Franklin & Bash

Welcome to sunny Los Angeles and the home to the lawyers Franklin & Bash. A duo of unorthodox lawyers who after defeating prestigious law firm Infeld & Daniels, are recruited by co-founder Stanton Infeld to 'breathe new life' into the firm with the pair reminding Stanton of his early days with his partner the late Daniels. Assisting them is Carmen Phillips, an ex-convict who assists with background investigations and Pindar Singh, an agoraphobic attorney and classmate of theirs.

You start on the day that they beat Infeld Daniels and are recruited.

You gain 1000 CP and have to stay 10 years.

Location

Los Angeles, nothing more to say.

Origins

Age and Gender is up to you.

F&B: You aren't like other Lawyers where they are stuffy and have sticks so far up their asses they have three legs you aren't. For you, it doesn't matter how much money you make or how high profile your clients, for you, it is all about defending those that need it anyway possible. Something you show in the way you support them.

Infeld & Franklin: You don't practise at least not anymore, you decided to take a step back and instead lead your own law firm. Pick your own cases, do your own hours, make your mark upon the world. Be the kind of boss you always wanted to be.

Stick In The Ass: You didn't do this to help people or any goody two shoes reason like that. You did it for the money plain and simple and this shows in how good of a lawyer you are, the way you play people, the way you twist words and laws around to suit your own agenda. The way you have made it so that you do not lose a case; after all, no clients will hire losing lawyers will they.

General Perks

Senior Partner (Free/Optional): You can start this jump as a senior partner of Infeld Daniels and a very experienced lawyer not the best but better than most. (Of course purchases you took in the item section supersede this so if you took Judgeship, then you are now a judge but once was a partner of Infeld Daniels). And this can alter your history if you want, for example, as you are a Senior Partner you can decide for yourself to have a history with the rest of the Partners in the LA office such as Damien or Hannah or even Infeld himself (good or bad is your choice).

F&B

Closer Look (100 CP): I dare you to name one main character of the series that isn't attractive, I mean it name one. You can't, can you. I mean Franklin, Bash, Karp, Hannah, Carmen etc even most of the clients in the first two seasons were reasonably hot. It's unfair how even a random background character is more attractive than you but that doesn't have to be the end; with this purchase, your body, looks and ahem natural assets are enhanced to the level of a model and pornstar respectively (with an increase to real life peak human condition and can choose height and build, firmness etc). Enjoy because we don't do refunds.

But because we don't; I'll give you an extra bonus, for those who have watched the show you know that somehow Franklin, Bash and Infeld seem to easily get women into bed; with Infeld while being in his sixties able to get three young 20-something year old women to sleep with him and how the titular duo seem to sleep with woman they just met a few minutes ago. And you have something similar so to speak a form of 'charisma' tailored towards your preferred gender gaining their interest and drawing them in with just a few minutes to an hour (and that is for the ones who absolutely loathe you) of your company being all it takes to get them into the sack of course, to keep it going long term will require you to actually put in the work. And finally a couple last add-on's to the 'charisma' first is you get quite impressive lovemaking skills to the levels where 641 of your partners would come forward to testify as to how good you are with no shame or lie whatsoever, secondly, you are an amazing conversationalist and a great flirt and comes with mastery of text subtext and thirdly, you are amazing when it comes to planning and executing dates or evenings out and I mean 11/10 type of stuff.

Doesn't Make It A Thought (200 CP): People are assholes, that is a fact and what is also a fact is that nothing shuts them up more than a well-crafted insult straight to their face, or a quick retort to their every sentence that makes them look like a moron. Something that everyone should possess a skill in; I mean not to the level of mastery that you are capable of but at least somewhere in the ballpark wouldn't you say.

It's A School Night (200 CP): And even then you seem to be able to create amazing packed parties full of insanely handsome guys and smoking hot women all having the time of their lives. In your head, there exist dozens of ways for you to bring the fun to the most boring of places, turning drab offices into once in a lifetime parties where even the stuffiest/most boring of people can have fun and enjoy themselves. And somehow whether it's an office or a loft or a Malibu beach house attractive members of your preferred gender (or both genders) seem to find out and arrive to party. Also comes with mastery in mixology and a unique ability to create new delicious drinks.

