K-ON!

Introduction

What a peaceful place this is. Indeed, it may seem identical to the real world, the one you originate from, yet it seems as if nothing truly bad ever happens here. Things are soft, fluffy and without misery or hatred or danger. It's a world where happiness and cuteness have long since conquered the dark parts of humanity and left a happy, relatively quiet paradise in its wake. This is the world of K-On!

K-On! Is a story about a group of High School girls who form a club, the Light Music Club, and have fun every day. Sometimes they play music, most of the time they just have tea with each other, sometimes to the consternation of some club members. They'll spend their high school years in relative comfort and then go on to go to the same university together, continuing their happy, peaceful days.

This nice little world is where you have been placed, alongside 1000 Choice Points (CP) for you to buy things to make your stay even nicer. Try to relax and have fun whilst you're here.

Location

You'll be going to Private Sakuragaoka Girls High School in Japan, an all-girls school with an absurdly high number of attractive young women and a lot of very strange club activities. This'll be your home for the next three years. If you happen to be a Junior, you'll instead go to the nearby Middle School for a year before joining this High School alongside your classmates.

Origins

The Newbie

You're new to music. It's not that you don't like it, just that you never got the chance to try out an instrument before. The simple earnestness with which you do seems to charm those around you quite well and you've got quite a talented hand for the guitar in any of its' variations. You may have been here from the start and simply made little impact on the town around you or be an entirely new being slotted here from another world, without prior connections.

Firecracker

When you saw someone in trouble, you didn't think twice before diving in headfirst to help them out, even if you didn't know them. That's the sort of person you are and while it's gotten you in more than a few scrapes, it's also made you a lot of very close friends. That same fiery passion has turned you into an aspiring young drummer and given you a reputation for being quite the go getter.

Lady

You come from high class stock and you were raised, or attempted to be raised, into a fine young lady in your own right. Whether they succeeded or not is up to you, you certainly won't be out of place if you act like you have your head in the clouds. Perhaps having a daisy head is what makes you such a whiz on the keyboard. It'll be nice to meet normal girls at school in any case.

Junior

You're a little younger than the other girls here, not quite in High School until your next year. Only means you've got to prove yourself that little bit more and so you took to a wide range of instruments, becoming a little skilled in them all. Despite your age, you'll find no one really minds if you tag along and that you'll make friends just as easily.

You're a girl now. For free, if you like. You can choose not to be turned into a girl if you weren't already or pay 50CP to become a boy if you were a girl, but becoming a girl is free for this world.

You're also 15 years old, just entering High School. If you picked the Junior origin, you'll instead be 14, in your last year of Middle School.

Perks

The Newbie

Black Hole- 100
Never mind keeping an eye on your waistline. There's far too many tasty treats out there to worry about extra pounds. Fortunate for you given the speed with which you inhale them that you never seem to gain any weight. Even a diet of nothing but the sugariest of cakes and lollies will add nothing to your figure, unless you desired it. See, if you wish, you can direct some of that otherwise ineffective fat to specific parts of your body to make yourself cuter. Chubby those cheeks, plump up your assets or take away some of that baby fat.

Let Me Help You to My Level-200
You can't be blamed for having talent in something or for putting in the work to master something. Everyone has things they're good at or that they were lucky to receive. You don't lord it over others but you don't want to hide your talents either. That's fine. People accept that now. You'll never encounter jealousy or bad feelings just because you're better at something. Heck, you being better actually inspires people to put in the work to try and compete with you. Seeing that you made it, it makes people feel hope that they can make it too

Fun Things are Fun- 400
Seems like a silly statement huh? People can forget how important stuff like this is, sometimes straightforward methods are the best way to get it through. You're on the adventure of a lifetime and what use is an adventure with no fun? You can always find the fun side of life, able to find silver linings and enjoyment out of all but the very worst of situations. You won't find things becoming less enjoyable over time either. All your favourite hobbies and activities will be just as exhilarating and enjoyable as the first time you tried them out, even if you've done them a hundred times over. Life's full of fun things and if you don't enjoy the fun things, you won't have a fun life.

