Jump chain:InfiniCon edition.

welcome to infinity city,AK. Buried several meters underground infinity city is the home of InfiniCon, the world's only twenty-four seven 365 science-fiction/fantasy/role-playing/LARP /tabletop gaming/Anime/Manga/horror/comic book convention. As well as countless smaller, more specialized conventions popping up one after another. It was shortly after InfiniCon started that a phenomenon known as “immersion“ started happening, people began to gain the abilities of the characters they were cosplaying as, this led to various fandoms factioning into loosely associated gangs of adventuring parties, and driving the much hated furrys down into the undercon. No one really knows what's down there, or even how deep it goes. there always seems to be a forgotten panel rediscovered whenever someone thinks they've hit bottom, no one even knows how old the city really is, It's a town of rivalry, intrigue, mystery, magic, and most certainly geekness.
Some people call this place Las Vegas with a neckbeard, some call it heaven, some just call it weird, for the next ten years you will call it home. You now have +1000cp roll 1D8 or pay 100cp to choose freely.

Starting area

1.Little Tokyo - Anime, Manga, and Japanese media and culture district. Has a large variety of import shops that carry just about everything you could imagine. Also offers a lot of cultural attractions, such as sushi restaurants, noodle shops, artificial hot springs, and apartments built like traditional Japanese castles. Unsurprisingly, Little Tokyo has the most Martial Arts studios in the city, offering classes in many traditional martial arts, as well as things like stage combat and Super Sentai styles.

2.Metropolis - The Comics, Cartoons, and Western media district. Modern city, most resembles a normal city. Pretty typical in appearance for the most part, though it contains a large number of comic shops, video stores, and theaters which only play animated films. Even more so than other districts, the citizens of Metropolis are known to police themselves, due to a large number of vigilante do-gooders patrolling the streets. It can be quite a headache for ConSec and the Enforcers to deal with, but most of the time, no one bothers to break any laws or cause any troubles for fear of a dozen righteous citizens leaping out to stop them.

3.Grimdark Forest - The LARP and Renaissance District. Rather than being any sort of city, this district consists of the public parks and open fields surrounding the city. Title aside, the LARP area offers a dense forest and expansive fields to house nearly any sort of organized Live-Action Role Play. Most differing groups know to avoid each other and often act as if the others don't exist, if only to keep the illusion of their own worlds in-tact. In some areas, the homes can range from a simple collection of tents to full blown medieval cities to scrap-built shanty towns in post-apoc territory.

4.Neckbeard Alley - Traditional gaming and Fantasy District. This district has a certain rustic charm to it, with many of the buildings being fashioned after old wooden taverns or stone castles. If there's one thing this place has an abundance of, it's taverns to gather at. In addition, they have numerous bookstores which carry both literature and rulebooks. Despite the old-world aesthetic, though, the gamers of this district couldn't survive without fast food, so there are a variety of restaurants disguised amongst the fake thatched roof cottages that will deliver pizza or Chinese food.

5.Neo Infinity - The Tech, Sci-Fi, and futurist District. On top of looking more futuristic and shiny than the other districts, this area is the go to place for the latest gadgets, computer components, and the latest software. As such, this district is also home to the most computer savvy citizens, most of which help run and maintain the various networks within the city.

6.Industrial District - Further from the city lies the Industrial Zone, where the power plant, the water treatment center, the Recyclery where trash is sorted and re-purposed, and the shipping and storage warehouses where all of the incoming shipments arrive. Due to safety regulations and being further from the city, costuming and unusual behavior are less common in this District, though not completely absent. For the benefit of the bordering LARP fields, the city has erected a wide variety of preabandoned and faux-dilapidated buildings and factories dotting the outskirts of the district.

7.The UnderCon - Due to the large number of apartment buildings and hotels and high rises, most buildings have basements several floors deep with service tunnels connecting them and a vast sewer network below that. Con security and Organizers often use the most well-maintained service tunnels as shortcuts through the city, but all those forgotten and unmaintained back halls house the city's homeless con-goers who refused to leave. Immersion abilities are also much more powerful down here if half the stories are true This is the place where your wildest fantasies can become real, if you can survive the hordes of furrys and worst things that dwell here already.