What Do You Think Of This Dress (400 CP): Have you ever watched a show where the main character/s seem to always find themselves in incredibly nsfw type situations like coming into an office and finding a hot colleague in her underwear, or finding yourself in an empty office with a person who finds you attractive. No, well you can now name one person, you. The kind of luck that you would normally find in hentai where you seem to always come across sexy situations involving attractive members of your preferred gender where if you were to play your cards right you could get lucky and/or if you worked at it get into a relationship. Comes with a toggle.

The Franklin & Bash (600 CP): The F&B method of law isn't finding loopholes or anything lawyery, it is thinking out of the box, it is doing things and forming arguments that no one expects. For example, in a case where people operating heavy machinery accidentally caused an accident because they were distracted by a commercial for mattresses involving an attractive woman, using the F&B method, you would think to invite that woman in here and get her to partially undress, and while at the same still continuing to talk, and then have ask what the woman said knowing they would be distracted, which you would then use to prove your point that if everyone was distracted in a courtroom, what about the people operating heavy machinery. Or in a case involving a magician who nearly died due to a faulty case containing water you would think to actually demonstrate the faulty cage yourself proving that it was due to poor design that your client nearly died. Or in the case where a client is being kicked out of an old folks home where he lives with his deceased grandmother's irresponsible boyfriend you would think to apply for a reversed adoption allowing your client to adopt the boyfriend and remain living in the home. You get my drift, you think of things that no one expects, taking the law and making it a dog and pony show.

Infeld Franklin

Nanette (100 CP): Nanette is a resident of a care home blessed with an incredible memory able to not just remember but recall everything she has heard, seen, read etc with ease. For example, she was able to recount what every juror was wearing as well as their position on the stand with just a look. And while her memory isn't absolutely perfect, yours is and unlike Nanette you possess instant recall as well.

Ageist (200 CP): A term used to describe those who judge others because of their age. It is a nasty insinuation that those who are more seasoned are less intelligent, less physically active, less sexy etc; an insinuation that honestly I don't think is going away anytime soon. Except of course for you, that is if you pay 200 CP, which prevents anyone from judging you based on your age, so for example, you could be in your 60's and people would judge you with the same light they would judge a fit 20 something year old regardless of anything.

Multiskilled (200 CP): Life is not just about sex and law is it. You have to branch out, learn new skills, invest in new hobbies and basically enjoy life. But honestly, with you Jumpers; who has the time I mean between travelling the Omniverse and immersing yourself in the story of each jump is there any time to actually do anything. So I thought why not offer you a chance to gain some new skills without wasting your precious time. For 200 CP, you can acquire mastery of anything that can be classified as a skill or hobby from knowing mandarin, to painting to singing to playing guitar, to cooking, to surfing etc. Oh and before you ask, for every purchase you gain mastery of five skills.

Infeld & Daniels (400 CP): Being the head of a law firm is not easy, it is a job of compromises, of balancing defending high paying clients that are more often than not guilty and trying to help those that actually need your help all without haemorrhaging money. And that is not even taking into account your employees; you have to be both kind and strict, fair but firm, you have to command respect without any hint of disobedience which all honestly sounds like a pain in the ass. So why not just get this and throw all of it away. And become a boss that for some reason or other commands the loyalty of their employees and a boss that could somehow run a successful country-wide law firm all the while taking poor blue collar clients; basically, a boss that can run their business whichever way they want and still come out on top as if by magic. Comes with the skill to do all that poxy paperwork.

Pardoned (600 CP): Honestly, my throat is killing me so I'm just going to tell you straight up that this perk per jump pardons you of any two crimes no matter how severe, monstrous etc, regardless if you were tried by the courts of humans, aliens, gods and angels etc. No matter the crime you have committed or the law you have broken; you will be pardoned.

Stick In The Ass

Instinct (100 CP): Being a lawyer, more specifically, being a successful lawyer isn't all sunshine and rainbows, more often than not you find yourself representing less than savoury clientele and beating and more specifically humiliating and bankrupting your opponents. And for that, you are going to need a killer instinct, an instinct that will let you easily bankrupt an innocent kind woman who makes her living with a little restaurant, an instinct to send to prison an innocent man, an instinct to defend your client regardless of what they are like and what they have done.

