Generic Fix Fic Jump

By FancyFireDrake

Ah yes the wonders of fiction. Isn't it nice to indulge in a World aside from reality every once in a while? It truly has something for everybody! Be it magic, monster hunting, galactic empires, harems, medieval fantasy, everyone can find something to enjoy.

And with it comes the knowledge, no matter how grim things can get, no matter how dangerous the circumstances … the good guys win!

…

Well even if some absolute dickheads don't feel like they should.

You probably know what I am talking about. I mean if you check out ANY fanmade content, though the 'Fan' is questionable many times, you WILL have realized what I am referring you.

I mean the nasty fanart of that paragon hero being mutilated by the Big Bad. I mean that 'fan' fic of that series you like only with every character being a psychotic edgelord. That Doujin of an Authors self insert OC raping girls left and right because they are just that messed up in the head!

These atrocities to any fan aren't even qualifying as Dark Fics or anything of the like. Lets give them a name more fitting why don't we?

They are called 'Torture Fics'.

Stories, pictures, or any fan made content with the explicit purposes of having fictional characters suffer!

AND I… HATE… THIS!

Where the hell is the appeal in a World where hope is non existent?! Let there be stakes and darkness but it means NOTHING without hope.

Yet some people appereantly didn't get the memo, which is why these 'Creators' continue to publish their torture porn.

Now Jumper… how about we help each other?

You wouldn't be here if you wouldn't hate those Torture Fics as much as I do. So for the sake of helping all those fictional characters that are at the mercy of edgelords everywhere…

Welcome to the Generic Fix Fic Jump!

Synopsis

Okay we already talked about why we are both here but just to make sure all cards are on the table lets go over it.

This Jump is all about entering what I like to call Torture Fics.

Now these things aren't necessarily fanfics. They can be pictures, short stories, animated stuff, hell a freakin Hentai even!

Point is a Torture Fic is all about the purpose of having fictional characters suffering.

Most commonly this is done via a so called Villain Sue, which is one of the worst Tropes in all of fiction. A Mary or Gary Sue might lack character be absolutely obnoxious and just to freakin perfect but at least they are the GOOD guys usually. A Villain Sue is exactly what it says on the tin. A Villain that is just TOO FREAKIN PERFECT and solely created to just cause misery. To murder, burn and rape everything they damn well please.

It doesn't have to be an OC though. It could just as well be that a Villain won when they should have lost going into full on 'The Bad Guy Wins'. It could also be that a Heroic character ended up being turned into a Villain instead and is now acting MASSIVELY different to how they should be. You know one of these 'Ron the Death Eater' things.

Or maybe the fabric of the World is somehow wrong, which would be the easiest to fix since you would only have to heal the victims that just are put into a state of suffering… just like that. (This is mostly the case with pictures)

The TRUE enemy however is the 'Creator' of these Worlds.

Why are they doing this? Hell if I know. Maybe their just edgy. Maybe they just hate the show and/or characters. Maybe they get off on it.

Sometimes their could also just be cases where they weren't acting out of malicious intent but just were interested in writing a darker version. Maybe their favorite game had an intriguing bad ending of which the implications and possibilities they wanted to explore.

Most of the time their just assholes though.

But the intend of the 'Creators' doesn't matter right now. What matters is you found that World and you want to FIX IT! I love your attitude so lets get into it!

So now that you know the general rules of the Worlds in this category lets get into preparing for the Jump.

Oh as a side note the Perks you get here will often refer to a Villain Sue as stated above due to the commonality of them being responsible for characters suffering and the likely need to fight them most of the time.

Contract

Oh ONE last thing! Its… lets call it insurance. Its something that you NEED to agree on in order to take this Jump. This Contract is Fiat backed by the way.

By taking this Jump you agree to a binding agreement with me, Jump-chan to NOT TURN INTO A VILLAIN YOURSELF. I am NOT creating this Jump just to end up making a Villain Sue to rule them all.

If you turn into what you were meant to destroy, I WILL make you suffer.

Try to imagine a Lovecraftian Horror Torture Dungeon, combined with the Warp and the Horrors of AM from 'I have no Mouth and I Must Scream'.

That is NOTHING compared to the sheer amounts of incomprehensible suffering I have in store for you if you become a murdering, raping, genocidal edgelord.

I just wanted to have it said. Not that I would have to worry about that right?

