomes more widespread, and entire biospheres gradually transform into true Gourmet Worlds.

There is no final Capture Level produced by this process.

Given enough time and a sufficiently stable environment, a planet may surpass the Gourmet World, then an entire star system may become a Gourmet ecosystem, followed by galaxies, dimensions, and eventually universes.

Gourmet World Stabilization ensures this evolution develops as a functioning ecology rather than an uncontrolled extinction event. Species adapt together, resources expand to support greater life, and environmental systems evolve alongside the beings depending upon them.

Once established, this process becomes self-sustaining.

You do not need to remain present.

You planted the first cells.

The ecosystem continues the feast.

Wherever life exists, the Gourmet Big Bang can begin again.

No Accidental Extinction [400 CP]

The Gourmet World is filled with creatures whose footsteps can reshape landscapes. Reaching that level of power should not make ordinary life impossible.

Your passive existence and routine actions no longer cause unintended devastation merely because you have become overwhelmingly powerful. Your weight, body heat, speed, gravity, aura, killing intent, Gourmet Energy, Appetite, spiritual pressure, transformations, biological presence, movement, breathing, and similar passive effects automatically moderate themselves around anything you do not intend to harm.

Walking across an ordinary city at astronomical Cell Levels does not crater the streets. Moving at extreme speed does not create lethal shockwaves unless desired. Existing near weaker creatures does not crush them beneath your pressure, cook them with your body heat, poison them through exotic biology, or destabilize their environment merely because your scale has surpassed theirs.

This protection extends to ordinary training, cooking, eating, travel, social interaction, affection, medical treatment, and other controlled activity. You may handle fragile ingredients, shake hands with normal humans, sleep inside a wooden house, or train beside weaker companions without constantly restraining every microscopic aspect of your existence.

When you deliberately use destructive force, the chosen attack still functions normally. You may also selectively allow environmental consequences when desired, such as letting your footsteps shake a mountain or releasing your Appetite across an entire hunting ground.

This does not protect others from genuinely hostile actions, uncontrolled powers you have never learned to regulate, or catastrophic external effects unrelated to your own presence. It ensures that your scale alone does not turn peaceful existence into an extinction event.

As your Cell Level rises, this control rises automatically with it. Even if your body eventually contains enough force to threaten planets, stars, universes, or greater structures, ordinary surroundings may remain perfectly comfortable in your presence.

An apex predator should be able to enjoy dinner with weaker friends without accidentally making the restaurant the next course.

Boosted: The Feast Is Yours

Requires: Gift Without Chains + The World Within + Universal Assimilation

Once something becomes part of you, it is yours.

Any power, bloodline, energy system, supernatural organ, transformation, biological trait, technology, spiritual structure, or other ability you successfully integrate can no longer be revoked, reclaimed, disconnected, remotely disabled, or stripped away by its original source.

A god cannot withdraw a blessing you have made your own.

A symbiote cannot take back abilities already integrated into your Gourmet Cells.

A bloodline progenitor cannot revoke your inheritance.

A magical system cannot reject you because you left its universe.

A machine network cannot deactivate technology that has become part of your existence.

Once assimilated, the original source loses ownership over your copy.

Your acquired abilities also continue functioning without their original environment, patron, species, bloodline, dimension, or external infrastructure unless the ability fundamentally requires an actual outside resource.

External fuel and genuine costs still matter. A spell that consumes Mana still needs Mana. An ability requiring a specific artifact still requires that artifact unless another perk replaces the requirement.

But ownership is no longer one of those requirements.

What you have hunted, learned, assimilated, and made part of yourself cannot simply be taken back.

Once something becomes part of your Full Course, the feast is yours.

Inheritance of Acacia

Acacia's greatest inheritance was never a single technique.

It was the ability to pursue every part of the Gourmet Path without allowing one discipline to limit another. These Perks perfect your fundamentals, understanding, memory, mastery, perception, and ability to connect countless fields into one continuously improving foundation.

To inherit Acacia's path is not to become Acacia.

It is to understand why he could continue walking when everyone else reached the end.

Capstone Booster: Acacia's Successor [600 CP]

Requires:

- Primordial Gourmet Cells
- Eight Kings / Acacia's Disciple
- True Appetite Incarnation
- Absolute Appetite
- Gourmet Providence

Acacia was not merely the greatest Gourmet Hunter.

He was a pioneer, teacher, researcher, warrior, healer, explorer, and visionary whose discoveries reshaped the world itself. More than any single achievement, he possessed the extraordinary capacity to continually grow beyond every limit placed before him.

Your existence now walks that same path.

Every compatible aspect of yourself, including your body, Gourmet Cells, Appetite, Gourmet Energy, Gourmet Demon, mind, soul, and every future compatible system you acquire, becomes an ideal vessel for growth. Power no longer destroys your existence simply because it exceeds what you once could contain. Provided something can normally be assimilated, your existence instinctively adapts to safely receive it.

Your Gourmet Cells possess extraordinary compatibility. Divine ingredients, legendary bloodlines, supernatural energies, conceptual powers, advanced technologies, and every other compatible inheritance naturally integrate into your evolution instead of rejecting one another. Every new source of growth strengthens the whole of your existence rather than remaining isolated within a single aspect.

Like Acacia, your journey naturally leads toward the extraordinary. You possess an uncanny instinct for discovering the exceptional, whether that be legendary ingredients, forgotten knowledge, hidden ecosystems, miraculous medicines, ancient civilizations, powerful allies, revolutionary technologies, or opportunities that others would never realize exist. The impossible does not become common, but it always seems just within reach of your next expedition.

Your aptitude likewise approaches Acacia's legendary versatility. Hunting, cooking, Knocking, medicine, biology, ecology, engineering, craftsmanship, research, leadership, strategy, cultivation, and every other compatible discipline reinforce one another instead of competing for your attention. Mastering one field naturally accelerates your understanding of every related field, allowing you to develop an ever more complete understanding of the world as a whole.

Your mind possesses the curiosity of a true pioneer. Observation naturally becomes understanding, understanding becomes experimentation, and experimentation becomes discovery. You instinctively recognize meaningful questions worth pursuing, develop elegant solutions to seemingly impossible problems, and continuously uncover new principles that deepen your understanding of life, Gourmet Cells, Appetite, and every compatible field you study.

You also inherit Acacia's remarkable gift for teaching. You instinctively recognize the greatest potential within others and understand how best to cultivate it. Rather than creating copies of yourself, your guidance allows each individual to develop according to their own talents, often reaching heights they could never have achieved alone.

Like the legendary Knocking Master who taught the greatest Knocking Master, your understanding extends beyond techniques to the principles behind them. Whether teaching, creating, or improving a compatible art, you instinctively recognize what should be preserved, what should evolve, and what unnecessary limitations may safely be overcome.

Perhaps most importantly, your will becomes worthy of bearing an immeasurable Appetite. No compatible bloodline, Appetite Demon, transformation, instinct, corruption, possession, authority, curse, or internal power may overwhelm your identity without your genuine consent. No matter how immense the power you carry becomes, you remain the one who decides what kind of being you will become.

This perk grants no power that has not been earned.

Instead, it grants the limitless potential, extraordinary versatility, and unwavering foundation that allowed Acacia to stand at the pinnacle of the Gourmet Path.

As a Capstone Booster, Acacia's Successor enhances nearly every late-game Perk within this supplement, representing not the inheritance of Acacia's power, but the inheritance of the qualities that allowed him to become history's greatest Gourmet Hunter. One day, they may allow you to surpass even him.

Perfect Fundamentals [600 CP]

Requires: Acacia's Successor

The greatest legends are not defined by miraculous techniques.

They are defined by flawless fundamentals.

You possess an unparalleled understanding of the core principles underlying every discipline you pursue. Balance, timing, efficiency, control, precision, awareness, breathing, coordination, perception, and countless other fundamentals improve with extraordinary speed, allowing even the most advanced techniques to be built upon an unshakable foundation.

More importantly, your fundamentals never stop improving. Even without deliberate practice, every established foundation continuously reinforces and refines itself at a steady rate, ensuring your fundamentals never stagnate, dull, or fall out of practice. Every battle fought, meal prepared, creature hunted, technique mastered, experiment conducted, and lesson learned further strengthens the baseline supporting all your abilities. As your mastery grows, techniques that once demanded complete concentration gradually become effortless, while yesterday's greatest achievement becomes today's minimum standard.

Growth now flows in both directions. Stronger fundamentals improve every advanced technique built upon them, while mastering advanced techniques further refines the fundamentals beneath them. Likewise, experience gained in one discipline naturally strengthens related fields as you recognize the universal principles they share. Cooking improves craftsmanship, Knocking refines martial arts, hunting enhances research, and every form of mastery reinforces every other.

Your foundation itself has become limitless. No matter how many powers, techniques, or abilities you acquire, the fundamentals supporting them continue rising alongside them, ensuring your growth never becomes unstable or uneven.

For most, fundamentals are the beginning of mastery.

For you, they are the source of endless mastery.

Universal Understanding [400 CP]

Knowledge is accumulated.

Understanding is earned.

You possess an extraordinary ability to perceive the underlying principles governing everything around you. Whether studying an ingredient, creature, technique, ecosystem, machine, magic, martial art, energy system, or civilization, you instinctively recognize how its individual parts interact to form a greater whole.

Rather than memorizing isolated facts, you naturally build complete models of how things function. This allows you to identify weaknesses, predict outcomes, discover hidden relationships, and understand unfamiliar subjects far more quickly than should be possible.

Likewise, knowledge gained in one field naturally improves your understanding of related disciplines. Studying biology aids medicine, cooking improves chemistry, hunting teaches ecology, and engineering deepens your understanding of machinery. Even seemingly unrelated fields often reveal shared principles that strengthen your overall comprehension.

Your understanding also extends to living beings. Through observation and interaction, you gradually learn how individuals think, what drives their decisions, where their talents lie, and how they are most likely to grow. This insight makes teaching, cooperation, negotiation, and leadership significantly easier without granting mind-reading.

Perhaps most importantly, your understanding continually deepens with experience. The longer you study something, the more completely you grasp not only how it works, but why it works, allowing you to refine, improve, and eventually surpass what you first learned.

Understanding is no longer the end of learning.

It has become the beginning of mastery.

Boosted: Omnidisciplinary Insight

Requires: Universal Understanding & Perfect Fundamentals

You no longer see separate disciplines.

You see the universal principles connecting them.

Every field of knowledge reinforces every other. Discoveries in biology may reveal new methods of medicine, cooking may expose principles useful to chemistry, martial arts may improve biomechanics, and magic may reveal structures applicable to technology.

Any system you can study can be reduced to its fundamental principles.

Once understood, those principles may be compared, combined, refined, and rebuilt through everything else you know, allowing techniques and discoveries from entirely different fields to produce methods neither discipline could achieve alone.

Contradictions, inefficiencies, missing pieces, and hidden relationships become increasingly obvious as your understanding deepens.

The stranger the subject, the more new connections it gives you.

Nothing you learn remains isolated.

Every discovery becomes another ingredient in every field you possess.

You do not collect disciplines.

You turn all knowledge into one continuously expanding Full Course.

Gourmet Memory [400 CP]

Nothing truly experienced is ever forgotten.

Your Gourmet Cells possess a perfect living memory of everything they have experienced. Every ingredient consumed, technique practiced, battle fought, environment explored, lesson learned, and evolution undergone is permanently recorded within your cells.

Unlike ordinary memory, these experiences never fade with time. Skills lost through disuse are rapidly recovered, forgotten knowledge returns after brief reflection, and your body instinctively remembers the greatest performance it has ever achieved.

Likewise, your Gourmet Cells continuously study these memories. Past experiences are compared, analyzed, and refined, allowing old lessons to reveal new insights as your understanding grows. A battle fought years ago may suddenly teach you a better technique, while an ingredient tasted only once may inspire an entirely new recipe.

This memory extends beyond knowledge alone. Your body remembers ideal movements, successful adaptations, environmental conditions, compatible energies, biological changes, and every other experience relevant to your continued evolution.

Nothing you genuinely learn is ever truly lost.

Every experience becomes another permanent ingredient in your evolution.

Boosted: Universal Mastery

Requires: Universal Application, Omnidisciplinary Insight, and Harmonization

The distinction between disciplines disappears.

Every ability you possess may be expressed through every field where its underlying principles can be used.

Magic can enhance cooking.

Martial arts can improve craftsmanship.

Cultivation can accelerate research.

Psychic powers can perform surgery.

Divine flames can forge weapons.

Spatial manipulation can create impossible kitchens.

Time manipulation can prepare ingredients.

Reality manipulation becomes another tool.

Whenever you gain a new power, you instinctively understand its uses beyond whatever purpose it was originally designed for.

A combat technique can become a crafting method.

A healing ability can become cultivation.

A movement technique can become transportation or construction.

An energy attack can become a source of heat, power, refinement, or precision.

Your abilities may also be combined across disciplines, allowing the principles of one power to enhance the methods of another.

Nothing you possess is trapped inside its original category.

Every ability becomes a tool.

Every tool becomes an art.

Every art becomes another expression of the Gourmet Path.

Boosted: Apex Predator's Law

Requires: Predator's Immunity + Perfect Fundamentals + Unyielding Appetite

The Gourmet World does not care how impressive an attack sounds. A weaker predator still needs enough power to actually wound stronger prey.

Predator's Immunity now expands beyond hostile status effects and interference to direct hostile actions in general.

If the source of a hostile action possesses 98% or less of your relevant overall power and authority, that action cannot meaningfully harm you.

This applies to physical strikes, energy attacks, supernatural techniques, soul attacks, conceptual effects, spatial manipulation, temporal attacks, reality alteration, existence erasure, and similar direct attempts to injure, destroy, weaken, or otherwise harm you.

The comparison uses the power genuinely supporting that action. An opponent does not qualify as stronger merely because they possess one unrelated statistic or ability that exceeds yours.

Likewise, individually weak attacks do not become sufficient simply because thousands are fired at once. Their power only combines for this purpose if they genuinely function as one unified attack or shared source of force.

This protection does not erase indirect consequences. An enemy too weak to hurt you directly may still destroy the bridge beneath you, collapse a mountain, poison a reservoir, or create environmental hazards that your other defenses must handle.

Actions above the 98% threshold are not automatically defeated. Comparable and stronger predators can still harm you normally if they possess enough genuine force, skill, authority, or advantageous circumstances.

You may freely suppress this protection for training, allies, beneficial effects, sparring, or any interaction you genuinely wish to experience.

In the Gourmet World, anything may attempt the hunt, but standing below your place in the food chain does not make your flesh easier to bite.

Boosted: One With the World

Requires: Natural Presence + Perfect Fundamentals

Your existence has become perfectly synchronized with your surroundings.

You no longer merely conceal your presence.

You become part of the environment itself.

Unless you deliberately reveal yourself or directly interfere with someone, beings instinctively fail to notice you regardless of how powerful they are. Passive senses, danger instincts, killing intent, precognition, divination, observation abilities, magical detection, spiritual awareness, technological sensors, and similar methods naturally interpret you as a harmless part of the surroundings.

You may stand beside a king without his guards noticing, walk through the territory of an apex predator without triggering its instincts, or prepare a meal beside a creature capable of destroying mountains without disturbing it.

Only direct observation, deliberate investigation, or overwhelming differences in awareness can reliably reveal your presence.

Boosted: Feast Without Horizon

Requires: Gourmet Territory + Universal Application + Perfect Fundamentals

Eventually, even the Gourmet World becomes too small for the hunt.

Any compatible attack, technique, spell, aura, field, sense, healing effect, Knocking technique, suppression ability, environmental influence, manifestation, or similar power may expand its area of effect according to the genuine power, Cell Level, control, authority, and resources supporting it.

A technique that once covered a room may grow to encompass a city, country, continent, planet, star system, galaxy, universe, dimension, or still greater structure as you rise. There is no final numerical ceiling.

Gourmet Territory may scale alongside this expansion. When your power can meaningfully support continental, planetary, stellar, galactic, universal, or greater areas, your Territory may eventually encompass hunting grounds of the same scale.

The zero-distance rule scales with it.

If your Territory covers a planet, every chosen point on that planet may count as touching you.

If it covers a galaxy, compatible contact effects may treat anything throughout that galaxy as being within reach.

If it grows to universal or dimensional scale, the same principle continues so long as your actual power and Territory can support that extent.

Range, coverage, and intensity remain independent. You may distribute a weaker effect across an enormous region or concentrate overwhelming force into a smaller area. Increased scale does not cost you precision, allowing allies, cities, ecosystems, ingredients, structures, or individual targets to be excluded where your underlying effect permits meaningful targeting.

This does not create infinite energy. Greater coverage still demands whatever energy, stamina, concentration, authority, or other resources the effect genuinely requires, though Food Honor and superior mastery may drastically reduce waste.

Abilities without a meaningful scalable application do not become arbitrarily cosmic merely because the Territory is enormous. Zero distance removes separation, while Feast Without Horizon determines how much of the hunting ground an effect can actually influence at once.

At first, your prey was within arm's reach. Eventually, entire universes may discover that they were standing there all along.

Acacia's Final Menu

Eight ingredients changed the history of the Gourmet World.

CENTER. PAIR. ANOTHER. NEWS. GOD. AIR. EARTH. ATOM.

These Perks allow Acacia's legendary Full Course to become part of your own existence, first as individual miracles and eventually as one living ecosystem capable of sustaining, restoring, and evolving everything you have become.

A Full Course is supposed to represent a life.

This one teaches life how to continue forever.

Acacia's Full Course

Each of Acacia's Eight Dishes may be purchased individually. Doing so represents permanently consuming and assimilating that legendary ingredient into your Gourmet Cells.

Unlike ordinary Gourmet Ingredients, these miracles become fiat-backed parts of your biology, continuously nourishing, strengthening, and evolving alongside you throughout every future world.

Once per Jump, you may also summon enough of each purchased ingredient to prepare a single meal. These servings retain all of their normal culinary, biological, and supernatural properties and may be cooked, studied, cultivated, shared, or incorporated into other recipes. However, consuming additional servings does not grant the permanent effects of the purchased perk again.

Only those possessing Acacia's Successor can safely assimilate the complete Full Course. Once all Eight Dishes have been consumed, they cease functioning as separate miracles and instead unite into a single perfected ecosystem within your Gourmet Cells.

Hors D'œuvre: CENTER [600 CP]

CENTER is the legendary Hors D'Oeuvre of Acacia's Full Course, said to embody the very concept of life itself.

By consuming CENTER, your Gourmet Cells awaken extraordinary regenerative abilities. Wounds close almost instantly, shattered organs regenerate within moments, lost limbs regrow in seconds, and so long as a single living Gourmet Cell survives, your entire body may eventually be restored.

CENTER restores rather than replaces. Scars, diseases, poisons, degeneration, radiation damage, cellular decay, and similar imperfections are gradually healed while beneficial mutations, accepted augmentations, and compatible evolutions remain untouched. This restoration extends equally to your mind, soul, Gourmet Cells, and many supernatural afflictions.

Once per year, should you truly die, be erased, or similar, CENTER restores you to perfect health. It also grants five Blessings of CENTER, each capable of resurrecting another individual whose body, soul, or equivalent essence remains sufficiently intact (A drop of blood, a sliver of soul). Expended Blessings regenerate at a rate of one per year, up to a maximum of five.

To CENTER...

Death is simply the most severe wound a living being can suffer.

Soup: PAIR [400 CP]

PAIR is the legendary Soup of Acacia's Full Course; the ingredient that restored balance to PAIR also awakens your perception of the soul. Souls, spirits, ghosts, astral beings, and similar incorporeal entities become as obvious to your senses as physical creatures. You may freely communicate with, touch, restrain, and otherwise interact with them, while your physical attacks strike both body and soul simultaneously. Likewise, attacks directed solely at your soul may be defended against physically.

Finally, PAIR harmonizes your body, mind, soul, Gourmet Cells, Appetite, and Gourmet Energy. Growth in one naturally strengthens the others, damage is more easily compensated for, and no aspect of yourself significantly falls behind unless you deliberately choose otherwise.

The path toward perfection begins with balance.

Fish Dish: ANOTHER [500 CP]

ANOTHER is the legendary Fish Dish of Acacia's Full Course, a miraculous ingredient that escaped the Whale King Moon by entering the hidden realm known as the Back Channel, a mysterious layer of reality existing between space, time, dimensions, the physical world, and the Spirit World.

By consuming ANOTHER, your perception evolves far beyond ordinary limits. Your sense of taste becomes a true gourmet sense, allowing you to instinctively analyze an ingredient's composition, nutritional value, biological structure, preparation, origin, compatibility, hidden properties, and countless other subtleties from even the smallest sample.

Your vision, hearing, reactions, spatial awareness, and mental processing likewise improve enough to perceive phenomena occurring at or beyond the speed of light, though your body must still become fast enough to respond.

Most importantly, ANOTHER grants an intuitive understanding of abnormal space. The Back Channel, hyperspace, subspace, pocket dimensions, folded universes, spirit realms, dream worlds, liminal spaces, and similar environments become as easy to navigate as familiar roads. Once inside such a place, you instinctively know where you are, how it functions, where its exits lie, and how to safely traverse it. You may accurately map these realms, recognize hidden pathways and spatial anomalies, and are extraordinarily difficult to leave permanently lost unless a force specifically capable of overriding this perk prevents it.

This perk does not itself grant access to such places.

It ensures that once you enter them, you will always know the way.

Meat Dish: NEWS [600 CP]

NEWS is the legendary Meat Dish of Acacia's Full Course and the natural counterpart to ANOTHER. Where ANOTHER grants perfect understanding of impossible spaces, NEWS grants authority over them.

Upon consuming NEWS, you gain conscious control over the division rate of your Gourmet Cells. You may accelerate their cellular division beyond the speed of light, approximately 299,792 km/s or 186,282 miles/s, allowing their impossible rate of propagation to force open, create, and manipulate the boundaries of Back Channel space.

This does not automatically make your ordinary physical movement faster than light. Instead, it represents the biological mechanism through which your Gourmet Cells interfere with space and time strongly enough to create Back Channels.

After consuming NEWS, you may create and manipulate Back Channels, hidden layers of reality existing between space, time, dimensions, the physical world, and the Spirit World. Initially these are only large enough to encompass a room or building, but their size and complexity grow alongside your mastery and Appetite, eventually spanning worlds and beyond.

Within your Back Channels, you possess extraordinary authority over both space and time. Time may flow faster, slower, independently, or remain frozen, while space may be compressed, expanded, folded, connected, or reshaped to suit your needs. These domains may serve as sanctuaries, training grounds, workshops, laboratories, kitchens, storage spaces, civilizations, or transportation networks.

Back Channels also provide extraordinary methods of travel. You may cross immense distances almost instantly, bypass barriers, conceal your movements, and traverse dimensions connected through space-time. While within one of your Back Channels, most forms of tracking, divination, clairvoyance, precognition, or similar detection methods fail unless specifically capable of perceiving higher-dimensional distortions.

You are completely immune to the harmful effects of your own Back Channels and can never become trapped, lost, or harmed by paradoxes created through your own manipulations.

Finally, your mastery naturally extends to every similar phenomenon encountered throughout future worlds. Warp space, hyperspace, dimensional corridors, pocket realities, spirit paths, dream roads, and other forms of abnormal space become intuitive to understand, manipulate, and eventually reproduce through the principles of the Back Channel.

Where others see impossible pathways...

You see another road to travel.

Main Course: GOD [800 CP]

GOD is the legendary Main Course of Acacia's Full Course, the supreme ingredient sought by every Gourmet Hunter and the culmination of billions of years of evolution.

Upon consuming GOD, every aspect of your biology reaches its highest natural state. Your muscles, bones, organs, nervous system, Gourmet Cells, and Appetite become perfectly synchronized, allowing your body to perform at its absolute peak without strain or instability. Your strength, speed, durability, reflexes, vitality, and cellular stability rise to levels capable of surviving and producing planet-shaking forces while remaining under your complete control.

Your Appetite is likewise perfected. You and your Cells Are Now Full. Though you may continue eating, hunting, cooking, and evolving forever, your Gourmet Cells will never again consume your own body through starvation or overwhelming hunger, nor force you to feed against your will.

Most importantly, GOD removes every absolute limit placed upon your existence. Your body, mind, soul, Gourmet Cells, Appetite, Gourmet Energy, techniques, skills, transformations, perks, and every other compatible aspect of yourself may continue improving without ever reaching a final ceiling.

This grants limitless potential, not effortless power. Every improvement must still be earned through training, combat, research, cooking, experimentation, consumption, or whatever methods naturally develop the ability in question.

Reality will never again tell you,

"You cannot become stronger than this."

Salad: AIR [400 CP]

AIR is the legendary Salad of Acacia's Full Course, an immense fruit containing an astronomical quantity of perfectly refined oxygen.

By consuming AIR, every oxygen-dependent process within your body evolves beyond ordinary biology. Your respiratory system, metabolism, circulatory system, Gourmet Cells, and cellular respiration become vastly more efficient while maintaining an effectively limitless reserve of usable oxygen.

You no longer require breathable air to survive. Vacuum, deep oceans, poisonous atmospheres, underground caverns, or any environment lacking conventional oxygen can no longer suffocate you. Whenever possible, your body instinctively extracts suitable respiratory elements from its surroundings, whether physical, magical, spiritual, or otherwise compatible.

Likewise, every oxygen-dependent function operates at extraordinary efficiency. Your muscles tire far more slowly, reactions and coordination improve, healing accelerates, metabolism becomes vastly more efficient, and your body may operate continuously without suffering oxygen debt, lactic acid buildup, or similar biological limitations. As a result, you possess effectively limitless physical stamina for all ordinary activity.

AIR also grants complete immunity to respiratory hazards such as smoke, toxic gases, airborne diseases, corrosive atmospheres, and similar dangers, instinctively filtering harmful substances before they can affect you.

This does not provide limitless supernatural energy. However, any ability primarily fueled by physical exertion, biological endurance, oxygen consumption, or stamina may now be maintained almost indefinitely.

To your evolved body...

Breathing has become a choice, not a necessity.

Dessert: EARTH [500 CP]

EARTH is the legendary Dessert of Acacia's Full Course, an ingredient so nourishing that it serves as one of the primary energy sources of the Gourmet World itself.

