

Isekai Tensei Shite Nouryoku de H na Koto suru Hanashi
Jumpchain by Cthulhu Fartagn

The Story Thus Far

After dying through unknown methods, a young man found himself standing before a beautiful goddess, who tasked him with fighting against the demon lord that plagued the world she watched over. As payment for his services, she gave him a cheat skill by the name of [Absolute Submission]. Simply put, it would allow him to command anyone and anything into doing his bidding. In a fit of whimsy, he thought to use it on the goddess and jokingly commanded her to strip.

To his surprise, she did. Naturally, he took the opportunity to have his way with her body and to start his mandatory harem of isekai bitches with the goddess herself. And also to demand all the other cheat skills she hadn't been planning to give him, resulting in him quite literally having more power than he knew what to do with. From there, he began to wander the world, almost completely ignoring the threat he was supposed to fight except by accident or when suitably aroused. Fight the demon army for fame and glory? Pass. Fight the demon army for the princesses' virginity? Hell yeah.

And you… You're also here. Dunno why. Have some points to get you settled.

+1000 cp

Origins

Free, 200 cp - Summoned Hero
You are a hero summoned by the goddess. If you wish, you may in fact be THE hero summoned by the goddess, to which end you may or may not wake up to your first moments in the jump balls deep inside of her, depending on later purchases. Otherwise, you're some other hero that was brought to this world for one reason or another. If you purchase this origin for 200 cp instead of taking it for free, you may design a custom cheat skill to call your own.

Local Heroine
You are a native of this world. Despite the name, being female is optional as this world doesn't actually exist solely to provide the summoned hero with cute girls to rape. You may be a knight, a simple farmer, a local adventurer, a member of nobility or any reasonable origin that makes sense within the rest of your build.

Discounts

100 cp purchases, when discounted, are free. All others discount to half off.

Perks

Summoned Hero

100 cp - Hey What If I

You have to wonder what the goddess was thinking, handing out a mind control power of all things to her hero. Does she have a fetish of some kind, or did she just pick it randomly out of a pile? Still, ignoring how it turned out for her, it turned out great for the guy. As for you, much like him you're now victim to random fits of whimsy. Or intrusive thoughts, if you prefer. Self destructive impulses, perhaps. What would happen if I did this? There's no way it would work, right? And yet, the incredibly dumb thought of testing the mind control power on the person who gave it to him… went great. Better than great, even. You'll find that any negative consequences these dumb ideas would normally cause are easily smoothed over if not ignored entirely, and that on rare occasions your ideas lead to sheer and utter victory. Like having a pet goddess. In a maid outfit.

100 cp - Appreciate The Fanservice

Is there a point where you stop actually being excited for the sex and just sort of come to expect it? Where what was once special, an unobtainable dream, becomes commonplace? It can feel that way, especially if you overindulge. And of course, on the flip side, if you're starved for it, then overindulging is easy. For you however, you exist in a strange sort of limbo between zen and chill. If you were to use clairvoyance to see through women's clothing and suddenly it seemed as though they were all strolling around naked, you would absolutely get a boner from it, but you wouldn't be reduced to a drooling mess. Similarly, you'll find it very difficult to become outright bored of sex - perhaps if you spent a year with the same woman and the same position, but a new girl will reinvigorate all of that lust. Assuming you want it to, at least. This also means that you can remain calm even as you ogle peoples chest and ass and plot to rape them.

200 cp - Last Life Karma

In your last life, you were a good person. I'm not too sure of the details, but I'm told that heroically saving a young child by pushing them out of the way of a truck is a very traditional death for a soul like yours. Was that how you died? Who knows. Regardless of the actual details, you seem to have a fairly large pile of good karma to your name. Almost any kind of supernatural attempt to judge your character will return the result that you are a genuinely good person who can be relied upon to save the world. This may or may not actually be true, especially with all the rape I expect you to be doing, but that's what you'll read as. Don't be surprised if people randomly declare you to be a good person for putting in even the minimum effort, or a great friend for zoning out while they rant about their problems.

200 cp - Nudist Werewolf

You really have to wonder, do the more monstrous species have something in particular against clothing? Maybe they're all lowkey racist and believe that their superior bodies will defend them from the elements and your blade in equal measure, so there's no need to wear armor. Or maybe their full frontal assault is supposed to distract you from their actual attack. …All of that aside, you'll find that a good majority of female monsters will now default to wearing little to nothing. That includes both armor and ordinary clothing. For some reason most people don't think this is odd - other men will absolutely enjoy the view, potentially to the point of death if they get too distracted, but they won't find the nudity unusual in and of itself.