Beatles, Round Three- 600
You really are just that one in a million kind of person when it comes to music. Talent like yours comes around maybe once a century. Music is in your blood and you need only pick up an instrument and mess about for a minute or two before being able to match even professionals with years of training under their belts. You've got a perfect sense for pitch and sound and it'll only take a little bit of work to master any musical instrument that you can use in the first place. If you put in years of effort, you'd able to carve a place in history for yourself with just your tunes.

Firecracker

That's in the Past Now- 100
It's unlikely that you're the only one with some embarrassing childhood secrets. A few embarrassing years in high school or a little too wild night out, having that sort of stuff be brought back up in the present can cause no end of embarrassment and problems. You're not protected from these sort of secrets coming out but it does seem like everyone is always ready to look past them and accept you. It might be a little embarrassing at first but your friends won't ever look down on you for them, potential careers won't shut you out because of a drunken binge online and so on. If you committed an actual serious crime or the secret is something serious, this won't help much.

The Beast Within- 200
Society has a bunch of expectations, especially for cute young ladies like yourself. Letting that wild, head banging rocker out, the real you, just gest shocked looks and stares. You learnt how to layer on fake fronts to hide the real you from anyone. Whether it be the face and personality of a cute, docile young lady or an icy outer shell, you'll be able to fool even the most skilled and empathic of people as to what you are really like.

The Heart- 400
A band is more than a collection of good musicians. It's a team and every team needs its heart. You've got an effortless skill for motivating those around you so that they can give 100% of their effort, 100% of the time. They'll feel good doing it too and even if they fail, the fact that they tried at your urging will make them come out of that failure feeling stronger and more determined to win the next time. Even if none of you have much talent, the sheer hard work you can inspire them too will more than make up for it.

We're Friends, Nothing Changes That- 600
It means something when you call someone a friend. Forming that bond isn't something you do lightly because once it's formed, it'll be there forever. No outside force will ever be able to turn you and your friends against each other and even if the two of you end up having problems on your own, you'll find a way to reach a compromise and at least understand each other, if not make up completely. If you and your friends ever end up split apart or separated, you'll find your way back to each other eventually. If it's real bad, it might take years, but you'll always get to meet again. True friends never forget each other, right?

Ladies

Big, Beautiful Brows- 100
For generations, your family has maintained a single part of their bodies to perfection, elevated beyond what any commoner might consider normally sized. Legs, Eyes, Hair or even your Eyebrows, a single part of your body has been elevated to gorgeous, perfect, unmatched beauty and size. Not only does the mere presence of this trait make you more attractive, it can be used to instantly identify you from any imposters or to identify any family members, as this trait is shared by all those of blood relation. The sheer fluffiness of your brows would make any attempt to copy them a fruitless attempt.

The Iron Lady- 200
Young ladies don't exactly happen to be the sort to scare off any potential threats with bulging muscles. That doesn't mean they can't have a surprising amount of strength however. Your body may be little but you've got enough power to carry around almost any sort of instrument with ease, even a 16 kilo weight can be slung over your shoulder with nary a sweaty brow. You don't have enough training to defend yourself but when a good, two handed push can send a grown man flying, is there much need? Some people even find this sort of contrast to be quite cute.

Now Now Everyone- 400
Much fun as it can be to mess around with your friends, you know there are times when you all need to stay focused and serious. A big concert is coming up and you all need to put in that training time. Finals are next week and everyone is panicking. You can cool all those hot heads and get everyone calm and collected with just a few words. With you around, you can make people act mature and serious without making anyone bitter for ruining the fun. They know you've only got their best interests at heart and that if they follow your advice, dropping their silliness and biases against each other, things will turn out much better. Being this mature of a young girl has also made you quite hard to embarrass, useful for calming down large crowds.

Little Angel- 600
You are the picture of elegant beauty, the sort of whom great paintings will be made of and remembered for centuries. This gorgeous visage of yours has resulted in an uncanny luck that causes you to quickly become the mascot or face of whatever group or organisation you are a part of. From being the main star of any advertisements to handling fan interactions to getting interviewed by all the famous people, you'll quickly gain fame. I've no doubt you'll find fan clubs forming in those same groups dedicated to you as well.