Truth Or Lie (200 CP): Clients lie, that is the stone cold truth, never expect your clients to ever tell you the truth. Now, you can just train yourself to be prepared for that eventuality or you can just take this which lets you know when people are lying to you. A lawyer's wet dream.

Never Beaten (200 CP): I get it's a TV show and all but the amount of times Franklin & Bash have won a case because of luck and plot armour is astounding. For example, in their first case for Infeld Daniels, it was by luck that Pindar was in their room and via their laptop heard that Karp was planning on backstabbing their client as well as planning to pay off a witness. Or in a case involving a wife apparently having killed their husband; it was by coincidence and luck that the best friend of the deceased told a joke which helped them devise an argument to absolve their client. I can give you a dozen or so more examples, but you get my drift for some reason or another. They always manage to get hints and tips that help them to win their cases. Of course, you don't have that, what you will get is hints/tips that will show you the way type of thing, but, you will have to do the work yourself and see where they lead.

Into Their Souls (400 CP): Being a Lawyer surprisingly isn't about knowing the law. Well it is, but it is also about both phrasing what you say in the right way and reading people. I don't mean Sherlock Holmes reading people, I mean staring past their eyes into their souls type of reading. I know it sounds easy, but honestly, there are only two people here I can safely say are actually experts of this, well three including you. Those who know how people truly work are those who can play people like a fiddle who over a few minutes know how they will react and act accordingly. Who can devise such elaborate speeches and arguments that they can twist hearts and minds alike with ease. Who could take a case of a young 30 year old who apparently killed her 60 year old husband via sex and turn it into a story of love and life that could impress the whole room. Who could devise arguments that could trick seasoned politicians. Those types of people.

Rewrote Search & Seizure (600 CP): That is one of the things that people are going to remember you for. Another thing is for being one of the best lawyers on the planet, a person that knows every aspect of law literally, who could take a father trying to stop his sons fighting at the back of a car 20 years ago and make it into a verbal contract. Who can find loopholes in any law and contract, who can remember every saying, statement, speech by the Supreme Court, who unlike other lawyers which specialise in only one type have mastery in all types. Who is basically the person you call, when you want to win a case.

Items

Discount Two Items Of Every Price.

Law Degree (Free): Now and in future worlds, you are a fully certified lawyer. And you have the degree to show for it.

Home Sweet Home (100 CP): Now, this can come in one of two ways. First is a five bedroom apartment loft complete with your own bar and a hot tub on the balcony. The second option is a five bedroom Malibu beach house literally within spitting distance of the beach and complete with a hot tub again on the balcony which overlooks the aforementioned beach. Whichever option you pick, you will own the property and all utilities are paid for as for furniture you get the best of the best and if broken will repair immediately. Can be purchased twice. Can be upgraded.

Money (100 CP): A billion dollars to be precise and no that isn't a a typo. Can be purchased multiple times. Can either be in cash or placed in a bank account or both. All totally legitimate.

White (100 CP): A Gretsch White Falcon guitar from Jack White himself.

Dukeship (200 CP): You are now a Duke or Dame; a member of British Peerage and now royalty so to speak. This does not come with any land, responsibilities or money, just the title and the respect it conveys.

Masamune Sword (200 CP): One of the last swords forged by Masamune himself and one of the sharpest blades to exist. There are only a handful of such in the whole world and you possess one such blade for yourself. Comes with proof of authenticity.

Private Plane (200 CP): Nothing more to say really except that it has limitless fuel and can never break down or be sabotaged. Exact appearance and model is up to you. Comes with staff.

Jumper & Jumper (300 CP/Discounted To Infeld & Franklin): Your very own country wide law firm with offices across America in every major city and staffed with the very best of the best. Each of its employees are deathly loyal to you and there is a greater chance of them growing wings then there is of any betrayal. And lastly, much like Infeld Daniels, your firm too has a stellar reputation and is well known in the law world and you don't have to worry about anyone trying to buy you out. You can also instead simply own part of an existing law firm such as Infeld Daniels or Franklin & Franklin (Leonard Franklin's law firm).

