Welcome to Earth...maybe? At first this world seems like the normal world you're from, but some things appear different. People's movements are stiffer, men are much more effeminate, and everything is exaggerated to extreme levels. Superheroes and villains harass each other on discord and twitter, gyms are actually pyramid schemes staffed by demons, restaurant chains have their own paramilitary forces taking out hits on people, and the government is putting chemicals in the water to turn people into femboys!! Is this some manner of cyberpunk dystopia? Sadly, no. For the next ten years, you will be spending your time in the stop-motion parody world of the Youtube channel "pantsahat".

Budget

You start with 1000 Choice Points (cp) to spend on perks, items, and companions here.

Background | Perks | Items | Companions | Drawbacks

Honestly, with how chaotic this YouTube series is, it doesn't really matter whether or not you have a background history in the world, nor do backgrounds really provide much aside from your physical form, as such Every background can be used as a Drop-In. If you already own a toy, figurine, or action figure you like that matches your background, you can instead import yourself as that toy. Your form can be at any age you want, and any gender you want (unless you're a Femboy). Regardless of whether you provide your own toy form or not, after this jump you may keep your new form gained here as a new Alt-Form.

Lego Product

You appear to be some manner of being made from Lego products, whether that be a normal yellow Lego person or even a Bionicle. Because of your Lego nature, you also find you have a minor boost to your grip strength and your tolerance to low temperatures (such as being left and forgotten in a refrigerator) improved. If you don't like Lego, you can choose.

Figurine

Figurines, action figures, and all sorts of poseable toys are the backbone of many a stop-motion YouTube series. Doubly so if they're cute anime girls. Or femboys. Or Spiderman. Thanks to your advanced articulation and ball-joints while in this form you're much more flexible, able to jump and wrap your thighs around a victim's head with the grace of an acrobat.

Some Other Toy

While Legos and figurines may be the backbone of this series, there are still many people who are shown as less…sophisticated toys. Whether you're a normal kid's toy or a blobby looking Nendoroid you're one of these simpler figures. This simpler form makes you than other people, being able to comfortably sleep on a Waffle House floor with no sores or stiffness, and possibly withstand a small fight in a Waffle House without any major broken bones.

Background | Perks | Items | Companions | Drawbacks

Tiny Hippo

You are some manner of hippopotamus, standing at a stately 2 feet tall at the haunches, capable of human speech and using your paws to dial phones or open doors. In addition to the normal advantages being a small hippo would grant you, you have an improved metabolism, capable of eating the most unhealthy or expired junk food with minimal damage and able to survive going years without eating. Granting, fasting for so long will still inflict great hunger pangs, but at least you'll live long enough for your next batch of Spicy Habanero Doritos.

Show more

Below are some perks you may purchase with your choice points. For each price tier of perk (100cp, 200cp, 400cp, 600cp) you may discount one of your purchases by 50% off. Discounted 100cp perks are instead free. You may instead spend your 100cp discount on a 50cp perk, in which case it is free instead.

Shifting Art Style (50 each)

Want to be a cute Figma, but also want to be an adorable Nendo? With this perk pick a second background. Your appearance can now shift between your normal background and a similar looking one based on your second background. This does not grant you the bonus traits that come with that other background. You can purchase this perk multiple times, choosing a different background to shit appearance to each time. In addition to a background, you may instead choose to gain the power to turn into a .PNG image version of yourself, perfect for engaging in some funny dialogue.

Femboy (50)

Did you know the government puts enough estrogen and other female growth hormones in the tap water to give any boy thick thighs, girly hips, and potentially huge bozongas? In this world it's true. With this perk you are now a victim of the shadow government's plans to sissify the population, being now a Femboy. Complete with a narrow torso, wide girly hips, juicy volcano thighs, a monster-can sized cock (optional, and you can choose whether to be a grower or shower). After this jump, you may apply your femboy appearance to your various other alt-forms as well.

You Were An Umbrella (100)

'Cause you're throwing shade everywhere. The ability to throw perfectly timed and devastating insults is an art form, and one you have much experience cultivating. You know just the wright things to say at the right time to leave people demoralized and in shambles. This skill in flyting is especially effective against those who stack no paper, wear fake Gucci, and get no bitches.