Junior

Jumper Nyan- 100
None of your classmates find it all that weird that you come to school wearing a cat ear headband. It's just another thing that makes you, you. Any weird little quirks or accessories like that seem to get taken in stride or even played along with if it's harmless enough. Look cute enough wearing those dog ears and you might find your friends bring treats for you when you do good things.

Please Take This Seriously!- 200
Much as you may want to join your friend's teatime, you know it's more important to get your study out of the way first. Work hard now, play more later. You've never found it hard to make yourself do unpleasant or boring things like that, even when you've got a much more fun alternative waiting for you. When it comes down to it, you can always make yourself put in the effort and take the hard way. You'll thank yourself for it later on.

Best Kouhai- 400
Sure would be nice if your elders actually took care of their own responsibilities, huh? At least they seem to be able to put their trust in people actually willing to do the dirty work, people like you. Any of your superiors, whether elder students, commanding officers or higher ranked managers, seem to place an inordinate amount of trust and reliability on you, even before you've earnt it. You get entrusted with duties ranging from menial to important, finding that when you're carrying out a task for a superior, you'll learn the ropes quite a bit faster too.

Cute Girls Doing Cute Things- 600
Clumsy little puppies and playful kittens, they've both got nothing on how adorable you are. You'd better get used to being fawned over and protected by others, since you evoke the same sort of protective feelings a person would have for a daughter or little sister. Even the nastiest of bullies will have a hard time saying mean things to you, much less actually trying to hurt you. You even make the world around you cuter. People you spend time with seem to get cuter, your daily life becomes filled with light and fluffy events when it doesn't have to be otherwise, food gets served to you in funny patterns and happy tunes are play wherever you go.

Items

Giita- Free

You can't play music without something to play music with. Most high schoolers have to make do with cheaper things. Sturdy equipment but nothing top of the line unless they save up on their own or come from money. A gift from a mysterious benefactor arrived at your door however, a top of the line instrument in your favourite musical discipline. With a price tag of several thousand dollars at minimum, this instrument is just about the best you could possibly find. It'll never need maintenance or repairs, it'll never be out of tune or fail you, as long as your skills are up to the task of using it.

Cat Ears - 100

A simple set of attachable cat ears and cat tail, though you could potentially pick another fluffy animal if you like. They're matched to your hair colour and size, somehow making you just that bit cuter no matter what the rest of you looks like. Wearing them also makes it easier to get away with playing around or lazing about, like taking a nap in the middle of class or wandering off from work to play some soccer.

Holiday tickets- 100

Tests, exams, quizzes. It's all so stressful being at school. This is the springtime of your life! It should be spent playing, not studying. Seems like some rich stranger agrees with you there. Every month, a bunch of tickets arrive that'll offer you and up to eight friends a trip to some fantastic vacation resort. From beachfront paradises to mountain retreats, each ticket can give you up to a week's retreat during which all your normal responsibilities and duties will somehow still be carried out. All expenses on the trip will be handled for you, including any souvenirs you might want to bring back home.

Anywhere Board- 100

There's no telling when you might feel the urge for an impromptu concert. If you're not inside, it's unlikely you'll be able to satisfy those urges unless everything you're using doesn't need power. This little power board will easily solve those issues. Seeming to have no end to the number of slots, despite remaining small and portable, the power board supplies power for any number of connected appliances out of nowhere and ensures none of the cords get tangled too. It won't support anything more intensive then you'd find in a recording studio but it'll work even if submerged in water or gunked up with sand or dust.

Never the Same Thing Twice- 200

A girl is nothing without her clothes! Well, no, that'd be silly but it's true that having outfits that make you look good makes you feel good too. You'll never be short on feeling good now. Every day, a new outfit, fitted to your body and your looks, will be laid out. They won't always be sturdy or warm but you'll look stylish in a different way each day. If you like, you can have it set to specific styles so you can maintain a certain type of image.

Tea Time Time- 200

It's After School and you know what time that is? Tea time! But you can't have tea time without tea and cakes to go along with it. Thankfully for your friends, you always bring tea and sweets. You've got a particularly fancy tea set which seems to contain just about any sort of tea found in the world, in unending amounts too. And plenty of little dishes containing any sweet you can think of from this world, just needing to close and reopen the lids of any dish to replenish it. Find some new sweets or teas? Just use this tea set with them and you'll be able to reproduce them over and over. Just be careful not to snack toooo much. I hear it's quite bad for your waistline.