Vineyard (300 CP): Your very own vineyard in the south of France, under the management of a trusted and experienced manager this vineyard grows the very best of grapes and produces the very best of wines throughout the world. And best of all, you don't have to do any of the work.

Judgeship (300 CP): As the name states, you are no longer a lawyer but a judge of the US District Court presiding over court and civil cases. And because you are paying CP, you won't be relegated to traffic court and will be pretty high up in the judge circles, think of high profile cases and don't worry comes with experience and everyone will know you earned this the right way. Carries over jump to jump.

Companions

Comes with additional memories and changes your origins/starting location as appropriate. If you take multiple options than they will be more than happy sharing you.

Deedee Spencer (Free): A model who arrived from Chula Vista last year in order to be a model, she may look familiar as she is best known as the model for the Mattress Masters advertisement. But you know her best as your girlfriend, having met her when she entered LA a few months ago, helping her somehow to achieve her goal of being a model (probably with the help of the billions of dollars you possess). Even though it's only been a couple of months, you two are quite close with Deedee having fallen completely for you and not intending to let you go at all. Though, things could be worse than having a hot bombshell forever in love with you.

Janie Ross (Free): Assistant DA, you two met while you were both in college. While she went to the DA's office and moved up the ranks, you decided the DA wasn't for you and went to make your fortune elsewhere. Regardless, you stayed in contact with you two mostly complaining about your jobs and helping on each other's cases (when your cases didn't have anything to do with the DA's office that is). Over time, you two got together. Anyways it's been a few years and you two are still together and still greatly in love with each other having moved in with each other (can be one of the two properties you purchased in this doc) but you should know, she's expecting something a bit more ring-shaped soon.

Jared Franklin (Free): Son of Leonard Franklin high flying Trial Attorney. Jared is everything his father isn't, he is snarky, sarcastic, funny and above all else cares about his clients; especially the clients that need representing. How you two met is a mystery primarily because you two don't seem to tell anyone but regardless you two are together with you somehow having persuaded him to move out from his and Peter's apartment with you two having lived together for the better part of a year or two now. And surprisingly, for this relationship Jared isn't trying to sabotage it and is actually honest and trying when it comes to you and your relationship. Or, you two are actually the best of friends as close siblings.

Peter Bash (Free): Honestly, this is basically the same as how you met Franklin. Can be best of friends instead.

Hannah Linden (Free): A senior partner working for Infeld Daniels; Hannah is a strong, courageous woman, one who isn't afraid of saying what she thinks and having her actions brought to light. Hannah is an incredibly experienced lawyer, one who knows when to follow her head and when to follow her heart and is a lawyer you should never cross with Infeld himself seeing her leading the law firm one day. You two met far away from the world of lawyers just a random happenstance that culminated in you asking her out with her enjoying herself. Anyways as you can imagine one date led to two which led to three which has now led to you two being together for years now having married a few months ago with Hannah obviously still being absolutely in love with you. Enjoy your happily ever after. Or you two can just be best of friends.

Damien Karp (Free): Nephew of Infeld and senior partner in the law firm. Karp may seem like an absolute ass and stick in the mud but honestly some of the time he is. But seriously, deep down Damien is a nice guy, one who when push comes to shove will try to do the right thing and is honestly away from the firm, actually a cool guy. You two have known each other for quite a while and where others basically saw an ass you saw the real him who was an ass only half the time especially after he asked you out and proved to the contrary to be a kind guy who surprisingly put you above his work. You know what's coming don't you; it's been a few years and surprisingly (especially to Infeld who believed his nephew would die alone) you and Damien are actually married; how only God knows but somehow you two are actually very happily married. Enjoy I guess. Or you two can just be the best of friends.

Isabella Jumper (Free): The future Black widow of Bel Air, in an alternate timeline before your arrival, she would have ended up meeting and marrying 60 year old billionaire Harry Kaplowitz becoming Isabella Kaplowitz and who in a few weeks time before his 60th birthday would die after a round of lovemaking with his wife. That however has changed because she never met him, having met and married you first. The first most important you have to know, is that she is actually not a gold digger and 100% loves you for you not your money (and what jumper doesn't have money) and secondly, she is very ..... passionate so when you are both alone expect to be engaged physically very regularly and all of it very willing and loving, but remember to treat her with the respect she deserves.

