Modern Teisou Gyakuten

Jump by 9anon

Teisou Gyakuten = Reverse Chastity

Welcome to a mundane modern world where sexual morals are reversed: Women are the pursuer and men are the pursued. The exact conditions that lead to this, and the cultural and social effects that follow, will vary depending on the world, but you can be guaranteed that the women will be easy and likely plentiful.

Here's 1000cp to help you settle in for your decade in whatever world you decide to visit.

Setting

You may insert into any reasonably accessible location in whatever world you decide to visit.

Established Setting: Selecting this option allows you to visit any established setting with reversed sexual morals and a functionally modern level of tech and civilization. Examples include the "World of Reverse Morals", "Danjohi 1:5 no Sekai demo Futsu ni Ikirareru to Omotta?", and "A Parallel World With a 1:39 Male to Female Ratio Is Unexpectedly Normal".

OC Setting: If you don't want to visit an established setting, you can make up your own instead. Beyond the basic framework of "a mundane modern world where women are the pursuant sex", you are free to define the setting as you like. Or you can take an easier path and simply use this document to visit a "reverse morals" variant of an established setting.

Supplement Mode: Taking this option allows you to attach this document to another, allowing you to apply reversed sexual morals to the other setting. Points remain separate as per usual.

Sex

You may select your demographics freely, but within reason.
You may choose whether you drop-in or have a local history.

Male: The sex that gets pursued in this world, whether that's a good thing or bad depends on the details of the world. In some worlds you will find yourself incredibly privileged when it comes to sex and romance, having your pick of the litter while your potential partners all have incredibly low standards. In others, men who are unaccompanied in public are at risk of being raped by hordes of horrifyingly horny women, with sexual harassment being a common risk.

Female: The sex that pursues in this world, and likely the one that suffers all the expectations to perform and produce. Competition for men is fierce here, so you'll need to work quite hard and probably get quite lucky if you want to enjoy sex and relationships with the local male populace. But if that isn't something you desire, you'll likely enjoy not having to deal with constant advances from the opposite sex or people doubting your competence.

General Perks

Convenience [Free]: You simply don't need to worry about the details of sexual encounters - your partners are guaranteed to be free of STDs, clean and nice smelling, and groomed to your preferences. You can toggle your fertility at will, and your partners don't think anything of having unprotected sex with you.

Doujin Protag [Free]: Regardless of your old life, you're mentally and physically prepared for enduring the sort of sex life you'd see in a porn doujin. Mentally speaking, you simply never get addicted nor desensitized to pleasure, nor do you ever grow bored of the lewd things you love. Physically speaking, sex doesn't wear you out and you simply never run out of semen (assuming you are so equipped). On the other end of things, you can still feel sexually satisfied when you want, so your bottomless libido won't leave you frustrated when doing non-sexual things.

Pheromones [-50cp]: When you want, those that you are attracted to will find the taste and/or smell of your body and/or fluids to be incredibly pleasant. You can also add and remove unusual and lewd characteristics to and from those aspects of yourself, like making them addictive, aphrodisiac, or intoxicating to a degree that you desire.

Sexpat [-50cp]: You are quite adroit when it comes to language, picking up grammar and vocabulary almost as quickly as you encounter it. Unfortunately, you don't pick up on things like nuance or cultural cues quite as quickly, though still much faster than usual.

Put in simpler terms, you'll have a functional knowledge of the local language after a week or so of immersion - both spoken and written, even if you dropped in without any prior knowledge to work off of.

Teisou Gyakuten [-100cp]: At the start of each jump, you may adjust the local standards around who pursues who as you like, affecting both social standards and instincts to fit the dynamic that you desire. You may also adjust local ratios of sexes and sexual orientations, wider gender roles and standards, sexual dimorphism, and so on. This perk may also allow sexes outside the natural binary to emerge naturally, or be used to quash their existence to the point that they won't even emerge through artificial and/or intentional means.

This may be applied as a sudden change upon your arrival or as a retroactive change that always was, and you may choose to make it so some event happens or happened to cause the change.

Improved Standard [-100cp]: At the start of each jump, you may enhance the attractiveness of the local population, optionally including yourself and whoever you bring to this world. You may also choose to make your choice of sexual features exaggerated to a degree of your choice, optionally also eliminating any health or sexual issues that might arise from them, as well as choose how these changes affect local beauty standards.