By consuming EARTH, your body gains an immense reservoir of biological energy that continuously replenishes itself. Every natural function, including movement, healing, growth, regeneration, transformation, digestion, and the activity of your Gourmet Cells, may freely draw upon this reserve without meaningful depletion.

Hunger, thirst, fatigue, dehydration, and ordinary biological exhaustion become little more than distant memories. You may remain active for centuries without food, water, or sleep while maintaining peak physical performance.

Likewise, any ability fueled by physical stamina, calories, life force, metabolism, or similar biological resources may freely draw upon EARTH's reserves. Should another perk allow different energy systems to interact or convert into one another, EARTH readily serves as an almost inexhaustible source of power.

Your metabolism also becomes extraordinarily efficient. Nearly anything remotely edible can provide nourishment, while meals you prepare may be infused with EARTH's vitality, allowing those who eat them to recover from exhaustion, resist starvation, and sustain themselves for incredible lengths of time.

To you...

Every meal becomes a source of life.

Drink: ATOM [500 CP]

ATOM is the legendary Drink of Acacia's Full Course, saturated with overwhelming toxins, impossible radiation, and mutagenic substances that would destroy almost any living being.

You did more than survive.

Your Gourmet Cells evolved.

You gain complete immunity to mundane poisons, venoms, diseases, radiation, corrosive substances, biological toxins, and similar hazards. More importantly, whenever you survive exposure to a harmful substance, hostile environment, supernatural energy, curse, disease, repeated attack, or other persistent threat, your Gourmet Cells immediately begin adapting to overcome it.

Every aspect of your biology, including your organs, blood, bones, skin, metabolism, immune system, nervous system, and Gourmet Cells, may evolve to better resist or exploit survived dangers. These adaptations are always beneficial, remain under your conscious control, and never alter your personality or identity unless you willingly choose otherwise.

The more dangerous the threat and the longer you endure it, the greater the eventual adaptation. Previously acquired adaptations also reinforce one another, allowing every hardship to make future evolution faster, broader, and more efficient.

ATOM cannot save you from instant destruction.

But...

Anything you survive becomes another lesson your Gourmet Cells never forget.

Boosted: Perfect Full Course

Requires: Acacia's Successor + CENTER + PAIR + ANOTHER + NEWS + GOD + AIR + EARTH + ATOM

Acacia's Full Course ceases to be eight separate miracles.

It becomes one perfected ecosystem within your Gourmet Cells, with every course continuously supporting, refining, and strengthening the others.

CENTER restores your entire existence. Body, mind, soul, Gourmet Cells, Appetite, energies, abilities, skills, and integrated powers may all be restored so long as a meaningful fragment of you survives. Your personal resurrection refreshes monthly and may hold up to five uses, while your Blessings of CENTER increase to one hundred and regenerate every three months.

PAIR places every part of you in perfect harmony. Growth in one aspect strengthens the foundation of the others, while damage, suppression, and imbalance are shared, compensated for, and recovered from more efficiently.

ANOTHER causes your perception to evolve alongside you. Higher dimensions, supernatural energies, conceptual spaces, causality, probability, and increasingly complex phenomena become perceptible without overwhelming your senses.

NEWS transforms your Back Channels into permanent growing domains. Their size, complexity, and authority increase alongside you, allowing them to become kingdoms, laboratories, kitchens, sanctuaries, transportation networks, or entire hidden worlds.

GOD removes every hard and soft ceiling from your development. Training, cultivation, adaptation, mastery, evolution, and self-improvement never suffer diminishing returns simply because you have already reached impossible heights.

Your internal energy systems also become parts of one interconnected Full Course. Mana, Chakra, Ki, Qi, Gourmet Energy, Appetite Energy, psychic power, spiritual power, divine energy, and other internal reserves may flow between one another with perfect conversion while retaining the properties that make each useful.

AIR perfects your biology, eliminating genetic flaws, physiological weaknesses, metabolic inefficiencies, and avoidable defects while preserving everything valuable.

EARTH becomes an eternal source of nourishment for healing, regeneration, growth, transformation, training, adaptation, and every other process that requires biological fuel.

ATOM turns evolution into instinct. Every battle, injury, environment, poison, power, and survived threat becomes another lesson your Gourmet Cells use to improve future evolution.

Your Full Course itself continues evolving with your Appetite. If you discover an ingredient that represents one of your courses better than the current one, you may incorporate it without losing any benefits already gained.

The eight dishes are no longer powers you carry.

They are the ecosystem you have become.

You are no longer sustained by the greatest meal ever created.

You are its living continuation.

Meta Booster: The Full Course You Always Carry

Requires: One Continuous Full Course + Boosted: Perfect Full Course
Upgrades The Bodymod

Your accumulated baseline is no longer merely a collection of powers.

It has become part of the definition of the Jumper.

Your highest legitimate permanent floor in Body, Mind, Soul, Will, and Existence is incorporated into your personal Body Mod and continuously updates upward whenever those foundations genuinely improve.

At the beginning of future Jumps, Gauntlets, Scenarios, or other situations where external powers are removed or restricted, you retain the person those powers successfully trained.

A supernatural gravity chamber may be removed.

The body it strengthened remains.

A cultivation system may be unavailable.

The soul it permanently refined remains.

A psychic enhancement may be suppressed.

The cognitive development genuinely achieved through centuries of using it remains.

A transformation may be locked.

The baseline improvements that truly became part of you remain.

This does not smuggle unrelated techniques, spells, transformations, equipment, authorities, or setting-specific abilities through power-loss rules.

It preserves what they permanently made you into.

Your Body Mod can only update upward. It never accepts a weaker replacement baseline.

And because the previous perks belong to you rather than a particular form, this Body Mod floor applies even when you are transformed into a child, reincarnated into a mundane species, given a powerless body, placed in a world without souls, or stripped down to the most basic form the Scenario allows.

You may voluntarily suppress yourself to any earlier level for challenge, disguise, training, or enjoyment without actually losing the stronger foundation.

A Jump may take away the kitchen, the Knife, and every ingredient in your pantry. It cannot make your Gourmet Cells forget the meals that already became you.

Boosted: Eternal Satisfaction

Requires: Perfect Metabolism, Perfect Food Honor, AIR, EARTH, ATOM

Your existence no longer depends upon ordinary biological maintenance.

You do not require food, water, air, sleep, or similar necessities to remain alive, healthy, and at peak condition. Your body, soul, Gourmet Cells, Appetite, and internal systems sustain themselves indefinitely.

You may still eat, drink, breathe, sleep, and enjoy every other pleasure normally. Food remains delicious, rest remains refreshing, and meals may still provide growth, Cell Activations, supernatural benefits, or companionship.

They are simply no longer required for survival.

Your Appetite also never becomes a burden. No amount of power, size, evolution, or cellular activity can force you into starvation, uncontrolled feeding, or compulsive consumption.

You always decide when, what, and whether you eat.

A Gourmet God could survive forever without taking another bite.

But what kind of Gourmet would choose to?

Boosted: Bottomless Full Course

Requires: Refined Gourmet Energy + Perfect Food Honor + The Feast Is Not Yours + Perfect Full Course + Rampaging Gourmet Beast + Eternal Satisfaction

Your Full Course has become a self-sustaining ecosystem of inexhaustible resources.

Every renewable personal resource you possess becomes effectively bottomless. Stamina, calories, vitality, life force, Gourmet Energy, Appetite Energy, Mana, Chakra, Ki, Qi, spiritual power, psychic energy, cultivation energy, divine power, soul energy, willpower, mental energy, regeneration reserves, transformation fuel, charges, spell slots, and similar resources replenish as quickly as you can legitimately expend them.

A spellcaster never runs out of Mana.

A cultivator never empties their Qi.

A transformation fueled by energy may remain active indefinitely.

Physical exertion no longer exhausts your stamina.

Renewable charges, internal ammunition, and similar resources restore themselves continuously.

This does not grant infinite instantaneous output. You may possess an endless ocean of power, but the amount you can release at once still depends upon your current capacity, control, technique, durability, and ability to channel it.

Nor does this erase unrelated requirements. Unique artifacts, specific sacrifices, required individuals, activation conditions, concentration, genuine cooldowns, and permanent costs remain unless another ability removes them.

If a resource can normally be restored, regenerated, cultivated, recovered, or replenished, your Full Course makes it inexhaustible.

Perfect Food Honor eliminates waste.

Refined Gourmet Energy keeps your reserves pure and stable.

Rampaging Gourmet Beast gives your existence the capacity to contain them.

Perfect Full Course links every resource into one living system.

The Feast Is Not Yours ensures this abundance remains yours alone.

Any future renewable personal resource you acquire may also join this ecosystem once integrated into your existence.

You do not merely possess enormous reserves.

You have become an ecosystem that never reaches the final serving.

The hunt may continue forever. Your Full Course will still be full.

Back Channel [200 CP]

Requires: Perfect Full Course

The Back Channel is a hidden layer of reality created by ANOTHER, existing alongside the normal universe yet remaining imperceptible to all but those properly attuned to it.

Ordinarily, access requires consuming PAIR to perceive and enter the Back Channel, communicate with Food Spirits, and traverse naturally occurring passages. Consuming NEWS grants the ability to create and manipulate Back Channel space directly, giving rise to techniques such as Warp Roads and Warp Kitchens.

Normally, these phenomena exist only within the Toriko universe.

With this perk, the Back Channel becomes a permanent part of every future world you visit. Wherever you travel, a hidden Back Channel exists beneath reality, following the same fundamental principles as it did within the Gourmet World. Anyone who has properly consumed PAIR, NEWS, or your Perfect Full Course may perceive, enter, and manipulate it exactly as they could in Toriko.

You may also choose which natural features accompany it. Naturally occurring entrances, hidden pathways, temporal anomalies, Food Spirits, and similar phenomena may all be independently enabled, disabled, or altered whenever you enter a new world. These features integrate naturally into the setting's history and metaphysics, ensuring they feel like genuine parts of that world's reality rather than foreign additions.

The state of each feature may be chosen independently for every future Jump and may be changed again at the start of each new Jump.

Should you possess NEWS, you retain the ability to create Warp Roads, Warp Kitchens, and other Back Channel techniques in every future world exactly as if you were still within the Gourmet Universe.

The Back Channel is no longer unique to one universe.

It has become a hidden layer of reality that follows you throughout your Chain.

Boosted: Full Course Territory

Requires: Gourmet Territory + Perfect Full Course

Your Gourmet Territory becomes a miniature world prepared according to your Full Course.

Within its boundaries, you possess extreme control over space, time, gravity, atmosphere, temperature, pressure, light, terrain, ambient energy, and similar nonliving environmental conditions.

As a baseline, internal time may accelerate by approximately 31,536,000 times, allowing one year of cooking, training, cultivation, research, healing, aging, or preparation to occur in roughly one outside second. You may slow time by the same degree, freeze selected environmental processes, or maintain several regions at different temporal rates.

Space is equally obedient. A meter may contain kilometers of usable distance, enormous ingredients can fit inside tiny areas, distant locations may become adjacent, and individual regions may possess different gravity, climate, pressure, atmosphere, or supernatural conditions.

Your zero-distance rule remains absolute throughout this prepared world. No matter how much internal space the Territory contains, anything you choose within it still counts as being at zero distance for compatible abilities.

A laboratory may contain millions of kilometers of folded space while every instrument remains effectively within reach. A continent-sized kitchen may still let you touch every ingredient from one position. A training world may stretch across planetary distances while contact-based healing, Knocking, sensing, or energy transfer remains immediately available throughout it.

Your Full Course also provides the framework for stranger environments you genuinely understand, allowing ideal kitchens, laboratories, ecosystems, preservation zones, cultivation chambers, and training grounds.

This controls surrounding conditions rather than automatically rewriting living beings, creating unavailable resources, or producing power from nothing.

As your power, Cell Level, and understanding grow, so do the Territory's range, internal scale, complexity, and extremity.

A Chef prepares the ingredient. You prepare a world where every course is already within reach.

Boosted: Banquet of the Monkey King

Requires: Monkey King's Dance + Perfect Full Course

One dance was never enough for the Monkey King.

You can divide your physical activity into up to 5,000 independent action streams, each functioning with the coordination, precision, and continuity of its own Monkey King's Dance.

At ordinary human physical speed, this allows roughly five million coordinated physical steps, motions, strikes, preparations, adjustments, or equivalent actions within ten seconds. Greater speed increases this proportionally.

These are not uncontrolled extra movements. Each stream possesses your full awareness of timing, balance, purpose, and technique, while Perfect Full Course keeps every participating part of your existence working as a single harmonious ecosystem.

Different streams may fight, cook, perform Knocking, manipulate tools, defend, move, prepare ingredients, or execute entirely different physical tasks simultaneously.

Every compatible limb, biological extension, transformation, weapon, tool, hair strand, tail, tentacle, or other controllable part of yourself may participate where physically appropriate.

Each individual stream can itself perform the Monkey King's Dance, allowing thousands of vast action chains to unfold simultaneously.

This does not multiply your total energy for free. Power, stamina, attention, available limbs, and other genuine resources must still be distributed among what you are doing. The miracle is that coordination itself is no longer the bottleneck.

A normal combatant attacks once.

A master attacks a thousand times.

You turn the battlefield into a banquet where every Gourmet Cell has been given its own course to prepare.

The Monkey King performed one impossible dance. You brought enough tables for five thousand of them.

Origin: Gourmet Hunter

The world is filled with ingredients waiting to be discovered.

Gourmet Hunters specialize in finding them.

These Perks develop tracking, survival, pursuit, teamwork, combat instinct, and the ability to understand increasingly impossible prey and hunting grounds.

Every mystery leaves a trail.

Every trail eventually leads to the next course.

Hunter's Instinct [100 CP]

Free for Gourmet Hunter

Every great Gourmet Hunter begins by learning to understand the world around them.

You possess the knowledge, instincts, and fieldcraft expected of a professional Gourmet Hunter. Tracking, hunting, trapping, navigation, climbing, survival, ingredient identification, harvesting, preserving food, reading terrain, and understanding ecosystems all come naturally to you. Your instincts also allow you to accurately judge the approximate danger, rarity, value, and ecological role of creatures, ingredients, and environments. Outside the Gourmet World, this instead becomes an intuitive understanding of the relative threat and value of whatever you encounter.

Likewise, you instinctively know how to harvest ingredients with minimal waste while preserving their flavor, nutritional value, medicinal properties, Gourmet Energy, and long-term sustainability.

Finally, your hunter's intuition constantly draws your attention toward subtle clues others overlook. Tracks, hidden trails, migration routes, nests, ambushes, unusual plants, forgotten ruins, and legendary ingredients are all easier for you to notice.

A Gourmet Hunter does not conquer nature.

They learn to understand it.

Predator's Pursuit [200 CP]

Every creature leaves a trail.

The greatest hunters never lose it.

Once you possess enough information to identify your quarry, your instincts naturally guide you toward the next clue. Tracks, scents, damaged vegetation, disturbed ecosystems, feeding grounds, witness reports, environmental changes, and countless other subtle signs become surprisingly easy to interpret. So long as your quarry can reasonably be found, there is almost always another trail to follow.

You also instinctively understand how prey behaves while being hunted. Escape routes, resting places, migration patterns, territorial behavior, feeding habits, and defensive tactics become increasingly predictable, allowing you to anticipate rather than simply react.

Before every hunt, your instincts naturally begin planning. You subconsciously evaluate terrain, weather, equipment, allies, supplies, possible traps, and contingency plans, ensuring you are almost always as prepared as circumstances allow.

Long expeditions, harsh climates, dangerous terrain, starvation, exhaustion, and poor weather no longer prevent you from continuing the hunt.

Preparation wins the hunt long before the first strike.

Apex Hunter [400 CP]

Every hunt leaves behind more than a trophy.

It leaves behind experience.

Every meaningful hunt permanently refines your body, Gourmet Cells, Appetite, Gourmet Energy, instincts, techniques, and understanding of nature. Capturing legendary prey, discovering new ingredients, documenting unknown species, surviving impossible expeditions, overcoming stronger opponents, or simply learning from failure all become lasting sources of growth.

Your Gourmet Cells continuously analyze every creature you encounter. Anatomy, instincts, biology, strengths, weaknesses, adaptations, habitats, behavior, and evolution become increasingly familiar after only brief observation. Even unfamiliar creatures quickly reveal the principles governing their survival.

Likewise, you instinctively devise methods to hunt or safely capture even unknown prey. Rather than relying solely on strength, you naturally exploit terrain, weather, ecology, behavior, available resources, traps, companions, Knocking, and countless other advantages to accomplish what would otherwise seem impossible.

Your reputation also begins affecting the natural world itself. Lesser beasts instinctively flee your presence, apex predators recognize you as a rival, and experienced hunters immediately understand they are standing beside someone extraordinary.

The greatest hunter defeats prey with understanding before strength.

Boosted: Feast of Predators

Requires: Hunter's Instinct + Apex Hunter

The hunt is not separate from nature.

It is part of its endless cycle.

Every meaningful experience connected to hunting now contributes to your continued growth. Tracking legendary prey, preserving endangered species, restoring ecosystems, discovering new ingredients, studying monsters, preparing your own catches, teaching future hunters, or even choosing not to hunt all strengthen your body, Gourmet Cells, Appetite, Gourmet Energy, instincts, and understanding of the natural world.

Your perception of ecosystems also reaches extraordinary heights. Given sufficient observation, you instinctively recognize food chains, migration routes, breeding cycles, territorial boundaries, keystone species, environmental imbalances, hidden ingredients, and the countless relationships connecting an ecosystem together. Entire environments become as easy to read as a map.

Finally, your actions naturally preserve balance. You instinctively avoid unnecessary destruction, harvest sustainably whenever practical, and recognize when protecting an ecosystem will ultimately yield greater rewards than exploiting it.

You no longer merely hunt within nature.

You have become one of its apex predators.

Full Course Partnership [500 CP]

No Gourmet Hunter reaches the pinnacle alone.

The greatest hunts require hunters, chefs, Knockers, Saiseiya, researchers, craftsmen, companions, and Gourmet Beasts working together as one.

You possess an extraordinary ability to build, lead, and coordinate such a team. Every member naturally understands their role, communication becomes nearly effortless, and everyone instinctively supports one another's strengths while covering each other's weaknesses. Even newly formed groups quickly develop the trust and coordination of long-time companions.

Likewise, your companions continuously learn from one another. Hunts, expeditions, shared meals, discoveries, and hardships naturally strengthen teamwork while accelerating everyone's growth without replacing their own effort or talent.

Finally, you instinctively recognize the strengths each individual brings to the team, allowing you to organize hunting parties capable of accomplishing far more than the sum of their members.

The greatest prey are never hunted alone.

Perfect Full Course Team

Requires: Predator's Pursuit + Full Course Partnership

A true Full Course Team functions as a single organism.

Your team's coordination reaches extraordinary levels. Intent, strategy, and battlefield awareness flow naturally between trusted companions with little or no communication required. Friendly competition pushes everyone toward greater heights while discoveries, techniques, and experience naturally spread throughout the group.

Morale, determination, and trust become equally contagious. Fear, panic, confusion, and despair struggle to break a united team, while each member instinctively creates opportunities for the others to succeed.

The stronger your bonds become, the greater this harmony grows.

Your team no longer fights together.

It hunts as one.

King of Hunters [600 CP]

You stand among the greatest Gourmet Hunters in history, your mastery rivaling the Four Heavenly Kings at the end of their journey.

Nothing within the Gourmet World lies beyond your ability to hunt. Given sufficient preparation and opportunity, you possess the knowledge, instincts, leadership, and experience required to locate, pursue, subdue, safely capture, harvest, and survive encounters with even Acacia's Full Course ingredients.

No matter how strange a creature's biology, powers, behavior, or methods of survival may be, prolonged observation allows you to understand how it lives, how it survives, how it hunts, and ultimately how it may itself be hunted. Likewise, every environment becomes another weapon. Terrain, climate, ecosystems, other creatures, weather, gravity, and natural phenomena instinctively reveal themselves as tools that may aid your hunt.

Your presence alone inspires confidence in allies while commanding the respect of hunters and predators alike. Lesser creatures flee, apex predators acknowledge you as a rival, and even the greatest monsters instinctively recognize you as a fellow apex predator.

For others, hunting is a profession.

For you, it has become second nature.

Boosted: Divine Hunter

Requires: King of Hunters + Feast of Predators + Perfect Full Course Team

You have reached the absolute pinnacle of the hunt, your mastery equaling or surpassing the greatest Gourmet Hunters in history, including legends such as Ichiryu and Acacia.

Hunting is no longer merely the pursuit of prey. It has become your method of understanding existence itself.

Anything that can meaningfully be pursued can eventually be found. Whether your quarry is a creature, civilization, artifact, hidden technique, ecosystem, lost world, supernatural phenomenon, or other compatible objective, you instinctively perceive the countless relationships connecting you to it. Every trail leaves clues. Every mystery forms patterns. Every hunt possesses a path toward success for those capable of seeing it.

Likewise, the hunt itself perfects you. As you close in on your objective, your body, mind, soul, Gourmet Cells, Appetite, Gourmet Energy, instincts, and techniques naturally synchronize, allowing you to perform at your absolute peak when the decisive moment arrives.

Your understanding also extends beyond individuals to entire ecosystems. Given sufficient observation, you instinctively perceive how species, environments, civilizations, and even worlds interact, allowing you to preserve, restore, or selectively alter them while maintaining their natural balance.

You no longer hunt because you are powerful.

You have become the living embodiment of the Hunt itself.

Origin: Chef

Capturing an ingredient is only half the journey.

A Chef discovers what that ingredient was capable of becoming.

These Perks develop preparation, flavor, culinary intuition, miraculous cooking, teamwork, and the ability to bring out the greatest potential hidden within ingredients, people, and eventually far stranger things.

The greatest meal does more than satisfy hunger.

It changes everyone who tastes it.

Perfect Preparation [100 CP]

Free for Chef

Every legendary meal begins long before the first cut.

You possess the knowledge, precision, and discipline expected of a professional Gourmet Chef. Knife skills, butchery, filleting, baking, roasting, frying, steaming, preservation, fermentation, seasoning, food safety, nutrition, and countless other culinary techniques come naturally to you. You instinctively recognize ingredient quality, freshness, ripeness, compatibility, and the ideal methods for storing and preparing them.

Likewise, you instinctively know how to process ingredients with virtually no waste, preserving their flavor, nutritional value, medicinal properties, Gourmet Energy, and unique characteristics. Even unfamiliar ingredients quickly reveal the methods most likely to produce the best results.

Finally, your kitchen is naturally organized and efficient. You always know where everything is, waste little movement, and can prepare complex meals with remarkable speed without sacrificing quality.

A Gourmet Chef does not simply cook food.

They reveal its true potential.

Flavor Harmony [200 CP]

Great chefs do not force flavors together.

They allow them to complement one another.

You possess an extraordinary understanding of flavor, aroma, texture, temperature, nutrition, and presentation. Even ingredients from entirely different ecosystems, cultures, or worlds naturally reveal how they may best complement one another.

Your palate borders on supernatural. A single taste can reveal an ingredient's composition, preparation, hidden qualities, nutritional value, likely origin, and even suggest improvements to the recipe.

Before preparing a meal, you instinctively plan every stage of its creation. Ingredient order, cooking methods, timing, seasoning, serving temperature, and presentation naturally arrange themselves into the most harmonious sequence possible.

Even simple meals prepared by your hands become memorable experiences.

Harmony creates flavor.

Legendary Chef [400 CP]

Every meal teaches the chef.

Every ingredient tells a story.

Every meaningful meal permanently improves your culinary knowledge, precision, creativity, palate, Gourmet Cells, Appetite, Gourmet Energy, and understanding of food. Preparing legendary ingredients, inventing recipes, correcting failures, studying unfamiliar cuisines, and feeding others all become lasting sources of growth.

You instinctively understand how ingredients interact on every level. Flavor, chemistry, biology, Gourmet Energy, medicinal effects, textures, temperatures, and even supernatural properties naturally reveal themselves, allowing you to create dishes that preserve or enhance every desirable characteristic.

Likewise, you can devise methods to prepare even completely unknown ingredients. Rather than relying on recipes alone, you naturally combine observation, experimentation, chemistry, biology, and intuition to unlock an ingredient's greatest potential.

Your reputation begins preceding you. Experienced chefs recognize your work immediately, exceptional ingredients respond more favorably to your touch, and those who taste your food instinctively understand they have experienced something extraordinary.

The greatest chefs do not follow recipes.

They create them.

Boosted: Banquet of Miracles

Requires: Perfect Preparation + Legendary Chef

Cooking is more than preparing food.

It is transforming life itself.

Every meaningful culinary experience now contributes to your continued growth. Discovering ingredients, inventing recipes, preserving traditions, feeding others, studying foreign cuisines, cultivating ingredients, teaching chefs, or even sharing a simple meal all strengthen your culinary skill, Gourmet Cells, Appetite, Gourmet Energy, creativity, and understanding of food.

Your understanding of ingredients also reaches extraordinary heights. Given sufficient observation, you instinctively perceive flavor relationships, nutritional balance, biological compatibility, preparation methods, maturation, preservation techniques, and the countless interactions between ingredients. Entire cuisines become as easy to understand as a single recipe.

Finally, meals prepared by your hands naturally bring out the very best in their ingredients and those who eat them. Flavors become richer, nutrition more complete, Gourmet Energy more readily absorbed, and beneficial effects more pronounced, while harmful or undesirable qualities are minimized whenever possible.

You no longer simply prepare meals.

You allow ingredients to become the greatest version of themselves.

Boosted: The Meal That Awakens

Requires: Banquet of Miracles + Gourmet Cell Activation

A perfect meal does more than nourish.

It awakens what the eater could become.

Meals you prepare may deliberately trigger Gourmet Cell Activations in those who consume them, causing their bodies, minds, souls, Gourmet Cells, Appetite, and supernatural systems to break through limitations they were already capable of surpassing.

Strength may increase.

Regeneration may awaken.

Senses may evolve.

Dormant Appetite Energy may ignite.

Gourmet Demons may stir.

Bloodlines, transformations, mutations, talents, and latent adaptations may emerge.

The exact awakening is determined by the eater, the ingredients, and the nature of the meal rather than by arbitrary wish fulfillment. You instinctively understand what kind of dish will best encourage the development you desire.

This principle also extends beyond Gourmet Cells.

Mana systems may undergo breakthroughs.