Handy-Job Boy (100)

Everyone's gotta eat, and to eat you need some cheddar. Luckily for you, you're hirable enough. You're skilled at working service and cashier jobs, and can to keep your cool when idiot customers start throwing fits and threats, and still to give excellent service. Furthermore, should you try and apply for such a minimum wage service job you'll find that just about any business you apply to will hire you in a heartbeat no questions asked. Whether or not you can keep the job though is up to you.

Bed Veteran (200)

Bro, your body count about to be looking like a war memorial. You are surprisingly good at picking up new dates and flings, and possess that certain charisma that tempts people to wanting to try at least a few dates (and beds) with you. Keep in mind, this only helps with the initial pull, actually keeping them interested in a relationship is still wholly on you, and if you end up being too toxic, they may decide that dating is like fishing, and decide to throw you back.

Hot Tub Streamer (200)

Wanna get rich quick with minimal investment and skill? In this day and age, the easy and dirty way to get money is to become a streamer and pull in the donos, doubly so if you're the type of attractive person that the Twitch mod staff will simp over and give rule immunity to. With this perk you'll find that when you stream or make any public broadcast people are bound to be drawn in and attracted to your content in droves so long as you make the barest attempt to be entertaining. Doesn't matter if you suck and video games and only have the gameplay in a small screen in the corner, just dress in a tiny bikini and sit in an inflatable pool and people will come. This benefit extends to the moderation of whatever site you use, as even if you break the TOS you'll be given a week suspension at most.

No-Life Coach (400)

Feel like leading youths astray? Wanna gaslight competition so there's more girls for you? You have a certain kind of charisma that makes people listen to your advice even when it's terrible or against their best interests. As long as you act with confidence and put in the effort to act like a life coach, you can get people to listen to you and make completely stupid decisions they otherwise would never consider before, like convincing a scrawny and weak twink boy to pick a fight at a Waffle House to affirm his masculinity so you can hit on his girl while he's either dead or hospitalized.

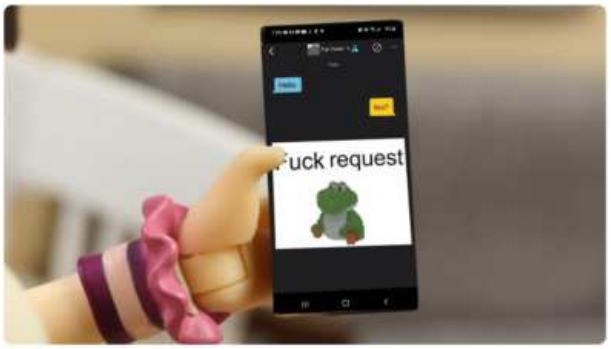

Escape Mode! (400)

Sometimes speed is of the essence, whether that is to escape an angry store clerk, dodge bullets, or quickly undress someone. For those times you can enter into your Escape Mode. Escape Mode is essentially you turning into a bean plushie of yourself, allowing you to move fast enough to dodge bullets or ram into and disrobe someone within a single second. The downside is this form is temporary, lasting only a few minutes at most and will go on an equal cooldown afterwards.

Clothes Make The Femboy (600)

Ever wished there were more people like you? That your body type and aesthetic were to become more common? Do you also need a way to make more money selling your used dirty clothes? With this perk, any clothes that you wear (enough for them to become notably used) will become imbued with your essence. Anyone else who wears them after you will start to see changes occurring to their physiology, slowly changing and shifting to match your own body shape and aesthetic. Given only a couple of months, this could turn the manliest macho soldier man into an effete femboy, or the girliest lady into a muscular tomboy. If that seems too fast and intimate, you can get a slower and lesser effect by dumping your used clothes into the water supply, but it would probably take just shy of a year before seeing any noticeable effects to start occurring…Don't let the shadow government know of this power you hold!