The attractiveness boost sets the floor at 5/10, with the overall bell curve being squished to fit the new range of 5/10 to 10/10. In more descriptive terms, the ugliest people are now simply on the lower end of unremarkable, while the average person is now decently attractive, and supermodel-tier people are much more common.

This may be applied as a sudden change upon your arrival or as a retroactive change that always was.

Male Perks

Pursued Sex [-50cp, Free to Male]: Tensei Gyakuten doesn't simply involve reversing gender norms most of the time, but magnifying them as well in order to achieve the sort of scenario where a regular dude could conceivably be popular with the ladies.

As a more generalized form of that experience, those that you find attractive find you to be highly attractive. The nature of this attraction depends on the circumstances, but it is always highly persuasive and a great foot in the door.

Siphon Filter [-50cp, Free to Male]: Being on the receiving end of sexual and romantic attention is no fun when you're receiving the wrong kinds of attention from the wrong sorts of people. It's a good thing that you are so lucky in that regard.

In terms of sex and romance, you only attract the sorts of people and attention you'd like. Those you wouldn't be interested in simply won't see you as a potential fling, romantic prospect, and/or victim. Conversely, you are highlighted to those you would be interested in, and their interest in you aligns with what you'd want. This defaults to your moment to moment desires, but you can also manually adjust this filter as you like.

Her Priority [-100cp, Discounted to Male]: Being the pursued sex comes with a lot of benefits, some of which come in the form of your potential sexual partners bearing the burden of performing. Even past this world, you find that your partners tend to prioritize your own comfort and pleasure.

To make things better, your partners receive reciprocal pleasure for whatever they do to you, and they're inexplicably skilled even as complete virgins. The former not only rewards normally one-sided intimate acts, but incidentally enhances mutually pleasurable acts and gives your partners an instinctive sense for how they are performing.

Taboo Bypass [-100cp, Discounted to Male]: While not necessarily a common feature of Teisou Gyakuten stories, the inverted and magnified (or minimized?) views of male agency in that kind of world affords a great deal of flexibility for being involved with unconventional partners.

You aren't subject to most normal standards around sex and romance, particularly with your choice of partner. Age gaps, work relationships, power imbalances, incest, and so on aren't something people worry about when you are involved so long as you consent and your partners are plainly capable of consenting.

Forging Bonds [-200cp, Discounted to Male]: Something something, treatise on trust, love, and loyalty. Importance of bonds and such, yada yada yada. The more pleasure someone experiences from you, regardless of who's doing the work, the more they love you and the more loyal to you they become. You can even choose how intense someone's love and/or loyalty can get on an individual basis, as well as the nature of it.

Also, your partners find sex with you to be much more pleasurable than normal. This is to the point that even simple sex acts can be enough to satisfy even the most jaded of partners, and potentially break through their walls to make them yours with enough time together.

Turned Tables [-200cp, Discounted to Male]: In some Teisou Gyakuten worlds, the local men are largely on the soft side for a variety of reasons. This isn't you, though, you work out. Or at least have the body of someone who does, with the commensurate strength and stamina. Or you could keep the strength and stamina while keeping a soft body.

Whatever the case, you are strong enough to reliably overpower the opposite sex and the stamina to remain active for long periods of time. This also gives you an instinct for dominance play and expertly reversing the roles in sexual situations. Have fun luring unsuspecting "rapists" into alleys, only to leave them a whimpering and submissive mess at the end of things.

Herding Cats [-400cp, Discounted to Male]: A lot of the worlds you may visit through this jump have massively skewed gender ratios as an explanation for why you end up with beautiful women lusting after guys who'd go unnoticed in most worlds. Naturally, this often results in these guys having whole harems. And as tempting as such arrangements tend to be, they also come with their own problems…which you don't have to worry about!

Externally, you don't suffer any social drawbacks from having a harem - people don't think of you as weird for having one and potential partners aren't put off by the thought of having to share. Internally, your harem is peaceful and doesn't need your constant oversight - the members cooperate with one another, organize themselves, and settle into positions they're comfortable with, plus no amount of neglect will make them lose any love or loyalty for you. Finally, you may passively encourage members of your harem to get involved with one another, regardless of their orientations, in case you want to enjoy lesbian orgies with yourself at the center. Of course, you remain their top priority.

Male Privilege [-400cp, Discounted to Male]: Living in a world with reverse, magnified gender norms has its perks as a man. Suddenly you go from having to meet all kinds of standards and go out of your way to women having basically no standards for you and going out of their way to pursue you.