400 cp - Every Day Another Adventure
The supposed hero of this world has a truly absurd number of powers. So much so that he seems to regularly forget what kinds of powers he has, and uses a new power every day. This is aided by his wanderings putting him in new situations every day, resulting in things like him turning his body into poison to defeat a vampire, or growing to giant size to fight a giant. These kinds of situations and many more are what await you if you so desire it. Whenever you wander without a goal, you'll find yourself drawn into a seemingly endless series of random encounters. Perhaps you'll save a group of adventurers from monsters, only for them to start begging to fuck you on account of them having been dosed with aphrodisiacs. Or maybe you'll stumble across a spirit that is the last of her kind, and end up helping her repopulate her species? Trust me, you'll never run out of sexy scenarios to stumble your way into.

400 cp - Cute Demon Bitches And Cuter Princesses
Believe it or not, mind control is not the only way for you to get together with someone. For example, you could rescue a princess and she'd be totally down to bang as a reward. That's not an exaggeration by the way. Go find a princess if you don't believe me. Anyways, despite his utter lack of interest in actually doing his job, the hero did manage to, on occasion, mostly by accident, do damage to the demon armies. To that end, I have two things for you - the first is that your actions will have a strange tendency to snowball to the benefit of the world as a whole. Raping a monster might somehow end up with them finding the love of their life, for example. The second is that you personally will find fighting evil to be personally satisfying. Not because you're a good person, but because of silly little reasons like realizing that the demon lord is actually the demon queen. And that you want to tap that. The end result is that you'll find that more often than not, fighting evil is actually convenient for you to do, rather than some task foisted onto you. Or perhaps amusing or enticing would be a better word?

600 cp - Wishing For More Wishes
The rules exist for the protection of the common man. You however, are not a common man. Therefore the rules do not apply to you. Or, uh, something like that. During your time in this world you'll find that there are an awful lot of rules and regulations that seem to slide right off you, ranging from things like jaywalking and littering to the fucking rules of magic. Like using a mind control power on the being who gave you that power. You'd think your patron would have some kind of defense against that, but it just doesn't seem to apply to you. Similarly, if you were to conquer some demonic labyrinth and locate a genie's lamp, you would be able to wish for more wishes from her, despite the fact that doing so is absolutely against the normal rules for genies.

600 cp - [Absolute Submission]
This is one of the many powers that the goddess watching over this world is capable of handing out. How strange that this would be the one she chose to give her newest summoned hero - that is to say, you. This 'Cheat Skill' represents everything from being charismatic and physically attractive, to high tier charm spells and physically rewriting the target's brain. More specifically, it does all of these things at once, which, when backed up by a good chunk of divine power amplifying even the slightest amount of influence, well... The phrase 'if you give an inch they'll take a mile comes to mind, which means that every order you give will be obediently followed without even a chance to resist and that you can tell women about themselves and they will 100% believe you that it's always been their life's goal to be your slave. Additionally, this skill is not fixed. Using it will make it stronger, and anyone you control will retain a permanent weakness to falling under your sway in the future.

Local Heroine

100 cp - Potential Harem Girl

This world being what it is, there's a bit of emphasis placed on the heroes summoned from other worlds. Divinely anointed champions tend to have implications on the political landscape after all. Which is why its important to be in their good graces - or, said another way, she who fucks the hero controls the hero. Or is being mind controlled by the hero. Both work. To that end, you are both remarkably pretty, and fairly competent at flaunting that beauty. By the standards of Earth, the world most of these heroes came from, you're an easy 10/10, with potential to push up to 11 if you doll yourself up. Speaking of that, when you're in the mood to do so, it's easy for you to attract new partners with all your charm points, be that the size of your breasts or how skilled you are at a specific kind of magic. This makes joining a new adventuring party, or getting a boyfriend, very easy.

100 cp - Least Sexy Thing

On the other hand, who WANTS to be in close proximity to a mind controlling pervert for any real length of time? Weirdos. Or people with a mind control fetish. But that's them, and you're you, and you don't have one of those. So, how do you drive a guy off who only cares about your body? By being as boring as humanly possible, that's how - specifically, you have a desk job of some kind. Maybe you run the numbers on taxes, maybe you're the counter girl handing out quests at the local adventurers guild. What matters is that you have a complete mastery of a dry and dusty topic of your choice and can ramble about it for hours if you need to - which in most cases, is more than enough to bore even someone who only cares about your tits halfway to death.