Chakra networks may awaken.

Ki may expand.

Cultivation bottlenecks may break.

Dormant bloodlines may activate.

Artificial evolution, psychic potential, spiritual development, and similar systems may be stimulated through properly designed meals.

Greater awakenings demand greater ingredients, preparation, and culinary mastery.

A simple meal may awaken dormant potential.

A banquet worthy of the Gourmet Gods may transform an entire life.

You do not simply prepare food that makes people stronger.

You prepare the meal their existence was waiting to eat.

Kitchen of the World [500 CP]

The greatest chefs do not simply prepare meals.

They create experiences that bring people together.

You possess an extraordinary talent for understanding those you cook for. By observing an individual, you instinctively recognize their tastes, nutritional needs, physical condition, emotional state, Gourmet Cells, Appetite, and preferences, allowing you to prepare meals uniquely suited to them.

Your meals naturally strengthen friendships, resolve conflicts, improve morale, and encourage cooperation without manipulating free will. Sharing food prepared by your hands makes meaningful conversations easier, softens hostility, and reminds people of what they truly value.

Likewise, you instinctively organize kitchens, restaurants, expeditions, and banquets with remarkable efficiency. Every cook, assistant, server, supplier, and companion naturally falls into the role where they perform best, allowing even enormous kitchens to function with surprising harmony.

A meal can change a person.

A great banquet can change the world.

Boosted: Perfect Banquet

Requires: Flavor Harmony + Kitchen of the World

A truly legendary chef improves everyone around them.

Your kitchens become places of extraordinary growth. Anyone working alongside you naturally refines their culinary skills, learns new techniques, and develops better teamwork simply through shared experience. Teachers become more effective, students learn faster, and recipes, discoveries, and inspiration spread naturally throughout your staff.

Likewise, every meal prepared under your guidance benefits from the talents of everyone involved. Hunters gather better ingredients, craftsmen create finer tools, researchers provide deeper knowledge, and every contribution seamlessly enhances the finished dish.

The stronger the bonds within your kitchen, the greater the quality of everything it creates.

A perfect kitchen is not built by one chef.

It is built by everyone sharing the same table.

Absolute Chef [600 CP]

You stand among the greatest chefs in history, your mastery rivaling Setsuno and Komatsu at the end of their journey.

Nothing within the Gourmet World lies beyond your ability to prepare. Given suitable ingredients, you possess the knowledge, precision, creativity, and intuition required to safely process, preserve, refine, and perfect even Acacia's Full Course.

No matter how unfamiliar an ingredient may be, prolonged observation allows you to understand its structure, flavor, biology, Gourmet Energy, preparation methods, maturation, compatibility, and hidden potential. Even ingredients thought impossible to cook eventually reveal the method that brings forth their greatest qualities.

Your cooking no longer merely preserves ingredients.

It elevates them.

Meals prepared by your hands consistently enhance the positive qualities of every ingredient while minimizing undesirable traits whenever possible. Flavor becomes richer, nutrition more complete, Gourmet Energy easier to absorb, medicinal properties stronger, and harmful effects greatly reduced without destroying the ingredient's identity.

To ordinary chefs, recipes are instructions.

To you.

Every ingredient writes its own recipe.

Boosted: Divine Chef

Requires: Absolute Chef, Banquet of Miracles & Perfect Banquet

You have reached the absolute pinnacle of the culinary arts, your mastery equaling or surpassing the greatest chefs in history, including the legendary Froese herself.

Cooking has become your method of understanding life itself.

Every ingredient, regardless of its origin, naturally reveals its purpose to you. Living creatures, magical plants, divine fruits, spiritual beings, artificial life, conceptual materials, supernatural energies, and countless other compatible ingredients may all be understood, prepared, and harmonized through the universal principles of cooking.

Your meals become true miracles. They nourish not only the body, but the mind, soul, Gourmet Cells, Appetite, Gourmet Energy, and every other compatible aspect of those who partake. They can restore fading hope, strengthen determination, preserve civilizations, revitalize ecosystems, inspire growth, and bring out the greatest potential within both ingredients and those who consume them.

Likewise, your understanding extends beyond individual dishes. Entire cuisines, ecosystems, cultures, and civilizations become ingredients in a greater banquet, allowing you to preserve traditions, inspire innovation, and unite vastly different peoples through the universal language of food.

You no longer prepare meals.

You create miracles worthy of the greatest chef to have ever lived.

Origin: Knocker

Everything alive possesses a rhythm.

A Knocking Master learns where that rhythm can be touched.

These Perks develop precision, biological control, timing, preservation, restraint, and the ability to influence increasingly complex living systems without relying upon overwhelming force.

A fist may stop a monster.

One perfectly placed finger may stop the world around it.

Rhythm of Life [100 CP]

Free for Knocker

Every living thing possesses a rhythm.

A heartbeat. A pulse. A flow of life.

You possess the knowledge and precision expected of a professional Knocker. By observing a creature, you instinctively perceive the rhythm of its body, allowing you to locate vital points, muscles, nerves, joints, organs, and Gourmet Cell clusters with remarkable accuracy.

Your strikes become exceptionally precise, allowing you to stun, immobilize, weaken, or restrain targets with minimal force while avoiding unnecessary injury. This knowledge extends equally to anatomy, physiology, first aid, and safely handling living creatures, making you invaluable during hunts.

Likewise, you instinctively understand how to regulate your own rhythm, granting exceptional control over your breathing, heartbeat, movements, stamina, and physical condition.

A true Knocker defeats an opponent without destroying them.

They simply interrupt the rhythm of life.

Master of Knocking [200 CP]

Every rhythm has a weakness.

Every weakness has a point.

Your understanding of Knocking deepens tremendously. You instinctively recognize increasingly subtle Knocking Points, allowing you to affect creatures vastly larger, stronger, or stranger than yourself. Muscles, organs, circulation, nerves, Gourmet Cells, and compatible energy pathways all reveal opportunities for precise intervention.

You also possess extraordinary control over the force behind every strike. Whether using your hands, feet, tools, projectiles, or compatible techniques, you can deliver exactly the amount of force required to achieve the desired effect, from a light stun to complete immobilization.

Before engaging a target, your instincts naturally analyze its anatomy, movement, posture, breathing, and behavior, constantly refining your understanding as the encounter continues.

For you...

Precision always surpasses brute force.

Living Pulse [400 CP]

Knocking is not merely a technique.

It is understanding life itself.

Every successful application of Knocking permanently refines your precision, perception, Gourmet Cells, Appetite, Gourmet Energy, and understanding of living systems. Every creature studied, patient treated, hunt completed, or battle survived expands your mastery.

Your understanding rapidly adapts to unfamiliar biology. Alien life, magical beasts, spirits with physical forms, artificial organisms, and other compatible beings gradually reveal their rhythms, allowing you to locate functional equivalents to Knocking Points even when conventional anatomy does not exist.

Likewise, Knocking becomes increasingly versatile. You instinctively devise new methods of stunning, restraining, calming, awakening, accelerating recovery, interrupting harmful biological processes, or safely capturing prey through careful manipulation of the body's natural rhythms rather than overwhelming force.

Your reputation also grows. Experienced hunters, chefs, and Saiseiya immediately recognize the extraordinary precision of your work, while dangerous creatures instinctively sense that your touch can decide whether they move... or remain perfectly still.

The greatest Knocker controls life with a single touch.

Boosted: Harmony of Life

Requires: Rhythm of Life + Living Pulse

Every rhythm exists within a greater rhythm.

Your understanding expands beyond individual bodies to entire living systems. Groups of creatures, ecosystems, and even compatible energy networks reveal interconnected patterns that allow you to predict movement, identify instability, and intervene with astonishing efficiency.

Likewise, your mastery of Knocking now extends beyond restraint alone. Properly applied, your techniques may stimulate natural healing, restore healthy biological rhythms, stabilize failing bodies, suppress harmful mutations, calm frenzied creatures, improve circulation, reduce fatigue, and assist recovery without replacing the role of a true Saiseiya.

Finally, your precision reaches extraordinary levels. Every movement becomes smoother, every strike more efficient, and every action wastes virtually no effort, allowing impossible feats of control even under extreme pressure.

You no longer simply interrupt life's rhythm.

You conduct it.

Grand Knocking [500 CP]

Every rhythm can be understood.

Every rhythm can be influenced.

Your mastery of Knocking now extends far beyond living anatomy. Given sufficient study, you can identify and manipulate the natural rhythms of plants, fungi, Gourmet Ingredients, machines, magical constructs, compatible energy systems, and countless other phenomena. While not everything possesses traditional Knocking Points, nearly everything has moments of stability, weakness, or interruption that your instincts learn to exploit.

Your understanding of timing becomes extraordinary. You instinctively know the perfect moment to strike, block, dodge, interrupt, harvest, or intervene, allowing even simple movements to achieve seemingly impossible results.

Likewise, your Knocking becomes exceptionally gentle when required. You may safely restrain creatures far weaker than yourself, preserve delicate ingredients, calm frightened animals, interrupt harmful transformations, or perform complex procedures without causing unnecessary harm.

A master of Knocking does not rely on force.

They rely on perfect timing.

Knocking the Calamity [200 CP]

Requires: Master of Knocking + Grand Knocking

Knocking was never truly limited to bodies. A master simply learns where the rhythm of the disaster can be interrupted.

Your Knocking may be applied to large-scale processes and catastrophes whose behavior you can meaningfully perceive and understand. Earthquakes, eruptions, hurricanes, tsunamis, collapsing structures, runaway energy reactions, unstable dimensions, spreading poisons, rampaging ecosystems, supernatural storms, and similar disasters may be slowed, halted, redirected, stabilized, or suspended by striking the correct points in their underlying rhythm.

You are not required to physically touch every part of the phenomenon. Once you can legitimately reach or influence the relevant Knocking Point, interrupting it may affect the greater process it governs.

The greater the scale, complexity, and power of the calamity, the greater the precision and force required. This does not automatically solve something overwhelmingly beyond you, but even then you may suppress part of it, buy time, isolate the most dangerous region, or prevent the catastrophe from worsening.

At extreme mastery and Cell Levels, Knocking may stabilize planetary disasters, halt stellar-scale reactions, suspend dimensional collapses, or arrest still greater phenomena that your power can genuinely affect.

You may also release your Knocking selectively, allowing suspended processes to resume safely rather than simply postponing destruction.

Anyone can destroy the source of a catastrophe. A Knocking Master places one finger upon the world's pulse and tells it to wait.

Boosted: Eternal Rhythm

Requires: Master of Knocking + Grand Knocking

The Rhythm of Life never truly ends.

Your precision and understanding continue improving through every successful application of Knocking. Every creature studied, every patient treated, every ingredient prepared, every battle fought, and every new rhythm understood permanently refines your mastery.

Likewise, your perception naturally seeks harmony rather than conflict. You instinctively recognize unstable biological processes, environmental imbalances, disrupted energy flows, and other irregularities, allowing you to restore proper function with astonishing efficiency.

Your techniques also become increasingly effortless. Movements that once demanded complete concentration gradually become instinctive, allowing you to perform extraordinarily complex Knocking techniques with little wasted effort.

Every rhythm you understand teaches you another.

King of Knocking [600 CP]

You stand among the greatest Knockers in history, your mastery rivaling the legendary Jiro himself.

Nothing within the Gourmet World lies beyond your understanding of Knocking. Given sufficient observation, you can identify, influence, or interrupt the natural rhythms of any compatible living organism, biological process, Gourmet Cell, ingredient, or energy system.

Your mastery extends equally to offense, defense, hunting, medicine, cooking, preservation, and restoration. You can halt catastrophic biological processes, suspend creatures in perfect stasis, awaken dormant functions, preserve ingredients indefinitely, safely restrain the strongest beasts, or restore natural rhythms disrupted by injury, poison, disease, or compatible supernatural effects.

Likewise, your understanding rapidly adapts to unfamiliar biology or power systems. Alien physiology, magical life, divine organisms, artificial beings, and other compatible forms of existence gradually reveal equivalent rhythms, allowing your techniques to remain effective wherever life exists.

For others, Knocking is an art.

For you, it is the language of life itself.

Boosted: Divine Knocking Master

Requires: King of Knocking, Harmony of Life & Eternal Rhythm

You have reached the absolute pinnacle of Knocking, your mastery equaling or surpassing the legendary Jiro, the greatest Knocker in history.

Every rhythm within existence becomes increasingly clear to your perception. Bodies, souls, Gourmet Cells, compatible energy systems, ecosystems, dimensions, and even certain natural phenomena all possess patterns that may be understood, preserved, interrupted, restored, or harmonized through the principles of Knocking.

Your techniques no longer merely stop movement. They allow you to guide the natural rhythm of existence itself. You can suspend catastrophic events, preserve fragile life, restore harmony to damaged ecosystems, awaken dormant potential, stabilize incompatible energies, and safely manipulate phenomena that would normally be impossible to influence through precise understanding rather than overwhelming force.

Likewise, your own rhythm becomes perfectly balanced. Every movement, heartbeat, breath, and action occurs with flawless efficiency, allowing you to perform impossible feats of precision while remaining calm under any circumstances.

You no longer practice Knocking.

You have become the living master of the Rhythm of Life itself.

Origin: Saiseiya

Life is not valuable because it is fragile.

It is valuable because it can recover, adapt, and flourish.

These Perks develop medicine, restoration, cultivation, ecological healing, preservation, and the ability to guide damaged life toward a healthier future.

Healing does not end when the wound closes.

That is where the next course begins.

Miracle Medicine [100 CP]

Free for Saiseiya

Life always seeks to heal.

You possess the knowledge and practical skill expected of a professional Saiseiya. Anatomy, physiology, surgery, emergency medicine, pharmacology, toxicology, rehabilitation, nutrition, disease treatment, and Gourmet Cell biology all come naturally to you. You can accurately diagnose injuries and illnesses, stabilize patients under extreme conditions, and perform complex medical procedures with confidence.

Likewise, you instinctively recognize medicinal ingredients, healing plants, restorative animals, and dangerous toxins, along with the safest methods to harvest, preserve, and prepare them.

Finally, your hands are remarkably steady. Delicate procedures, microscopic work, and lengthy operations remain precise even under tremendous pressure.

A Saiseiya does not merely save lives.

They preserve the possibility of tomorrow.

Restorative Arts [200 CP]

Healing begins with understanding.

Your diagnostic ability becomes extraordinary. By observing or examining a patient, you instinctively recognize injuries, diseases, poisons, parasites, nutritional deficiencies, Gourmet Cell disorders, compatible supernatural afflictions, and countless other abnormalities.

You naturally develop treatment plans using whatever resources are available. Whether through surgery, medicine, rehabilitation, nutrition, Gourmet Ingredients, or compatible healing methods, you quickly identify the safest and most effective path toward recovery.

You also excel at preventative medicine. Long before a condition becomes life-threatening, subtle warning signs reveal themselves to your trained eye.

For you...

Every symptom tells a story.

Master Saiseiya [400 CP]

Every life saved teaches another lesson.

Every successful treatment permanently improves your medical knowledge, precision, Gourmet Cells, Appetite, Gourmet Energy, diagnostic ability, and understanding of living systems. Difficult surgeries, unknown diseases, dangerous poisons, miraculous recoveries, and medical research all become lasting sources of growth.

Your understanding rapidly adapts to unfamiliar biology. Alien species, magical creatures, artificial organisms, divine beings, and other compatible life forms gradually reveal their anatomy, physiology, and methods of treatment.

You also become an expert in the preservation and restoration of species. Through careful study, breeding programs, compatible genetic reconstruction, Gourmet Cells, and ecological management, you can revive endangered or extinct compatible plants, animals, fungi, microorganisms, and other life forms, provided enough viable biological material or information remains to work from.

Likewise, you instinctively develop new procedures when conventional medicine proves insufficient. Improvisation, experimentation, and careful observation allow you to overcome challenges that would leave lesser physicians helpless.

Patients under your care recover more quickly, suffer fewer complications, and often exceed normal expectations.

The greatest healer never stops learning.

Boosted: Garden of Life

Requires: Miracle Medicine + Master Saiseiya

Healing extends beyond individuals.

Every meaningful act of restoration now contributes to your continued growth. Saving lives, curing diseases, restoring ecosystems, preserving endangered species, researching medicine, teaching future healers, cultivating medicinal ingredients, and preventing disasters all strengthen your medical expertise, Gourmet Cells, Appetite, Gourmet Energy, and understanding of life.

Your perception also expands beyond individual patients. Populations, ecosystems, and even entire environments reveal signs of health or decline, allowing you to identify the true source of widespread problems before they become catastrophic.

Finally, your presence itself inspires hope. Patients remain calmer, recovery becomes smoother, and those working beside you naturally perform with greater confidence and precision.

You no longer simply heal the sick.

You nurture life wherever it exists.

Sanctuary of Life [500 CP]

A true Saiseiya does not merely heal the injured.

They preserve life itself.

You possess an extraordinary understanding of how individual lives fit within larger ecosystems. Whether treating a single patient, restoring an endangered species, or rebuilding an entire habitat, you instinctively recognize the actions that will produce the healthiest long-term outcome.

Likewise, you excel at preventative care. Diseases, environmental collapse, Gourmet Cell degeneration, declining populations, invasive species, and countless other threats reveal themselves long before they become irreversible, allowing you to solve problems at their source rather than merely treating their symptoms.

Your knowledge also extends to breeding, conservation, rehabilitation, cultivation, and environmental restoration, allowing even critically damaged ecosystems to recover under your guidance.

The greatest healers save more than lives.

They preserve the future.

Saiseiya of the World [200 CP]

Requires: Restorative Arts + Sanctuary of Life

A Saiseiya does not merely heal the creature standing before them. At the highest level, the patient may be the entire world.

Your restorative arts can treat ecosystems, species, environments, planets, and other living systems as patients.

Poisoned oceans may be purified without destroying the organisms adapted to them. Dead soil can regain fertility. Collapsed food chains may be reconstructed. Devastated forests, coral systems, Gourmet ecosystems, and other living environments can be restored toward healthy states. Endangered populations may recover, while extinct compatible species can be returned when sufficient biological material, records, or other legitimate information remains.

Your restoration seeks ecological health rather than arbitrary reset. It understands predator and prey populations, migration, nutrition, genetic diversity, environmental pressures, symbiosis, Gourmet Energy, and the countless relationships required for life to sustain itself.

The ability may also treat supernatural corruption, hostile mutations, damaged life-energy networks, magical ecological collapse, and similar problems once you understand how they interact with the affected living system.

Scale depends upon your power, Cell Level, knowledge, resources, and available time. A ruined valley may recover rapidly, while restoring a devastated planet could initially require enormous effort. As you grow, planetary, stellar, universal, dimensional, and greater living systems may eventually fall within your care.

You do not need to restore something exactly as it once was. When the original state is no longer viable, you may guide it toward a healthy continuation that preserves what mattered while adapting to present conditions.

The greatest Saiseiya does not merely save a life. They make certain the world still has somewhere for that life to live tomorrow.

Boosted: Eternal Restoration

Requires: Restorative Arts + Sanctuary of Life

Healing is an endless process of renewal.

Every life restored, disease cured, ecosystem repaired, species preserved, or medical discovery made permanently improves your knowledge, precision, Gourmet Cells, Appetite, Gourmet Energy, and understanding of life.

Your treatments also become increasingly efficient. Procedures that once demanded hours become routine, medicines require fewer ingredients, surgeries become less invasive, and patients recover more quickly with fewer lasting complications.

Likewise, your presence itself promotes recovery. Those living, training, or working under your care naturally enjoy improved health, stronger immune systems, faster recovery, healthier Gourmet Cells, and greater resistance to disease and environmental hardship.

Every life you save teaches you how to save the next.

King of Saiseiya [600 CP]

You stand among the greatest Saiseiya in history, your mastery rivaling the legendary Yosaku himself.

Nothing within the Gourmet World lies beyond your ability to heal, provided sufficient time and resources exist. Injuries, diseases, poisons, parasites, Gourmet Cell disorders, genetic abnormalities, environmental collapse, species decline, and countless other biological catastrophes all fall within your expertise.

No matter how unfamiliar a form of life may be, prolonged observation allows you to understand its anatomy, biology, life cycle, nutritional needs, reproduction, and methods of treatment. Alien organisms, magical creatures, divine beings, artificial life, and other compatible forms of existence gradually reveal how they may be preserved and restored.

Your mastery also extends beyond individuals to entire species. You can restore damaged ecosystems, rehabilitate legendary beasts, revive endangered populations, cultivate extinct plants, and successfully breed species that others consider impossible to preserve. Given sufficient viable biological material or information, you can even restore extinct compatible plants, animals, fungi, microorganisms, and other forms of life while maintaining healthy, genetically diverse populations capable of thriving on their own. Every restored species naturally finds its proper place within the ecosystem under your care.

For others, healing restores what was lost.

For you, healing allows life to flourish once more.

Boosted: Divine Saiseiya

Requires: King of Saiseiya, Garden of Life & Eternal Restoration

You have reached the absolute pinnacle of the healing arts, your mastery equaling or surpassing the legendary Yosaku and the greatest Saiseiya in history.

Healing has become your method of understanding life itself.

Every compatible form of life naturally reveals how it may be preserved, restored, strengthened, and allowed to thrive. Bodies, minds, souls, Gourmet Cells, ecosystems, civilizations, and even entire worlds become living systems whose health you instinctively understand.

Your treatments become true miracles. You can restore life from the brink of extinction, reverse seemingly irreversible degeneration, heal damage that others would consider permanent, revive devastated ecosystems, and guide entire species toward long-term prosperity. Rather than merely repairing damage, your work allows life to return stronger and healthier than before.

Extinction itself becomes a challenge rather than an ending. Whenever sufficient compatible biological material, records, Gourmet Cells, fossils, preserved tissue, genetic information, or other viable traces remain, you instinctively understand the most harmonious method of restoring an extinct species. Those reborn under your care possess healthy genetic diversity, integrate naturally into their environment, and continue evolving as though they had never vanished.

Likewise, your presence transforms the world around you. Lands under your care naturally become healthier, ecosystems stabilize, biodiversity flourishes, and those living within them enjoy longer, healthier, and more prosperous lives.

You no longer merely heal life.

You have become one of its greatest guardians.

Origin: Researcher

The Gourmet World contains more mysteries than any one lifetime should be able to solve.

That has never stopped a Gourmet Researcher from trying.

These Perks develop curiosity, knowledge, experimentation, invention, analysis, and the ability to turn every discovery into the foundation for a greater one.

Every answer reveals another question.

Good.

There is still something left to discover.

Endless Curiosity [100 CP]

Free for Researcher

Every great discovery begins with a single question.

You possess the knowledge, discipline, and methodology expected of a professional Gourmet Researcher. Observation, experimentation, documentation, taxonomy, ecology, biology, chemistry, Gourmet Cell theory, field studies, laboratory work, and scientific analysis all come naturally to you. You instinctively record useful information with remarkable accuracy and organize it so it remains easy to understand and build upon.

Likewise, you excel at identifying unknown ingredients, creatures, minerals, plants, and natural phenomena, quickly recognizing what is already known, what remains unexplained, and what deserves further investigation.

Finally, your curiosity is exceptionally disciplined. Rather than becoming distracted by every mystery, you naturally identify the questions whose answers will produce the greatest discoveries.

A researcher does not simply collect knowledge.

They expand it.

Living Encyclopedia [200 CP]

Knowledge grows when its connections are understood.

Your ability to analyze and compare information becomes extraordinary. Every observation naturally links itself to your existing knowledge, allowing seemingly unrelated discoveries to reveal surprising patterns.

When studying an unfamiliar ingredient, creature, ecosystem, technology, or compatible supernatural phenomenon, you instinctively identify likely functions, evolutionary relationships, biological mechanisms, weaknesses, strengths, and unanswered questions worthy of investigation.

Before beginning research, your instincts naturally organize hypotheses, experiments, required materials, safety precautions, and likely outcomes, greatly reducing wasted time and resources.

Likewise, you excel at explaining complex subjects to others, allowing students, colleagues, and companions to understand difficult concepts far more easily.

Knowledge shared is knowledge multiplied.

Age of Discovery [400 CP]

Every answer creates new questions.

Every discovery creates new possibilities.

Every meaningful breakthrough permanently improves your intelligence, analytical ability, Gourmet Cells, Appetite, Gourmet Energy, memory, creativity, and scientific understanding. New species, forgotten ruins, legendary ingredients, failed experiments, successful research, and even disproven theories all contribute to your continued growth.

Your understanding rapidly adapts to unfamiliar subjects. Alien biology, magical systems, divine phenomena, advanced technology, conceptual sciences, and other compatible fields gradually reveal their governing principles through careful observation and experimentation.

Likewise, you instinctively recognize opportunities for discovery. Hidden relationships, overlooked details, experimental errors, and entirely new fields of study become increasingly obvious, allowing you to make breakthroughs others would never consider.

Your reputation begins spreading throughout the scientific community. Fellow researchers eagerly seek your insight, while your discoveries naturally become the foundation for future advancements.

Every mystery solved reveals a greater one beyond it.

Boosted: Age of Innovation

Requires: Endless Curiosity + Age of Discovery

Discovery is only the beginning.

True researchers build upon what they learn.

Every meaningful act of research now contributes to your continued growth. Conducting experiments, publishing discoveries, teaching students, preserving knowledge, developing new theories, inventing technologies, documenting ecosystems, and collaborating with other experts all strengthen your intellect, Gourmet Cells, Appetite, Gourmet Energy, creativity, and scientific methodology.

Your understanding also expands beyond individual disciplines. Biology strengthens medicine, chemistry enhances cooking, ecology improves hunting, engineering benefits craftsmanship, and seemingly unrelated sciences naturally reinforce one another as you uncover the universal principles connecting them.

Finally, your work inspires progress. Those studying alongside you become more creative, collaborate more effectively, avoid unnecessary mistakes, and build upon each other's discoveries with remarkable efficiency.

You no longer merely study the world.

You accelerate its understanding.

Theory of Everything [500 CP]

The greatest discoveries are never isolated.

They reveal how everything is connected.

You possess an extraordinary ability to unify seemingly unrelated fields of knowledge into a single coherent understanding. Biology, chemistry, Gourmet Cells, Appetite Energy, ecology, medicine, engineering, cooking, hunting, Knocking, and countless other compatible disciplines naturally reinforce one another as your understanding grows.

