As a criminal, you have an instinct for sniffing out good deals, knowing where, how and to whom to sell your loot, as well as knowledge of your local underworld.

Henchman [100 CP | Free for Criminal]
You know how to use a firearm, maybe not to the level of some legends, but it's enough to make anyone think you're an amateur.

Gambler [200 CP | Discounted for Criminal]

You're good at cheating at card games, predicting which card will appear or the right number at roulette, heads or tails and any kind of casino game are a winning bet for you. As well as using cards as projectiles, you can easily be hired in any yakuza-run casino or pluck the house.

Sniper [200 CP | Discounted for Criminal]

You're not just an amateur shooter, you're a gold medalist who can hit a target from a kilometer away, and you're good at planning and setting up your targets "legally", thanks to the police contacts you get with each jump.

Phantom Thief [400 CP | Discounted for Criminal]

Your thieving skills are on a par with those of a master. Not only can you easily steal someone's weapon without them noticing, but you also possess great agility and parkour skills, and can dodge a blow by dropping a layer of your clothing.

Silver fox [400 CP | Discounted for Criminal]

You're a master of disguise, able to take on the appearance of anyone thanks to your knowledge of mask-making. You can also make weapons camouflaged as cameras if you're trying to pass yourself off as a photographer, for example.

Mad scientist [600 CP | Discounted for Criminal]
Your skills in science are unproven, whether it is modifying insects to make them deadly, creating drugs that strengthen physical abilities but place consumers in a berserk state, with this you are worthy of the title of mad scientist.

Drop in

Reflexes [100 CP | Free for Drop in]

You have excellent reflexes and a sense of hearing capable of hearing the tiniest noises, allowing you to aim without seeing but just with the sound produced by your target, or to know that someone is about to fire into the room just by the sound of his gun about to fire.

CQC [100 CP | Free for Drop in]

Sometimes firearms aren't enough, you know how to get by in hand-to-hand combat, which is enough to win against several ordinary opponents ganging up on you alone. What's more, you know how to use anything as a weapon, from throwing knives to your opponent's belt and coat hangers.

Lucky shot [200 CP | Discounted for Drop in]

Like Kaori, your shooting skills are unique dodging the hammer blow... to say the least, when you miss your target whether it dodges or not. There's a greater chance that the bullet will hit a piece of decor, giving you an advantage, maybe some flowerpots will fall on the target!

C-City… you… [200 CP | Discounted for Drop in]

Your reputation precedes you, Jumper. People will hear stories about you and your exploits, but they won't take advantage of them. Depending on the latter, they may even be nervous or paralyzed by your reputation alone.

Body Guard [400 CP | Discounted for Drop in]

You're always there at the right time, so if the person you're there to protect is in danger, you'll already be there, and if the people you're trying to help or save are being attacked, you'll be nearby. What's more, you're not content with just doing your job, you're also gifted at solving your customers' deepest problems and changing their lives for the better.

Gunsmith [400 CP | Discounted for Drop in]

City Hunter [600 CP | Discounted for Drop in]

You have the same shooting level as Ryô Saeba, enabling you to make incredible shots, such as hitting the exact same spot six times in a row, or blowing up the barrel of a weapon by shooting into it from a distance. But that's not all: as a hunter, you know your hunting ground by heart. Once per jump, you can choose a city and know everything about it

Umibôzu [600 CP | Discounted for Drop in]

You're just as good a shot as he is, but you've also got his trapping skills, so you can turn a house into a booby trap in a matter of hours. Wrestler [200 CP | Discounted for Civilian]
You're very good at martial arts, maybe you learned it from your bodyguard. One thing's for sure: you're not as defenseless as you might think. And bandits will bitterly regret trying to catch you when they're thrown to the ground.

Miko [400 CP | Discounted for Civilian]
You're one of the few priestesses of this era who can foretell the future in the form of prophecies you understand perfectly, however nebulous. Like knowing when the city hunter himself hasn't sensed that a shooting is about to take place.

Noblesse Aura [400 CP | Discounted for Civilian]
You possess the power of the anti-pervert aura! No perverts can touch you or try to lewd you, if they try anything they'll be electrocuted and ejected away from you, plus lust-based powers automatically fail around you! Of course, you can turn it on and off.

Good doctor [600 CP | Discounted for Civilian]
You're a scientist, and not just any kind of scientist, but one capable of particularly annoying the manufacturers of biological weapons: a bacterium that sterilizes people is no problem for you. You can create a vaccine, a swarm of killer wasps, it may take you a few days to find an antidote with no side effects, but that's more than enough for you.

Really, really cute [600 CP | Discounted for Civilian]
You're cute, that's for sure, but with this it becomes a superpower! People will hesitate to hurt you, you're far too adorable it would be a waste to damage you. If you find yourself in danger, people around you will try to protect you, and wherever you go you'll create fan clubs that will use their talent and contacts to help you.
