Oh come now, there's more to life than testosterone filled rampaging for a glorified empire.

Why don’t you work for me?

You can look at my offer before accepting it.

I’ll even give you a sample if you just look at it first.

Of course looking at my offer has no strings attached! Hey, I’ll give you 100BP should you look at it alright? You don’t have to accept it, and even if you do, you don’t have to agree to my deal. Sound fair?

It’s just below, go on, take a look.

To spread terror.

What? Did you honestly expect me not to make you a deal? Should you side with me, I'll give you something special.

Aspect of Terror! Free with Servitude to Satan!

A far superior alternative to A True American I feel. It gives you the same as everything that matters, aside from a few changes. Your blood is blacker than tar, you exude a potent aura of hate and oppression, and that the various abilities you can take are modified in a different manner.

Screw Humanity! Instead of becoming a mere immortal, you abandon your humanity even further. Becoming a great beast the size of a building, you can easily kill dozens of bros with this form. What could possibly stop you? Of course instead of going for mass, you can go for more utility. Becoming three times as strong and as fast as a bro, by becoming an utterly monstrous being, such as a Xenomorph, a true vampire unlike the dhampir pretender Brode, or perhaps a proper demon such as myself?

Hellish Warrior! Instead of training people into becoming great soldiers, you may corrupt them into undying warriors. Why should we bother with giving out lessers training and skill, when when we can just have them charge in more and more? They even become loyal to you! Of course this merely works on terrorists.

Tormenter! You have gained the skill to imprison men of great power, and to break their will. If you can defeat an opponent and trap them, no matter their strength, they will be bound and unable to escape without outside help. Of course, this has limits, beings not bound to bodies for example won't be bothered in the slightest. Should you break a hero's will, you will have a far easier time corrupting them into a demonic being. Oh, and every Bro you corrupt may become a companion, free of charge. Consider it a gift from me to you.

Cultist! Instead of a bro in black, you become one of my cultists. A master of demonic magic, capable of summoning explosive skulls and casting balls of fire. Perhaps even creating a death field! You may of course take on apprentices, perhaps they'll surprise me and reach power similar to your own?

Oh, and I lied about the BP having no strings attached. Your accepting of my power will become known before you leave, and you will forfeit all local companions and rewards for any special task you took. And no, you can't give the points back. What? I'm spiteful.