8.Free choice-you got lucky this time, pick any of the above areas.

Backgrounds

you may choose your age at the cost of 100cp for any background except celebrity guest. You may choose your biological gender . Otherwise, your biological gender is the one from the last jump you were in, and yes this does work for celebrity guest, history will change to accommodate their sex change. You may become a perfectly normal human of your biological gender for free.

drop-in: free

role 1D8+20 for your age.
you wake up in a modest dwelling in a shady low-rent part of the district of your choice, or a relatively nice and secure makeshift hovel in the undercon, this dwelling is paid for for the next two months.

celebrity guest: 500cp

choose any living real-life celebrity that primarily geeks care about, you are now them! Your age is their age, and you gain that much time worth of life experiences which are also their's. Plus, you now have a mansion on the outskirts of a district appropriate to their best-known work ,a regular income based off of appearances at cons, and access to a security team to keep you safe.

New in town:100cp

roll 1d8 +18 this is your age, you come from a middle-class American family and you have both an overly extensive knowledge of a fandom of your choice and enough general geek knowledge to compete in competitive trivia tournaments. Additionally , you gain a powerful understanding of a professional skill such as any form of traditional graphic art , game making either traditional or video crafting props, costuming, model making, “acquiring”video data to make bootleg DVDs. Note: mastery of esoteric fandom trivia is updated with each jump to stay accurate and relevant.

Established player:200cp

role 1D8 +23. For age. you've been here for a while. you are well known and respected in your faction, with plenty of connections, contacts, favors owed, and knowledge of the ins and outs and the ups and downs of the city and its people, also you have additional skills based on your faction , fantasy fans understand basic construction and can set anything from hot tubs to hamlets in a matter of hours, sci-fi fans gain the equivalent of an engineering degree and one subspecialty, comics and Western art fans have knowledge of practical modern matters such as accounting, housekeeping, auto repair or computers. Japanese culture and animation fans gain intense knowledge of Japan and its ways equivalent to a very well bred and traditional native, as well as skill in one Asian martial art of their choice equivalent to a Greenbelt. Additionally this includes everything from new in town.

Enforcer:400cp

role 1D8 +23. For age. You are one of the people charged with maintaining law , security and stability throughout the various conventions of infinity city, in exchange for your efforts you get a steady paycheck from the government, a jaded resistance to any crazy bullcrap you should you happen across and full legal enforcement powers as well. As the ability to create a Mundanely field which suppresses supernatural and hypertechnological abilities with the force of your willpower. You start with a uniform Taser, nightstick and a modest apartment paid through two months from now.

Abilities

Urban exploration doesn't have to be draining;100cp

you have almost a sixth sense about the twisting and turning tunnels of a city and how to access them, you'll always know what kind of tunnel you are in, your relative position in the city above, how far down you are as well as a mental map of the route you have taken , including branches and landmarks.

Permanent Preregistration.:100cp

it looks like you have already paid and preregistered, for what? Why for everything! If you ever go anywhere to any event that offers preregistration you'll find your name is on the list and a complete membership is approved and paid for. Of course, this does give you the drawbacks that you will need to give them ID and your actual complete name , but it's a small price to pay to get in almost anywhere. Includes concerts symposium, etc. does not include lodging, food , etc. only admittance.

Tracing is an Art:100cp

You are a master tracer and human fly fully trained and able to perform impressive feats of Parkour with ease, there is almost nothing that can stop you , and very few places in the city you can't get to with a bit of forethought.

Nat 1s, Nat 20s :100cp

probability seems to curve around you, you'll always get the most extreme results on whatever chances you take, for example, if you were to enter the lottery you'd either be found guilty of cheating and go to jail or strike the jackpot. With no chance of any other results. Additionally, every twenty-four hours you can choose to turn it off. However, it cannot be reactivated until twenty-four hours have passed since it's been turned off.