Don't worry you get something out of this too. Alongside being allowed to take this Jump, I give you indomitable Willpower. You can't be corrupted, broken, mind controlled, driven into despair or have your mind messed with in any way. Your actions will all be of your own decision and NOTHING and I mean NOTHING can change that. If you become evil it will be because you choose to be.

I am also bending the Jumpchain rules for you, for THIS Jump only. Dying here wont make you lose your Chain. If you somehow die you can simply 'restart' the Jump and try again. The amount of attempts you have is infinite. You can try again and again and again and again till you finally put the 'Fix' in Fix Fic.

Yes… I know this is unfair and pretty much me doing the exact same things those Authors did but you know what I have to say to that?

FUCK IT!

They started with this 'No outcome but my own allowed' bullshit and abused it to cause needless pain. We are just fighting fire with fire.

I will also be sealing away the Worlds you fixed so to speak. This means no outside influence, not even the 'Authors' that created them can change what you did and end up ruining everything again.

Alright than just sign here. I promise there are no hidden traps or anything.

…

…

…

Perfect! Okay lets do this for real now.

Origin

There… isn't really an Origin here for you to have. These Worlds are so varied in everything its simply impossible to really nail Origins down. Well you can mostly opt for Drop In. Even if for some reason you aren't allowed to be Drop In you still can be this time around. Or you could make yourself some small unnoticeable backstory. Honestly its really up to you.

But seriously… I recommend going for Drop In.

Setting and Timeline

Somehow we have both no setting at all… and WAY too many.

Basically… if the story/picture/etc. fulfills the requirement of a fictional character being put through suffering, you can use this to Jump there.

The Worlds you visit might be very familiar to other Worlds you visited but lets be clear, they are NOT the same. We are going by Multiverse Theory here. Think of it like a Tree where the MAIN Universe is the root and the various AU's are all branches.

Lets give an example. Lets say you Jumped to Pokemon before but came across a Fanfiction of some OC leading a new Criminal Team that goes around kidnapping and raping Gym leaders while killing their Pokemon in front of their eyes. This is not the ACTUAL Pokemon World. Its more or less a Copy of it where all these things took place. Isn't the Multiverse an interesting thing? You can kill your way through the organization and massacre the OC and no one would ever know from the 'real' Pokemon World.

Your duration of stay is also different now. Instead of being restricted to your 10 years you can leave whenever you fixed the fic so to speak. When you healed the Victims and destroyed the Villain Sue and all their followers… THAN you can move on. So your Jump can last anything from an hour to decades. You can choose to leave after you've done your Job.

Perks

Okay… lets get into powering you up. You will soon find out that this time it's a bit… different. There are no discounts and the purchase is really only in name honestly.

Out of Context Problem (Free): You might be familiar with that term. I mean… this is one of the things Jumpchain is about. You might be confused about this Perks wording so let me explain. And let me start explaining by explaining a Sue.

One of the things a Sue does is essentially fold the entire narrative of the Universe to their favour. A Weapon that can only be wielded by a Chosen Hero can now be used by the Sue as well and probably is even better in their hands somehow. A Sues most notable trait is that everything in the setting is just MADE for their benefit. For a Villain Sue this means that the World itself is pretty much guaranteeing that no matter what Hero may come they simply wont win against the Villain because the Author simply SAID so. Its like when back on the playground that one kid kept saying they had an 'INvInCiBlE sHiElD' and simply wont allow anything but THEIR preferred outcome. This is also the reason why people that by all means SHOULDN'T be in this situation (like a girl being restrained by normal ropes even though she can destroy battle tanks with her bare hands) somehow still are in them.

Welp… not anymore! With this the 'Sue' effect does not apply to you anymore.

Try and think of it as a sort of 'Anti-Plotarmor'. This also extends to any other effects that pretty much only allow ONE outcome. A Place where everyone gets enslaved by simply being there? You can live there free will intact. An organization that abducts people and does all kinds of horrific things to them and somehow manages to succeed no matter how strong their victims are? They ain't taking you no matter how much they try. A hax super attack that transports you to an alternate reality where the Sue is omnipotent? They can't use it on you or you can just as easily teleport out of it. Some form of ultimate Immortality that makes them impossible to kill? The look on their face when you DO kill them will be hilarious.

This makes it possible for you to actually take down whatever asshole you encounter. You can also extend this Perk to any of your Companions.

Keen Eye for Evil (100): There are times where it can be hard to know if what youre seeing is truly an evil act. Maybe the Villain in question is just THAT good of a liar. The Victim could be forced to lie about their circumstances. Some magic or power could be messing with the minds of those affected. There could be a legal law made by a Tyrant which would make a reprehensible act legal. Now you will not have to worry about such things anymore.