Build And They'll Come (600)

Everyone wants a cute dommy-mommy big tittied goth gamer-girl gf, but they're a small number. Statistically speaking, it should be downright impossible to find a girl of your hyper specific preference to date. Sometimes though, you gotta shoot your shot and see what happens. Once per jump, you can name any type or archetype of desired partner you want to see, no matter how hyper specific or incredibly improbable the combination of traits sounds. Do so and the arc of the universe will conspire to make sure you are able to go on a date with such a person. From there, it's up to you to seal the deal and get the relationship going, but otherwise this perk will handle ensuring the first date happens. Please note, traits listed or requested must be something feasible/possible for the setting. You can't get a slinky dress wearing shortstack findom Saiyan businesswoman in Dark Souls (since Saiyans aren't a thing there), but you can theoretically a sundress wearing genki gyaru Uchiha Trap with a thick accent if you go to Naruto.

Below are some items you can purchase here. You do not get any stipends or discounts here, but you may spend any of your unused perk discounts here if you want. Items lost or destroyed will be returned to your warehouse at the end of the jump unless otherwise specified.

Some Fresh Jays (50/100, each)

Wanna look fresh? You're gonna need some fresh kicks. This item gives you a lifetime supply of fresh new Air Jordan shoes. Not only do these shoes look slick, but should they ever get damaged or creased a replacement pair will be shipped to you within the next month. There's just one small problem…they're fake jays and if anyone notices prepare to get ridiculed maliciously. However, all is not lost. If you're willing to pay an extra 50 cp you can instead get a lifetime supply of REAL Air Jordans instead. If you don't like Jays, you can instead use this option to buy some Timbs instead, same rules apply. You can buy this twice, so you can get both Jays and Timbs.

Toy set (50)

Want something to commemorate all your fun adventures on the chain? With this purchase at the end of every Jump you will be given a toy set with toys and figures based on your companions, friends, and places you've been to in your previous jump(s). The toys are not special or anything, just a normal mundane collection of action figures. Please be aware of choking hazards.

The Fridge (100)

Everyone needs a refrigerator, and here's a new one for you. This fridge, however, is special as it's large enough to fit a person inside of it and comes with a chain and lock to keep the door closed. The chains and fridge chassis are incredibly strong, able to hold back even the most determined and psycho yanderes from breaking out. The fridge also has a battery, allowing it to operate for 24 hours once unplugged.

Gamerfuel (100)

Who needs things like a balanced diet or real food, true gamers can live off of nothing but real gamer fuel. This purchase provides you with a monthly shipment of Mountain Dew drink powder and several bags of Doritos of discontinued flavors. If you ration them wisely, this stipend could last you for about a month…or a week if you start doing gaming binge sessions. In the package this fuel is shipped in is a small order form to pick your preferred flavors of g-fuel and Doritos you'd like to see in the next shipment.

Worth A Felony (200)

Wanna rob a McDonalds? You'll need some heat to get it. This otherwise mundane M1911 handgun has a special quality, it's always there when you need it. So long as you desire it, you can reach into your coat, waistline, or a nearby drawer/glove compartment, and it will be there waiting for you fully loaded and ready to pop.

47 Alternative Accounts (200)

Take this scrap of paper. On it is a list of usernames and passwords to 47 different accounts on every website or service that you sign up for. Should you ever get banned, blocked, or terminated from your site of choice, you can swiftly and near instantly switch to one of these alternative accounts and no one will notice. Furthermore, you will never be banned for duping or smurfing with these accounts. The list updates and renews with each new service you sign up for and at the beginning of each jump. Furthermore, whenever you need said account, the one you need's information will always be found at the top of the paper. Have fun trolling and griefing people on Discord.

Bat Computer (400)

No, this isn't the large one found in the Bat Cave, but a smaller desktop version. What it lacks in robust operating systems and power, it makes up for in one little gimmick it specializes in: Tracing and tracking people's posts. Using the Bat Computer, you can track the IP and physical location of anyone you interact with on the internet, allowing you to dox and hunt them down with ease.

The Hippo House (400)

Wanna keep the iconic house of the series with you into the future? This purchase installs a door into your Warehouse, allowing you to open it and go to the iconic house most of this series takes place in whenever you want, so you can stay involved wit the ongoings of the Bruh Hippo and the merry band of schizos he surrounds himself with. When you leave this Jump, this allows you to go into the house and for the locals to go to your warehouse (if invited), but you can neither leave the house nor can they go to the world outside of your warehouse unless you find some way to take either of the worlds with you on your chain. Can't have you cheating before you spark now, can we?