Research that would normally require decades may often be reduced to months through careful application of principles learned elsewhere. Likewise, discoveries made in one field frequently inspire breakthroughs in another, allowing you to solve problems others would never think to connect.

You also excel at organizing research projects. Laboratories, expeditions, universities, and research teams under your leadership naturally become more efficient, collaborative, and innovative, while unnecessary duplication of work becomes increasingly rare.

Knowledge grows fastest when every discovery builds upon the last.

Boosted: Unified Knowledge

Requires: Living Encyclopedia + Theory of Everything

Every answer becomes the foundation for another.

Your research continuously compounds. Every experiment, observation, theory, publication, expedition, collaboration, and breakthrough permanently strengthens your ability to make future discoveries. Forgotten notes reveal new meaning years later, failed experiments expose hidden truths, and unrelated projects unexpectedly complete one another.

Likewise, your understanding naturally spreads throughout your research community. Students, colleagues, and collaborators become more creative, ask better questions, and develop their own discoveries more rapidly without diminishing your own achievements.

Finally, you instinctively recognize when existing knowledge is incomplete, contradictory, or fundamentally incorrect, allowing you to challenge long-held assumptions and replace them with better models.

The greatest discovery is teaching others how to discover.

King of Researchers [600 CP]

You stand among the greatest researchers in history.

Nothing within the Gourmet World lies beyond your ability to understand, provided sufficient observation and experimentation. Gourmet Cells, Appetite Energy, legendary ingredients, ancient civilizations, unknown species, impossible ecosystems, supernatural phenomena, and even the mysteries surrounding Acacia's Full Course gradually reveal their governing principles.

No matter how unfamiliar a subject may be, prolonged study allows you to identify its structure, function, limitations, interactions, evolution, and countless hidden relationships. You instinctively design experiments that maximize useful information while minimizing unnecessary risk, cost, and time.

Your work no longer merely expands knowledge.

It establishes entirely new scientific disciplines, technologies, and methods of understanding that become the foundation upon which future generations build.

To ordinary scholars, knowledge is accumulated.

To you, knowledge evolves.

Boosted: Divine Researcher

Requires: King of Researchers, Age of Innovation & Unified Knowledge

You have reached the absolute pinnacle of scientific discovery, your mastery equaling or surpassing the greatest researchers, Nitro scholars, and scientific minds in the history of the Gourmet World.

Research has become your method of understanding existence itself.

Every compatible phenomenon naturally reveals the principles governing its existence. Gourmet Cells, souls, supernatural energies, divine organisms, conceptual phenomena, dimensions, civilizations, and countless other mysteries become subjects that may be studied, understood, and ultimately advanced through careful observation and experimentation.

Your discoveries no longer remain confined to laboratories. They reshape civilizations, restore ecosystems, revolutionize entire professions, and unlock possibilities previously believed impossible. Given sufficient time and resources, you can elevate the collective knowledge of entire worlds.

Likewise, your mind naturally synthesizes every field of knowledge into a unified understanding of reality. Every new discovery strengthens every discipline you possess, allowing your comprehension to expand at an ever-increasing rate.

You no longer simply study the universe.

You reveal the principles by which it was written.

Origin: Craftsman

A legendary ingredient deserves equipment capable of touching it.

These Perks develop craftsmanship, material understanding, creation, refinement, living equipment, and the ability to build things that continue improving long after another craftsman would have called the work complete.

A masterpiece is not the end of the craft.

It is proof that the next one can be better.

Master's Hands [100 CP]

Free for Craftsman

Every legendary creation begins with a skilled pair of hands.

You possess the knowledge and practical skill expected of a professional Gourmet Craftsman. Smithing, woodworking, leatherworking, tailoring, engineering, masonry, jewelry, machining, toolmaking, and countless other crafts come naturally to you. You instinctively understand proper materials, efficient construction, maintenance, and quality workmanship.

Likewise, you can create, repair, and maintain the equipment expected of Gourmet Hunters, including weapons, armor, traps, cookware, preservation equipment, climbing gear, laboratory tools, and expedition supplies.

Finally, your eye for craftsmanship is extraordinary. A glance is often enough to recognize quality, flaws, hidden strengths, repair methods, and the techniques used to create an object.

A craftsman does not simply build tools.

They create possibilities.

Living Materials [200 CP]

Every material has its own nature.

The greatest craftsmen learn to work with it.

Your understanding of materials becomes extraordinary. Metals, woods, stone, monster hides, scales, Gourmet Ingredients, Living Metal, Jewel Meat, Gourmet Minerals, and countless other natural or compatible supernatural materials instinctively reveal their properties, limitations, and ideal uses.

Before beginning a project, you naturally determine the best construction methods, processing techniques, reinforcement, and finishing touches, minimizing waste while maximizing quality.

Likewise, you instinctively understand how to safely process extraordinary materials without destroying their unique properties, allowing rare resources to retain their strength, flexibility, Gourmet Energy, or supernatural characteristics after being crafted.

For you...

Every material wishes to become something greater.

Legendary Craftsman [400 CP]

Every masterpiece teaches its creator.

Every creation becomes another lesson.

Every meaningful project permanently improves your craftsmanship, creativity, Gourmet Cells, Appetite, Gourmet Energy, precision, and understanding of materials. Forging legendary weapons, restoring ancient relics, inventing new designs, mastering unfamiliar techniques, and working with impossible materials all become lasting sources of growth.

You instinctively understand how different materials complement one another. Even resources from entirely different ecosystems, worlds, or compatible power systems naturally reveal combinations capable of producing stronger, more efficient, and more elegant creations.

Likewise, your craftsmanship rapidly adapts to unfamiliar materials. Living organisms, magical metals, divine woods, artificial alloys, conceptual substances, and other compatible resources gradually reveal how they may safely be shaped, refined, and incorporated into your work.

Your creations become true masterpieces. They are stronger, more durable, easier to maintain, and often perform beyond what their materials alone should allow.

The greatest craftsmen shape potential into reality.

Boosted: Living Masterpiece

Requires: Master's Hands + Legendary Craftsman

Craftsmanship is more than creating objects.

It is refining them toward perfection.

Every meaningful act of creation now contributes to your continued growth. Designing tools, restoring relics, teaching apprentices, experimenting with new materials, improving existing equipment, or developing entirely new crafting methods all strengthen your craftsmanship, Gourmet Cells, Appetite, Gourmet Energy, creativity, and technical knowledge.

Your understanding also expands beyond individual crafts. Smithing strengthens engineering, tailoring improves armor design, woodworking enhances structural construction, and every discipline naturally reinforces the others as you uncover the universal principles shared between them.

Finally, your creations naturally improve through use. Equipment forged by your hands gradually harmonizes with its owner, becoming more reliable, efficient, and refined over time while remaining easier to maintain and repair.

You no longer simply create equipment.

You create lasting legacies.

Forge of Legends [500 CP]

The greatest craftsmen do not merely create tools.

They create companions that last lifetimes.

You instinctively understand the relationship between a creation and its owner. Every weapon, tool, piece of armor, kitchen utensil, medical instrument, laboratory device, or other creation is naturally designed to perfectly suit its intended user. Balance, weight, ergonomics, durability, and function all harmonize into a masterpiece that feels like a natural extension of its wielder.

Likewise, you excel at improving existing creations. Rather than replacing old equipment, you instinctively identify how to refine, repair, reinforce, modernize, and evolve it while preserving its greatest qualities.

Your workshops also become extraordinarily efficient. Materials, tools, assistants, and production naturally organize themselves into the most effective workflow, allowing even massive projects to progress smoothly.

The finest tools are remembered long after their creators.

Boosted: Eternal Forge

Requires: Living Materials + Forge of Legends

Perfection is never a destination.

It is a process.

Every creation, repair, restoration, invention, and improvement permanently refines your craftsmanship, Gourmet Cells, Appetite, Gourmet Energy, creativity, and technical knowledge. Every project teaches lessons that naturally improve every future project.

Likewise, your creations continue evolving alongside their owners. Equipment forged by your hands gradually adapts to its wielder's habits, becoming more reliable, efficient, comfortable, and intuitive without ever losing its original purpose or requiring supernatural intelligence.

Finally, your workshops become centers of excellence. Apprentices learn faster, fellow craftsmen improve more rapidly, and collaborative projects consistently exceed expectations.

Every masterpiece becomes the foundation of the next.

Absolute Craftsman [600 CP]

You stand among the greatest craftsmen in history, your mastery equaling the finest members of the legendary Melk lineage.

Nothing within the Gourmet World lies beyond your ability to shape, provided suitable materials exist. You possess the knowledge, precision, creativity, and technical mastery required to forge, refine, preserve, restore, and improve equipment capable of safely interacting with even Acacia's Full Course ingredients.

No material remains forever beyond your understanding. Living Metal, Gourmet Minerals, legendary monster parts, impossible alloys, divine woods, biological materials, and other compatible resources gradually reveal the methods needed to process them safely while preserving every desirable property.

Your mastery extends beyond individual objects. Workshops, kitchens, laboratories, fortresses, vehicles, hunting equipment, preservation systems, and entire industrial operations naturally reach extraordinary levels of efficiency, durability, and elegance under your guidance.

To ordinary craftsmen, materials determine what can be built.

To you, materials reveal what wishes to be created.

Boosted: Divine Craftsman

Requires: Absolute Craftsman, Living Masterpiece & Eternal Forge

You have reached the absolute pinnacle of craftsmanship, your mastery equaling or surpassing the greatest members of the legendary Melk lineage and every master craftsman in Gourmet history.

Craftsmanship has become your method of understanding creation itself.

Every compatible material naturally reveals its true purpose. Living organisms, magical metals, divine crystals, conceptual substances, supernatural energies, impossible alloys, and countless other resources become materials you can understand, refine, combine, and shape through the universal principles of craftsmanship.

Your creations become legendary works capable of defining civilizations. Weapons become symbols of heroes, kitchens preserve the greatest ingredients ever discovered, laboratories enable impossible research, medical instruments perform miraculous procedures, and tools forged by your hands continue serving generations while growing alongside those who wield them.

Likewise, your understanding extends beyond individual creations. Entire cities, industries, ecosystems, and civilizations become works that may be designed, refined, and perfected through careful craftsmanship, allowing you to leave a legacy that endures long after you are gone.

You no longer simply create masterpieces.

You create the standards by which all masterpieces are judged.

Beyond the Gourmet World

The Gourmet World was only the first hunting ground.

These Perks take the principles developed throughout your journey and extend them beyond ordinary biology, planets, dimensions, and eventually the limitations of a single universe.

Hunting, cooking, Knocking, restoration, research, craftsmanship, evolution, perception, freedom, and Appetite begin operating on increasingly cosmic scales.

There is always another world.

There is always another course.

And eventually, even the Gourmet Gods may wonder what you plan to eat next.

Boosted: Cosmic Hunter

Requires: Divine Hunter & Perfect Full Course

Hunting is no longer limited to creatures.

Anything that can be pursued can become your quarry.

Beasts, people, armies, civilizations, planets, stars, dimensions, timelines, concepts, laws, supernatural phenomena, cosmic entities, and stranger targets may all be hunted through the universal principles of pursuit.

Once you choose a quarry, you instinctively recognize the trails it leaves behind. Physical tracks, energy signatures, causal consequences, dimensional disturbances, historical evidence, conceptual relationships, habits, weaknesses, and other traces all become part of the hunt.

Distance and scale do not make something unhuntable.

A creature hiding across a galaxy still leaves a trail.

A being moving between dimensions may be pursued through the paths connecting them.

A lost civilization can be hunted through its ruins and influence.

A phenomenon such as a spreading curse, collapsing timeline, or wandering dimensional anomaly can become quarry if it can meaningfully be pursued toward a source, destination, or resolution.

Your hunting methods expand alongside your power. Tracking, pursuit, capture, preparation, survival, ambush, containment, and battlefield control naturally adapt to the scale of whatever you hunt.

You still need the strength, tools, knowledge, and abilities required to actually capture or defeat your quarry.

But nothing is dismissed as "not something a Hunter can hunt."

If it can be pursued, it can become your quarry.

The universe is simply a larger hunting ground.

Boosted: Cosmic Chef

Requires: Divine Chef & Perfect Full Course

Cooking is no longer limited to food.

Anything with structure, properties, relationships, identity, or potential can become an ingredient.

Matter, energy, souls, concepts, memories, stars, dimensions, ecosystems, civilizations, supernatural phenomena, and stranger things may all be understood through the principles of preparation.

You instinctively perceive what each ingredient can contribute, what must be removed, what should be preserved, and what other ingredients would bring out its greatest potential.

You may combine things that should never have shared a kitchen.

A soul may be seasoned with memory.

A star may be refined with divine fire.

A dimension may be folded into a dish.

A concept may become the defining flavor of a creation.

A civilization may be treated as a grand recipe whose people, culture, infrastructure, resources, and traditions must be balanced rather than destroyed.

Your cooking scales with your power and tools. Greater mastery allows you to prepare increasingly vast, abstract, and impossible ingredients without losing precision.

Preparation does not have to destroy the ingredient. You may refine, harmonize, separate, mature, preserve, restore, combine, or transform it according to the result you seek.

The universe is no longer divided between food and everything else.

Anything can become an ingredient.

Anything can be prepared.

Boosted: Cosmic Knocking Master

Requires: Divine Knocking Master & Perfect Full Course

Knocking is no longer limited to flesh.

Anything possessing structure, rhythm, flow, cycles, change, or rules possesses points that Knocking can influence.

Bodies, souls, energy systems, machines, ecosystems, weather, dimensions, timelines, supernatural phenomena, and even greater structures may be treated through the universal principles of Knocking.

You instinctively perceive where pressure, interruption, stimulation, redirection, stabilization, or release will produce the desired result.

A rampaging creature may be paralyzed without killing it.

A failing magical core may be stabilized.

A storm may be halted by interrupting its circulation.

A dimensional rupture may be sealed by striking the points maintaining it.

A curse may be suppressed by interrupting the pattern through which it propagates.

A collapsing system may be preserved by restoring its rhythm.

Your precision scales alongside your power and understanding. The greater your mastery, the larger and more abstract the structures you may affect without sacrificing control.

You still need enough understanding to identify the rhythm you wish to alter, and sufficient power to meaningfully influence the target.

But once you understand how something moves, changes, circulates, or maintains itself, Knocking gives you a way to touch that process.

Everything has a rhythm.

Every rhythm has a point where the right touch changes everything.

Boosted: Cosmic Saiseiya

Requires: Divine Saiseiya & Perfect Full Course

Restoration is no longer limited to living flesh.

Anything capable of damage, degradation, corruption, collapse, decay, or possessing a healthier state can be restored through the principles of Saisei.

Bodies, souls, ecosystems, machines, civilizations, dimensions, timelines, supernatural systems, concepts, and stranger forms of existence may all become patients.

You instinctively perceive what has been damaged, what the healthy state should be, and what must be repaired, replaced, purified, stabilized, or regrown to reach it.

A ruined ecosystem may be restored to abundance.

A shattered soul may be rebuilt.

A corrupted magical system may be purified.

A dying star may be stabilized.

A damaged dimension may be healed.

A civilization devastated by catastrophe may be restored without erasing the people and history that survived it.

Your restoration scales with your power, knowledge, and available resources. The greater the damage and the more fundamental the target, the greater the effort required.

You do not merely reverse time.

You restore what should still be capable of continuing.

And every successful restoration teaches you how to preserve, cultivate, and improve what you healed.

If something can be broken, it can become a patient.

If a healthier state can exist, Saisei can pursue it.

Boosted: Cosmic Researcher

Requires: Divine Researcher & Perfect Full Course

Research is no longer limited to science.

Anything possessing information, structure, behavior, history, rules, or existence can be studied and understood.

Living beings, civilizations, magical systems, technologies, divine powers, souls, concepts, dimensions, timelines, realities, natural laws, and stranger phenomena all become valid subjects of research.

Observation constantly produces useful information. Patterns emerge, contradictions expose missing knowledge, and seemingly unrelated discoveries reveal connections that would otherwise remain invisible.

Every field reinforces every other.

Biology may illuminate magic.

Physics may explain cultivation.

Cooking may reveal chemistry.

Psychology may expose the behavior of civilizations.

Studying dimensions may reveal principles applicable to space, time, and reality itself.

You instinctively recognize what you do not yet understand and what question, experiment, observation, or discovery would bring you closer to the answer.

Knowledge also compounds without limit. Every discovery permanently improves your ability to make the next one, turning every world, civilization, library, laboratory, and mystery into part of one continuously expanding body of understanding.

Understanding something does not automatically grant the power or resources needed to control or reproduce it.

But nothing is beyond investigation merely because it is supernatural, cosmic, conceptual, or impossible by the standards of ordinary science.

If it exists, it can be researched.

Every answer is simply the ingredient for the next question.

Boosted: Cosmic Craftsman

Requires: Divine Craftsman & Perfect Full Course

Craftsmanship is no longer limited to ordinary materials.

Anything possessing structure, purpose, properties, or identity can become material.

Matter, energy, souls, concepts, stars, dimensions, civilizations, supernatural forces, living systems, and stranger things may all be shaped through the principles of your craft.

You instinctively perceive what a material can become, which qualities should be preserved, which flaws can be refined away, and what other materials or methods would bring out its greatest potential.

A soul may be forged into an artifact.

A star may become the heart of a machine.

A dimension may be shaped into a workshop.

A concept may become part of a weapon.

A civilization may be redesigned as a vast living system without reducing its people to mere components.

Your craftsmanship scales with your power, knowledge, tools, and available resources. The more capable you become, the larger and more abstract the things you may shape without sacrificing precision.

Your creations also continue refining themselves through use. Weapons adapt to their wielders, laboratories improve through discovery, cities grow more efficient, and masterpieces continue approaching greater forms without losing their original purpose.

Every creation teaches you something that improves the next.

Nothing is useless simply because no ordinary craftsman could shape it.

If it can be given form, it can become material.

Every world is another workshop.

Boosted: Ultimate Gourmet Evolution

Requires: Any Cosmic Origin Perk + Infinite Evolution

Your evolution has surpassed simple adaptation.

Every resistance you possess now strengthens every other resistance, creating an endless cycle of compounding evolution.

Surviving any threat accelerates your adaptation to that threat while also improving the speed and effectiveness of future adaptations.

Fire teaches your body how to survive energy.

Soul attacks strengthen your resistance to spiritual destruction.

Reality warping helps prepare you for conceptual interference.

Every lesson becomes part of the foundation used to confront the next.

Your resistances also become increasingly difficult to bypass.

Durability negation, true damage, resistance piercing, immunity negation, defense suppression, conceptual vulnerabilities, and similar methods are no longer automatic answers to your evolution.

They are simply new hostile mechanisms to analyze.

If one bypasses your defenses and you survive, your evolution begins adapting to the bypass itself.

The same trick may work once.

It does not remain a perfect counter forever.

There is no final form of adaptation and no ultimate category of attack that your evolution simply refuses to address.

Anything you survive becomes something your evolution can eventually overcome completely.

Every predator that fails to finish the meal teaches the prey how to become harder to eat.

Boosted: Absolute Freedom

Requires: Any Cosmic Origin Perk + Freedom Beyond Boundaries + ANOTHER + NEWS

Freedom is no longer merely your nature.

It is your existence.

No force may imprison, seal, trap, banish, isolate, erase, suppress, or otherwise confine you unless you consciously choose to permit it.

Physical prisons, magical seals, spiritual restraints, frozen time, dimensional exile, conceptual barriers, informational confinement, and stranger methods all fail to establish a permanent hold.

Effects that bypass resistance, ignore durability, or claim absolute binding are not exempt. If they attempt to confine you, they must overcome your freedom directly, and your evolution may adapt to anything you survive.

Boundaries themselves also lose much of their authority over you.

You may traverse worlds, dimensions, realities, timelines, dreams, spiritual realms, pocket dimensions, afterlives, conceptual spaces, sealed realms, and any other location, realm, state, or layer of existence so long as some path between them could theoretically exist.

When entering a foreign reality, you may choose to count as belonging there. Local laws do not reject or suppress you merely for being an outsider.

Your arrival also need not announce itself. Unless you choose otherwise, gods, rulers, cosmic entities, and similar powers gain no automatic warning simply because you crossed into their domain.

A prison may close.

A universe may declare there is no exit.

A concept may insist that escape is impossible.

Your Appetite disagrees.

There is always a way out.

There is nowhere you cannot eventually go.

Boosted: Beyond Observation

Requires: Any Cosmic Origin Perk + One With the World

You have transcended the requirement to be noticed.

You may decide whether any being, object, system, law, or metaphysical process can perceive, remember, track, target, predict, record, analyze, or acknowledge you.

Physical senses, supernatural perception, surveillance, divination, precognition, postcognition, fate, causality, probability, history, dimensional observation, conceptual awareness, and narrative knowledge are all subject to this choice.

Information cannot bypass you indirectly.

If you conceal something, it cannot be reconstructed from consequences, correlations, missing records, alternate timelines, causal traces, probability analysis, supernatural deduction, or the shape of the absence you leave behind.

Those methods may still reveal everything else their information supports.

They simply encounter a blind spot wherever the answer would require knowledge you chose to hide.

This protection extends to information that exists outside the apparent world. Stories, records, prophecies, omniscient archives, character profiles, future histories, author commentary, or similar sources reveal only what you permit them to reveal about you.

You control the degree of concealment.

Someone may remember your face but not your powers.

Know one ability while remaining blind to another.

Speak with you normally while precognition remains incapable of predicting you.

Reality also accepts your presence when useful. You may be treated as a legitimate resident, citizen, employee, guest, native, or other appropriate status without attracting suspicion merely for being somewhere you should not normally belong.

This does not override actual Chain rules or conceal information from the genuine authority administering your Chain.

But within the worlds you visit, observation is now a privilege you grant.

When you do not wish to be noticed, reality forgets to look.

Boosted: Omniscient Appraisal

Requires: Perfect Gourmet Senses, Omnidisciplinary Insight, Cosmic Researcher, and Cosmic Craftsman.

Nothing you can properly perceive hides its true nature from you.

By observing an object, organism, material, ingredient, artifact, machine, structure, ecosystem, world, technique, spell, or other phenomenon, you immediately understand its composition, structure, condition, quality, purpose, function, history, strengths, weaknesses, hidden properties, and current state.

If something was created, you understand how.

Its blueprint, materials, methods, tools, techniques, construction order, and underlying principles become apparent. Where multiple valid methods exist, you understand the alternatives as well.

You also recognize how it could be improved.

Substitute materials, better techniques, more efficient processes, hidden upgrade paths, structural flaws, and unrealized potential reveal themselves automatically.

This appraisal is not limited to physical objects.

Medicines reveal their formulas.

Recipes reveal their preparation.

Martial arts reveal their principles.

Spells reveal their structure.

Living beings reveal their biology.

Ecosystems reveal their relationships.

Civilizations reveal their infrastructure.

Supernatural and conceptual phenomena reveal the principles by which they operate.

Observation becomes reverse engineering.

Anything you can meaningfully perceive and understand can be analyzed well enough to reproduce, repair, modify, improve, adapt, or integrate, assuming you possess the actual power and resources required to do so.

Knowledge does not create missing ingredients or grant abilities by itself.

But ignorance is no longer the obstacle.

To your senses, everything has a recipe.

Boosted: Divine Appetite Incarnation

Requires: True Appetite Incarnation + Absolute Appetite + Any Cosmic Origin Perk

Your Gourmet Demon has evolved beyond the limits once represented by White, Neo, and Don Slime.

It is no longer bound to any final species, anatomy, scale, or traditional Gourmet Demon form.

As your Appetite grows, your Demon may evolve into divine, cosmic, spiritual, conceptual, technological, elemental, dimensional, or stranger forms demanded by that Appetite.

Its growth remains linked to yours. Improvements to your Appetite, Gourmet Energy, supernatural power, techniques, and overall scale create new avenues for its evolution, while everything the Demon develops continues feeding back into you through True Appetite Incarnation.

It does not simply copy every power you possess.

Instead, it develops its own expressions of the principles available to your shared existence.

An Appetite for the heavens might become a stellar dragon capable of consuming suns, manipulating gravity, crossing interstellar distances, and eventually creating celestial bodies.

Another Demon might evolve into a living black hole, a planet-sized forest god, a mechanical Appetite deity, an ocean spanning worlds, or something no Gourmet ecosystem has ever produced.

There is no final species.

There is no final form.

There is no final scale.

Your Gourmet Demon evolves wherever your shared Appetite leads.

Red, Blue, and White were never the end of Gourmet Demons.

They were proof that Appetite always has another evolution waiting beyond the horizon.

Gourmet God(dess) [Ultimate Capstone]

You have reached the culmination toward which the greatest paths of this Supplement have been building.

Hunter, Chef, Knocking Master, Saiseiya, Researcher, Craftsman, Gourmet Cells, Appetite, Full Course, evolution, understanding, freedom, and observation may ultimately converge into a single path:

Gourmet Divinity.

Because the complete mechanics of this Ultimate Capstone have grown into a progression exceeding one hundred pages, they are contained within the separate Gourmet Divinity Supplement.

Obtaining Gourmet God(dess) unlocks access to that Supplement. The Supplement is the complete expanded form of this Ultimate Capstone and does not require an additional CP purchase merely to enter.

Split Requirements

The original requirements for Gourmet God(dess) have been split among the individual stages of Gourmet Divinity rather than being presented as one enormous prerequisite list here.

You do not need to satisfy every requirement before opening the Supplement. Instead, each Divine Aspect and later Tier lists the specific prerequisites necessary to obtain that stage.

For example:

Divine Appetite [Tier 1]

Requires:

- Perfect Full Course
- Cosmic Chef
- Cosmic Knocking Master
- Communion of Appetite
- Absolute Appetite

Only those requirements are necessary to obtain Divine Appetite. Requirements associated with Divine Body or Divine Mind are not required for Divine Appetite itself.

The same principle applies throughout the Supplement. Divine Body, Divine Mind, and Divine Appetite each possess their own prerequisite branches. True Gourmet God then requires all three Divine Aspects, while Gourmet God of the Endless Feast requires the completed Tier 2 progression together with its listed additional prerequisites.

This means the enormous prerequisite tree formerly attached directly to Gourmet God(dess) has not been removed or made free. It has simply been reorganized into a clearer progression where each prerequisite is required at the stage it actually supports.