Music Is Forever- 200
Carting around all those instruments, back and forth from home, school and any of the many holidays or concerts you take them on, they're going to get damaged eventually. Musical instruments can be pretty darn delicate and it's a lucky thing indeed that this big carry bag seems to hold just about every single cleaning, repair and maintenance tool you might need for any instrument you can think of. It even holds spare parts, such as extra chords, and never seems to be all that heavy or large despite all that it carries within.

Light Jumping Club- 300
The Light Music Club somehow maintains its existence with only minimal membership, yet it still gets star place in festivals and ceremonies. It'd definitely be fun to join the girls of that club but, if you like, you could also start your own. Able to be based on any subject you desire, this club will seem to attract members interested and talented in that subject, along with being people that you'd get along well with and make fast friends. No matter what happens, the club won't be shut down and you'll get plenty of opportunities to show off, with prime positions being given to your club during school festivals and the like. This club will appear, with you as the president or as an invited member, in any future settings where such things appear.

The Rec Room- 300
You might be able to use your clubroom for music, it's surprisingly well formed for it, but it's still nothing compared to a professional studio. A local studio for recording music opened under your name, containing good quality instruments of every type. It's the recording room itself that's special, having the absolute best acoustics, equipment and atmosphere for creating songs of any genre. Playing in here will also let you play at the peak of your ability, no matter what condition you are actually in. Stressed out from school? It'll calm you down. Fingers won't stop jittering? You'll be as controlled as a surgeon whilst strumming on that guitar.

Isn't It All a Bit Much- 300
You've got your music. You've got your publisher. Now you need a video to go along with it, really make an impact on a visual level as well as the audio level. You've either got the most lenient producer in the world or you're cheating, because the budget for your music videos might as well be without limit. No matter how zany, expensive, over the top or outright dangerous your idea is, as long as it's just for the creation of a music video, it'll get approved and supported. Stuff payed for using this money seems to disappear after filming has finished but long as you have a good idea, you'll not be lacking for the funds to carry that idea to fruition.

Upper Upper Class Lady- 600
Trips to the French countryside, private beachside mansions to take your schoolmates to, visits with Royal families and heads of state whilst dining with golden utensils on the rarest of meats and sweets. Just another day in the life. What do you mean normal people don't live like that? Truly, commoners live strange lives. Your family is rich, absurdly so, and almost as well connected as they are wealthy. You'll want for nothing with the financial and social resources of your Mummy and Daddy, given how they dote on you, but you'll also find yourself left alone quite a lot of the time. Perhaps if you made something of yourself, Daddy would give you some more attention instead of his work. Just like your youth?

Companions

Kotobuki Tsumugi- 100

The young heiress to the Kotobuki family, it'll be hard to find a young lady as kind or as strange as this blonde. She always has tea and cakes ready to bring some peaceful fun to the occasion and she's a mean hand with a piano or a keyboard, as well as being surprisingly strong. Despite being a tiny girl, she's easily able to fling someone her size across a room or cart around heavy instruments with one hand. She and you met one day when she was out 'seeing how the little people lived' and you managed to become friends with the airheaded lady. She may not make sense all the time but she's always been generous and attentive to you. Just be careful about her tendency to dress you up and pair you with other young ladies.

You can choose to bring her along as a companion or meet a similar, but different, strange and wealthy young girl in future worlds, who will also become a close friend to you. If it pleases you, this heiress may become a companion too.

Hirasawa Yui- 100

She may be absent minded, she may be unable to focus on anything for more than a few minutes at a time unless it involves sweets and she may have a tendency to try and make everything and anything cute but god damn is this girl good with a guitar. She's really a sweet girl, even if a bit airy, but she can be surprisingly focused and perceptive at times. Don't be too shocked if she's already got your school trip itinerary planned out, even if she seems to skive off from practice all the time. You'll probably end up with a cutesy nickname, one she gave you when you both met way back in primary school. You spent a lot of afternoons over at her house, so you know her little sister pretty well too.