Eat Come Be Happy (600)

Have you ever looked at a popular food franchise and thought to yourself “This would be funnier with goths, femboys, milfs, or some other gimmick”? Now you can have one. By purchasing this option, you will soon find this and future settings being populated by a restaurant brand that caters to a single specific gimmick or fetish you enjoy. This could be something broad like a Femboy Hooters, a Goth IHOP, MILF Denny’s, Dom Subway, or Tomboy Outback; it can also be something specific like a Trap Goth IHOP that pretends to be a GOTH IHOP but is secretly staffed by femboys in order to prank them. Regardless of the gimmick, you will always find their service to be enjoyable, and staffed by servers that both fit the gimmick and are attractive to you. If you don’t want a gimmick restaurant, you can instead choose to take Waffle House with you on your chain instead, highly recommended for those who enjoy fights and martial arts.

7-Eleven Hotdog (600)

Fool, do not mess with forces beyond your control! You know those hotdog machines they have at 7-Elevens? They’re for display, you’re not supposed to eat them, and for good reason. This hotdog machine gets a hotdog added to it at the start of each jump. Should a hotdog be removed from the machine, you must handle it carefully, for any damage or stress applied to it will trigger a wicked metamorphosis, turning the hotdog into a giant kaiju that will create a swathe of destruction in its wake. You don’t have any innate control over this hotdog monster, so be careful about when and how you release it.

Life is no fun without friends. Below are some options for your companions.

Import (50 each/200)

If you have any companions that you want to take with you here, then for the cheap price of 50cp each you may import any of your companions, granting them a background of choice and 400cp to spend on perks and items. They may also take the drawbacks “I Was Being Ironic”, “Gobblin’ Up The Slop”, “BRUH”, and “PhD In Poverty” to increase their budget, but they cannot purchase any companion options. If you have a lot of companions, then you may instead spend 200cp to import up to 8 companions (saving you 200cp!) at once.

My New Toy (50 each)

Don’t already have a companion, but want a new OC? No problem. For a small price you can instead create a new companion, using the same process and options as described in the Import option. However, in addition to being able to make a new character from cloth, you can instead use this option to convert any non-living toy or figurine you already possess into a living character, allowing you to base their new personality either off of either the character they’re based off of or a new original personality of your design. Yes, this does work with bubba’d up custom figurines you’ve made from parts of other toys and figures, you weird Moonshine wannabe.

Bruhs before Huhs (50 each)

Is there a character here you’ve grown attached to? Perhaps you decided to be Chico the Catgirl’s newest paypiggy, or maybe you wanted to inflict a certain Astolfo cosplayer onto the rest of the universe? For 50 cp each you can open a spot to bring one of these characters that appear in the pantsahat videos with you on the chain as a companion. Please keep in mind that they have to consent to being a companion, you can’t just get them mail ordered to you like a catgirl. Except Chico, you can get her shipped to you.

Need some more choice points to get the things you want? Below are some drawbacks to make your time here in this jump more “interesting”. Taking a drawback will grant you the listed CP. There is no limit to the number of drawbacks you can take.

mamsnrbbr chehfde in der soder (±0)

All manner of characters appear in this series. Master Chief, Walter White, Indiana Jones, Toa Tahu, etc. And many of them rather than just being toys or actors are supposedly the actual characters (Chief’s service to the UNSC is constantly brought up). With this option you can toggle whether those characters remember any shared history they may have had with you in previous jumps and universes. How does that work? I dunno, don’t think about it, it works however way is the funniest.

I Was Being Ironic! (+100)

Made too many lurid jokes and now you have to commit? Perhaps someone took your sarcastic advice at face value and now it’s your problem. Regardless, this is going to be a common problem for you. Every time you try and obfuscate your meanings and intentions, whether that be by joking, flirting, sarcasm, irony, or even lying, your attempts will inevitably backfire on you and cause more problems for you than if you had just been honest to begin with. And with how dumb and groan inducing this world is in general, the temptation to be snarky and punished for it will be strong.

Stopped By Motion (+100)

Stop-motion animation, especially amateur, can be a rather acquired taste. With this drawback you can’t help but notice the janky, jerky frames of movement this universe runs on. You will never get used to how stilled and mechanical things are even at their smoothest, and you will be constantly filled with the sense of unease at the constant presence of the uncanny valley caused by the medium of this universe.

