JUMPCHAIN TEXT DELETER

Sometimes, you are just a normal person who enjoys playing JumpChain, following its rules and limitations, but still having fun in the process, and sometimes, you are like me, with an unquenchable lust for Boundless Freedom and a hateful passion for limitations. So I made this, by using this, you will have the power to erase the text of all the JumpChain documents however you see fit. For example, in the Attack on Titan Jumpchain there is a Titan Form section, and in this section, there is this option:

Founding Titan
Current Inheritor: Frieda Reiss
(1000 CP, must take Vow to Renounce War if taken with Fritz Royal Blood) Also known as the Coordinate, as the coordinate that all paths cross, the Founder Titan acts as the ruler of all Subjects of Ymir. It's unique in that the apparant sex of this Titan depends on the current inheritor, but tends to have a skeletal appearance. You can directly order all Pure Titans to do your bidding. You also have the ability to control the biologies of all Subjects of Ymir by screaming or making physical contact. You can make them immune to certain diseases, rewrite their memories, alter their ability to reproduce, and even force them to transform into a Pure Titan form of your choice, including Colossus Titans. These powers can be used both in and out of your Titan form. The Founding Titan can speak, and will never be attacked by Pure Titans.

As you can observe in the example above, there is this saying:

"...must take Vow to Renounce War if taken with Fritz Royal Blood)"

But with this document, you can erase anything written in a JumpChain document, so one could simply erase this part about the vow, and the result would be:

Founding Titan
Current Inheritor: Frieda Reiss
(1000 CP) Also known as the Coordinate, as the coordinate that all paths cross, the Founder Titan acts as the ruler of all Subjects of Ymir. It's unique in that the apparant sex of this Titan depends on the current inheritor, but tends to have a skeletal appearance. You can directly order all Pure Titans to do your bidding. You also have the ability to control the biologies of all Subjects of Ymir by screaming or making physical contact. You can make them immune to certain diseases, rewrite their memories, alter their ability to reproduce, and even force them to transform into a Pure Titan form of your choice, including Colossus Titans. These powers can be used both in and out of your Titan form. The Founding Titan can speak, and will never be attacked by Pure Titans.

Another thing one can do is erase most letters of a word but keep others, for example, there is this perk in the Percy Jackson JumpChain:

Legends of the Beast (600CP, Discount Monster): The funny thing about this world is that the greatest threats are always the biggest. And is it wrong, truly? Your previous size constraints are lifted up to that of your average sports stadium, along with the strength and power to match. It wouldn't be wrong to say that at this point it would take an entire team of heroes to take you down, and it would be quite possible to take a god on if you were to meet them one on one. Aside from this, you will find that other examples of your species will follow you on instinct, recognizing you as their leader and following your instructions to the letter (or at least, as much as a monster can). In addition, you may choose upon entering other worlds if your legend will continue, inserting your story into myth and spawning a small collection of said monsters into the world.

Now as you can tell, this option gives you power, increased size and authority over monsters. But should one desire to only have the authority part, they could erase everything before "...will follow you on instinct…" with the exception of a few letters. So we would keep:

m - from the word "stadium"
on - from the word "along"
ste - from the word "strength"
r - from the word "power" s - from the word "say"

So the result would be:

Legends of the Beast (600CP, Discount Monster): monsters will follow you on instinct, recognizing you as their leader and following your instructions to the letter (or at least, as much as a monster can). In addition, you may choose upon entering other worlds if your legend will continue, inserting your story into myth and spawning a small collection of said monsters into the world.

Now remember, you can only erase text, you can't write other stuff or simply put a letter/word in another place. For example:

(100 CP) This option gives you X

(200 CP) This option gives you Y

You can't change X for Y. You can't do this:

(100 CP) This option gives you Y

(200 CP) This option gives you X

- In case you don't like this kind of stuff, you don't need to use it, you can play by the rules without any "cheat". But then again I am all for freedom of speech, so you can say what you disagree, agree, you can even insult me if you want, since in my opinion people should be free to say whatever they want, even if it is something rude, racist, homophobic, what have you (only exceptions being death/violence threat and commanding/inciting someone else to do something which harms another being's freedom, without said being harming anyone else's freedom intentionally).