All sections marked [Part of Divine Body], [Part of Divine Mind], [Part of Divine Appetite], [Part of True Gourmet God], or [Part of Gourmet God of the Endless Feast] are components of their respective parent Perks and are not separately purchased unless explicitly stated otherwise.

The CP spent upon the prerequisite tree remains the price of reaching Gourmet Divinity. The separate Supplement simply determines when each part of that investment becomes relevant.

[Gourmet Divinity Supplement V2]

The road to Gourmet God(dess) has not become shorter. It has been divided into courses so you can actually see what you are preparing.

Gourmet Techniques

Every legendary Gourmet developed techniques that expressed their own Appetite.

This section allows you to create, refine, and develop signature techniques and styles worthy of your personal Gourmet Path.

A technique does not become legendary because someone else used it first.

It becomes legendary because nobody else could have used it quite like you.

Every master eventually develops techniques unique to themselves.

Unless otherwise stated, all techniques naturally improve alongside you and may freely incorporate any compatible power systems you possess.

Signature Technique [50 CP]

Create one original technique or learn one canon technique from Toriko. It may be offensive, defensive, supportive, sensory, movement, cooking, hunting, Knocking, Saiseiya, crafting, research, or any other compatible discipline.

Examples: Nail Punch, Flying Fork, Flying Knife, Leg Boomerang, Poison Shot, Food Honor techniques, Knocking techniques, Healing Touch, or your own original technique.

Signature Style [100 CP]

Instead of a single technique, create or learn an entire style composed of multiple related techniques. This may be a canon style, an original creation, or a combination of compatible disciplines. Every technique within the style grows alongside your mastery.

Examples: Coco's Poison Style, Sunny's Hair Techniques, Zebra's Voice Techniques, Jiro's Knocking Arts, Melk Knife Techniques, Shokurin Temple's Food Honor, or your own martial art, cooking style, or hunting school.

Legendary Technique [200 CP]

Create or learn a legendary technique comparable to the greatest techniques in Toriko. Original techniques may freely define their appearance, effects, energy source, conditions, and applications. They naturally evolve, developing stronger forms and new variations as you grow.

Examples: Minority World, Grand Knocking, Demon Appetite techniques, Eternal Nail Punch, Ultimate Food Honor, or an original legendary technique unique to you.

Gourmet Arts [400 CP]

Create or learn an entire school of techniques covering every aspect of a chosen discipline. It may contain any number of compatible techniques, all of which naturally evolve alongside you. You instinctively understand how to combine, modify, and create new techniques, while every compatible power system you acquire throughout your Chain integrates seamlessly into your Gourmet Arts.

Examples: A complete Gourmet Martial Art, an entire Knocking School, a legendary culinary tradition, a universal crafting system, a Saiseiya restoration art, or a comprehensive discipline combining hunting, cooking, Appetite Energy, Gourmet Cells, magic, cultivation, and every other compatible power into a single unified style.

Items

Even the greatest Gourmet Master needs the right tools, ingredients, facilities, and hunting grounds.

These purchases provide equipment, workshops, laboratories, restaurants, ecosystems, resources, companions, technologies, and entire properties capable of growing alongside your Gourmet journey.

A good tool helps prepare the meal.

A legendary one becomes part of the Full Course.

The following items are considered part of your personal collection and accompany you to every future Jump.

Unless otherwise stated, all items automatically update to remain compatible with the local world's technology, materials, metaphysics, and compatible power systems while retaining all previous functions and improvements.

Unless otherwise stated, all properties, facilities, dimensions, and companion creatures purchased through this section continue growing alongside you, automatically expanding or improving whenever additional space, capacity, or compatibility becomes reasonably necessary.

Likewise, any item purchased from this section that is lost, stolen, destroyed, consumed, or otherwise permanently separated from you will be restored after one week in the same condition it was last in, including any legitimate improvements, customizations, and growth it had previously attained. This restoration does not duplicate the item; if the original still exists, it will instead harmlessly return to your possession.

Gourmet Knife (Tiered Item) 50 / 100 / 200 / 400 CP

A chef is only as good as the knife in their hand.

You possess a personal Gourmet Knife that is perfectly balanced for you and never loses its edge through ordinary use. It instinctively resizes itself to remain comfortable regardless of your current form.

50 CP: A masterwork Gourmet Knife comparable to those used by professional Gourmet Chefs.

100 CP: A blade equal to Melk's No. 2, capable of processing the overwhelming majority of Gourmet Ingredients with ease.

200 CP: A blade equal to Melk's No. 1, able to safely prepare even legendary ingredients that would ruin lesser knives.

400 CP: Your own legendary masterpiece. The knife continuously evolves alongside your cooking skill, craftsmanship, Gourmet Cells, and powers. It naturally adapts to compatible materials and power systems in future worlds, always remaining your ideal culinary tool. Over time, it may equal or surpass even the greatest knives ever created.

Gourmet Cookware (Tiered Item) 50 / 100 / 200 / 400 CP

A legendary meal requires more than a legendary knife.

This complete set includes everything expected of a professional Gourmet Chef, including cookware, utensils, preparation tools, preservation equipment, portable kitchens, and specialized cooking implements.

50 CP: High-quality professional Gourmet cookware suitable for almost any ordinary ingredient.

100 CP: A complete Gourmet Chef's kit comparable to that used by elite chefs of the Human World. Includes a compact portable kitchen that can be deployed almost anywhere.

200 CP: A legendary cooking set capable of safely preparing nearly any known Gourmet Ingredient. The portable kitchen expands into a fully equipped professional Gourmet Kitchen whenever space allows.

400 CP: A personal culinary masterpiece. Every piece of equipment grows alongside your skill, automatically adapting to compatible ingredients, environments, power systems, and techniques. Your kitchen intelligently expands to accommodate ingredients of virtually any size, from tiny delicacies to mountain-sized beasts, while always providing the ideal cooking environment.

Golden Gourmet Equipment 600 CP

Requires: Gourmet Knife (400 CP) and Gourmet Cookware (400 CP)

The legendary Golden Cookware are the seven miraculous culinary implements once used to prepare every ingredient in the world. Forged from the legendary Golden Material, Gourmet Material, and the mysterious Savoriness Mineral created through ANOTHER's influence, they are among the finest culinary tools ever created, capable of preparing even Spirit Food and enduring thousands of years of constant use.

Your Gourmet Knife and every piece of your Gourmet Cookware are transformed into personal masterpieces worthy of standing beside these legendary relics.

They are virtually indestructible, requiring overwhelming force or similarly legendary equipment to damage, never lose their edge or function through ordinary use, and continually evolve alongside your cooking skill, Gourmet Cells, Appetite Energy, craftsmanship, and supernatural abilities.

Every tool may freely change its size and proportions while maintaining perfect balance and performance. Your knife may become anything from a delicate paring knife to a mountain-sized carving blade, while your cookware, utensils, and portable kitchen effortlessly scale to prepare anything from a single berry to creatures hundreds or even thousands of kilometers in size.

Like the original Golden Cookware, your equipment is capable of safely handling compatible ingredients that lesser tools could never hope to process, including spiritual, conceptual, dimensional, or otherwise extraordinary forms of food encountered throughout your Chain. They naturally incorporate compatible materials, technologies, and power systems from every new world while always remaining your ideal culinary tools.

Should you later acquire or create other compatible Golden Tools, such as hammers, shaping foundations, sealing cans, binding threads, can openers, fillet knives, peelers, ladles, or other legendary culinary implements, they will naturally integrate into your Golden Gourmet Equipment. They become part of the same evolving set, sharing in its growth, durability, adaptability, and ability to improve alongside you while retaining their own unique functions.

By the end of your journey, your equipment may rightfully be considered among the greatest culinary implements in existence, worthy of preparing a feast for the Gourmet Gods themselves.

Gourmet Hunter Gear (Tiered Item) 100 / 200 / 400 CP

Every successful hunt begins with proper preparation.

This collection includes high-quality expedition equipment, capture tools, preservation supplies, survival gear, protective clothing, climbing equipment, navigation instruments, storage containers, and every other mundane necessity expected of a professional Gourmet Hunter.

100 CP: Professional equipment suitable for most expeditions through the Human World.

200 CP: Elite Gourmet Hunter gear comparable to that used by Four Beast Hunters and veteran Gourmet World explorers. Includes advanced Capture Equipment, Preservation Kits, and professional Knocking Tools.

400 CP: A legendary hunting set that continually improves alongside you. Every tool automatically adapts to compatible environments, technologies, and supernatural systems encountered in future worlds while remaining simple and intuitive to use. Equipment repairs itself, replenishes expendable supplies over time where reasonable, and is always perfectly maintained. Even impossible expeditions become vastly more manageable with your trusted gear at your side.

Gourmet Knocking Kit (Tiered Item) 100 / 200 / 400 / 600 CP

A true Knocker carries far more than steady hands.

This collection contains every instrument required to safely perform Knocking, restoration, preservation, surgery, capture, and biological manipulation.

100 CP: Professional Knocking needles, scalpels, surgical instruments, preservation equipment, restraints, and diagnostic tools.

200 CP: An elite Knocker's kit comparable to those used by the world's greatest practitioners. Includes specialized Knocking Guns, precision injectors, preservation capsules, field surgical equipment, and countless specialized instruments.

400 CP: A legendary collection capable of performing virtually every known Knocking technique. Every tool automatically adapts to compatible anatomies, materials, and power systems encountered throughout your Chain while maintaining absolute precision.

600 CP: The ultimate Knocking arsenal. Every instrument continuously improves alongside your own mastery, automatically incorporating new compatible medical, surgical, biological, technological, magical, and supernatural techniques. Whether restoring a wounded companion, preserving an ancient ingredient, immobilizing a colossal beast, or performing miraculous operations, you will always possess the perfect tool.

Restoration Satchel (Tiered Item) 50 / 100 / 200 / 400 CP

A Saiseiya carries life wherever they travel.

This reinforced belt, satchel, and storage system contains an extensive collection of medicinal liquids, seeds, spores, herbs, fungi, restorative plants, emergency medicines, cultivation samples, preservation solutions, and biological materials.

Everything remains perfectly preserved regardless of age or environment.

50 CP: A professional collection suitable for treating injuries, illnesses, and cultivating ordinary medicinal plants.

100 CP: Comparable to the equipment carried by Teppei. Includes hundreds of medicinal liquids, rare seeds, cultivation media, preservation capsules, emergency restoration plants, and enough supplies for long expeditions.

200 CP: A legendary botanical collection containing countless compatible medicinal organisms, healing plants, regenerative fungi, rare seeds, biological cultures, and restorative compounds. Supplies gradually replenish over time.

400 CP: A living botanical ecosystem. Every compatible medicinal plant, liquid, microorganism, fungus, spore, and restorative organism you discover may be permanently cultivated here. New species continuously reproduce and improve themselves while remaining perfectly organized and available whenever needed.

Research Archive (Tiered Item) 50 / 100 / 200 / 400 CP

Knowledge is the greatest ingredient.

This portable laboratory and archive contains scientific instruments, recording equipment, sample containers, analytical devices, preservation systems, and an ever-growing database for every discovery you make.

50 CP: Professional field laboratory suitable for collecting and analyzing ordinary samples.

100 CP: A research facility rivaling those of IGO scientists, complete with advanced scanners, analysis equipment, automated documentation, and secure sample storage.

200 CP: A legendary research complex capable of safely studying nearly any compatible organism, material, energy source, ecosystem, or supernatural phenomenon. All discoveries are automatically catalogued and cross-referenced.

400 CP: A self-expanding archive of knowledge. Every compatible discovery, experiment, sample, blueprint, biological specimen, magical phenomenon, technological breakthrough, and research project is perfectly preserved, organized, and searchable. The laboratory continually upgrades itself using compatible technologies from future worlds.

Craftsman's Field Kit (Tiered Item) 50 / 100 / 200 / 400 CP

The greatest craftsmen never wait until they return to the workshop.

This rugged belt, backpack, and collection of compact tools allows you to inspect, harvest, process, repair, prototype, and experiment wherever your travels take you.

Everything is intelligently organized, remarkably durable, and expands internally to hold far more than should be possible.

Higher tiers include everything from previous tiers.

50 CP: Professional measuring tools, precision hand tools, notebooks, sample containers, portable work surfaces, and enough equipment for repairs, maintenance, and simple fabrication.

100 CP: A master craftsman's field kit comparable to those carried by the legendary Melks. Includes compact forging equipment, portable furnaces, precision cutting and shaping tools, scanners, material analyzers, sample preservation containers, and emergency crafting supplies.

200 CP: A legendary mobile workshop capable of harvesting, processing, and safely transporting nearly any compatible material you discover. The kit automatically gains specialized tools whenever you encounter new crafting disciplines, materials, or technologies.

400 CP: A living craftsman's companion. Every compatible crafting technique, tool design, measurement, blueprint, material property, and fabrication method you discover is automatically catalogued within the kit. It continually upgrades itself with compatible technologies and supernatural systems, always providing exactly the tools required to analyze, prototype, repair, or create with whatever materials you have available. When you eventually return to your Melk Workshop, every discovery you've made seamlessly integrates into it.

Endless Material Mine (Tiered Item) 100 / 200 / 400 / 600 CP

Every legendary craftsman dreams of discovering a mountain of impossible materials.

This private mine is permanently connected to your Warehouse, Properties, Gourmet Dimension, or Farland of the Gourmet Gods. It continuously produces naturally occurring crafting materials while remaining perfectly safe to operate. Once depleted, tunnels slowly regenerate, and new deposits naturally form over time.

Higher tiers include everything from previous tiers.

100 CP: A rich mine containing abundant common ores, stone, clay, coal, crystals, salts, gemstones, and other mundane crafting resources. Deposits continuously regenerate over time.

200 CP: The mine expands to include rare and valuable materials comparable to those found throughout the Human World. Precious metals, rare gemstones, unusual crystals, monster minerals, and other exceptional resources naturally appear in workable quantities.

400 CP: The mine now contains legendary materials worthy of the Gourmet World. Deposits of Golden Material, Gourmet Material, Savoriness Mineral, rare crystals, living ores, and countless other naturally occurring Toriko resources continuously form within its depths. New veins appear as old ones are exhausted, ensuring a permanent supply without disrupting the mine's ecology.

600 CP: The mine becomes a living resource realm. Whenever you provide a sample of any naturally occurring compatible crafting material, regardless of whether it is magical, technological, biological, divine, conceptual, extraterrestrial, or otherwise extraordinary, the mine gradually learns to produce renewable deposits of that material. The more common the material, the faster new veins develop, while legendary materials require considerably longer before stable deposits naturally appear. Unique artifacts, singular relics, plot-critical resources, and materials that exist only as one-of-a-kind objects cannot be duplicated, but the naturally occurring substances from which they are made may eventually become part of your mine.

The mine continually expands as needed, creating new caverns, geological formations, ecosystems, and resource veins to accommodate every compatible material you discover throughout your Chain. By the end of your journey, it may rival an entire world's worth of mineral wealth.

Endless Cure Water [400 CP]

Some ingredients are treasures because they taste extraordinary. Cure Water is treasured because it gives life another chance.

You possess a continuously replenishing source of genuine Cure Water, beginning as a spring capable of producing approximately 1,000 liters per day. Its output increases with your Cell Level, Gourmet Energy, restorative mastery, and the scale of environments or populations you are capable of supporting.

Cure Water can be drunk, injected, applied externally, mixed into medicine, incorporated into cooking, distributed through hospitals, or used for compatible restorative techniques. It rapidly restores injuries, exhaustion, cellular damage, life force, Gourmet Cell instability, poisoning, disease, and similar physical or spiritual deterioration appropriate to Cure Water's restorative nature.

More severe injuries and stronger beings require proportionally greater quantities. It does not automatically resurrect the truly dead, replace completely missing supernatural systems, or bypass conditions that genuinely require a different treatment.

The spring itself cannot be permanently exhausted. If production is temporarily drained, it continues replenishing at its normal rate. You may accelerate production by supplying compatible energy, nutrients, Gourmet Energy, or restorative resources, with no fixed upper production ceiling beyond what you can genuinely support.

At sufficiently high development, what began as a spring may become a river, lake, ocean, planetary water cycle, or still greater source capable of supporting entire civilizations.

You control who may draw from it and may prevent dilution, contamination, theft of its supernatural properties, or hostile alteration of the source.

A single mouthful may save a Hunter. Given enough time, your Cure Water can become the reason an entire Gourmet World survives.

Gourmet Laboratory (Tiered Item) 100 / 200 / 400 / 600 CP

Knowledge is every bit as valuable as strength.

This laboratory is equipped for biological research, Gourmet Cell analysis, ingredient identification, medicine, chemistry, genetics, food science, and countless other compatible fields.

100 CP: A modern professional laboratory capable of researching ordinary ingredients, organisms, and Gourmet Cells.

200 CP: A world-class Gourmet Research Laboratory rivaling those of the IGO, equipped with advanced analytical equipment, preservation chambers, cell culture facilities, and comprehensive research databases.

400 CP: A legendary laboratory capable of safely studying virtually any compatible material, lifeform, energy source, or supernatural phenomenon. New equipment naturally appears as needed, while existing equipment upgrades itself to accommodate future worlds and technologies.

600 CP: The ultimate center of discovery. Your laboratory automatically adapts to every compatible power system, allowing research into magic, cultivation, psychic powers, divine energy, advanced technology, and countless other fields. Safe containment, observation, analysis, and experimentation become effortless, while the laboratory itself continually improves alongside your own understanding.

Melk Workshop (Tiered Item) 100 / 200 / 400 / 600 CP

Every masterpiece begins at the forge.

This workshop provides everything needed to create, repair, modify, and improve equipment of every kind.

100 CP: A professional craftsman's workshop equipped for blacksmithing, woodworking, leatherworking, machining, tailoring, and general fabrication.

200 CP: A workshop worthy of the legendary Melk lineage, capable of forging weapons, armor, cookware, tools, and specialized equipment from even exceptionally durable Gourmet Materials.

400 CP: A legendary forge that automatically gains whatever compatible tools, machinery, furnaces, enchantment stations, fabrication equipment, or specialized facilities become necessary for working with newly encountered materials or technologies.

600 CP: The ultimate workshop. Whether forging a Melk Knife, constructing a space station, engineering magical artifacts, cultivating living equipment, or manufacturing conceptual tools, your workshop always provides the perfect environment. Its equipment continuously evolves alongside your own craftsmanship.

Craftsman's Material Vault (Tiered Item) 50 / 100 / 200 / 400 / 600 CP

Even the greatest craftsman is limited by the materials at hand.

This warehouse continuously replenishes itself with high-quality crafting materials appropriate to its tier. Metals, woods, stone, leather, fibers, ceramics, crystals, monster materials, and other compatible natural resources are always supplied in workable condition.

Higher tiers include everything available at lower tiers.

50 CP: Common crafting materials suitable for ordinary equipment and construction.

100 CP: Rare materials comparable to those commonly found throughout the Human World.

200 CP: Legendary materials capable of producing exceptional weapons, armor, cookware, tools, and machinery.

400 CP: Materials equivalent to those harvested from many of the Gourmet World's greatest creatures and environments. Even extraordinarily difficult materials arrive already processed into workable forms where appropriate.

600 CP: A limitless supply of naturally reproducible compatible materials from throughout your Chain. New ores, monster parts, magical woods, divine metals, living materials, biological components, technological resources, and other compatible crafting materials become available after you first encounter them. Unique artifacts, plot-critical materials, and one-of-a-kind objects are never duplicated.

Gourmet Restaurant (Tiered Item) 100 / 200 / 400 / 600 CP

Every chef deserves a place worthy of their cuisine.

This restaurant serves as both your personal kitchen and a gathering place for friends, allies, and fellow gourmets.

100 CP: A comfortable restaurant with a fully equipped professional kitchen capable of serving dozens of guests.

200 CP: A renowned Gourmet Restaurant comparable to the finest establishments in the Human World. Customers naturally appreciate your cooking, while the facilities maintain themselves in perfect condition.

400 CP: A world-famous restaurant capable of serving everything from ordinary meals to legendary Gourmet Ingredients. Dining halls, kitchens, storage, preservation, and preparation areas automatically expand to comfortably accommodate guests and ingredients of virtually any size.

600 CP: A truly legendary establishment. Your restaurant exists slightly apart from ordinary space, allowing guests from compatible worlds, dimensions, and civilizations to visit safely if desired. Its kitchens, dining halls, and supporting facilities continuously expand and improve, ensuring it always remains worthy of serving even Gourmet Gods themselves. Every meal prepared here is subtly enhanced by the harmony of the restaurant itself, bringing out the absolute best in both chef and ingredient.

Gourmet Farm (Tiered Item) 100 / 200 / 400 / 600 CP

Every great chef eventually learns to cultivate their own ingredients.

This property provides fertile land dedicated to raising Gourmet Plants, livestock, medicinal herbs, fungi, aquatic life, and other compatible organisms.

100 CP: A prosperous farm capable of supplying ordinary ingredients, livestock, herbs, and crops.

200 CP: A vast Gourmet Farm capable of cultivating Human World ingredients up to roughly Capture Level 100. Environmental controls allow nearly any compatible ingredient to be grown under ideal conditions.

400 CP: A legendary agricultural estate capable of supporting countless ecosystems simultaneously. Gourmet Plants, medicinal organisms, livestock, aquatic species, and other compatible lifeforms naturally flourish while reproducing at healthy, sustainable rates.

600 CP: An enormous self-sustaining agricultural paradise. New compatible species discovered throughout your Chain may be safely introduced, bred, and cultivated. The farm continually expands as necessary while automatically maintaining perfect ecological balance.

Gourmet Sanctuary (Tiered Item) 200 / 400 / 600 CP

Some ingredients deserve preservation rather than consumption.

This sanctuary serves as a protected refuge for compatible plants, animals, Food Spirits, and other forms of life.

200 CP: A beautiful nature reserve capable of comfortably supporting numerous species in their natural habitats.

400 CP: A vast wildlife sanctuary containing multiple independent ecosystems where endangered, extinct, or otherwise difficult-to-maintain compatible species naturally thrive and reproduce without upsetting ecological balance.

600 CP: A legendary sanctuary recognized almost instinctively as sacred by compatible life. Aggression is greatly reduced within its borders, damaged ecosystems gradually recover, and Food Spirits or similar entities naturally gather here when appropriate. Every environment continuously adjusts itself to provide ideal living conditions for its inhabitants.

Life Island (Tiered Item) 200 / 400 / 600 / 800 CP

There exists a place where life itself is cherished above all else.

This secluded island serves as the ultimate center for healing, restoration, conservation, medicine, and biological research.

200 CP: A peaceful island containing a fully equipped clinic, medicinal gardens, rehabilitation facilities, and comfortable accommodations for patients and staff.

400 CP: A world-renowned medical center rivaling the greatest hospitals of the Human World. Rare medicinal plants flourish naturally, recovery is subtly accelerated, and compatible diseases, injuries, poisons, and curses are significantly easier to diagnose and treat.

600 CP: A legendary sanctuary comparable to the greatest Saiseiya facilities. The island continuously expands to include forests of medicinal ingredients, research institutes, rehabilitation centers, aquatic preserves, pharmacies, cultivation gardens, quarantine zones, emergency response facilities, and every other structure reasonably required to preserve and restore life.

800 CP: The true Life Island. The island itself becomes a living miracle. Every compatible medicinal ingredient eventually flourishes here under ideal conditions. Springs, forests, mountains, oceans, and ecosystems naturally produce extraordinary remedies. Recovery, regeneration, and rehabilitation are greatly enhanced for all willing patients. Compatible diseases, poisons, parasites, curses, and corruptive influences become dramatically easier to cure, while the island continually develops new medicinal environments, organisms, and discoveries as your own knowledge grows. For those who seek healing, there are few places in all of existence more welcoming.

Gourmet Dimension (Tiered Item) 400 / 600 CP

A private world devoted entirely to Gourmet Life.

Unlike an ordinary warehouse or pocket dimension, this is a complete living reality that grows alongside you.

400 CP: A spacious personal dimension capable of housing your properties, workshops, laboratories, farms, hunting grounds, and collections while allowing time, climate, gravity, and environmental conditions to be adjusted independently.

600 CP: The dimension expands into a complete living world with continents, oceans, weather systems, ecosystems, mountains, rivers, and countless environments. Every property purchased through this Jump naturally integrates into this world while retaining its individual functions. The dimension continues to expand as needed to comfortably house everything you own, ensuring you never run out of space.

Farland of the Gourmet Gods [800 CP]

Requires: Gourmet Dimension [600 CP]

There are lands where even the greatest Gourmet Hunters would consider themselves fortunate to tread.

This is not one of them.

This is a realm worthy of the Gourmet Gods themselves.

Your Gourmet Dimension undergoes a miraculous transformation, becoming the legendary Farland of the Gourmet Gods. No longer merely a world that contains life, it becomes a living paradise that actively nurtures, enriches, and perfects it.

The Farland is an ever-expanding realm where the finest compatible ingredients, creatures, climates, ecosystems, civilizations, Food Spirits, and natural wonders flourish in perfect harmony. Every region naturally develops toward its ideal state, producing extraordinary ingredients while maintaining perfect ecological balance.

Every compatible plant, animal, fungus, mineral, microorganism, Food Spirit, civilization, and ecosystem you discover throughout your Chain may naturally establish itself here if you so desire. Each instinctively finds or creates its ideal habitat, regardless of how incompatible it might normally be with its surroundings.

The Farland continuously enriches itself. Every new world contributes compatible climates, biomes, ecosystems, ingredients, wildlife, supernatural phenomena, and natural wonders, all integrating seamlessly without disrupting what already exists. New continents, oceans, mountain ranges, skies, underground realms, seas, dimensions, and environments naturally form whenever additional space or diversity is needed. The Farland possesses no practical limit to its growth.

Everything within the Farland exists in perfect abundance. Harvested ingredients naturally regrow, extinct species may be restored from viable samples or sufficiently complete biological records, damaged environments heal themselves, and every ecosystem remains healthy while continuing to evolve toward ever greater diversity, quality, and stability.

Ecological collapse, invasive species, pollution, overharvesting, extinction, and environmental degradation simply do not occur unless you deliberately allow them.