Yui can be brought along as a companion at the end of the jump or you can choose to find a similar yet noticeably different young girl in future worlds, who will also be a childhood friend of yours. If you wish you may take this childhood friend along with you.

Nakano Azusa- 100

Azusa is younger than most of the girls you'll find here, a year younger then yourself even. She's a bit too serious and mature at times, so it can be hard for her to let her hair down and enjoy herself. Always eager to prove herself, she was raised in a musical family and has quite good skills with a range of instruments but specialises in the guitar. She might need to work a bit on not saying quite everything that comes into her mind and she has an unfortunate tendency to get dressed up and fawned over by others, much to her mortification. The two of you met way back in primary school, where she was an underclassman that you looked out for. Seems you've been her senpai ever since and she looks up to you with great admiration.

If you wish, you can take Azusa as a companion on future journeys. You can also instead choose to encounter a similar loyal kohai in future worlds, who may also be companioned.

Akiyama Mio- 100

The picture of the ideal Japanese beauty, Mio's actual personality is a far cry from her elegant looks. Scared of countless things, constantly shy and nervous, unsure of herself and totally obsessed with love and romance. She's a good friend, though she really would prefer just a quiet night in, and she does keep up her skills with the bass guitar, no small amount of talent there. Way back in Primary School, she got saved from an embarrassing situation by her friend Ritsu and they've been close ever since. You met the two a little afterwards, another quiet girl who got on well with Mio and was quickly considered acceptable by Ritsu. No doubt, you'll be dragged along to exciting adventures by Ritsu with your new friend, such as the recently emptied Light Music Club.

At the end of your time here, Mio can accompany you as a companion. You can choose to encounter girls like her in future worlds if you like, shy and love focused young women who are quite happy to have a quiet day with you.

Tainaka Ritsu- 100
What a boisterous girl you have here. Ritsu's hot headed, outgoing and quite happy to spend her life as dramatic as she can manage, at least when she isn't lazing around and enjoying the tasty treats others bring her. She rescued you from a bunch of bullies years ago and hasn't stopped dragging you behind her since. You often ended up having to take care of her duties for her, since she'd taken any chance to go play instead of doing work, even if that work was getting better on her favourite drum set. Still, she always spoke up for you when you couldn't handle things alone and even if she goes a bit too hard on the teasing at times, you know for sure she'd never abandon you if you were in need.

Ritsu can be taken with you as a companion or you can choose to be a strong willed girl like this in future worlds, a person who can provide you direction and a voice.

Yamanaka Sawako- 100
The club supervisor of the Light Music Club and teacher at your new school, Sawako Sensei appears to be a sweet, slightly perverted and strange woman with a love for clothing and music. In truth, she's a head banging, death metal obsessed bad girl hiding her past. In actual truth, she's a sweet girl who's really into her own hobbies. She keeps up these layers of misdirection to hide her own embarrassment at her past, though actually insulting her old band Death Devil will get her more than a little angry. She's got a habit of getting overzealous in her desire to dress you up, something you're quite used too given she's your auntie. Having known her since you were a baby, her being your school teacher isn't much difference from the norm. Despite her weirdness, she does care a lot for you and will do her best to support you without being too blatant with her favouritism.

You can choose to take your new teacher along with you as a companion or instead choose to meet a similar related teacher in future worlds, who you may also companion.

Hirasawa Ui- 100
Compared to the empty headed Yui, her little sister Ui seems like she has everything on lock from the get go. Mature, talented, sensible yet also able to have fun, Ui's going to grow up to be a wonderful lady. She ended up learning the guitar in order to help her big sister, someone she loves dearly. You met her through Yui, given she's a year or two younger than yourself. An easy friendship was formed then and in the years since, you've found her looking after you like she does her own sister. Even if you constantly forget to do things, Ui will be there to pick up the pieces and make sure you're ready to go.

Ui may be taken as a companion or you can instead choose to encounter a similar young, hard working girl in future worlds, who may be an actual or surrogate sister of yours.

Import- 50cp per

As nice as the people you encountered here are, you might have some friends you'd like to bring in from the past. For every 50CP you spend, you can import one prior companion into this jump and grant them a free origin, all associated perks and freebies as well as 600CP to purchase perks and items with.