Crossoverlord :100 CP one free for new in town

Some geeks are geeky about more than one thing,SCA geeks often play Dungeons & Dragons, LARPers can enjoy boardgames,RPG geeks Can be cubers And EGL addicts can be Anime fans, and you're one of those. Choose an additional area of Geeky interest and gain The esoteric trivia,knowledge,Skills,Understanding of social Mores, etc. Of that kind of geek Can be taken multiple times, and yes it does grant you additional background Skills.

freegan urban nomad:100cp, free for drop-in even without a definite address or income, you and your friends will always have someplace dry and safe if not particularly warm to sleep, and be able to find an adequate amount of food. Additionally , you'll be well aware of the furry's hunting routine and territories, as well as con-sec's patrol routes and how to avoid them. As you travel to other worlds. This will turn into a knowledge of local hazards and skill at finding food and resting places in those cities, there are always snacks in the con suite, so now you always have some snacks , whether it's a bottle of cola and a bag of cheese crunchies, a flagon of mead and a large tart , a chilled thermos of Soylent, or a bottle of Ramune and a box of Pocky. Once an hour you may manifest one of these options.

Con sweets:100cp

Games master: 200 CP

you are among the best in the country at strategy,statistics , brinksmanship and bluffing, you can become a poker star or a national master in chess with the right effort,Can be taken more than once stacks with itself,Perhaps will all will will you marry with eight purchases you'll be nearly unbeatable by anyone even the gods themselves at Nearly any game involving any sort of Skill.

Master Autist:200 discounted for new in town

you are able to enter a state of hyperfocus at will, shutting out anything that does not pose an immediate threat. In this state you are able to bring to bear the entirety of your mental ability and creativity on any task you choose, additionally in this state there is almost nothing that will be able to break your concentration.

Content creator:200 discounted for new in town your creativity is greatly increased along with your artistic skill, you can easily pay your bills from regularly taking commissions, and with the right exposure in time you can even get an income from licensing our works, or even gain employment from a major company. You are good enough that you could be the next Rowling, Gygax , Kirby , Ernst,Mooseburger,Disney or Miyamoto.

Caffeine fiend:300cp

stimulants will only have desired effects on you and will not suffer any harmful effects of being on stimulants for extended periods of time , except for the fact that when you finally run out of stimulants and go to bed. You'll be asleep for an extra hour for every day you went without sleep. Furthermore , once a day you will find a pack of caffeinated gum in your pocket.

Secret master of fandom:400 CP free for established player.

You are intensely organized, and able to coordinate large teams of people to mutual endeavors, your logistical skills are some of the best in the world , as well as being an able manager to keep these people motivated and on task, putting together a con is nothing to you.

The dice god's favor:500cp, incompatible with Nat 1s, Nat 20s.

if at any time you would get less than the average result for a matter of random chance you will instead get the best possible result.

Live steel: 500 CP free for enforcer.

Despite being a part of the US,Infinity Cty has strict laws against possessing functional weapons of any sort.you though are able to carry sharpened swords and loaded guns in public without fear of legal retribution, using them will require some discretion However.

This ability transfers to other worlds, allowing you to be armed at all times without ensuing any legal consequences.

Immersion:600cp. Cannot be taken with enforcer. Discounted and modified for celebrity guest, incompatible with second-tier mundane

You've tapped into the power of immersion, by neglecting your Physical and mental hygiene you May gain up to half of to the power of a non-omnipotent character you are cosplaying as at the expense of an equal amount of your sociability and persuasiveness, this drain can be restored simply by putting on regular clothes and doing body maintenance. However, you will lose an equal portion of these abilities. If you are a celebrity guest you may only cosplay as characters you have portrayed in your works, or that you have created, however, you do not lose charisma. The maximum potential strength, granted by cosplaying a character is equal to the awareness of a character , divided by the number of people doing so. Expect to be pretty weak If you're playing an OC without the boost of being deep within the under con. Unfortunately it doesn't work so well once you get past city limits, but on your next jump you will still be able to have it working at peak efficiency Regardless of where you go. You may only choose one character to be able to immerse yourself in. Note: This isn't just dress up you are subsuming A character with all their flaws, hopes, dreams, preferences, speech patterns,Personality traits, memories, etc. Into your mind and letting them control your Mind and body to some degree, in exchange For power,This isn't mentally healthy whatsoever Take it too far and you will lose everything that makes you you.

