Popular Crowd: You're in! Maybe you're a jock, or just friends with the right people, but you won't have to worry about popularity, unless you fuck something up.

Loser: You're at the bottom of the totem pole. Maybe you're too into anime, maybe you're a hipster otaku, maybe you're social situations, or maybe you just pissed off the wrong person. Whatever it is, you're not in with the cool kids and probably never will be. You're probably used to being invisible to everybody, and some of it is something that the rest of the world has a part in for things along the lines of changing the color of your eyes, hair, or skin, changing your gender, or changing your sexuality. Whatever it is, you're not in with the cool kids. Changing or removing social features (one of new male and female genitalia per customer), and things along those lines, not for things like adding extra arms, giving yourself a vagina for a month, or whatever else. You can take your body mass and use parts at the store.

Powerful and interesting people will go out of their way to include you in their activities. If some strange new club opens up, you'll be one of the first solicited for it. NTR [600 CP]:
You're good at NTR-ing people, the main character gets away with their actions without a scratch. Now, you have no! Your boss's home-brewed espresso won't work wonderful on you for being in a relationship with them. As a matter of fact, neither will their friends or relatives. Depending on the scenario, it may not be safe to let them know about it by inviting them over and letting them see you two together without hiding further much them. Though, they may also be willing to participate in a threesome with you and your lover, and/or most-used to seduce before, as well. Just a word of warning.

Non-for-Forbidden Relationship [400 CP]:
You're good at forbidden and inappropriate relationships, earlier? Well, ignore that. This perk ensures that nobody will take issue with the relationship you have with your partner. covers fisting, as long as you stop if they're expressing discomfort. Unwanted Attention [+100 CP, Requires Rejection]:
Unfortunately, while you find the people of this world repulsive, the same can't be said about them. For some reason, you're the catnip to the people of this world. You won't need to worry about someone trying to rape you, unless the person in question is a criminal, but anyone else is absolutely throwing themselves at you.

Author's Notes

If this winds up on Kitten, it's just some asshole trying to stir up trouble. This is purely for Questionable Questing and anyone else that wants to make their chains a bit more lewd.

It's wasn't completely clear, the perks in this jump are summarized fully as the subject of sexualization, and the ability to change what's sexualized. Changing the sexualization of a thing entails (just long enough to get them to agree isn't good enough), saying them into compliance, and things of that nature are perfectly fine, as long as nobody finds out that's how you did it.

Sometimes out there really hates you, and they want to make sure that you know about it. Whenever you start a relationship with someone, he or she will be targeted by a lie, ugly, slut with the perks from the Loser line. Sometimes, you'll have no idea who it is, and you'll just be on the heartbreaking. If you get them imprisoned or killed, someone else will just come and replace them.

Targeted [+600 CP]:
Someone out there really hates you, and they want to make sure that you know about it. Whenever you start a relationship with someone, he or she will be targeted by a lie, ugly, slut with the perks from the Loser line. If you manage to kill them or get them locked up, and someone else will just come and replace them. Worse, you'll be targeted by a serial killer looking for their next victim. This can be opposite and off, and where you may. Be the next one, because this drawback removes any immunity to drugs and lack of need for sleep that you have. After the jump ends, all effects from Mindbreak will wear off.