Amber North & Simone Winters (Free): Erotic aerobic instructors. Amber is a former Clippers cheerleader and Simone a former stripper. You met these two when you represented them when a client of theirs framed or attempted to frame them for theft of possessions (something that honestly they will be charged with again if they are not careful) something which you quickly proved false. Anyways, because of that and the fact that surprisingly you didn't try to flirt with them or even look at them like so many other people have done, you kept in touch and became quite good friends. And because of the sexually charged chemistry or because you paid CP or maybe just because, it wasn't really a surprise that all three of you ended up in the same bed, something that hasn't really stopped at just the one time. However, what you don't know is both girls have started to develop feelings for you, something that I would talk to them about because surprisingly, they are okay with sharing you. Or the friend option.

Brett Caiman (Free): A trial assassin, Brett works cases behind the scenes manipulating the media. She normally works cases behind the scenes but has a secret desire of leading the LA office, something which was partially granted when she met you and moved to the LA office, something that Infeld was okay with. Anyways, Brett is much like Hannah, a confident woman who knows what she wants and is willing to get her hands dirty to achieve her goals, she knows she is attractive and is not afraid of using her sexuality to manipulate others. Something she tried to do when you first met in order to poach a client from you, of course, that was rude and you didn't help matters by laughing in her face which started a competition between the two of you in stealing each other's clients. Sometimes she won, other times you did. Of course, as these things go, competition makes the heart grow fonder and you two grew close not quite friends at first but mutual respect which turned into dinners, dates and 'sleepovers' shall we say. Moving on, you were both for some reason offered a job at the LA office so here you and Brett are, in LA living and working together as a functional couple (which lets be honest are going to live happily every after-ish as and I have said this before did you expect anything different oh and don't worry when Infeld is arrested; she won't work to convict him). Or you can be best of friends.

Rachel Rose King (Free): One of the best lawyers in the country and a woman with a sterling work ethic and a no-nonsense attitude. Rachel is the kind of person you don't want to get on the bad side especially in the law world as she cannot just kick your ass in the courtroom, she also happens to know basically everyone worth knowing from other lawyers to judges. Regardless, you don't actually care about that do you, you just want to know the history between you two. Well, for starters you two aren't 'going out' but have in fact been happily married for a long time now having met and gotten together quite a while ago. To everyone Rachel is a bit of a hard ass but she softens up around you primarily, because unlike with other people (especially male lawyers who judge her for no other reason than the fact that she is a woman) she doesn't have to act around you, and can just be herself. Now, normally it is two years from now that Rachel becomes a partner in lnfeld Daniels turning it into lnfeld, Daniels & King but if you want that can happen now (and yes if you take Jumper & Jumper and decide to be a partner in lnfeld & Daniels than it would be lnfeld, Daniels, King & whatever your jumpers names are and also, you don't have to worry, she won't steal money from clients and go to Croatia).

Charlie (Free): A young attractive Australian Kinesiologist, Charlie is the mother of Tess, a nine year old girl with whom she has limited contact with. You two met in Malibu where you were having a party right next to her house. Anyways, you two got to flirting primarily because you were both insanely drunk at that time and because you found each other attractive. Of course, nothing actually happened and the night ended with Charlie giving you her phone number. As you can imagine, you called her and began dating with it being a year now and everything going great with even Tess liking you (as a parent/cool person you pervs). (And like all the others, this relationship will last forever so don't worry so no cheating with Rob Lowe or anything like that).

Rob Lowe (Free): Need I say more. Can be friends or in a relationship.