You find that this remains true even in worlds with normal sexual morals - your partners tend to have extremely low standards for you in pretty much all areas. You'd need to be an incredibly disgusting and unpleasant person in a number of ways for someone to not consider you to be a potential partner. On the other side of things, even basic politeness will have potential partners head-over-heels for you.

Female Perks

Making Bacon [-50cp, Free to Female]: Another factor of needing to prove yourself to potential mates is the ability to provide. In the age of stone and furs, this meant being a strong hunter. In the age of concrete and bureaucracy, this means getting a job.

You have all the knowledge and skills you need to competently do a particular job of your choice. This can include 'homemaker', in case you want to pick up some household skills. You can take this perk multiple times, picking a different profession each time.

Voluntary Celibate [-50cp, Free to Female]: Women in these sorts of worlds tend to have really strong libidos, which can cause a lot of problems. Finding a man to quench your thirst may be difficult, social standards may make it difficult to actually get into the right situation, or maybe you just want to ignore the whole concept of this setting and do your own thing.

Whatever your reason, you have the willpower to keep your libido in check, no matter how powerful your desires may grow or how long you may have to hold out. This strengthened willpower can definitely apply in other contexts, but those other applications obviously aren't as important as keeping your pussy in your pants or avoiding looking like a perverted creep.

Bedroom Beast [-100cp, to Female]: In many potential worlds you may visit with this document, the onus is on women to perform in bed, though this shouldn't be a problem for you.

You are a goddamn sexual tyrannosaurus who's guaranteed to be capable of satisfying any partner you may encounter. The exact manner by which this is possible is up to you, but however you choose for this to manifest you'll never need to worry about disappointing in the bedroom.

Fox Woman [-100cp, Discounted to Female]: When men are few and far between, and likely harried by incredibly thirsty women, sometimes a softer touch is needed. Kind words, a calming voice, a trustworthy face. You have this softer touch in spades.

You have a natural instinct for acting in a manner that appears kind and trustworthy - including your speech, expressions, body language, and any other factor in social communication. This allows you to give off a calming and trustworthy aura at will, and incidentally provides you with a perfect poker face since this works without regard for your actual intentions.

Good Mother [-200cp, Discounted to Female]: Motherhood. A major responsibility, but also a privilege in many worlds not simply because of low societal fertility but also the opportunities that a son presents.

You are a great mother, from conception to adulthood. Any pregnancies and births you experience are guaranteed to be safe and healthy, and any resulting children come out healthy and predisposed to being well-adjusted without regard for any incest going on. After birth, you are a great parent who's able to raise even problem children into adults of strong character, instilling your desired knowledge and values.

If you aren't a woman or don't otherwise have the capacity to carry and birth children, this perk applies to any pregnancies or births that result from you.

Man Sense [-200cp, to Female]: When guys are a rarity and you want a guy to love, it pays to know where men actually are so you can start romancing them. And other people too, I guess.

You have a sense of the direction and distance to the nearest person who fits any particular set of criteria you can think of. This can be as general as the nearest man and as specific as any specific person you're looking for. You can switch up who you're looking for on a whim.

Guard Bitch [-400cp, to Female]: With men being such a valued resource in many worlds, and likely a vulnerable one, such worlds often employ women who proved themselves trustworthy to act as bodyguards for men who venture out in public.

You are one such individual. You have a broad spectrum of combat training that covers a wide variety of situations, armaments, and levels of force, allowing you to appropriately identify and respond to encounters as they occur. These skills are particularly sharp in the realm of security, giving you a keen sense for potential threats and security gaps. You are also quite intimidating when you intend to be, allowing you to scare off most potential threats with little effort.

Queen Bee [-400cp, to Female]: Regardless of what world you visit, intrasexual competition isn't anything new. It's been around as long as critters have had the ability to choose their mates. And in worlds with a lot of women compared to men, there's gonna be a lot of that competition going on.

You are the domineering sort, know how and when to throw your weight around in order to climb hierarchies and keep others under your thumb. You are also capable of more covert actions, manipulating people and events both directly and by proxy in order to achieve your ends. This is all helped by a general air of authority that you have which makes people more inclined to follow your lead.

Items

You receive a +300cp stipend to spend on items.
Provided the items are similar, you can combine fiat-backed items that you bring here with items that you buy here.
Items you purchase here repair, resupply, and reappear each week.

Media [Free]: A cache of Teisou Gyakuten media with a variety of formats, plus devices needed to enjoy the digital stuff which don't need power or networks to function.

