Perks

Everyone gets two freebies and two discounts. Discounted Perks are 50% off.

Lionhearted Bravery [200 CP]
Fear has no hold over you. You possess an unshakable courage that empowers you to face even the most difficult challenges head-on. Whether you're up against overwhelming odds or confronting deep personal fears, you remain calm, composed, and determined. Your bravery inspires others, giving them strength in moments of crisis. No matter the danger or uncertainty, you push forward with confidence and resolve, always ready to stand firm for what you believe in and take decisive action when it matters most.

Debonair Charm [200 CP]
Your presence is magnetic, effortlessly drawing people toward you. You have a natural grace and charisma that makes others feel at ease, and your words always seem to land perfectly, whether you're making a joke, offering encouragement, or persuading someone. People find it difficult to resist your influence, as your charm makes you both captivating and likable. Whether in casual conversation or high-stakes negotiations, you know exactly how to navigate social dynamics and leave a lasting, positive impression on everyone you meet.

Erudite Knowledge [200 CP]
Your mind is a well of information. You can instantly absorb, retain, and comprehend any form of knowledge presented to you, whether it's a new language, complex theories, or arcane spells. Your ability to connect and process information allows you to understand even the smallest of details effortlessly. Your memory is flawless, ensuring you never forget what you've learned. Additionally, the storage for information in your brain is infinite, ensuring you never run out of space to learn new things.

Angelic Kindness [200 CP]
You're truly an empath, which allows you to easily understand and connect with the feelings of others. You can intuitively sense the emotions and intentions of those around you, even when they're trying to hide how they're feeling. This enables you to provide comfort, guidance, or support in exactly the way someone needs it. Your abilities also allow you to forge strong relationships and resolve conflicts with grace. People feel seen and heard in your presence, and your compassion can soothe even the most troubled individuals.

Rock Solid Diligence [200 CP]
Your work ethic is unmatched. You have an extraordinary level of focus and perseverance, enabling you to work tirelessly on any task without losing motivation or making mistakes. Whether it's mastering a skill, solving a problem, or completing a task, your commitment ensures consistent progress and exceptional results. You can maintain peak concentration and stamina for extended periods, always pushing forward with care and precision, no matter how challenging the goal.

Transcendent Proficiency [200 CP]
Mastery comes naturally to you. No matter the skill, craft, or discipline, you can learn and perfect it with absurd speed and ease. Your movements are precise, your techniques flawless, and your ability to adapt to new challenges is unmatched. Whether in combat, art, or any task requiring finesse, your proficiency allows you to perform at the highest level, as if you've spent a lifetime honing your abilities. With each new venture, you quickly become a natural expert, impressing those around you with your flawless execution and refined skill.

No Restrictions [400 CP]
The Dark Hour, the TV World, the Cognitive World. Some powers are restricted to only work in certain realms. You are an exception to this rule, enabling you to summon your Personas and use all of their and your own powers in the real world. All of your powers that would usually need to meet certain requirements will now continue to work anywhere and anytime regardless of them. Go summon your Personas in your classroom, Jumper!

Contractor [400 CP]
The protagonists of the Persona Games will sometimes come across certain personas and convince them to join their ranks. The same happens to you now. Whether after convincing them in a conversation or after beating them in a fight, personas, shikigami, monsters, yokai and similar beings will become "contracted" to you and you'll gain the ability to summon them to fight for you. Your roster for your summons is now infinite and they'll be able to endlessly rise in strength. Your summons rise in power together with you, gain new abilities the stronger they become, and may even evolve into new forms. This also integrates any other summons you already possess, be they through "contracts" or something else entirely, allowing for all of them to benefit from this.

No To That [400 CP]
The protagonists of the Persona Games have the ability to fuse their personas together to gain stronger ones with new abilities. The downside to this is that they lose the personas used for this. You don't have that problem. Anytime you fuse your personas together you'll create copies of them that get fused instead of the originals. This allows you to still benefit from the fusion while still having your original personas. You can now also fuse other summons the same way you would fuse your personas. Of course this perk also works for fusing said other summons.

Dungeon Crawler [400 CP]
Mementos, the incarnation of the Collective Unconsciousness. Tartarus, the Labyrinth that appears during the Dark Hour. You become the proud owner of a similar dungeon. In this setting, and any future settings that follow, you can teleport yourself and your allies into a dungeon with infinite floors. Here you can fight and test yourself against an infinite plethora of shadows that will update to fit into each future setting. If you also have the Contractor Perk, then you can turn any shadows you beat into your summons.

Persona

This section only features the Persona of the main casts at their unevolved form (mainly from Persona 3, 4, and 5). You can purchase any persona here, even if they're of a different arcana than yourself. If you happen to own the same persona as a known character then you can replace them, or have your Persona be perceived to be an alternative version of theirs.

Everyone gets two freebies and two discounts. Discounted Persona are 50% off.

Notes

1. The Personas are expensive because this supplement isn't meant to instantly make you OP.
2. I won't add a Drawback Section. You already gain two free Main Persona, and you're allowed to use this supplement multiple times. Be happy with that.
3. I'll also not add any more perks to this supplement, or give you the ability to purchase the evolved Personas. Evolve them yourself in Jump.
4. This is a Generic Jump, thus please don't complain about any inconsistencies with the source material.
5. Contractor would work on things like Stands, Naruto Summons, or even on Rika or the Ten Shadows Technique.