Second-tier mundane:600cp, discounted for enforcer look at all these cosplay freaks losing their mind, of course it isn't real . You have never seen anything what they do happen, they're just normal people convinced that they become characters . Nothing supernatural here. Note: you are dead wrong, it simply that supernatural abilities and superpowers, other than your own are drastically reduced around you, you have the unconscious ability to suppress any kind of extraordinary abilities. After ten years time you realize this and gain control over it. Your ability to suppress the abilities of others is based on a unconscious contest of will, between you and them , abilities that enhance willpower allow you to use it on stronger and stronger opponents. Note: this is not necessarily contest between your willpower and their willpower, if their abilities are greater than their willpower is a contest of your willpower relative to the strength of their abilities, this will also suppress any abilities you might have regardless of their strength.

RPG group:800cp discounted for established player, discounted again for that guy magnet 100 CP off for each fewer member, Minimum of one.
What a lucky gamer you are, you found a group of eight friends who play the same RPG system you like along with a GM you are especially lucky since the weirdness of infinity city has granted all of them the abilities of their characters, it's a midrange power campaign of a midrange power system so things will not get too out of control , but the five of them are still going to be competitive for at least another four jumps unless you decide to start upgrading them as well. alternately these people might be eight of your companions, in which case they would gain the new in town background for free as well as immersion. Note: with that guy magnet they will all be that guy, in the case of companion import they will return to their normal personalities after the jump is completed , but will retain their new powers.

equipment

the platinum gundam:100cp
you own either an immensely valuable collection of fungible items, or one extremely rare/unique item worth an immense amount.

Legendary library: 100, free for established player, New in town and drop in Books books books! You've got an extensive set of RPG books for just about every system that can be found in the real world, never worry about having something to do again. A sufficient amount of appropriate dice are included. Alternatively , you can have a above average comics/novel/Manga collection, and in infinity city that's a storage shed worth of print material

Cosplay wardrobe:100cpOr 200CP For the Upgraded version,basic free for established player you have an extensive cosplay wardrobe, this is perfectly normal Cosplay clothing of nineteen characters of your choice or nineteen outfits of the same character and nonfunctional wooden or plastic replica weapons/appropriate costume jewelry.
The upgraded version includes replica weapons which only look fake and are in fact functioning mundane weapons.

The complete series :100cp, can be taken multiple times.
you found the lost tapes/finished manuscripts for a series you like. If there was ever a show or novel series you wanted continued you get another three books that wrap everything up nicely or complete season that wraps everything up nicely, either way , these episodes/installments are as good as this series has ever been.

A place to call my own:200cp
you are one of the lucky few who actually own residential property in infinity city, you can either have an entire house yourself or take in renters. Either way , you're guaranteed never to be homeless. After ten years time you will always seems to have a house already in your name for you no matter what universe you may be in.

Main screen turn on: 100cp

Your home now has a extremely widescreen TV hooked up to a massive media Center containing every publicly available episode of countless shows and a tremendous selection of DVDs, CDs, laser disks, VCR tapes. Etc.

Man your battle stations:200cp

you seem to have "acquired" an incredibly powerful computer, whether it's a high school's old computer lab klug'd together into one box, or even a few server racks filled with cray computers that"fell off the back of a truck" it's an extremely powerful setup that will serve you well until you hit somewhere much more technologically advanced. If you travel to another universe with more advanced technology you will find that your supercomputer stays relevant being replaced by a equivalent model for whatever the level of technology is. Note: if this effect would cause your machine to downgrade it is instead ignored.

NEET-bucks:300cp

you have really lucked out and managed to get yourself a monthly stipend independent of any actual work, whether it's disability, being a registered member of a Native American tribe, a trust fund or even being a cultural envoy from Asia. you have an income of around $800 American per month , not counting expenses, somehow you manage to find a similar income on any other world you visit, adjusted for inflation and exchange rates. Can be purchased multiple times.