Every compatible property, territory, dimension, settlement, facility, ecosystem, organization, sanctuary, dungeon, warehouse attachment, pocket world, or similar possession you have acquired in the past, purchase during this Jump, or obtain in future worlds may seamlessly integrate into the Farland if you so desire while retaining all of its individual functions, upgrades, inhabitants, and special properties. Nothing is lost through this integration. Instead, every integrated property becomes a natural part of the Farland, continuously growing and improving alongside both the realm and your own journey.

Once integrated, any numerical or artificial limitations those properties once possessed, including Capture Levels, production capacities, storage limits, population limits, cultivation limits, size restrictions, energy capacities, processing limits, and similar constraints, cease to be meaningful. They are instead governed by the Farland itself. Ingredients, creatures, materials, liquids, civilizations, technologies, ecosystems, dimensions, and every other compatible resource may continue growing, reproducing, evolving, and improving without measurable upper limits while remaining in perfect ecological and structural balance.

The Farland instinctively preserves the unique identity and purpose of every integrated property. A legendary forge remains the greatest forge, a divine library remains a library, an ancient dungeon remains a dungeon, an academy continues teaching, a mine continues producing resources, a farm continues cultivating crops, an aquarium continues nurturing aquatic life, and every other property continues fulfilling its purpose while benefiting from the limitless growth and harmony of the Farland. Rather than replacing them, the Farland provides each with the perfect environment to realize its full potential while seamlessly connecting them into a single living world.

Time, climate, gravity, atmosphere, energy density, physical laws, and other environmental conditions may be independently adjusted for individual regions, allowing even fundamentally incompatible ecosystems to coexist peacefully.

Food Spirits, Gourmet Animals, and other compatible beings instinctively recognize the Farland as a sacred sanctuary. Conflict occurs only where appropriate to maintain healthy ecosystems or where you choose to allow it.

Finally, the Farland grows alongside you. As your understanding of life, cooking, hunting, craftsmanship, medicine, research, Gourmet Cells, Appetite Energy, and the Gourmet Path deepens, so too does the realm itself. Legendary ingredients ripen, hidden valleys emerge, ancient forests awaken, impossible climates stabilize, miraculous springs appear, entire new continents are born, and previously unimaginable natural wonders come into existence. The world itself reflects your journey toward the pinnacle of Gourmet.

It is more than a world.

It is more than a paradise.

It is more than the sum of its countless lands.

It is the perfected expression of nature itself, the harmonious union of every compatible world you have ever called your own, and the living culmination of your journey along the Gourmet Path.

A realm where every meal can become legendary, every ecosystem flourishes forever, every creation finds its perfect home, and even the Gourmet Gods would gladly gather for the greatest feast in existence.

Personal Full Course Menu (Tiered Item) 100 / 200 / 400 / 600 CP

Every Gourmet Hunter dreams of creating the perfect Full Course.

This beautifully crafted menu records your greatest culinary discoveries, favorite ingredients, signature meals, and legendary achievements.

100 CP: A beautifully bound menu capable of recording recipes, ingredients, cooking methods, and tasting notes with perfect organization.

200 CP: The menu automatically records every ingredient, creature, recipe, preparation method, and culinary technique you personally discover or master. Entries may be freely edited, organized, and annotated.

400 CP: The menu becomes a living encyclopedia of your Gourmet Journey. It records ingredient biology, flavor profiles, preparation methods, compatible combinations, nutritional values, capture methods, habitats, Gourmet Energy interactions, and any other information you have personally learned. It may also suggest new ingredient pairings and recipe ideas based upon your accumulated knowledge.

600 CP: Your Full Course becomes legendary. Every course continuously refines itself as your standards improve, while new discoveries naturally inspire future additions. The menu may project realistic simulations of recipes, ingredients, preparation methods, and flavor combinations for experimentation without consuming actual resources. It remains the definitive record of your culinary legacy across your entire Chain.

Gourmet Cell Bank (Tiered Item) 200 / 400 / 600 CP

Life itself deserves preservation.

This secure facility stores biological samples under ideal conditions indefinitely.

200 CP: Safely stores Gourmet Cells, DNA, tissues, seeds, spores, eggs, microorganisms, blood samples, and other compatible biological materials without degradation.

400 CP: Every compatible lifeform you willingly sample may be perfectly preserved here. Samples remain genetically complete, free of contamination, and may be studied indefinitely. Extinct organisms can be restored provided you possess a viable sample or sufficiently complete biological records.

600 CP: The Cell Bank becomes a complete archive of biological diversity. It automatically organizes every compatible sample collected throughout your Chain while maintaining perfect records of their biology, evolution, genetics, Gourmet Cells, adaptations, and developmental history. Stored samples may safely serve as the foundation for conservation, restoration, research, breeding programs, or compatible cloning should you possess the necessary knowledge.

Gourmet Library (Tiered Item) 100 / 200 / 400 / 600 CP

Knowledge gathered is valuable. Knowledge preserved is priceless.

This magnificent library preserves the written legacy of your journey. Every book, journal, map, recipe, blueprint, manuscript, scroll, recording, artwork, research paper, field notes, and other compatible source of knowledge you obtain may be stored here in perfect condition. Every item remains forever in the exact condition it was in when originally acquired, whether pristine, weathered, annotated, or ancient, unless you deliberately choose to restore or alter it.

You may instantly summon a copy of any stored book, document, map, scroll, recording, blueprint, or other archived work directly into your hands or another suitable nearby location. When finished, it may be returned to the library just as easily.

Higher tiers include all previous benefits.

100 CP: A beautiful library containing high-quality shelves, reading rooms, study areas, archives, map rooms, and writing facilities. Perfect copies of your journals, recipes, notes, maps, sketches, and other written works are automatically preserved and updated whenever you create or modify them.

200 CP: Every compatible written work, book, document, scroll, cookbook, blueprint, manual, recording, or similar source of knowledge you legally obtain may be permanently added to the library in perfect condition. The collection automatically organizes itself according to whatever system you find most useful and may be searched almost instantly.

400 CP: The library becomes a true archive. Every work is automatically indexed, translated into any language you understand while preserving the original, cross-referenced, annotated, and linked to related subjects. Historical context, editions, revisions, authorship, and references are preserved whenever available. Comfortable study environments, private reading rooms, research halls, and archival vaults naturally expand alongside the collection.

600 CP: The Gourmet Library becomes one of the greatest repositories of knowledge in existence. Every compatible document, journal, recording, map, recipe, blueprint, research project, experiment, technique, discovery, and creation produced by you, your companions, your organizations, or anyone working under your authority is automatically preserved within the collection.

Helpful librarians, archivists, spirits, constructs, or other compatible assistants maintain the library, organize new acquisitions, answer questions about the collection, retrieve requested works, and assist with research. Interactive simulations, maps, diagrams, and historical recreations may be generated using only information contained within the archive, allowing you to safely study recipes, experiments, ecosystems, civilizations, battles, and historical events without risking the original works.

As your Chain continues, the Gourmet Library grows into the complete written history of your journey. Every volume remains forever in the exact condition it was originally acquired unless you choose otherwise, while every item within the collection may be summoned to you instantly whenever needed before returning itself once your work is complete. Nothing entrusted to the library is ever lost, forgotten, misplaced, or allowed to deteriorate.

Gourmet Encyclopedia (Tiered Item) 100 / 200 / 400 / 600 CP

Knowledge is an ingredient just as valuable as any food.

This living encyclopedia automatically records and organizes everything you learn about compatible ingredients, creatures, materials, ecosystems, techniques, recipes, medicines, craftsmanship, sciences, cultivation methods, technologies, and other fields of knowledge. Information is presented in whatever form is most useful to you, whether as books, diagrams, maps, illustrations, recordings, holograms, magical projections, or any other compatible format. The encyclopedia may be searched instantly and can never be damaged, lost, stolen, or permanently destroyed.

Higher tiers include everything available at lower tiers.

Whenever you enter a new world, planet, or Jump, the encyclopedia likewise gains the equivalent level of advanced compatible knowledge naturally available within that setting.

100 CP: Records every naturally available piece of public knowledge from Toriko, including ingredients, Gourmet Beasts, Capture Levels, locations, recipes, cooking methods, hunting techniques, preservation methods, common materials, edible plants, and similar information. It automatically updates with anything you personally discover or learn.

200 CP: Expands to include advanced professional knowledge. Research notes, medical knowledge, Knocking techniques, Saiseiya methods, Gourmet Cell studies, Melk craftsmanship, cultivation methods, engineering, survival techniques, and other specialized fields are automatically organized and cross-referenced. Hidden information is added once you legitimately discover or learn it.

400 CP: Becomes a living archive. It automatically analyzes everything you encounter, recording compatible ingredients, creatures, materials, technologies, magic, cultivation systems, ecosystems, civilizations, recipes, blueprints, techniques, and similar knowledge throughout your Chain. Information is intelligently organized, compared, and cross-referenced, allowing relationships and applications that might otherwise be overlooked to become readily apparent.

In addition to publicly available knowledge, the encyclopedia also contains the equivalent level of hidden, ancient, forgotten, forbidden, sealed, lost, and otherwise obscure compatible knowledge naturally present within every new world, planet, or Jump you visit. Truly unique secrets, personal memories, plot-critical revelations, and information existing only within specific individuals must still be discovered through your own efforts.

600 CP: The encyclopedia becomes the ultimate research companion. It continuously compares discoveries across worlds, identifies compatible interactions, predicts likely outcomes, highlights inefficiencies, and suggests improvements, recipes, medicines, technologies, materials, techniques, and creations based upon your accumulated knowledge. It never invents impossible information, but excels at drawing logical conclusions from everything you know.

Whenever you enter a new world, planet, or Jump, the encyclopedia automatically expands with the highest level of compatible knowledge naturally available within that setting, seamlessly integrating it with everything already recorded.

Every entry is continuously verified and cross-referenced, automatically separating fact, theory, speculation, legend, folklore, propaganda, misinformation, incomplete information, conflicting accounts, and outright falsehoods. Whenever multiple explanations exist, the encyclopedia presents the supporting evidence, confidence of accuracy, likely conclusions, and alternative interpretations, allowing you to quickly distinguish reliable information from rumor while preserving the historical and cultural context behind every claim.

Nothing you discover is ever forgotten, wasted, or left disconnected from the rest of your understanding. Every piece of knowledge you and your companions legitimately acquire is permanently recorded, perfectly organized, and instantly searchable, ensuring your understanding only continues to grow throughout your entire Chain.

Gourmet Cookbook (Tiered Item) [100/200/400/600 CP]

Every great meal begins as an idea.

100 CP: You receive a beautifully bound cookbook containing an enormous collection of reliable everyday recipes. It covers common ingredients, basic preparation, preservation, seasoning, nutrition, substitutions, kitchen safety, and the culinary traditions of the Human World.

The book automatically translates its measurements, terminology, and instructions into forms you understand. Its pages never stain, tear, burn, or deteriorate through ordinary use.

Any personal recipe you create may be recorded within it at will, preserving every ingredient, step, adjustment, and observation exactly as intended.

200 CP: The cookbook expands to contain the complete professional culinary knowledge of the Human World.

This includes advanced recipes, medicinal cuisine, ceremonial meals, preservation methods, regional traditions, rare ingredients, Gourmet Cell nutrition, professional kitchen management, and the techniques of recognized chefs, culinary schools, and historical traditions.

Whenever a listed ingredient is unavailable, the book may recommend suitable substitutions and clearly explain how they will alter the final dish. Recipes automatically adjust to the number of diners, available tools, dietary restrictions, and biological requirements of those being served.

400 CP: The cookbook becomes a complete archive of culinary knowledge from the world you currently inhabit.

It contains every publicly known recipe, cooking technique, culinary discipline, preservation method, ingredient record, food science, medicinal cuisine, kitchen technology, and supernatural cooking art that exists within the setting. This includes the culinary knowledge of fictional worlds, such as secret knife techniques, mystical preparation methods, legendary recipes, alchemical gastronomy, enchanted cuisine, food-based martial arts, and other compatible traditions.

At the beginning of every future Jump, the cookbook automatically updates to contain the complete local archive of cooking and food-related knowledge from that world. It also permanently retains everything from all previous worlds.

The archive includes both instructions and the theory behind them, allowing you to understand why each technique works. It does not automatically grant the skill needed to perform the most difficult methods, nor does it provide ingredients or equipment.

600 CP: The cookbook becomes the ultimate culinary archive.

It now contains the complete culinary knowledge of the local setting, including hidden, extinct, forbidden, ancient, sealed, forgotten, privately held, and otherwise inaccessible recipes and techniques. Lost civilizations, secret chef societies, divine kitchens, vanished species, legendary cooks, magical traditions, alien cultures, alternate timelines, and other compatible sources of culinary knowledge are all represented.

This includes every known method of preparing local ingredients, every established recipe, every culinary technique, every food-based supernatural system, every form of medicinal cuisine, and every compatible application of science, technology, magic, cultivation, alchemy, or spiritual power to cooking.

The archive automatically updates in every future Jump and permanently retains the complete culinary knowledge of every world you have visited.

Its search system is perfectly intuitive. You may search by ingredient, desired effect, flavor, cuisine, technique, difficulty, preparation time, equipment, nutritional value, cultural origin, supernatural system, or any other relevant category.

The cookbook can also cross-reference culinary systems from different worlds. It may identify equivalent ingredients, translate techniques between different metaphysical systems, and adapt recipes to local conditions without losing their essential purpose or identity.

It clearly distinguishes confirmed fact, historical record, theory, disputed claim, deliberate misinformation, and culinary legend.

The cookbook does not automatically provide unique personal secrets that were never recorded, techniques that exist only as an individual's unexpressed intuition, or knowledge that has never existed in any accessible form.

A world may forget its cuisine.

This book never will.

Gourmet Aquarium (Tiered Item) 100 / 200 / 400 / 600 CP

The oceans are every bit as rich as the land.

This self-sustaining aquatic preserve houses compatible fish, shellfish, seaweed, coral, crustaceans, mollusks, aquatic plants, microorganisms, and every other form of aquatic life. Every habitat remains perfectly balanced, allowing its inhabitants to thrive without artificial intervention. Harvested resources naturally replenish over time, while every ecosystem remains healthy and self-sustaining.

Higher tiers include everything available at lower tiers.

100 CP: A beautiful aquarium and aquatic reserve containing every naturally reproducible compatible aquatic ingredient, plant, and creature from Capture Level 0-10. Freshwater, saltwater, brackish, tropical, polar, deep-sea, and other compatible environments are provided where appropriate.

200 CP: Expands into a vast marine preserve containing every naturally reproducible compatible aquatic ingredient and creature from Capture Level 11-100. Coral reefs, kelp forests, rivers, lakes, wetlands, underwater caverns, and countless aquatic environments naturally develop to support their inhabitants.

400 CP: The preserve becomes an entire oceanic world containing every naturally reproducible compatible aquatic ingredient and creature from Capture Level 101-500. Every compatible aquatic ecosystem from Toriko exists somewhere within its waters. New compatible aquatic species, plants, and microorganisms encountered throughout your Chain are naturally added after you first discover them.

600 CP: Your Gourmet Aquarium becomes a complete living aquatic world capable of sustaining every naturally reproducible compatible aquatic ingredient and creature up to Capture Level 2,500. Oceans, inland seas, rivers, lakes, underground oceans, polar seas, abyssal trenches, floating seas, underwater forests, coral kingdoms, and every other compatible aquatic environment exist in perfect ecological balance.

Harvested resources naturally replenish, populations remain healthy, extinct compatible species may be restored from surviving samples or records, and aquatic life continuously flourishes without ecological collapse. Every compatible aquatic species, ingredient, microorganism, ecosystem, and underwater civilization you discover throughout your Chain may naturally establish itself here if you wish, while every environment continually evolves toward its ideal state.

You may instantly transport yourself or any willing companions to any location within the Aquarium, summon compatible aquatic ingredients or harvested resources to yourself, or safely relocate compatible aquatic life between the Aquarium and your other properties, including your Farland of the Gourmet Gods, whenever you desire.

Ingredient Reserve (Tiered Item) Pantry Tier [50 CP] / Storehouse Tier [100 CP] / Warehouse Tier [200 CP] / Estate Tier [400 CP] / World Tier [600 CP] / Farthest Land Tier

A true Gourmet Chef never worries about running out of ingredients.

Rather than a single crate, you possess a self-replenishing reserve of ingredients that grows alongside your journey. You may summon any contained ingredient directly into your hands, kitchen, storage, or another suitable location. Every ingredient is always fresh, perfectly preserved, and replenishes daily or weekly as you prefer.

Higher tiers include everything available at lower tiers.

50 CP: Pantry Tier

A professional pantry stocked with every naturally reproducible ingredient from Capture Level 0-10.

100 CP: Storehouse Tier

Expands into a large storehouse containing every naturally reproducible ingredient from Capture Level 11-50.

200 CP: Warehouse Tier

Expands into a massive warehouse containing every naturally reproducible ingredient from Capture Level 51-100.

400 CP: Estate Tier

Expands into a vast Gourmet estate with fields, orchards, greenhouses, cellars, preservation vaults, and storage facilities containing every naturally reproducible ingredient from Capture Level 101-500.

600 CP: World Tier

Your reserve becomes an entire living Gourmet World devoted to cultivating, preserving, and reproducing naturally obtainable ingredients up to Capture Level 2,500. Every compatible ecosystem required to sustain them exists naturally, ensuring every ingredient remains at peak quality.

The reserve never produces unique individuals, plot-critical objects, or one-of-a-kind treasures. If more than one naturally exists, it may eventually appear here.

After visiting future worlds, every naturally reproducible compatible ingredient you personally encounter is permanently added to the reserve.

Farthest Land Tier (Requires: 600 CP: World Tier + Any Cosmic Origin)

Your Ingredient Reserve transcends into a Farthest Land of Ingredients, worthy of the Gourmet Gods.

Every naturally reproducible compatible ingredient from Toriko is present from the beginning. Thereafter, every compatible ingredient you discover throughout your Chain naturally becomes part of the reserve. Ingredients continuously mature toward their absolute ideal state, while compatible hybrids, variants, and naturally occurring evolutions may emerge over time. Every ingredient exists in effectively limitless quantities while the ecosystems that produce them remain perfectly balanced and self-sustaining.

Bacchus Sea (Tiered Item) 100 / 200 / 400 / 600 / Cosmic

A replica of the legendary Bacchus Island Chain, birthplace of countless miraculous beverages and liquids.

You may summon any liquid contained within the Bacchus Sea into any suitable container, including glasses, bottles, flasks, mugs, barrels, bowls, vials, or similar vessels. All liquids naturally replenish.

Higher tiers include all previous benefits.

100 CP: Island Tier

A faithful recreation of the legendary Bacchus Island Chain...

200 CP: Planet Tier

Expands into an entire Bacchus Planet.

400 CP: Star Tier

Expands into a stellar-scale realm.

600 CP: Gourmet Galaxy Tier

The Bacchus Sea expands into an entire galaxy devoted to compatible liquids.

Farthest Land Tier (Requires: 600 CP: Gourmet Galaxy Tier + Any Cosmic Origin)

The Bacchus Sea transcends ordinary reality, becoming a domain worthy of the Gourmet Gods. Every compatible liquid from Toriko is present from the beginning, while every compatible liquid you discover, create, analyze, or taste throughout your Chain is naturally added. Existing liquids continuously age, refine, blend, ferment, distill, and evolve toward their perfect forms while new compatible liquids naturally emerge. Every liquid exists in effectively limitless quantities, and you may summon any amount into any suitable container instantly.

Gourmet Ingredient Vault (Tiered Item) 100 / 200 / 400 CP

Not every ingredient should be prepared immediately.

This preservation vault maintains ideal storage conditions for every ingredient placed within it.

100 CP: A large climate-controlled storage room that perfectly preserves ordinary ingredients without spoilage.

200 CP: Environmental conditions automatically adjust for every stored ingredient, including temperature, humidity, pressure, atmosphere, energy density, and other compatible requirements.

400 CP: The vault instinctively creates the perfect preservation environment for every compatible ingredient, regardless of how exotic or supernatural it may be. Freshness, flavor, nutritional value, Gourmet Energy, medicinal properties, and other desirable qualities never diminish unless you wish them to.

Gourmet Technology Suite (Tiered Item) [100 / 200 / 400 / 600 CP]

The Gourmet Age was built upon more than Gourmet Cells and impossible ingredients. Satellites survey enormous ecosystems, laboratories analyze creatures that defy ordinary biology, preservation technology carries ingredients across continents, and GT Robots allow Gourmet Hunters to enter places where sending a living person would be suicide.

You possess an expanding collection of Toriko-style Gourmet Technology, centered around your own personal GT Robot network. Higher tiers include everything from previous tiers.

100 CP: Personal GT Robot

You receive a modern Gourmet Telexistence Robot and the equipment required to operate it.

The GT Robot reproduces your movements with extremely low delay while transmitting its available senses back to you, allowing you to see, hear, smell, touch, and where appropriate taste through the machine as though you were physically present. Its body is exceptionally durable by Human World standards and suited for dangerous hunts, hazardous environments, ingredient retrieval, scouting, cooking assistance, research, rescue work, and combat.

It includes professional sensors, recording equipment, communication systems, storage compartments, basic Knocking equipment, survival tools, and appropriate defensive systems.

Damage suffered by the robot does not directly injure you through sensory feedback. You may adjust or disable individual sensory channels whenever desired.

The robot can operate autonomously on simple instructions, but its greatest performance comes from direct control.

When the ingredient is somewhere your body should not go, send another pair of hands.

200 CP: Advanced GT Robot

Your GT Robot becomes a customized model comparable to the finest machines developed during the Gourmet Age.

Its durability, speed, precision, sensors, environmental resistance, and remote operating range improve enormously. Its telexistence systems reproduce even extremely precise movements closely enough for advanced combat, Knocking, harvesting, surgery, research, craftsmanship, and ingredient preparation.

The machine gains Mimicry, adaptive camouflage, enhanced sensory equipment, Knocking needles, cutting systems, cooking flame, lasers, scanners, sample collectors, and other appropriate Toriko technologies. Canon GT Robots demonstrate several of these functions, including camouflage, Mimicry, lasers, Knocking and cooking equipment.

You may freely redesign its appearance and configuration, including humanoid, Nitro-inspired, miniature, giant, specialized exploration, culinary, medical, or other practical forms.

You also receive a secure workshop containing replacement components and the technical documentation necessary to maintain, repair, and modify everything supplied by this purchase.

A GT Robot is no longer merely your proxy. It is whatever body the next expedition requires.

400 CP: Gourmet Technology Arsenal

You no longer possess merely one remarkable machine.

You possess the technological infrastructure of a major Gourmet Age organization.

Your facilities contain the blueprints, software, manufacturing systems, databases, tools, and technical knowledge required to reproduce and develop the major non-unique technologies of the Toriko world that you legitimately have access to through this purchase.

This includes GT Robots and their variants, Gourmet identification and analysis equipment, ingredient scanners, capture and preservation technology, advanced refrigeration, portable food processing systems, Knocking equipment, specialized cooking machinery, environmental suits, communications equipment, research systems, vehicles, automated facilities, and comparable Gourmet technology.

The setting contains a broad range of specialized technologies beyond GT Robots, including Gourmet Cases, Gourmet Spicers, Gourmet Sticks, Knocking Guns, Pocket Food Processors, Real Globe systems, specialized vehicles, preservation equipment, and related machinery.

Your original GT Robot becomes the master unit of an expanding network. You may maintain a substantial number of specialized GT Robots for exploration, research, construction, harvesting, rescue, cooking, Knocking, transportation, security, or combat.

Automated manufacturing replenishes destroyed ordinary units and expendable equipment over time. Truly exceptional materials must still be supplied if a design genuinely requires them.

You understand the technology included by this Item well enough to repair, modify, reproduce, and combine it with other technologies you legitimately understand.

Combined with the Gourmet Laboratory, this technology becomes dramatically easier to research and improve. Combined with the Melk Workshop, experimental designs can be turned into working machinery rather than remaining blueprints. Those facilities already scale into researching and fabricating exotic technologies and supernatural systems.

The expedition no longer begins when the Hunter leaves home. It begins when the machines start preparing the route.

600 CP: Living Gourmet Technology

Your technology has learned the defining lesson of the Gourmet World:

Anything that cannot evolve eventually becomes food for something that can.

Your Gourmet Technology Suite becomes a self-improving technological ecosystem.

Its workshops, factories, databases, laboratories, GT Robots, vehicles, sensors, preservation systems, cooking equipment, Knocking machinery, and other compatible devices continuously incorporate legitimate technological discoveries you make throughout your Chain.

Encounter superior armor and your engineers or simulators can study how to reproduce its principles. Discover alien sensors and compatible GT Robots can eventually incorporate equivalent sensory systems. Learn magical engineering, biotechnology, nanotechnology, cultivation machinery, living technology, psychic engineering, or another compatible technological discipline and the Suite develops appropriate tools for researching and integrating it.

This does not give you technologies you have never encountered or principles you do not understand. It provides the infrastructure required to turn legitimate discoveries into an evolving technological civilization of your own.

Your GT Robots also cease being tied to ordinary human physiology. Any body, Alt Form, transformation, supernatural sense, compatible energy system, or unusual anatomy you genuinely understand may have an appropriate telexistence interface developed for it. A robot may eventually reproduce supernatural senses, specialized organs, unusual limbs, energy channels, or other functions where technology you possess can legitimately replicate or transmit them.

The network may construct specialized units at virtually any practical scale supported by your materials and technology, from microscopic reconnaissance machines to colossal GT Robots designed to operate beside Gourmet World beasts. Quantity is limited by actual manufacturing capacity and resources rather than an arbitrary fixed stock.

Every unit remains part of the same secure network. You may personally control one, several, or as many as your own mental capabilities can effectively coordinate, while autonomous systems handle the remainder.

Most importantly, the Suite never becomes obsolete simply because your Chain reaches a civilization more advanced than Toriko's Human World. Your Item section already makes purchased equipment update for compatibility with future technology and metaphysics, and this tier turns that principle into the defining feature of the entire technological network.

The first GT Robots allowed humans to hunt where humans could not survive.

Yours will eventually hunt wherever technology itself can find a way to reach.

Camping Monster [100 / 200 / 400 / 600 CP]

Why carry a tent when your campsite can carry you?

You possess a completely loyal Camping Monster, a living mobile base designed for Gourmet Hunters exploring increasingly dangerous environments.