Reservations [Free]: If you bring someone of the opposite sex along with you to a hotel or similar establishment, there is not only always a room available, but you won't need to pay for the room.

Allowance [-50cp]: Each month, you receive enough of the local currency for you and your harem to live a relatively comfortable life wherever you live. This isn't enough to live the lifestyles of the rich and famous, but you won't have issues acquiring basic necessities and common luxuries.

The exact form this stipend takes depends on your wishes and situation. It could be a briefcase of cash that magically refills each month, a bank account and attached cards, or even a highly convenient job if you want to feel useful.

Baton [-50cp]: A collapsible baton with a short hilt, the standard issue weapon of guard students from a certain Tensei Gyakuten world. People don't take issue with it when you open carry, and it even comes with a holster so you can keep it handy and your hands free.

If you want, you may also have a whole armory of modern less-than-lethal weapons that an individual could carry around. More and different styles of batons, pepper spray, tear gas grenades, pepperball guns, bean bag cartridges, grenade launchers for the gas grenades, shotguns to fire those bean bags, and so on. This can take the form of a proper armory that you can attach to another property at the start of each jump, or maybe something smaller like a rolling suitcase.

Phones [-50cp]: A collection of smartphones, enough for yourself and your harem to each have one. These smartphones don't need charging, are always compatible with local public networks, and always allow for call and text between each other, but otherwise are only on the level of high spec smartphones you'd find on the market. This even comes with a supply of covers and other ways to customize them.

Wardrobe [-50cp]: A collection of clothing and accessories which always has something appropriate for the situation - both normal clothing and a ready supply of fetish clothing. Everything you pull out of here perfectly fits whoever wears it, is self-cleaning, and self-repairing, but is otherwise mundane. You can always pull out more, and generated apparel can be "deleted" by returning it to the Wardrobe.

The Wardrobe can take pretty much any form you'd expect for a collection of clothing - a tangled pile on a bed, an actual wardrobe, a huge walk-in closet, or something else. This item may be attached to any property you have at the start of each jump.

Bed [-100cp]: A ultra comfy and utterly indestructible bed, complete with self-cleaning and self-repairing bedding that doesn't ever get stained. This bed is also capable of some subtle space warping to ensure that you and your entire harem can fit comfortably, even generating extra bedding as needed when sleeping together isn't a euphemism.

Bath [-100cp]: A bathroom capable of subtle space warping to ensure that you are your entire harem can fit comfortably inside. This is especially noticeable with the actual bath tub, which can easily rival the size of an Olympic swimming pool if you pack enough people in. The room itself is also self-cleaning and self-repairing.

Documentation [-100cp]: A collection of documents which provide you and your harem with iron-clad false identities. The details of these identities can be adjusted on an individual basis at the start of each jump, and the documentation may include certificates and licenses for the skills the person has. May optionally come in a fireproof briefcase that can always hold the whole stack.

Pantry [-100cp]: A well-equipped kitchen and a pantry that's always full of whatever foods, drinks, and ingredients that you and your harem want. Also included are enough dishes and utensils for all of you to enjoy a meal together. All of this is self-cleaning and self-repairing, and the dishes and utensils are always appropriate for the coming meal.

Transportation [-100cp]: A civilian vehicle of some description that doesn't need fuel, never becomes the target of crime, and can somehow hold you and your entire harem at the same time without things like weight becoming concerns. Don't ask how that last one works if you pick up something like a bicycle.

Home [-200cp]: A house under your ownership that's (potentially) much larger on the inside, and which is adaptive to your needs.

The exterior of your home defaults to appearing as a regular residential building for its location, but you can make a different choice if you like. This can be set whenever you insert your home into a new world, and there's nothing keeping you from manually changing the exterior.

The interior of your home is furnished, decorated, and split up according to your desires. It also expands to provide enough room for yourself and your harem. How this space is arranged is up to you, so you could have it as an open barracks, give each harem member their own room, have your choice of common and work areas, and so on.

You may insert your home into a location of your choice at the start of each jump. It benefits from infinite utilities even in worlds and regions that wouldn't have them. Finally, it automatically cleans, organizes, and maintains itself when no one is looking.

Companions

You may take followers from these options instead of companions if you want.
You can take liberties with the details of the free companion options, like how many bodyguards you get or adding an aunt to the Oyakodon.

Create/Import [-50cp]: Each purchase of this option allows you to create or import up to 4 companions. Each companion receives an origin appropriate to their sex and 600cp to spend on perks and items.