Under con wonder:800cp

the wellspring of immersion that is the under con doesn't just effect living things, if someone reaches complete immersion there props and accessories cross over with them, and those who imagine themselves as wizards and techno-geniuses can gain the ability to create their own marvels. You've managed to find such a wonder, whether it's a functioning replica of the sword of omens, instructions for entering the 2-D world and interacting the characters on body pillows physically the characters on, a functional set of iron Man model 33 armor keyed to your biometrics, anything up in this range can be yours . Of course such things are precious beyond measure and bring as much trouble as they solve, reality really doesn't like it when the line between what is and is not is crossed to this degree.

Disadvantages

You may take up to three drawbacks and gain their points

That guy +100

you lose all sense of decency, as well as any idea of what is and isn't socially acceptable, Becoming a massive pervert no one wants to be around.

No room at the inn +300cp, incompatible with a place to call my own.

Looks like you are stuck out on the cold streets and forests of infinity city. You can't even go back to your warehouse to warm up.

That guy magnet+200cp, incompatible with that guy .

you knew infinity city was full of geeks, but this is pushing it. Almost anyone you meet will be some form of Cheeto dust covered creep who keeps trying to incorporate their weird kinks into everything.

Underage B& +100cp

you're still just a kid, and have all the complications thereof. Roll 1D8+4 to determine your starting age, don't expect to be able to pass for an adult, don't expect to be able to go to adult parties or panels, be able to obtain alcohol or Lewd things legally, drive a car or have any of the privileges that come with being eighteen or older, additionally this affects you physically as well with reduced height , strength and cognition.

Normal guy+200cp, incompatible with immersion.

you aren't a fan,a gamer or any other subdivision of geek for that matter. Just an average person who happens to of wound up in infinity city. Good luck relating to anyone, getting a job or a house without faction connections , or finding success with pretty much of anything that involves interacting with other people for that matter.

Con funk+100cp

there is a horrible reek of body odor, it might be yours, it might be those around you . But wherever you go there it is you'll never get used to it.

Nerd not geek:+100cp

you're not a geek, geeks have some modicum of social ability and are smart. you are a nerd . You have no social skills or exceptional intelligence and are into things People generally find unpopular in obscure.

Love of the ladylord+600cp, takes up two drawbacks.

Ladylord Phoenixfennec the leader of the furrys has decided that you are the most attractive creature in the world and will send their royal guard of high immersion Mary Sue animal people to capture you and bring you to them so that they may have their way with you. You can expect to be jumped by some powerful furrys who have reached such a degree of immersion that they are no longer wearing costumes . You know all those ridiculous, overpowered furry Mary sues Like Sapphirus Dracas? Yeah, they're coming to get you and bring you to their leader, whether you like it or not. Most likely not.

Do not allow on premises +200cp

Consec has records of you committing something atrocious, that may or may not be true. But whether or not it is there still not going to let you in any of the respectable cons, and no, you will not be able to change the records or prove your innocence. What ever This crime Was it will come up as part of your background Checks for this world.

Losing your spaghetti + 100 CP

you have a massive tendency to get starstruck, whenever you encounter one of your favorite celebrities and so whenever you encounter even a moderately famous person. You will start tripping over yourself, saying the wrong thing, stuttering, etc.. And this is a fairly common occurrence in a star-studded town like infinity city.

Wrong wrong wrong, you stupid heathen! +100CP

It's a sad fact of life that Nearly everyone is dumber than you, I mean, people still believe there is an American version and A Japanese version of Godzilla versus King Kong with different endings! If you take this drawback You must cure them of their delusions and ignorance Through yelling and browbeating. For An additional+300 CP You must also do So if someone has an interpretation of Something You disagree with Which is to say any other interpretation than your own. And in infinity city that's how Inter-faction Gang Rivalries get started.

I am cosplaying as my OC “Jumper-anon”+300 CP

There's good news and there's bad news . The good news is, you still have your powers, skills and abilities. The bad news is that You are Pretty much your pre-jumping self And they are all tied To immersion, the really bad news is that since you're an OC And Since your abilities are tied to immersion They are Drastically weakened in less you can either 1. Popularize your character enough that The average guy on the Average street will recognize Them If they see them, at least, Spiderman Level recognizability and popularity,And of course there's the matter of having to share that ability with everyone Else whos Cosplays as them Including power split. 2. Find a very strong Source of immersion, such as the undercon. Yes this will of course force you to act as a caricature of yourself