Every Tier includes the previous Tiers. You may choose its species and appearance, provided its capabilities remain appropriate to the purchased Tier.

Your Camping Monster possesses a Rest Room, suppressing the presence of itself and those safely within it. Scent, noise, ordinary tracks, life signs, energy signatures, and similar evidence become increasingly difficult to perceive as the Camping Monster advances.

It does not occupy a Companion slot. It understands your intentions, will never deliberately betray you, and if permanently destroyed returns fully restored after 24 hours.

100 CP: Traveling Camp

A Camping Monster roughly comparable to a large vehicle or small house.

It comfortably supports around 10 people and includes sleeping areas, kitchen facilities, sanitation, climate control, storage, and other basic expedition necessities.

It can travel across land and water at approximately highway speeds and comfortably survive ordinary Human World wilderness.

Its Rest Room hides those within from ordinary senses, animals, and mundane detection unless someone is specifically capable of penetrating its concealment.

A Gourmet Hunter's first home is wherever tonight's meal is cooking.

200 CP: Gourmet Caravan

Your Camping Monster becomes a proper mobile expedition headquarters.

It comfortably supports around 100 people and possesses bedrooms, large kitchens, medical facilities, workshops, laboratories, storage areas, training rooms, and other reasonable expedition facilities.

It can travel across land, sea, and air, adapt itself to extreme climates, and survive environments that would rapidly destroy conventional vehicles.

Its Rest Room now suppresses supernatural senses, scent tracking, energy detection, technological scanning, spiritual perception, and similar methods. Someone substantially superior in perception or power can still penetrate it.

The Camping Monster slowly repairs itself through food, rest, and suitable biological resources.

400 CP: Gourmet World Camp

Your Camping Monster becomes a colossal living fortress suitable for serious Gourmet World expeditions.

Its exterior may range from hundreds of meters to several kilometers, while its interior is significantly larger than its external dimensions suggest.

It can comfortably support around 10,000 inhabitants and may contain farms, warehouses, industrial kitchens, laboratories, workshops, hospitals, training grounds, ecosystems, ingredient preservation facilities, and other infrastructure appropriate to a mobile settlement.

Land, oceans, skies, extreme gravity, volcanic environments, poisonous regions, deep seas, and similarly hostile environments become valid routes.

Its Rest Room hides not merely the Camping Monster itself, but most ordinary evidence of its inhabitants' activities. Hunting something inside requires actually overcoming the concealment rather than simply using a sufficiently exotic detection method.

The Camping Monster can sustain its internal environment for extremely long periods when supplied with appropriate food and resources.

The Gourmet World is dangerous enough that sometimes your tent needs its own Capture Level.

600 CP: Wandering Gourmet World

You no longer possess a campsite.

You possess a traveling ecosystem.

The Camping Monster's internal territory is approximately comparable to a large country, regardless of its chosen external dimensions.

Mountains, forests, lakes, rivers, farms, cities, kitchens, laboratories, training environments, ingredient habitats, artificial biomes, and other suitable regions may be developed within it.

Its internal environment can be deliberately divided into specialized ecosystems with different gravity, atmosphere, temperature, terrain, supernatural conditions, and other environmental characteristics your technology or abilities can genuinely establish.

It can safely travel through space, dimensional pathways, extreme gravity, supernatural disasters, interdimensional environments, and similarly hostile regions appropriate to your adventures.

Its Rest Room conceals the entire mobile world. Physical senses, supernatural detection, divination, spiritual perception, technological scanning, remote observation, and similar methods must genuinely overcome its concealment rather than bypassing it through category alone.

The Camping Monster grows alongside you. Food, Gourmet Cells, technology, supernatural upgrades, biological modifications, ecosystems, ingredients, and other improvements you legitimately acquire may be integrated into it.

Its interior can likewise continue expanding through genuine growth, upgrades, and compatible abilities rather than possessing a final fixed ceiling.

You may choose anything suitably monstrous for its appearance, such as a colossal turtle, flying whale, living train, enormous serpent, walking island, or entirely original Gourmet Beast.

A normal hunter carries their supplies into the wilderness. You bring the wilderness with you.

Gourmet Seed Vault

200 CP

No ingredient should ever be truly lost.

This secure archive preserves viable seeds, spores, eggs, embryos, cuttings, cultures, microorganisms, and equivalent reproductive material from every compatible plant, fungus, algae, coral, microorganism, and similar lifeform you willingly collect/see.

Everything remains perfectly preserved indefinitely, while the archive automatically records the conditions required for healthy cultivation or restoration.

Should a compatible species become extinct elsewhere, the Seed Vault ensures that it can always be restored, provided you possess the necessary knowledge and facilities. New discoveries throughout your Chain are automatically catalogued and organized, making this an invaluable companion to your Gourmet Farm, Biotope, Sanctuary, Hunting Grounds, and Farland of the Gourmet Gods.

Gourmet Hunting Grounds (Tiered Item) 100 / 200 / 400 / 600 CP

The greatest ingredients are those you hunt yourself.

This self-sustaining wilderness is filled with compatible plants, animals, minerals, fungi, and other natural ingredients. Every ecosystem remains healthy, and anything harvested naturally returns over time through reproduction, migration, or other appropriate means.

100 CP: A large wilderness containing a diverse range of ingredients and wildlife up to roughly Capture Level 50.

200 CP: A region comparable to one of the Human World's great wildernesses. It contains mountains, forests, rivers, lakes, caves, and numerous ecosystems supporting ingredients up to roughly Capture Level 100.

400 CP: An entire continent comparable in size to the domains of the Eight Kings. Countless ecosystems, climates, and legendary ingredients flourish naturally, with wildlife reaching Capture Levels in the hundreds and beyond.

600 CP: An entire living Gourmet World. Continents, oceans, weather systems, underground realms, skies, and ecosystems continuously evolve while remaining in perfect ecological balance. New compatible species discovered throughout your Chain may naturally establish thriving populations here.

Gourmet Biotope (Tiered Item) 100 / 200 / 400 / 600 CP

Sometimes nature needs a careful hand.

Unlike the Hunting Grounds, this is a completely controlled environment where every aspect of the ecosystem can be designed exactly as you desire.

100 CP: A customizable habitat capable of supporting a handful of compatible species under carefully regulated conditions.

200 CP: Multiple independent habitats with individually adjustable climate, terrain, atmosphere, gravity, and environmental conditions.

400 CP: A massive research and conservation complex capable of safely housing virtually any compatible lifeform, regardless of how unusual its biological or environmental requirements may be. Dangerous species remain safely contained without compromising their quality of life.

600 CP: A true Biotope 0. An effectively limitless network of perfectly stable habitats where every compatible ecosystem may exist simultaneously. Time flow, gravity, atmospheric composition, energy density, supernatural environments, and countless other variables may all be independently customized, making this the ideal place for research, breeding, conservation, and evolution.

Gourmet Beast Companion (Tiered Item) 100 / 200 / 400 / 600 CP

Every legendary Gourmet Hunter has a trusted partner.

Choose a compatible animal companion from any species appropriate to the purchased tier, or create one of your own.

Your companion is completely loyal without losing its own personality, intelligence, or instincts. It grows alongside you, continuously improving its physical abilities, Gourmet Cells, Appetite, techniques, and overall potential.

Should your companion perish, it will gradually revive over the course of one week with all memories, growth, and abilities intact.

100 CP: A capable companion comparable to the finest creatures of the Human World.

200 CP: A powerful Gourmet Beast possessing Gourmet Cells, exceptional intelligence, and the potential to stand beside elite Gourmet Hunters.

400 CP: A legendary creature capable of rivaling many of the greatest beasts of the Gourmet World. It develops unique evolutionary paths, signature techniques, and its own powerful Appetite.

600 CP: A truly mythical companion destined to become one of the greatest lifeforms in existence. It possesses limitless growth potential, continually evolves alongside you, and naturally adapts to every compatible world and power system you encounter. Though it need not rival an Eight King immediately, given time and experience, it possesses every bit as much potential.

Drawbacks:

No feast is complete without risk.

Drawbacks grant additional CP in exchange for making your journey more difficult. Unless otherwise stated, all Drawbacks remain in effect for the duration of the Jump and end when the Jump is successfully completed.

You may voluntarily keep any Drawback you have accepted after leaving this Jump. If you do, it continues to function in future Jumps exactly as it did here, allowing you to retain its effects as an additional self-imposed challenge.

At the beginning of each future Jump, before that Jump officially starts, you may choose whether to continue or end each retained Drawback individually. Once you choose to end a retained Drawback, it immediately ceases to function and can no longer be reactivated through this rule. If you wish to regain it later, you must obtain the same or an equivalent effect through another legitimate source.

The choice is always yours.

Some Hunters eventually lay down their burdens.

Others continue carrying them, forever seeking a greater challenge.

Empty Stomach

+100 CP

Your body, mind, and powers have become unusually demanding.

Whatever normally sustains your growth, whether food, energy, mana, chakra, spiritual power, cultivation resources, knowledge, or something else appropriate to the setting, is consumed at a greatly accelerated rate. Ordinary meals, rest, meditation, or other forms of replenishment keep you going for only a short while before you begin feeling depleted again.

This will never cause you to starve or perish on its own, but you will need to replenish yourself far more frequently than most.

Gourmet Addiction

+100 CP

Everyone has something they simply can't resist.

Choose one type of nourishment, resource, sensation, or experience appropriate to the current setting. This might be a particular flavor, ingredient, style of cooking, magical reagent, cultivation treasure, battle, knowledge, emotion, or something similar.

Once you have experienced it, resisting the temptation to seek it out again becomes surprisingly difficult. While this never completely overrides your free will, the craving remains persistent until indulged.

Bottomless Hunger

+300 CP

Your desires continually outgrow what once satisfied them.

Throughout every Jump, your primary source of fulfillment gradually loses its appeal as you become stronger. Ordinary food, weak opponents, common treasures, basic techniques, mundane knowledge, or other lesser rewards cease to satisfy you for long.

Instead, your hunger constantly drives you toward ever greater challenges, rarer discoveries, stronger adversaries, and more extraordinary experiences. Remaining among the ordinary becomes increasingly frustrating, making the pursuit of the exceptional an obsession that is difficult to ignore.

Appetite Rampage

+600 CP

Your hunger has become something greater than simple desire.

Within every Jump, a force comparable to an Appetite develops alongside your greatest source of power. Whether it manifests as instinct, ambition, bloodlust, battle mania, magical corruption, primal hunger, overwhelming curiosity, or another setting-appropriate equivalent, it possesses an overwhelming drive to satisfy itself.

During moments of extreme hunger, stress, rage, fear, excitement, desperation, or triumph, this Appetite may temporarily overwhelm your better judgment, pushing you toward instinctive, reckless, or predatory behavior until you successfully regain control.

It cannot permanently possess you or remove your free will, but mastering this inner hunger becomes a challenge every bit as difficult as mastering your own power.

Dormant Potential

+200 CP

Every great power must awaken eventually.

Throughout every Jump, your primary source of extraordinary power begins in a dormant state. Whether this is Gourmet Cells, magic, cultivation, psychic talent, bloodline, divine power, mutations, or another setting-appropriate equivalent, it refuses to fully awaken through fiat alone.

You retain everything purchased through this Jump, but much of its active potential remains sealed until unlocked through genuine training, experience, hardship, and personal achievement. As you earn that growth, your abilities awaken naturally and permanently.

Unstable Evolution

+300 CP

Evolution rarely follows a predictable path.

Throughout every Jump, your primary source of power constantly seeks to evolve beyond its current limits, but rarely in the manner you expect.

Unexpected mutations, surges of power, altered abilities, spontaneous adaptations, temporary instabilities, biological or metaphysical changes, and entirely new evolutionary paths become far more common whenever you undergo significant growth or survive extreme circumstances.

These evolutions are rarely harmful and often prove beneficial in the long term, but they almost never occur when it would be most convenient. Mastering your continually changing nature becomes an ongoing challenge.

Silent Partner

+400 CP

Power often comes with guidance.

Yours does not.

If your abilities possess an associated intelligence, spirit, mentor, consciousness, AI, familiar, inner self, ancestral memory, or similar guiding presence, it refuses to communicate with you. While it still grants all of its normal power, it offers no advice, warnings, training, explanations, or cooperation beyond what is absolutely necessary.

If no such companion naturally exists within the setting, this drawback instead suppresses the intuitive understanding normally accompanying your greatest powers. You must discover every application, limitation, and technique entirely through your own effort.

Ravenous Partner

+600 CP

Great power has a will of its own.

Throughout every Jump, your greatest source of power develops or possesses an independent drive comparable to a Gourmet Demon. Whether it manifests as an inner spirit, alternate personality, cursed power, sentient weapon, living magic, primordial instinct, ancient AI, divine fragment, or another setting-appropriate equivalent, it possesses goals and desires entirely separate from your own.

It cannot permanently seize control, remove your purchased abilities, or force you to act against your will outright. However, it constantly seeks to influence your decisions, exploit your emotions, tempt you with greater power, and manipulate events toward fulfilling its own ambitions. Moments of weakness, desperation, or overwhelming emotion make resisting its influence considerably more difficult.

Mastering this relationship becomes as important as mastering the power itself.

Hunted

+200 CP

Strength attracts challengers.

Throughout every Jump, powerful predators, hunters, warriors, monsters, organizations, and other dangerous beings instinctively recognize you as worthy prey, a valuable target, or an irresistible challenge.

The exact reason adapts to the setting. You may possess rare power, exceptional potential, an unusual aura, valuable resources, or simply the presence of someone destined for greatness.

While not everyone seeks to kill you, those capable of doing so rarely ignore your existence for long.

Rare Delicacy

+400 CP

To many beings...

You are irresistible.

Throughout every Jump, your body, soul, powers, bloodline, energy, knowledge, or very existence is considered an exceptionally valuable prize by those capable of benefiting from it.

The exact nature of this adapts to the setting. Vampires may crave your blood, demons your soul, cultivators your spiritual energy, mages your magical potential, scientists your biology, monsters your flesh, eldritch horrors your essence, or collectors your unique abilities.

Many will seek to capture, study, consume, harvest, corrupt, recruit, or otherwise claim you for themselves.

To them...

You are one of the rarest treasures in the world.

Apex Territory

+600 CP

Every world has something at the top of the food chain.

You begin each Jump within the domain, sphere of influence, or immediate attention of one of the setting's greatest powers.

Whether this is an apex predator, legendary monster, emperor, divine beast, ancient dragon, eldritch horror, supreme cultivator, galactic empire, or another equivalent force depends upon the setting.

Whatever its form, it stands among the greatest dangers naturally present in that world.

Escaping, surviving, hiding, defeating it, or earning its respect is entirely your responsibility.

Wanted

+100 CP

Someone important has taken notice of you.

At the beginning of every Jump, one major organization, kingdom, government, guild, religion, corporation, criminal syndicate, military force, or equivalent faction considers you suspicious, dangerous, or otherwise worthy of close attention.

Their exact attitude depends upon the setting. They may wish to recruit, monitor, interrogate, arrest, exploit, eliminate, or simply keep a careful eye on you.

Regardless of their intentions, operating unnoticed becomes significantly more difficult while they remain interested in your activities.

Most Wanted

+300 CP

It is no longer just one organization that has an interest in you.

Throughout every Jump, several of the setting's most influential organizations, governments, guilds, corporations, religions, criminal syndicates, military powers, or other major factions independently decide that you deserve their attention.

Each has its own reasons. Some may wish to recruit you, others to study you, arrest you, exploit you, eliminate you, or simply ensure you never interfere with their plans.

Unfortunately, none of them are inclined to leave you alone.

Public Enemy

+600 CP

Sometimes the entire world decides that you are the problem.

Throughout every Jump, nearly every major power within the setting has reason to oppose, fear, monitor, recruit, imprison, or eliminate you.

Governments, kingdoms, guilds, religions, corporations, criminal organizations, legendary heroes, ancient monsters, and other influential groups all develop their own motivations for becoming involved in your affairs.

Not every faction will seek your death, but remaining anonymous or politically neutral becomes virtually impossible.

World's Deadliest Frontier

+100 CP

Every world has places where only the strongest dare to tread.

Rather than beginning in a relatively safe location, you instead start your Jump within a region whose danger is comparable to the Gourmet World of Toriko.

The exact location adapts to the setting. It may be an ancient dungeon, monster-infested wilderness, demon realm, cursed land, death world, deepest ocean, forbidden continent, unexplored frontier, war zone, eldritch dimension, or another region considered among the most dangerous naturally accessible places in existence.

Surviving your first days is entirely your responsibility.

Survival of the Fittest

+300 CP

Nothing worth having comes easily.

Throughout every Jump, fate conspires against convenient opportunities.

Mentors rarely appear when needed. Legendary treasures are never left unattended. Ancient techniques are not conveniently discovered. Powerful allies are earned rather than gifted. Lucky coincidences become remarkably uncommon.

If you want something...

You must seek it out yourself.

If you wish to become stronger...

You must earn every step.

Nature's Challenge

+600 CP

The world itself refuses to acknowledge your strength.

Throughout every Jump, the environment continually rises to challenge you.

Weather grows harsher. Terrain becomes more treacherous. Natural disasters become more frequent. Dangerous wildlife appears more often. Ancient ruins prove less stable. Magical zones become more volatile. Reality itself seems determined to make every expedition significantly more hazardous than it would have been for anyone else.

The exact challenges adapt to the setting, but they are always comparable to venturing through the most hostile regions of the Gourmet World.

The world itself has become one of your greatest adversaries.

No Shortcuts

+200 CP

True mastery cannot be inherited.

Throughout every Jump, knowledge gained through books, recordings, memories, downloads, inherited techniques, implanted skills, direct transfers, magical learning, accelerated training, simulations, or similar methods provides only understanding.

You may learn the theory, principles, history, and methodology perfectly, but genuine skill, instinct, precision, and mastery must always be earned through personal practice and experience.

No amount of external knowledge can replace the lessons learned through your own hands.

Forgotten Masterpieces

+300 CP

Every new world demands that you prove yourself again.

At the beginning of the Jump, all recipes, blueprints, crafting methods, techniques, spells, martial arts, scientific discoveries, and other forms of learned knowledge from previous worlds remain perfectly remembered, but cannot be directly used or reproduced.

Instead, you must independently recreate, rediscover, or adapt them to the local world's laws, metaphysics, and resources before regaining access to their practical use.

Twisted Fortune

+200 CP

Fortune has turned its gaze away from you.

Throughout every Jump, luck remains an active force in your life...

Unfortunately, it usually works against you.

Coincidences still occur, but they are far more likely to create inconvenient timing, unexpected complications, unfortunate misunderstandings, lost opportunities, broken equipment, inconvenient encounters, or similar misfortunes.

This will not directly kill you or render success impossible, but life becomes noticeably more difficult than it otherwise would have been.

Balance Demands Payment

+400 CP

The world refuses to let fortune favor you for long.

Whenever you achieve a major success, discover a legendary treasure, defeat a powerful enemy, gain an extraordinary opportunity, or otherwise experience exceptional good fortune, fate eventually balances the scales with a setback of comparable significance.

The setback need not directly negate your success, but it will demand an equally meaningful cost, sacrifice, complication, or new challenge.

The greater your triumph...

The greater the price that follows.

Eternal Rival

+300 CP

Somewhere in every world exists someone destined to walk beside your legend.

At the beginning of every Jump, an individual of comparable age, potential, and opportunity enters the setting.

Like you, they possess extraordinary talent and an almost unbelievable capacity for growth. While they do not receive your purchased perks or abilities, fate continually presents them with opportunities to develop at a pace comparable to your own.

Whether they become your greatest rival, closest friend, bitter enemy, or reluctant ally depends entirely upon the choices both of you make.

Regardless...

Neither of you can truly ignore the other for long.

The Next Acacia

+600 CP

Some legends are so great that the world cannot help but seek their successor.

Throughout every Jump, fate marks you as the heir to the setting's greatest legend, most infamous monster, ultimate hero, final villain, legendary founder, or other individual of comparable significance.

Whether this figure is remembered with reverence, fear, hatred, or awe depends upon the setting, but your existence inevitably draws comparisons to them.

Some believe you are destined to surpass them.

Others believe you must never be allowed to.

Governments monitor you. Organizations attempt to recruit or manipulate you. Rivals seek to challenge you. Followers of the original legend may worship, resent, or test you. Ancient enemies may attempt to destroy you before history repeats itself, while old allies may place impossible expectations upon your shoulders.

Even those who have never met you find themselves drawn into your story simply because of what you represent.

Whether you embrace, reject, surpass, or utterly redefine that legacy is entirely your choice.

One thing, however, is certain.

No one will ever leave you alone.

Native of This World

+100 CP

Normally you arrive as an outsider, free to forge your own path.

Not this time.

Instead, you are a genuine native of the setting. You were born here, possess a complete personal history, family, acquaintances, and reputation appropriate to your Origin. Your past cannot simply be ignored, and old obligations, friendships, rivalries, debts, and responsibilities may come calling throughout the Jump.

You no longer receive any special consideration for being an outsider, and your Item Section purchases are integrated naturally into your history rather than simply appearing with you.

Rival Gourmets

+200 CP

Normally, you are the only person blessed with the extraordinary talents granted by this Jump.

Not anymore.

One individual representing each Origin now exists somewhere in the world.

- One Hunter
- One Chef
- One Knocker
- One Saiseiya
- One Researcher
- One Craftsman

Each possesses the equivalent of their Origin's abilities and talents, but none of the General Perks, Cosmic Perks, Acacia's Full Course, or other purchases from this Jump.

Unfortunately, every one of them has ambitions that place them firmly at odds with you. Whether they seek to surpass you, expose you, defeat you, consume you, or simply prove themselves superior is left to fate.

Legendary Gourmets

+200 / +400 / +600 / +1000 CP

Normally, history only has to deal with one monster like you.

Now it has several.

Each purchase causes another legendary Gourmet to arise somewhere in the world during your Jump. These individuals possess abilities equivalent to one complete Origin perk line.

+200 CP
One legendary master appears.

+400 CP
Two legendary masters appear.

+600 CP
Three legendary masters appear.

+1000 CP
Four legendary masters appear.

Each legendary Gourmet specializes in one of the following disciplines:

- Hunter: Possesses every Hunter Origin perk and its Boosters.
- Chef: Possesses every Chef Origin perk and its Boosters.
- Knocker: Possesses every Knocker Origin perk and its Boosters.
- Saiseiya, Researcher, or Craftsman: Possesses every perk from one complete Origin perk line, chosen as appropriate.

The +1000 CP version replaces the final master with a true monster.

This individual possesses every Origin perk line, every General Perk, every Acacia's Full Course perk, every Cosmic Origin perk, every Gourmet Technique, and every Booster available within this Jump, effectively serving as your complete mirror. They lack only your memories, companions, items, and any powers acquired outside this Jump.

Whether they become your greatest rival, your greatest enemy, or the final challenge of your Gourmet Journey is entirely up to fate.

Gourmet God's Amusement

+200 CP

It seems that someone is watching your journey.

In every Jump, a being comparable in status, influence, or power to one of the Gourmet Gods takes an interest in you. Whether it is a true deity, cosmic entity, ancient dragon, eldritch intelligence, living world, AI overlord, or some other transcendent existence depends on the setting.

It does not necessarily wish you harm.

Unfortunately, it finds your adventures entertaining.

It occasionally nudges fate, creating unlikely coincidences, inconvenient encounters, unexpected opportunities, and spectacular complications simply to see what you will do next. While these interventions rarely become directly lethal on their own, they have an uncanny tendency to place you in situations that are far more interesting... and dangerous... than they otherwise would have been.

Divine Interference

+200 CP

The powers that govern the world refuse to leave you alone.

Throughout every Jump, beings comparable to the Gourmet Gods regularly interfere with your life. Gods, cosmic entities, primordial spirits, ancient dragons, world administrators, conceptual beings, or whatever fills that role within the setting may notice you, test you, manipulate you, recruit you, bless you, curse you, or simply involve you in their affairs.

Their attention is not inherently hostile, but it is never convenient.

Even if you avoid one, another is likely to take an interest before long.

Rogue Appetite Demons

+200 CP

Power attracts predators.

Throughout every Jump, hostile beings comparable to Appetite Demons, corrupted Gourmet Cells, Food Spirits, or other supernatural predators naturally gravitate toward you.

The exact form they take adapts to the setting. They may be demons, curses, eldritch parasites, psychic entities, corrupted spirits, living plagues, rogue AIs, Void creatures, magical beasts, or other beings that seek to consume, corrupt, possess, or evolve through you.

They instinctively recognize your extraordinary potential and consider you a prize worth pursuing.

Gourmet Cell Clone

+200 CP

Somewhere in the world...

There is another you.

Early in every Jump, an individual is created whose existence is fundamentally linked to your own. Whether they are a clone, alternate self, artificial lifeform, reincarnation, mirror entity, duplicate, or something else appropriate to the setting depends on the local metaphysics.

They begin weaker than you but possess growth potential comparable to your own. They continually improve throughout the Jump, learning from both their own experiences and your legend, with a single overriding goal:

To surpass you.

Whether they become your greatest rival, your darkest reflection, your bitter enemy, or an unlikely ally is entirely determined by the choices both of you make.

Annual Catastrophe

+500 CP

The world itself seems determined to test you.

Once every year, you will inevitably find yourself caught in a catastrophe comparable to a Gourmet World extinction event. The exact nature of the disaster adapts to the current setting, but it will always rank among the greatest natural or supernatural calamities the world has to offer.

Planetary wars, awakening eldritch horrors, dimensional collapses, divine invasions, magical apocalypses, reality storms, continent-shattering beasts, runaway superweapons, world-ending plagues, and similar disasters are all fair game.

You need not solve every catastrophe yourself, but surviving them is entirely your responsibility. Simply hiding or fleeing is unlikely to spare you, as fate has an uncanny habit of placing you directly in the disaster's path.

Twelve Legendary Ingredients

+400 CP

The Gourmet Path demands constant discovery.

Once every year, twelve extraordinary objectives appear somewhere within the current setting. In Toriko, these are Legendary Ingredients, but in other worlds they become treasures, artifacts, techniques, creatures, medicines, relics, lost knowledge, magical plants, cultivation resources, divine materials, forgotten technologies, or other prizes of comparable rarity and significance.