This Perk allows you to fully see what is 'evil'. When someone is in danger or suffering you WILL know. No illusion or lie will deceive you from realizing when someone is hurting someone else unjustly or tormenting an innocent.

I actually read that thing (100): You probably didn't but now you can claim you did. Those villain Power fantasies could be hundreds of thousands of words long and who really WANTS to force themselves through all of that crap? So with this Perk you wont have to worry about lacking any information anymore.

As soon as you arrive in a setting you have all the knowledge available that you need even without having actually watched or read the source material. You know what the big players are, what the prevalent powers are etc. The level of knowledge you have is on equal levels if not greater to a Fan that studied every piece of work from said franchise extensively.

Iron Stomach (100): There are things around here which are… not pretty to say the least. Did you think I picked Torture Fic for no reason at all as a title for these messes? With this Perk you gain a tolerance for all the horrific things you are about to witness. You can use your rage productively, your mind can think clearly and you wont be stopped by your launch trying to force its way out.

Lighter and Softer (100): What is it with this obsession of turning everything darker and more horrific than normal in those 'fan' works? It would be great to have some ability that counteracts all that vileness. Around you it is as if the World is… well Lighter and Softer. Even in times of war there are days where you and your friends can contently rest and enjoy yourself. Joy and happiness seems to come quicker and tragedy and despair seems to be lessened and less likely. Those with year long traumas can find themselves much more at ease when around you and with some help on your part you might even help them get rid of those internal demons completely within some days.

'Kryptonite' nullification (100): You might find various forms of Power nullification. Many Torture Fic stories likely feature some way to nullify whatever powers a Hero may have just to further drive the point how helpless they are and allowing the Villain Sue to do pretty much whatever they please. Even if that doesn't exist in the actual real work or shouldn't be possible. Be it psionics, some drug, machines, minerals or WHATEVER there is always SOMETHING that SOMEHOW works on those Superpowered Heroic beings because the Author said so.

That isn't working on you. From now on NOTHING can mess with your Powers in any way you don't want them too. Nothing can copy, drain, or nullify them. Even trying to analyse them will be impossible.

This also extends to any powers you may have that SHOULD be vulnerable to those things. For example if you are a Kryptonian you SHOULD be vulnerable to Kryptonite of all kinds of colours. You wont be vulnerable to it anymore now with this Perk.

No more Pain (100): Villain Sues do serious DAMAGE! That's one of the reasons they are Villain Sues! Maybe the big sister of a badass magical girl team has had her limbs amputated and is used like a fuck toy! So many people are being subjected to pain and suffering just because the Villain Sue felt like it or because the Author didn't like them or etc.

Now you can fix this. By simply willing it so you can remove all the damage done to someone. This may be done by wiping their memories of the experience, reverting their body to a state in time from before the Villain Sue got their hands on them, simply healing their psychological, spiritual and physical wounds, all effects combined etc.

It also allows you to get someone back home. If some girl has been kidnapped to a plane away from all of reality, time, space, the concepts of dimensions or even the 'real World' and so on you would still be able to open a Portal to her home.

It is pretty much the Ultimate healing Power, ridding them from everything they had to suffer through on every level possible like it never happened.

I'm your worst Nightmare! (100): Listen we all know there are people that just deserve to suffer. Some wannabe Chaos God that turns Planets into Sex Slaves deserves to get violently ripped out of their save little Bubble and just be utterly destroyed.

So you now have the knowledge exactly HOW to make them hurt. HOW to make them pay for everything they have done. What things to do that hurt them the absolute most.

You just know how to have someone fell the pain. How to make them see you as their Worst nightmare given form to haunt them for eternity.

Just by looking at them you know how to make them hurt.

What I stated in the contract would happen to you if you become a Villain? This pretty much allows you to condemn someone to THAT kind of fate.

In other Words you have torture skills that impress Darkseid, terrify Frieza, make the Devil question your sanity and will make any Eldritch Gods uncomfortable.

And the characters you use this on are by all accounts worse than all of the above combined soooo… yeah. Go nuts.

Oversight in the plan (100): What Evil Overlord ISN'T some apparent unrivalled strategic master? Its like a staple of any Villain, even if their strategies aren't all that great and maybe even dumb the World itself regards them as genius.