200 cp - Class Levels

Congratulations on moving up in the world, you've gone beyond being an ordinary person and taken a step into the realm of badass. You have a class, and at a moderately high level as well. Mage, warrior, thief, jester, pick a card, any card. Er, class. Sillier or more specific classes will be more powerful on average - such as an ice witch being more powerful than a regular witch, because of the inherent limitation of only being able to use ice - but by and large anything is valid for this. Optionally, choosing a class may also pull double duty as a second beauty perk, with minor fetish potential. A cleric might find themselves even more attractive while wearing a nun outfit, for example, while a warrior is obviously best off in a chainmail bikini and showing off their abs. You may also choose to simply enjoy a particular sex act more, such as cock worship for a cleric.

200 cp - Bathing Beauty

Elves are quick to recognize lewdness! Which is not to say that you are an elf, that option comes later. What it does mean in that you have a supernatural instinct for when you are being spied upon and when lust is being directed at you. Like, for example, after a long and hard day of archery practice, you and your friends kick back and relax in the nearby hotsprings, and - someone is staring at your boobs. You might not be able to see them, but you'll know without a doubt that someone you don't know is perving on you. Of course, you'll also know when someone you do know is perving on you. If it's your husband, that's probably fine. Anyone else… Whether that is your cue to flee, to cover yourself, or to go on the offensive by trying to track down the source of the sensation is up to you. Just know that even a cheat skill dedicated to hiding isn't enough to stop your feminine rage at being stared at.

400 cp - High Class Being
While the ‘hero’ did spend a period of time in the adventurers guild planning which girls to add to his harem, he was eventually driven off by paperwork and as a result spent most of his time wandering the land stumbling into strange encounter after strange encounter. Giants, vampires, genies, minotaurs, werewolves, gorgons, elves, and much more. …As a reminder, the monster manual is not a dating guide. With that said, if the power available simply from a class isn’t enough, then we can also talk about races - so go ahead and pick something. Something from that list, or something else entirely. As you might expect, this comes with quite a bit of raw power and possibly a unique skill as well, from the Gorgon’s curse of petrification to the Genie’s wish granting. Additionally, you may opt to walk around entirely nude and have people not think there’s anything wrong with it. No idea why that’s a thing.

400 cp - Revenge Will Be Mine
[Absolute Submission] isn’t exactly a power that you can argue with. It’s in the name, it’s absolute. But whether by design or by improper usage, the hero isn’t using it to leave any lasting effects. Or maybe he simply doesn’t intend to keep them. In any event, this means that the monsters he’s using it to have his way with are aware that he’s dominating them in such a manner and are less than pleased. With that in mind, you’re weirdly capable of detecting the usage of such anomalous or cheat skills, of tracking down rumours of people delivering humiliating defeats through a variety of methods. The less fair they’re being, the easier it is for you to hunt them down to extract your vengeance from them. Though, uh, as you aren’t immune to mind control at all, hunting them down could just result in you being controlled again. Might want to deal with that first.

600 cp - Throne of Heaven
Well now, aren’t we special? You’re no ordinary adventurer or monster, you’re an extremely high level cleric and an angel besides. Probably. More importantly, however, is the fact that you possess a level of divine power. You’re a god. Well, goddess. You have a number of powers related to whatever you’re supposed to be the goddess of, the ability to spend magical energy to create servitors, the ability to cast spells as though you were touching anyone who has recently prayed to you no matter the actual distance, and the ability to harvest and refine souls. Every time someone prays to you, a miniscule portion of their skill and talent is transferred to you. Whenever a faithful dies, you have the option of taking their soul in its entirety. Normally that would be so that you could send them to your afterlife, and if you have one, you can do that. Since I'm not offering you one, however, it’s more likely for you to combine them with your servitors to make proper angels. Or you can rend their soul down for spare parts, and eventually condense the magical talent of thousands down into a cheat skill of some kind. Hopefully your faithful know what they’re signing up for. Or are fanatical enough to not care.

600 cp - Bring On The Mind Control
Why the goddess of this world thought that handing a mind control power to a horny Japanese teenager was a good idea is a total mystery. My personal assumption is that she was into that kind of thing. You may or may not be, but since mind control is the overarching plot, I’ll… incentivize you. You see, mind control now makes your life better. Sure, you might get bodyjacked, but it will be the best sex you’ve ever had. If you got dumped on the side of the road leaking cum, you’ll likely get found by a good samaritan and pampered back to full health. If you tried to hunt down your rapist, you might end up embroiled in a threesome with another victim and later on a relationship with them - turns out you’re just really compatible people. And that’s if they simply use and dump you. If such a person were to take control of you long term, you’d find them taking better care of you than you normally take care of yourself. You’re not immune to mind control, but it does seem like you’re immune to the downsides of being mind controlled. Expect to regularly come out better off than you were before from any such event.