You may also create or import 1 companion for free, getting the listed benefits.

Export [Free]: If you convince someone to come with you, you can bring them along with you as a follower or companion at the end of the jump.

Guardians [Free]: A trio of personal bodyguards who are utterly dedicated to guarding your body. Each is an accomplished combatant, able to individually fight off well-armed teams while unarmed herself. Combined with their unbreakable bond of sisterhood, they are both able and willing to cover the watch while one of them is getting some personal time with you. Which may happen rather frequently, given that they find you to be highly attractive while being quite beautiful themselves.

Oyakodon [Free]: A mother and her daughter(s), all beautiful and unattached. Hell, in some worlds the mother may be an actual virgin, only having given birth thanks to IVF, likely done on behalf of a government program. If you like, this little family may be yours, whether through adoption or being one the mother's children. Whatever the case, this family is not only willing to share you with one another, but can be involved with one another as well.

Sugar Mama [Free]: This lonely working stiff caught sight of you one day and found her purpose in life. Whether she's an OL, a teacher, or something else, she's head-over-heels for you to the point that she's willing to dump all of her disposable income (and plenty of non-disposable income) and attention on you in the hopes of gaining or maintaining your affection. Be careful with this one, she's your biggest fan.

Drawbacks

Long Stay [+100cp]: Rather than 10 years, you'll be here for 20 years.

Quick Shot [+100cp]: For the duration of your stay, you will suffer from extremely low sexual endurance, making it incredibly easy for you to get off. Unfortunately, you also suffer from normal refractory periods, leaving you with a long recharge time as well. I hope you're good at foreplay.

Reincarnated [+100cp]: Like someone who's just reincarnated in this world from one with normal gender roles, your instinctive expectations of this world are quite different from the realities you'll encounter. You'll need to learn all the details of what's different yourself, and you'll likely come off as a weirdo along the way.

Amnesia [+200cp]: You won't have any memory of your life prior to the start of this jump for the duration of your stay, though you will have any local memories if you decided to have a history rather than dropping in.

Bigot [+200cp]: Maybe you've suffered years of abuse and dogged pursuit from them, maybe you've found yourself disappointed in them. Whatever the case, you just can't stand the opposite sex for the duration of your stay. This doesn't mean you can't be civil, but interactions will be strained at best.

Ugly [+200cp]: Regardless of your actual appearance, people will perceive you as being intensely ugly for the duration of your stay here. Even in a world where women are horndogs and men are few and far between, the local women will be incredibly hesitant to pursue you. Your companions and followers aren't subject to this.

Creep [+300cp]: For the duration of your stay, people can instinctively tell that there's something off about you, doing their best to avoid you wherever possible. Even as the last man on Earth, you'd be held in confinement and milked for all you're worth rather than finding yourself in a gilded cage, regularly supplied with beautiful women to seed.

Power Loss [+300cp]: You lose access to any perks, items, and companions you didn't acquire here or pay to import for the duration of your stay, excluding those gained from your body mod. If you want to combine any of your existing items with those you pick up here, you may do so at the end of the jump.

Rape Magnet [+300cp]: Someone must have slapped a 'Rape Me' sign on your back, because people will try to have their way with you without regard for your consent quite often during your stay. Worse yet, these people are always highly unattractive, regardless of any perks you'd have that would prevent such a thing.

Realism [+300cp]: For the duration of your stay, you won't get to benefit from any porn physics or porn logic. Worse yet, you are at much greater risk of unwanted consequences from any intimate acts you get up to, whether physical or emotional.

The End

Return Home / Stay Here / Continue Chain

All drawbacks are revoked.

Notes

This jump is as much a jump for the ‘reverse morals’ genre as it is a pile of stuff I want.

You may selectively opt out of specific benefits of options that you take, though you must keep any drawbacks or restrictions that apply to the benefits that you do decide to take.

You And Your Harem: You may interpret this as you like - it could only mean your fiat-backed entourage, everyone in your actual harem, or just everyone directly subordinate to you. Or something else along those lines.

Changelog

2025-05-06;

0605: First jumpable version.

0951: Reduced item stipend to 300cp.

1042: Added Sugar Mama OC.

1328: Remembered to add end options.

2025-09-02;

0045: Fixed No Items so it properly gives an opportunity to combine items on your way out.

2025-09-23;

0529: Fixed up the formatting a bit. Consolidated the power loss perks into a single Power Loss perk.

2025-11-29;

1652: Added free create/import.

~

Links

Live Document

My Drive