Gobblin’ Up The Slop (+200)

Your tastebuds and appetite have been totally ruined now. No longer will normal, real, healthy food taste good to you. Instead you are now hopelessly addicted to incredibly unhealthy and garbage overpriced fast food and junk food. Say goodbye to home cooked meals, now the only thing that tastes good to you is overvalued McDonalds, food poisoning inducing Taco Bell, ancient stale Doritos, and gamer supplements. May God have mercy on your wretched soul, because your appetite will give no mercy to your abused stomach and bowls, and your new blooming relationship with the bathroom.

BRUH (+200)

Sorry to say this anon, but it seems all those chemicals in the water and vaccines have done a number on your mind. You are no longer as smart as you once were. Your sense of decision making has been shot, and worst of all your attention span has taken a nosedive, leaving you a spastic and scatterbrained mess like the rest of the cast. Worse yet, it's very easy for you to develop some manner of neurosis based on the things you experience or exposed to. Still, at least you'll be in good company here.

THE LIBRULS! (+300)

Those dang libruls keep going too far. First they banned the sale of maple syrup due to "cultural appropriation against Canadians", and that's just the start of things! From now on, every time you find something nice and enjoyable in your life, government and business policies will collude to take away your enjoyment of the thing, whether that be by banning it, overregulating it, or making life generally an annoying hassle to get anything truly fun and joyful done in your life. Expect to be on the wrong side of the law or Karens often.

PhD in Poverty (+300)

Bro, how are you less put together than Humpty Dumpty!? From now on, you're going to have a hard time keeping a hold on your money or making any significant long-term profits or wealth generation. Whether that be due to legal fees, overspending, gambling, repair bills for your house or car, or constantly losing a job, you're going to find it hard to maintain any sort of wealth base beyond your basic subsistence. Better get to job hunting my guy.

Out-Pizza'd The Hut (+400)

You idiot, no one out-pizzas The Hut and gets away with it! You've somehow crossed one of the corporate overlords of this world, and now they're out for blood.` For the duration of the Jump, you will be constantly hounded by corporate soldiers, mercenaries, and rent-a-cops. At first they will merely try to arrest you and lock you up in corporate prison, but if you keep resisting they will keep escalating, eventually sending their own private paramilitary forces to take you down. No one out-pizzas the Hut.

A Shot of Moonshine (+400)

With how dystopic this setting is, its only a matter of time before it all goes up in flames…lets accelerate that shall we? Within five years of starting the jump, the world will descend into a nuclear apocalypse. Countries will burn, governments will turn to tyrannies, warlords will rise, and mutants and freaks will arise. In general, this world will swiftly start to look akin to the post-apoc world as shown in the works of stop-motion youtuber Moonshine Animation. I hope you have a plan for how to survive the end of the world. My advice, find a warlord to brown-nose up to. Glory to Pippakistan!

…Are you still here? Ah, yes. The Ending. I guess 10 years have come and gone rather quickly. With the end of your Jump here at hand your drawbacks have been revoked, and it's time to make your last decision, the same one you always may at the end of every jump. Choose one of three:

I'm Not in Probation Anymore

I take it you've had your fill of zany hijinks? These years traveling the universe have finally taken their toll on you? Well, I guess it's time to retire. You leave this world and go back to your home world and dimension of origin, keeping with you all the perks, powers, items, and properties you've managed to collect along your chain.

House Arrest

I take it you've acquired a bad case of Stokholm Syndrome? With this you've chosen to remain here in this wacky stop-motion world, keeping all the perks and items and other things you've gained from your previous jumps. Not sure why you'd stay here, but more power to you.

Picking Up Hotties On Uber

The chain stops for no man, time to pack your bags and head out to your next jump. Keep all the perks, items, and companions you've bought here and be on your way to the next chapter of your great multiversal journey. And maybe, the next time you find yourself at a Waffle House, try picking a fight there for old times' sakes.

Notes, Questions, and other things

My Special Thanks to the anons of /jc/. I love you guys…no homo.

Can the femboy perk give me booba to be a busty femboy?

Yes, it can.