General

Free - Call Your Doctor If Your Leg Explodes

Tell me, have you ever tried to pop your knuckles to intimidate someone? How about rolling your wrist and it pops? How about rolling your ankle and it starts popping and keeps going for a solid minute? Congratulations, you're old. It sucks. Trust me, I know. To that end, I'd like to take this opportunity to blackmail a blessing or two out of the local goddess and arrange things such that you age fairly gracefully. This will include, but is not limited to, a reduction in back pain, knee pain, joint pain, having arthritis or dementia, and any number of other minor but irritating issues that would normally stack up on each other until they totally ruin your day. Growing old may be mandatory, but at least we can make it not suck.

50 cp - Heavily Forested

An interesting little factoid about this particular world - the artist draws two versions, one in which every woman has a fairly large bush of pubic hair and one in which they have none. It's a fairly small change all things considered, but I suppose enough people must care about it if he goes out of his way to provide both versions. To that end, as you enter each jump, you may choose to simply erase any amount of hair on a woman's body below the head. Pubic hair, armpit hair, maybe even leg and arm hair? I know some women shave that because they think it makes them look nicer. Well, if you so choose, all of that can just… Go away.

Items

Summoned Hero

100 cp - Guidebook

As a relative newbie to this world of adventure and magic, it can be difficult to tell the difference between the various things you would expect to be present and what is actually present. For example, in this power trip fantasy world, there ought to be an adventurers guild, right? Well, there is one. And it's even full of a variety of busty and powerful women for you to team up with! Buuut it's not just open for everyone - there's a fairly large fee to join the guild in the first place. What a subversion, right? How are you supposed to party with these girls when you're poor? That's where this guidebook comes in. It serves two purposes - the first is to help you get a grip on the local culture and all the fiddly details that the author threw to seem special. It also has a not insignificant section devoted to common and or particularly threatening kinds of monsters. Which, in this world, are almost entirely female. While I would personally refer to it as more of a monster manual ala a certain tabletop game, calling it a monster girl encyclopedia wouldn't exactly be wrong either…

200 cp - Adventurers Guild

In a city I don't know the name of, near the edge of town, lies the adventurers guild. Most cities have one, because every city needs one. This place is… well, let's call it a fantasy world temp agency. Lots of random people with useful skills looking for odd jobs. More importantly however, is the fact that the vast majority of people here, both the staff and the adventurers, are going to end up being beautiful women and seem to exist in a near constant state of either leaving for a job or partying about a completed job. In short, it's a great place to meet pretty girls who can hold their own in a fight. Every major town will have one of these institutions, which, absent your intervention, will solve the locals' problems as best they're able and then throw a party afterwards. And, do note that I'm specifically mentioning this as what they'll do without your intervention as joining the guild comes with some ridiculous entrance fees and I'm not covering those for you. If you can muster them up, then by all means, form a party of cute girls. Otherwise, just enjoy the eye candy. And maybe mind control anyone you take an interest in to head home with you afterwards.

400 cp - Treasure maps

While I fully expect you to spend the jump mostly wandering around getting into random bits of trouble and also women's panties, the fact remains that sooner or later you will have to pay attention to basic things like food and supplies. While mind controlling people to give you stuff is an option, they can't give you what they don't have, so more interesting things will forever remain beyond your reach… unless you go and get them personally. That's where this comes in. It's a series of probably fake treasure maps that promise gold and riches for anyone who can locate them. Or occasionally the dungeon they're located in. Most of these maps are bullshit, but they do have a tendency to solve your problems anyways. Seeking out a beginner dungeon with excellent first clear rewards might accidentally dump you in an endgame location… but the pay will still be excellent. And also the boss monster will be hot. So, you know, multitasking and all that. Get paid and get bitches.

400 cp - Heavenly Accomidations
Hero, behold your reward - the gates of heaven are open to you. …Wait, what do you mean you haven't slain the demon king yet? That can't be right, you're not supposed to be getting rewarded for things you haven't done yet. Oh, right, the mind control. That makes sense. …if all of that is confusing to you, let me explain more simply - the goddess who summoned you to this world has opened the doors of her home to you, allowing you free access to an exceptionally beautiful manor filled with every convenience and comfort mankind could think of or want. Strictly speaking, it's part of the local afterlife, and as such the servants are angelic beauties who are more than happy to 'reward' you. What for? Anything really, you don't get here by being evil. Normally. In future jumps, you'll find a similar mansion available for your use… or if you prefer, you'll simply find that a random goddess has opened her home to you for unknown reasons.