Each objective is among the greatest treasures naturally obtainable within that world, requiring considerable effort, danger, or ingenuity to acquire.

You must personally obtain all twelve before the year ends.

Failure to do so results in immediate failure of the Jump.

Local Scale

+300 / +600 CP

No matter how extraordinary your potential may be, legends are not born overnight.

+300 CP

Your initial capabilities are limited to those of a talented but ultimately ordinary member of the setting. Purchased abilities remain fully functional, but their raw power, scale, and output are temporarily constrained until developed through genuine training, experience, and achievement.

+600 CP

This limitation becomes substantially stricter. Throughout the Jump, your raw power, growth rate, and overall development cannot naturally exceed approximately ninety percent of the greatest native individual or faction currently active within the setting. You may still reach that level through effort, and external rewards gained after the Jump remain unaffected, but you cannot simply overwhelm the setting through fiat-granted superiority alone.

Hostile Appetite Demon

+200 CP

Power always comes with temptation.

In every Jump, an inner force comparable to a Hostile Appetite Demon manifests within you. Whether it is an Appetite Demon, inner demon, corrupted soul, alternate personality, cursed power, invasive instinct, primordial hunger, sentient energy, or another equivalent phenomenon depends upon the setting.

It cannot permanently seize control of you, nor can it remove your purchased abilities, but it constantly tempts, manipulates, and pressures you toward actions that satisfy its own desires. Moments of extreme stress, rage, fear, despair, or overwhelming hunger give it greater opportunities to challenge your self-control.

Mastering it is possible.

Ignoring it rarely is.

Gourmet Cell Instability

+300 CP

Evolution rarely follows a straight path.

Throughout every Jump, your primary biological, supernatural, or metaphysical power source behaves like unstable Gourmet Cells. Your body, soul, powers, or equivalent foundation continuously seeks to evolve, but does so unpredictably.

Unexpected mutations, surges of power, altered abilities, temporary instabilities, unusual side effects, spontaneous adaptations, or entirely new evolutionary paths may emerge whenever you experience intense growth, combat, or extreme circumstances.

These changes are not inherently harmful and often prove beneficial in the long term, but they are rarely convenient and almost never occur exactly when you would prefer. Mastering these continual evolutions becomes another challenge on your journey toward perfection.

Poisoned Appetite

+300 CP

Growth comes at a price.

Throughout every Jump, sources of nourishment, recovery, or advancement significantly weaker than your current level rapidly lose their effectiveness.

In Toriko, this means low-level Ingredients provide little nourishment or Gourmet Energy. In other settings, the drawback adapts appropriately. Weak cultivation resources become ineffective, common magical reagents lose their potency, ordinary training yields little progress, low-quality equipment offers negligible benefit, and similarly inferior sources of growth cease to sustain your continued advancement.

To continue growing, you must constantly seek greater challenges, rarer resources, and stronger prey. Settling for mediocrity is no longer an option.

Endless Hunger

+400 CP

The path to perfection has no finish line.

No matter how much you consume, accomplish, discover, or achieve, you are never completely satisfied. Your hunger, whether for food, knowledge, power, mastery, adventure, or something else, always returns.

In Toriko, this manifests as an insatiable Gourmet Appetite. In other settings, it becomes an equivalent driving force tied to your greatest source of fulfillment and growth.

This hunger never overrides your free will, but it is a constant presence, urging you toward greater challenges, stronger opponents, rarer treasures, deeper understanding, and ever more extraordinary experiences. Moments of complete satisfaction become fleeting, quickly replaced by the desire to find the next mountain to climb.

While exhausting at times, this endless drive also makes it nearly impossible for you to become complacent, stagnant, or content with simply remaining where you are.

One of the Eight Kings Notices You

+600 CP

Some beings stand at the absolute pinnacle of the food chain.

In every Jump, one such being takes notice of you.

Whether it views you as prey, a rival, a worthy challenge, or simply an irresistible curiosity is up to fate, but sooner or later your paths will cross.

This being is always among the greatest living powers of the current setting, possessing influence, resources, and personal power comparable to one of the Eight Kings of Toriko. If no direct equivalent exists, fate will elevate an appropriate individual, organization, creature, or force of nature to fill this role.

Avoiding it may delay the inevitable, but it will never lose interest in you.

Acacia's Legacy

+800 CP

History has chosen you as the center of its greatest conflict.

Throughout every Jump, you become entwined with the setting's deepest mysteries, greatest powers, and oldest legacies. Ancient evils, forgotten civilizations, primordial beings, world-changing artifacts, and those who seek them inevitably become involved in your journey.

There will always exist an individual, force, or conspiracy whose danger, influence, and significance are comparable to Acacia, Neo, the Blue Nitro, and the greatest threats of Toriko. Whether they seek to recruit you, manipulate you, consume you, destroy you, or use you to achieve their goals, they will regard you as an indispensable piece of their plans.

Ignoring them is rarely possible, for fate has already woven your stories together.

Scenarios

Scenario: The Road to Gourmet Divinity

Reward Focus: Gourmet God(dess) Prerequisite Assistance

The path to Gourmet Divinity demands an absurd investment.

To completely assemble the prerequisite tree leading to Gourmet God(dess) requires an effective base investment of approximately 25,600 CP before discounts, free purchases, and similar benefits are considered.

That price exists for a reason. Gourmet God(dess) represents the culmination of Gourmet Cells, Appetite, the Perfect Full Course, all six great Gourmet professions, evolution, understanding, freedom, observation, and everything those paths become when brought together.

But the Gourmet World has never judged worth solely by what someone could purchase.

A Gourmet Hunter proves themselves by hunting. A Chef cooks. A Knocking Master achieves through precision what others would accomplish through destruction. A Saiseiya restores life. A Researcher discovers. A Craftsman creates.

If you are willing to actually walk those roads, then part of the price of divinity may be earned rather than purchased.

Taking the Scenario

This Scenario may be selected alongside the main OOC Toriko Supplement.

It does not replace any prerequisite of Gourmet God(dess). Instead, completing its Trials awards a special currency called Gourmet Divinity Credits, allowing you to pay a significant portion of the enormous prerequisite cost through accomplishments.

You may complete the Trials in any order unless a Trial specifically states otherwise.

A single accomplishment may contribute toward several Trials when it genuinely fulfills each of their requirements, but you cannot claim the same accomplishment repeatedly simply by describing it differently.

The accomplishments must represent meaningful challenges relative to your capabilities at the time. Bringing planetary power against an ordinary animal does not constitute a legendary hunt, nor does boiling water count as a divine culinary achievement simply because you could theoretically destroy a galaxy afterward.

The Gourmet Path rewards genuine growth.

Gourmet Divinity Credits

Completing this Scenario awards Gourmet Divinity Credits, abbreviated GDC.

Each GDC possesses purchasing power equivalent to 1 CP, but may only be spent upon Perks, Perk tiers, and other purchases that are genuinely part of the prerequisite tree leading to Gourmet God(dess).

A purchase paid partially or entirely through GDC counts exactly as though it had been purchased normally. It satisfies prerequisites, Capstone Booster requirements, Boosted Perk requirements, Tier requirements, and the requirements of the Gourmet Divinity Supplement.

Normal discounts, Origin discounts, free selections, bundled prices, tiered purchase rules, and other legitimate reductions are applied normally. GDC pays whatever legitimate cost remains afterward.

GDC cannot be converted into ordinary CP, deposited into the Gourmet Bank, spent upon unrelated Perks, used for Items or Companions outside the prerequisite tree, or exchanged for another currency.

Unused GDC remains available until spent upon an eligible Gourmet God(dess) prerequisite.

Because the prerequisite tree contains overlapping branches, discounts, free selections, bundled purchases, and different possible purchase orders, there is intentionally no attempt to assign an exact universal amount of CP saved by every Jumper.

In practical terms, completing the entire Scenario is expected to reduce the burden of reaching Gourmet God(dess) by roughly 10,000 to 15,000 CP depending upon discounts, free purchases, prerequisite overlap, and purchase order.

It does not make Gourmet God(dess) free.

Even after completing every Trial, reaching the full 25,600 CP prerequisite tree should still demand a substantial investment of your own resources.

The Scenario helps you afford divinity. It does not hand divinity to you.

Trial of the Gourmet Hunter

A Hunter is not defined by possessing overwhelming strength.

A Hunter finds something worth pursuing.

Choose a creature, being, ingredient, phenomenon, location, or other legitimate quarry that represents a meaningful challenge to you at the time of the hunt.

You must personally participate in tracking, locating, understanding, pursuing, capturing, defeating, or otherwise overcoming it.

The challenge should require more than raw power. Preparation, observation, survival skills, adaptation, strategy, knowledge of the environment, understanding of the prey, or similar Hunter principles must genuinely matter.

Killing the target is not required.

Capturing it alive, earning its cooperation, successfully harvesting an ingredient without destroying the creature, or overcoming some other meaningful objective may qualify.

Reward: Hunter's Divinity

Gain 1,000 GDC.

When these Credits are spent upon purchases belonging to the Gourmet Hunter progression leading toward Cosmic Hunter, they are considered especially appropriate to the Trial and may be combined freely with all normal Hunter Origin discounts.

The hunt has paid for part of the Hunter you are becoming.

Trial of the Gourmet Chef

A perfect ingredient means little if nobody can prepare it.

Find or acquire ingredients whose preparation genuinely challenges your current culinary ability.

You must personally prepare a meal using them.

The difficulty may come from the ingredient itself, dangerous preparation requirements, supernatural properties, conflicting flavors, impossible temperatures, unusual metaphysics, the need for extreme precision, or any comparable culinary challenge.

The final dish must be meaningfully greater because of your skill.

Simply placing an already perfect ingredient on a plate does not qualify.

At least one other being must genuinely consume, enjoy, benefit from, or otherwise meaningfully experience the completed dish.

Reward: Chef's Divinity

Gain 1,000 GDC.

These Credits may be freely directed toward the Gourmet Chef progression leading toward Cosmic Chef, while retaining any discounts or other legitimate reductions you possess.

A Chef feeds more than themselves.

The meal you created has nourished your road toward divinity as well.

Trial of the Knocking Master

The easiest answer is often destruction.

A Knocking Master searches for the precise answer instead.

Confront a dangerous situation where destroying the target would be substantially easier than preserving, restraining, stabilizing, disabling, or controlling it.

You must resolve the problem through Knocking or a genuinely comparable application of precise control.

You might immobilize a creature without harming it, stop an otherwise fatal biological process, stabilize an impossible ingredient, halt a supernatural catastrophe without destroying its source, suppress a dangerous transformation, preserve someone undergoing catastrophic evolution, or accomplish something similarly delicate.

The challenge must genuinely test your precision and understanding.

Reward: Knocking Divinity

Gain 1,000 GDC.

These Credits may be directed toward the Knocking progression leading toward Cosmic Knocking Master, benefiting normally from any legitimate discounts.

Anyone can smash an ingredient.

A master knows exactly where to place the finger.

Trial of the Saiseiya

Life is an ingredient that cannot always be replaced once lost.

Find something meaningfully ruined, dying, corrupted, endangered, or extinct and restore it.

The target may be an ingredient, species, ecosystem, supernatural organism, biological lineage, living environment, or comparable system.

If the species is extinct, bringing it back and establishing a viable population may qualify.

If an ecosystem has collapsed, merely creating a pretty garden in its place does not qualify. You must meaningfully restore what was damaged or reconstruct a legitimate continuation of it.

The restoration must require genuine effort relative to your abilities.

Reward: Saiseiya Divinity

Gain 1,000 GDC.

These Credits may be directed toward the Saiseiya progression leading toward Cosmic Saiseiya, with normal discounts applying.

The greatest healer does not merely prevent death.

They return tomorrow to something that had lost it.

Trial of the Gourmet Researcher

There is always something that has not yet been understood.

Find it.

Discover, prove, explain, or develop something genuinely new to you and meaningfully difficult to understand with your present capabilities.

You might solve the biology of an impossible ingredient, discover a new Gourmet Cell principle, explain an unknown supernatural phenomenon, establish a new scientific theory, uncover the mechanism behind a mysterious power, develop an original technology, or resolve a question that genuinely required research rather than simple observation.

Information you already possessed before beginning the Trial does not qualify merely because nobody else knew it.

The Researcher must actually research.

Reward: Researcher's Divinity

Gain 1,000 GDC.

These Credits may be directed toward the Researcher progression leading toward Cosmic Researcher, retaining all legitimate discounts.

Every answer becomes another ingredient.

Every answer also creates another question.

Trial of the Gourmet Craftsman

Understanding becomes far more meaningful when you can build something with it.

Create a masterpiece that genuinely challenges the limits of your present craftsmanship.

It may be a weapon, Gourmet Tool, kitchen, laboratory, vehicle, structure, artifact, machine, piece of clothing, biological construct, technological system, supernatural device, or something stranger.

The finished creation must either push your existing abilities beyond what you could comfortably accomplish when you began or solve a meaningful problem through craftsmanship.

Mass producing something you already mastered does not qualify.

Reward: Craftsman's Divinity

Gain 1,000 GDC.

These Credits may be directed toward the Craftsman progression leading toward Cosmic Craftsman, benefiting from all normal discounts.

A masterpiece is not the end of a Craftsman's journey.

It is proof that the next masterpiece can be greater.

Trial of the Perfect Full Course

A person's Full Course represents their life.

Acacia had his.

Now create yours.

You must assemble a complete Personal Full Course Menu consisting of eight courses:

1. Hors d'Oeuvre
2. Soup
3. Fish Dish
4. Meat Dish
5. Main Course
6. Salad
7. Dessert
8. Drink

Each course must be something you personally consider worthy of representing your journey.

The ingredients do not need to surpass Acacia's Full Course in raw Capture Level.

What matters is that every selection possesses genuine significance to your Appetite.

You must meaningfully participate in obtaining each course. Hunting, discovering, cultivating, restoring, researching, negotiating for, preparing, or otherwise earning the ingredient all qualify.

Simply purchasing eight legendary ingredients from someone else's shop without personal involvement does not.

You must personally participate in preparing or completing the final Full Course.

Your Full Course is not frozen forever after completing the Trial. If you later discover something more appropriate, you may replace one of its courses.

The Gourmet journey continues.

Reward: The Price of the Full Course

Gain 2,500 GDC.

These Credits may be spent anywhere within the prerequisite structure of Perfect Full Course.

This includes eligible purchases associated with Acacia's Successor, Gourmet Cells, Appetite Energy, Gourmet Demons, Absolute Appetite, the required Full Course ingredients, and other legitimate prerequisites belonging to Perfect Full Course.

Your Full Course has become more than a menu.

It has begun paying for your ascension.

Final Trial: The Banquet of Ascension

Requires: Completion of all six professional Trials and the Trial of the Perfect Full Course.

You have hunted.

You have cooked.

You have controlled.

You have restored.

You have discovered.

You have created.

Now prove that these are not six unrelated professions you happened to learn.

Perform a single great accomplishment that meaningfully combines at least four of the six Gourmet professions.

Possessing the relevant Perks is insufficient. Their principles must actually contribute to the result.

Perhaps you hunt an ingredient no civilization has ever captured, research how its impossible anatomy functions, use Knocking to prevent it from destroying itself during capture, restore its nearly extinct species, build equipment capable of processing it, then prepare the first successful meal ever made from it.

Perhaps you find a dead world, determine what killed its biosphere, construct the machinery needed to repair the planet, restore its extinct organisms, stabilize its damaged environment, cultivate new ingredients upon its surface, and prepare a banquet from the first harvest.

Perhaps your accomplishment has nothing to do with either example.

What matters is that no single Gourmet profession could reasonably have achieved it alone.

When the accomplishment is complete, create a banquet representing what you achieved.

You must share that banquet with others.

There is no required number of guests.

One person sitting across the table because you genuinely wanted them there is enough.

Final Reward: Earned Divinity

Gain 1,500 GDC.

These Credits may be spent anywhere within the complete Gourmet God(dess) prerequisite tree.

You also permanently unlock Earned Divinity.

Until you have completely obtained Gourmet God(dess), extraordinary accomplishments associated with the six Gourmet professions may continue generating small amounts of Gourmet Divinity Credits.

Once per Jump for each of the six professional paths, completing an accomplishment genuinely worthy of one of the original Trials grants 100 additional GDC.

This means you may earn up to 600 additional GDC per Jump through continued Gourmet achievement.

Trivial repetitions do not qualify. Each accomplishment must remain meaningful relative to who you have become.

These additional Credits exist so that a Jumper pursuing Gourmet God(dess) across a long Chain may continue slowly earning their ascension through action instead of relying entirely upon accumulated CP.

Once you obtain Gourmet God(dess), Earned Divinity stops generating GDC.

You have paid the price.

Scenario Completion

Completing all seven primary Trials and the Banquet of Ascension provides a total of:

10,000 Gourmet Divinity Credits.

Those Credits are deliberately restricted to the Gourmet God(dess) prerequisite tree.

Because your normal Origin discounts, free General Perk selections, tiered purchases, bundled options, shared prerequisites, and purchase order continue applying normally, the practical assistance provided by those 10,000 GDC will not be identical for every Jumper.

As a general guideline, The Road to Gourmet Divinity can reduce the practical burden of the 25,600 CP Gourmet God(dess) prerequisite tree by roughly 10,000 to 15,000 CP, depending upon how efficiently you combine the Scenario rewards with your discounts, free purchases, prerequisite overlap, and purchase order.

This is deliberately substantial.

It is also deliberately not enough to complete Gourmet God(dess) by itself.

Even the Jumper who completes every Trial must still invest a considerable amount of their own CP, accumulated resources, Gourmet Bank funds, or future earnings into finishing the ascension.

The purpose of this Scenario is not to bypass the price.

It gives you another way to pay it.

Instead of acquiring every piece of Gourmet Divinity through purchasing power alone, you may hunt part of its price.

Cook part of it.

Restore part of it.

Discover part of it.

Create part of it.

And ultimately prove through your own journey that the abilities represented by the enormous prerequisite tree are more than boxes you checked during Character Creation.

Gourmet Divinity was never meant to belong merely to whoever possessed the largest wallet.

If you cannot afford the entire road to Godhood, then hunt, cook, restore, discover, create, and earn your way there.

Notes

Yes My first Jump Is “Jumperable”

V4.3 Wip

Added to the Ultimate Capstone Boosted: Gourmet God(dess) Perk
To get the Maximum usability and make it worth the price
To get the perk, you need many perk chains where you need to pay a total of 25,600 CP.
the sections
Immutable Existence
Apex of the Food Chain
Omnipresent Existence
Perfect Transcendence
Creator Authority
Ultimate Appetite
Narrative Scale
Divine Synthesis

Added
Gourmet Senses
Perfect Gourmet Senses [Boosted]
Omniscient Appraisal [Boosted]
Perfect Metabolism [100 CP]
Eternal Satisfaction [Boosted]
Universal Application [200 CP]
Boosted: Universal Mastery [Boosted]
Appetite Manifestation 100 CP Each / 500 CP for All
Boosted: Perfect Appetite Manifestation

Items Added
Gourmet Cookbook

Meta Perk
Gourmet Bank [400 CP] - As the jump has a lot of perks, and you need both time and Points to get the God(dess) Perk

Updated

Saiseiya Perk Line now includes that they revive and breed ingredients that were extinct too.

Drawback intro updated you may keep them activated, and disable them at the beginning of each jump, but then lose access to them.

V1 Published

Added Item
Gourmet Technology Suite
as i remembered the GT Robots

Major Rework: Gourmet God(dess)

The Ultimate Capstone Boosted: Gourmet God(dess) has received a major expansion and restructuring.

The complete Gourmet God(dess) progression has grown beyond 100 pages, so its full mechanics have been moved into a separate document:

Gourmet Divinity Supplement V2

The main OOC Toriko Supplement now contains the prerequisite paths required to unlock Gourmet Divinity, while the Gourmet Divinity Supplement contains the complete abilities gained from that ascension.

The Gourmet Divinity Supplement is not a separate Jump, does not provide another CP budget, and does not require its component abilities to be purchased separately.

The CP spent completing the Gourmet God(dess) prerequisite tree is considered the purchase price of Gourmet Divinity.

Gourmet God(dess) Requirements Split

The original Gourmet God(dess) requirements have been divided across the individual stages of Gourmet Divinity.

You no longer need to complete the entire 25,600 CP prerequisite tree before accessing the first Divine abilities.

Instead, each Tier and Divine Aspect unlocks once its own prerequisites are completed.

Divine Body [Tier 1]

Effective Prerequisite Investment: 16,100 CP

Requires:

- Perfect Full Course
- Cosmic Hunter
- Cosmic Saiseiya
- Perfect Fundamentals
- Universal Assimilation

Divine Body contains the physical, biological, physiological, technological, regenerative, adaptive, and evolutionary aspects of Gourmet Divinity.

Divine Mind [Tier 1]

Effective Prerequisite Investment: 16,900 CP

Requires:

- Perfect Full Course
- Cosmic Researcher
- Cosmic Craftsman
- Gourmet Memory
- Omnidisciplinary Insight

Divine Mind contains the intelligence, memory, learning, research, analysis, creativity, craftsmanship, information, and understanding aspects of Gourmet Divinity.

Divine Appetite [Tier 1]

Effective Prerequisite Investment: 15,600 CP

Requires:

- Perfect Full Course
- Cosmic Chef
- Cosmic Knocking Master
- Communion of Appetite
- Absolute Appetite

Divine Appetite contains the soul, spirit, identity, will, desire, Appetite, Gourmet Energy, emotional sovereignty, and metaphysical aspects of Gourmet Divinity.

True Gourmet God [Tier 2]

Effective Cumulative Prerequisite Investment: 24,200 CP

Requires:

- Divine Body
- Divine Mind
- Divine Appetite

Completing all three Tier 1 Divine Aspects unlocks True Gourmet God.

Body, Mind, and Appetite cease functioning as three separate perfected systems and become one unified divine existence.

No additional CP purchase is required after completing all three Divine Aspects.

Gourmet God of the Endless Feast [Tier 3, Ultimate Meta]

Final Effective Prerequisite Investment: 25,600 CP

Requires:

- True Gourmet God
- Absolute Freedom
- Beyond Observation

Tier 3 is the final stage of Gourmet Divinity and expands the progression into Meta-level mechanics involving Perks, fiat backing, cooldowns, resurrection systems, limited uses, slot restrictions, cross-world compatibility, timelines, causality, dimensionality, concepts, reality, narrative structures, and similar mechanics.

The final unique prerequisite investment remains 25,600 CP.

Gourmet Divinity Cost Breakdown Added

The undiscounted effective prerequisite progression is now:

- Perfect Full Course shared foundation: 11,900 CP
- Divine Body: 16,100 CP
- Divine Mind: 16,900 CP
- Divine Appetite: 15,600 CP
- All three Tier 1 Divine Aspects together: 24,200 CP unique total
- True Gourmet God: 24,200 CP cumulative
- Gourmet God of the Endless Feast: 25,600 CP cumulative

These values represent prerequisite investment, not additional prices charged inside the Gourmet Divinity Supplement.

Shared prerequisites are only counted once when calculating the final 25,600 CP total.

Origin discounts, free General Perk selections, and other legitimate discounts may reduce the amount of CP actually spent.

Gourmet Divinity Perk Structure Added

All abilities marked:

- [Part of Divine Body]
- [Part of Divine Mind]
- [Part of Divine Appetite]
- [Part of True Gourmet God]
- [Part of Gourmet God of the Endless Feast]

are components of their respective parent Perk.

They are not individually purchased and do not possess additional CP costs unless explicitly stated otherwise.

Some individual components may still possess additional prerequisites before becoming available.

Scenario Added

The Road to Gourmet Divinity

Added a new optional Scenario to help with the massive 25,600 CP investment required for Gourmet God(dess).

Completing the Scenario's Gourmet Hunter, Chef, Knocking Master, Saiseiya, Researcher, Craftsman, Perfect Full Course, and final Banquet trials awards Gourmet Divinity Credits [GDC].

1 GDC = 1 CP, but GDC can only be spent on purchases belonging to the Gourmet God(dess) prerequisite tree.

The primary Scenario rewards a total of 10,000 GDC.

Depending on Origin discounts, free purchases, prerequisite overlap, and purchase order, completing the Scenario can reduce the practical cost of reaching Gourmet God(dess) by roughly 10,000 to 15,000 CP.

The Scenario does not make Gourmet God(dess) free. A substantial personal CP investment is still required.

After completing the main Scenario, Earned Divinity can provide up to 600 additional GDC per Jump through major accomplishments associated with the six Gourmet professions until Gourmet God(dess) is fully obtained.

V1.3

Gourmet Potential [100 / 200 / 400 / 600 CP]

- Promising Appetite [100 CP]
- Gourmet Prodigy [200 CP]
- Monster Without a Ceiling [400 CP]
- Infinite Gourmet Potential [600 CP]

Perfect Foundation [400 CP]

Boosted: Foundation That Devours Its Flaws

Fortune Cannot Hunt You [400 CP]

Metaphysical Providence [600 CP]

Ultimate Routine [400 CP]

Boosted: Instinct of the King

Boosted: The Unseen Course

Boosted: Feast Without Horizon

Irreversible Course [600 CP]

Unfading Existence [400 CP]

Boosted: Apex Predator's Law

Gourmet Appraisal [100 CP]

Secret Recipe [400 CP]

Hunt Your Own Evolution [600 CP]

The Course Grows Back [400 CP]

The Perfect Recovery Meal [200 CP]

Gourmet Territory [600 CP] updated to include Zero Distance Territory rule

No Equal Portions [400 CP]

Boosted: The Food Chain Does Not Balance Itself

No Easy Prey [400 CP]

The Meal Returns to No One [400 CP]

Gourmet World Stabilization [600 CP]

The World Is a Kitchen [400 CP]

Knocking the Calamity [600 CP]

Saiseiya of the World [600 CP]

Endless Cure Water [400 CP]

The Planet Wants to Feed You [600 CP]

No Accidental Extinction [400 CP]

Boosted: Status Devourer updated

V2.0

Major Expansion and Rewrite Since V1.3

V2.0 substantially expands the Supplement beyond V1.3, with new Gourmet Cell abilities, Appetite mechanics, world-scale evolution, profession capstones, cosmic progression, Full Course interactions, prerequisite corrections, and a major wording pass intended to make high-end abilities clearer and less unnecessarily restrictive.