Molly Taylor (Free): An old classmate of Peter & Jared, Molly grew up wanting to be a dancer however, life got in the way. So one day she was studying to achieve her dream and the next she was a 20 year old single mother tending bar. Except she wasn't really single so to speak, because you were there helping her all the while studying for your law degree and working all at the same time (which I shouldn't need to mention people can do) you were there to help raise Josh, give her much needed time outs where she could let her hair down, basically being there through thick and thin and being her partner in all but name. As expected, Josh is now a teenager and I would say you two fancy the pants off each other but it's gone beyond that (because honestly, you two have been raising a kid for the past decade and more) to love. So if I was you, I would tell her how you feel and get the ball rolling because if it isn't totally obvious by now, she's in love with you basically forever. You can take Josh with you, I mean, you are already a parent to him.

Ellen Swatello (Free): An assistant DA that truly believes in what she is doing, Ellen is constantly overshadowed by Janie Ross even though she puts in as much work and as much passion. This has led to her having a prickly and aggressive personality when it comes to others leading her to act somewhat confrontationally. To everyone barring you of course; because unlike oh so many others, you never looked down, underestimated, ignored or overlooked her and treated her with the respect and attention she deserves. You two met when you were in the DA's office where you got along like a house on fire, helping each other on cases, going out to dinners, talking freely to each other. And Ellen found someone that she could just be herself with and of course, it wasn't really a surprise when you two started going out and even though you decided to leave the DA; it didn't change anything about your relationship. Regardless, fast forward a few years and you two are still unbreakable and have moved in with each other a while ago. But like with Janie, she is expecting something a bit more ring shaped soon.

Drawbacks

50 Dollars (+100 CP): You have to pay 50 dollars for every insult.

55 Grand (+100 CP): You are 55 grand in debt and must pay it back. Money gained through items or from out of this jump cannot be used to pay this back.

Agoraphobe (+100 CP): You are terrified of birds, their weird faces, the fact that their eyes are at the side of their heads, how they are descended from dinosaurs basically making them like velociraptors. All of that stuff. Get used to running away in fright every time you see a bird.

Extended Stay (+100 CP): Every purchase extends your stay by ten years. Can be purchased multiple times.

Germaphobe (+200 CP): As the name states, you have become an immense germaphobe comparable to Pindar himself where the thought of you leaving your clean germ-free home causes you to quite literally vomit. And the thought of touching anything is enough to cause you to break out in hives and a fever. You are the ultimate germaphobe. Hope you like being a shut-in for the next decade.

No (+200 CP): Not to mince words, you have zero skill with your preferred gender, no skill with flirting, sex, conversations, hell not even saying hello. Anything to do with your preferred gender, you are basically useless.

Tyson (+200 CP): Okay Jumpers, I have a deal for you, 200 CP, in exchange for being punched in the face by Mike Tyson at his prime while all your perks barring body mod being deactivated temporarily. Don't worry, I'll give you time to think about it.

Delusional (+300 CP): Some would say others would say supremely confident. Regardless of the word, it doesn't change the fact that you have a very inflated sense of worth about yourself. You could be incredibly unattractive and you would believe you were fired because you were too hot, men would hold the door open for you or follow you off the elevator and you would believe they were attracted to you. People would stare at you for one reason or another and in your mind it is because they are interested. You could be late for your job everyday of the week, be incredibly terrible at it and you would still believe that the place cannot run without you. You possess a super-inflated sense of your self worth and nothing and no one will convince you otherwise.

Drunk (+300 CP): As the name states, you are now perpetually drunk 24/7 365. No amount of coffee will sober you up, no sleep will get rid of it. Until this jump ends, you will be 100% pissed.

House Arrest (+300 CP): As the name states, you are under house arrest, choose one of your properties l.e a house, mansion, apartment etc, you cannot leave the property until the end of the jump. When I say can't, I mean literally you will not be able to set one foot outside of it at all. On the bright side, this will not stop others from entering or leaving your place or stop you from ordering stuff for yourself. You just cannot physically leave.

No Powers (+400 CP): No out of jump powers.

No Items (+400 CP): No out of jump items.

No Companions (+400 CP): No out of jump companions.

Pancreatic Cancer (+600 CP): You have two months left to live.

The End

Go Home: You return to your home universe with all of your abilities and items.

Stay: You have decided to stay here and enjoy life; you also get 1000 CP extra.

Go On: You have decided to leave this universe as pleasant as it was and continue on.