Drawbacks

You may take up to 600CP of drawbacks from the below selection.

Please Don't Bring That Up- +100

You're not too proud of who you used to be. From Middle School or Primary School or even before that, you acted in a certain way or did a certain thing that still mortifies you to this day. Did you have a penchant for believing you had supernatural powers? Particularly poor taste in music that you subjected everyone around you to? Whatever it was, everyone remembers and will constantly bring it up, subjecting you to deep embarrassment on an almost daily basis.

Not Another Two Kilos!- +100

Even the healthiest, sugar and fat freest of foods seem to plump up that belly of yours. Even a brief moment of weak willedness and a small handful of sweets and you could see a whole extra kilo on you! It'll never go to the areas you want either, always becoming the most unsightly and lumpy of fats on your body. It'll take a strict diet and exercise regime to not end up as a little mountain of fat.

Clumsy Fingers- +100

You simply have no talent for music or rhythm at all. In fact, trying to make any sort of music will result in something so bad that grinding your nails on the chalkboard would be taken as a merciful respite from your playing. Your own voice will become possibly one of the most sickeningly cute, overtly feminine things imaginable. Even just trying to tap out a rhythm with your fingers will somehow irritate everyone.

Hummingbird Head- +200

Nothing's ever been able to hold your attention for all that long, even stuff you find to be lots of fun. At best, you can expect to be able to spend your time with any one thing for five minutes at most before having your mind drawn elsewhere for just as long, even if only to dream. Constant interruptions to everything you do and every now and then you'll just be drawn to do something mindless and irrelevant for most of a day. It'll be a miracle if you manage to get through school.

Little Miss Fanservice- +200

Perhaps you fantasise about spending the night with some charming prince of a guy but unfortunately for you, the only lewd things that you might encounter here are the constant 'accidents' you are subjected to. Wearing a skirt? Seems like every single gust of winds comes from straight beneath you or someone is purposefully setting up wires for you to trip over. Try to cover up completely before leaving home? You'll find your clothes ruined and soaked through before you even reach the school building. It's like you're fated to be walking fanservice for those around you, with no regards to how embarrassed you might get or what trouble it gets you in.

Legal Sibling- +200

Your parents didn't abandon you. They're just…on a trip. A several yearlong trip. With no phones. Everyone sees this as okay and you get enough money sent to you to support yourself well enough. Yourself and your new sibling. Everyone, including the authorities, seems to consider you as the legal, responsible guardian for your brother or sister. Whether they're younger or older, they're terribly irresponsible, naïve and absent minded, sure to get them into more than a few spots of trouble. You'll have to keep an eye on them and make sure they're safe else get into some pretty serious trouble.

Scaredy Cat- +300
Is that a spider?! Is that a dog?! Is that a person!? Yes, to all three. You've got a seemingly uncountable number of phobias and fears of varying strengths, enough that spending time outside of a few safe, prepared places you've personally examined is a terrifying concept. If it weren't for everyone constantly bringing you into contact with your phobias, entirely by accident I assure you, you might even manage to isolate yourself successfully.

Die Alone- +300
Isn't High School a wonderful time? So many people to meet and friends to make. You'll form bonds that could last for a lifetime and meet people you may come to think of as family…and you'll lose every one of them. Arguments that end with your friendship torn to pieces, friends moving away to distant countries with no way to contact them, jealousy and envy driving you apart. For those you truly care about, to who you'd go to no ends to ensure you remained friends, they may be torn from you in a truly permanent way.

Your Life Is Not Cute- +300
This world is a cute one. The very essence of cute, what some may call moe is bound into every part of the world. This is not the case for yourself. Your life is not cute, at all. You'll never encounter things such as cuteness or fun, you'll be subject to a constant deluge of the dreary, the stressful and the monotonous. At best, you may find yourself with some peace and quiet but you'll never have your heart flutter in excitement or feel joy or please in your time here.

Ending

Time's up. Enjoy your stay? I hope so.

Wanna keep on enjoying your time here? You're welcome to Stay Here if you want.

Feel a bit homesick? Why not Go Home and enjoy the rest of your life with those back there?

Not done with your fun just yet? That's alright, your Next Adventure is waiting for you even now.