If their now truly a genius or not one thing is clear… you will be an absolute PAIN to work around. Your very presence can reduce schemes and plots into shattered remains and your actions will cause utter Chaos in your targets plans. Your opponents are simply put unable to work around you or predict you. You can toggle whose plans you want to affect. You also have Mastermind abilities yourself, enough to form just as complex plans.

Its only going up! (100): It would really be unfortunate if even after all you did to save this World something would make all your efforts for naught. Is there a way to guarantee things wont get back to being horrific? This Perk is that guarantee.

If you freed a civilization from a crazy Overlord, fate and the Universe itself will ensure that what you did wont be in vain. Bellies will be filled. The Homeless find shelter. Economies heal. This Perk wont fix everything from itself alone but once you dealt the final blow to your enemy you can rest easy that almost instantly all other issues will be fixed and stay fixed.

Items

The Fix it Bomb Plans (Free): This Jumper is the single greatest Weapon you could possible get here. I present you the Fix it Bomb!

Okay I get why you might be questioning why in the World a Bomb should help you save these messed up Worlds. Well Jumper this Bomb isn't your normal one.

When detonated the Fix it Bomb will release a Universal Wave of pure good energy, Karma and straight up Deus Ex Machina. The Universe it is detonated in will essentially get a gigantic reset and all sources of suffering and negativity will be eliminated. You could turn a War torn dystopia into a functioning… well not quite Utopia but close, a functioning World with little suffering.

Think of it as the Reality Bomb of Doctor Who but with the effect of Josuke's Stand from Jojo's.

However this only includes the plans for this Powerful device. You would need a lot of resources and intelligence to build the Fix it Bomb but the result will be well worth it.

Downsides to this effect exist though. You can only use this Bomb every 10 Jumps or 100 Years.

Companions

Import (Free): Yes… its free. You can import all of your Companions for free. They gain the benefits of the Contract and the free perks. You gotta crush those assholes Empire with one of your own. They get 1000CP as well.

Take with you (Free): I don't really get why you would want to take someone from here with you but okay. Maybe you grew close to one of the victims in this World. You can take someone from here with you EXCEPT the Villains.

Drawbacks

NOPE! NOT HAPPENING!

Listen. This isn't meant to be your 'usual' Jump. I am not making it HARDER for you to do what I WANT you to do.

However… I can maybe add something else.

Savior Beacon (0): This is more of an effect than a drawback. You become a target for every single evil being in the Universe you enter. One after another you happen to interfere the plans of and run into every villainous figure of the Work. This doesn't create new Villains. It simply causes every Villain there with the potential to harm others to target you instead and above all else.

Fate will also conspire to put you into situations were vile acts were to happen. For example lets say that within the span of one day in the Work, a noble hero would be killed, an old woman is robbed and a group of Space Princesses is enslaved. As long as you can survive and deal with one even you find yourself being lead to the next event. The timing works perfectly. You save the Hero, stop the robber and rescue the Princesses. This also gives the ones in need of rescuing a sort of Plotarmor.

After you choose this and finished this Jump once you can use this as a Perk instead.

Notes

-This Jump is half joke half serious. It's mostly meant for veteran Jumpers that want to have some fun with the noble hobby of kicking ass and saving fictional characters. Depending on how you feel you can treat it serious or just as a quick two day vacation where you use the resident serial rapist as a punching bag.

Really its up to you whether or not you take this Jump serious. This was mostly me just venting after coming across a lot of disgusting shit and giving myself and others the opportunity to just go nuts whenever they see shit like that. If you want you can restrict the Perks you get here to only work in 'Torture Fics' you Jump to with this Jump so you don't feel like a Mary/Gary Sue yourself

-As stated in Setting you are free to use this Supplement for more than JUST Villain Sue stories. Basically… any fictional setting in any shape or form that includes some jerkass Organization or jerkass villain that simply is never facing any retribution or a victim that never got justice… you can Jump there now.

-Healing Hands doesn't give you something like true memory manipulation or time manipulation. It is only usable for the specific instance of trying to heal someone and ONLY for that. For example you may be able to erase someones memory of being tortured and raped, but you cant just make someone think they have always been your life long friend. You can open a Portal to bring them back home but you don't get Multiversal traveling on Spark levels. You don't really get any of the bigger abilities but merely just get really good at healing in any way of the word.

-While this Jump is technically finished chances are I might work on a more serious version that isn't just giving out freebies under the pretence of purchases or me reworking this Jump. Chances are unlikely though.

-I apologize for any spelling mistakes. I'm not native English speaker.

-Thanks to all the people of reddit for trying to help me with this Jump. :)