The American Family: May Jump-Chan have mercy on your soul, You're probably the Middle child stan and Francen forgot about, possibly you're a relative of Stan's or Franceen living in the basement or you're a neighbor who is considering moving away from this place.

Age and Gender: for age Roll D20+10 to gain 100 FP or choose freely. For gender the same as the last jump or choose freely.

Locations: Roll a D4

4. Free Choice

General Perks:

- Joke Reference [Free/100], You get to reference a past event that totally happened. Taken as fact by everyone around, and generally scales to your Jumper's power and influence. So certain moments are doable, but won't be anything Jump or Chain breaking. You wanna let people see what you're talking about well of course this is what you need, that thing you did last jump that only you remember, well now when you bring it up to anyone they get a playback memory to see it themselves in HD 4K. +100 to take this out of jump.
- Born Ready [Free], everyone here can scrap at any moment and are capable of acts of violence. In your case it's always been this way from inside, out of the womb and at the door of death due to old age (if you have the means then beyond too). Regardless of how you look, or present yourself due to your age there is no change in your capability. Powers, abilities, skills, knowledge, and function remain the same as they are during your prime. 100 to keep and after your drop into each jump it allows you to fix your gender and age once the world will see you as if you were that all along.
- Episode Recovery [Free], like all the shows, after a crazy episode of violence or just a life lesson about smoking or maybe being brainwashed into tryna blow up mount Rushmore, at the end of the episode or the next episode everything is all just fine like nothing ever happened, well now after every episode you get a full recovery from anything, you might still have herpes though, better alive than dead as they say. 200 to keep and it only works to bring you back to Life 3 times out of jump but still repairs any damage done from life lessons.

- Vocal Talent [Free], Like Seth Macfarlane you are a person with a gift when it comes to sounds, you can naturally voice a plethora of different characters, and convince others when they listen to your voice. In fact you can effortlessly conduct dialogue with various 'people' by yourself, should you dedicate yourself in the VA industry then you will go far and maybe become a Legend. In music you are not too shabby yourself, with being able to switch styles and impersonate great singers flawlessly.
- Sliding timescale [Free/200], Time moves differently in cartoon worlds. No one really ages, yet time still moves forward. This perk allows you to benefit from this effect. Reality will continue to move forward in time going from say 1998 to the 2020s with no aging noticing but still get modern pop culture and tech you may toggle these effects for yourself or an entire town. It is free this jump but must buy to keep post

- Handicapable [200], like Joe you can always be expected to kick some ass. Even when you have a disability. Regardless, you would perform as if those disabilities do not exist at all. - Fight Scene segment outta nowhere [400], guarantees you and your target/foe/opposition a sequence where both of you (or more) will be locked in and engaged in mutual combat. At this moment no-one else interferes. Both may engage in fisticuffs with somewhat matching skills (even if they have yet to show any). This can give them a chance to square up, and enable you to throw down on equal terms against a stronger enemy. The only thing that matters here is skill, but more importantly GRIT and how much you want to win. This may drag on for a while, so brace yourselves.
- You're the Family Jumper [600](Capstone Booster), you're either a part of or can start your own legendary Family that's known to the whole town for it's strange members and anywhere you go there will always be some strange but sometimes friendly neighbors the town you visit or live in will ignore most of the things you do but they will run you out of town if you have a demon baby it also boosts your 600 tier perks.