600 cp - Ordinary Things
One of the bigger issues with getting isekai'd to another world is that, well, you're now in another world and as such there's a significant probability that you are not a legal citizen of whatever land you've ended up in. And also you're broke with nothing but the clothes on your back. Luckily, you have help! Be it the parents you reincarnated as the child of, or the church who did the summoning, you now have at least some level of backup in this world. And in future worlds. At bare minimum, this will translate to you having some form of home, a decent chunk of savings, and ready access to food and clothing. In other words, you're not homeless. Additionally, you now have a limited amount of access to the conveniences of a modern earth, even when not on such a world. Want to pick up the new videogame you'd been saving up for? Or maybe rather than a heavy cloak to keep the rain off, you'd rather just use a hoodie? We've got you covered.

600 cp - Pet Goddess
Ah. Ah-hahahaha. Congratulations, you figured out how to game the system. After being given mind control powers by a goddess, you mind controlled her into becoming your slave. Now, normally this would end disastrously. While [Absolute Submission] is powerful, it isn't intended as a long term method of control, trading an ability to pierce defenses against mind control in exchange for not lasting very long. So it wouldn't be long before you'd have been smited anyways. Fortunately for you, this goddess is a massive sub with a mind control fetish and actively enjoys you bodyjacking her into your pet, and is more likely to reward you for doing so than punishing you. Better still, I'll arrange for a similar event to take place in future jumps - you'll meet with a goddess and have the perfect opportunity to do something to her in which none of her normal defenses are active… and it will turn out she's into that and will thank you for it. Have fun!

Local Heroine

100 cp - Ice Magic Ice Cream

Fun little story - there's a mage at the local adventurers guild who has a side hustle using her ice magic to make ice cream during the summer. Turns out it's more profitable to sell sweet treats to kids than it is to go murder goblins. Especially when it's hot and humid outside. Miserable working conditions, let me tell you. In any event, you now have a similar side job. Go ahead and pick something, preferably something in line with whatever class you picked up via Class Levels. This will give you a fairly small but otherwise endless supply of a 'byproduct' of that class. As an ice mage, this would be primitive ice cream. As a warrior or a hunter, maybe it would be some kind of meaty snack, likely from the leftovers of whatever monster you killed last. Or maybe you're a cleric and you have a pocket that is always full of vials of holy water? You get the idea. Is this something you could make or gather manually? Yeah, it is. But this will automate it to an extent, giving you the end result with no effort.

200 cp - Cursed Armor

You don't need dignity, right? It just gets in the way of being cool. That's why I've got this for you - it's demonically enchanted armor. Now, I know what you're thinking. Sounds bad. Actually, no - this armor is perfect for you. It's stylish, comfortable, fits perfectly, and has a number of minor enchantments woven into it that make it exceptionally useful, from self cleaning to reduced fire damage. And best of all, as time passes, these boons will only grow more and more potent. The cost? …Wearing the armor makes you horny, and the longer you wear it the skimpier it gets. Fully 'grown' armor could let rank newbies compete with high level adventurers or powerful monsters, but would barely qualify as armor. A knight's armor might basically be armored stockings and long gloves and nothing else. And of course, how horny it makes you while you wear it also increases - that fully grown armor might 'possess' you and cause you to 'attack' people from how horny you'd be. It's well worth it, I assure you.

400 cp - Personal Realm

Not all monsters are created equal. Hell, not all humans are created equal, though we like to think that we are. Some exceptionally powerful monsters are given dungeons, castles, or wide swaths of land to either rule over or simply to menace. You are likely one such individual. Now, there is variance with this. Is this a dungeon you haunt to guard important relics from the forces of humanity? Or are you simply the headsman of an elf village, which just so happens to have a lovely hotspring for communal bathing? Feel free to write in whichever details you want for this. Heck, you could even have this be an Adventuring Guild or a small business if you want something a bit smaller but a bit more lucrative. Oh heck, maybe you want to be a noble and these are the lands your family is responsible for? Or maybe you're a demon and this is a church you've infiltrated and mind controlled, to drain weary travellers of their power. It can be almost anything, but the bigger it is, the less control you have.

400 cp - Summoning Ritual

The means by which the goddess calls heroes from other worlds is, technically, a mystery. However, we can infer a few things about it. First off, it summons people from other worlds. The remaining details are irrelevant, mostly because for you I'm going to make it so that It Just Works. This ritual circle is inlaid into the ground in silver in a location of your choosing, such as a location you control. It requires a godly chunk of magical energy to activate, and can only be activated on important dates, such as solstices, equinoxes, and eclipses. And a few other seemingly random dates that may or may not correspond to major holidays in other worlds. In any event, merely think of a problem you're having as it activates, maybe say some sort of chant about how much you need a hero and the prophesied time is now, and it will call a hero forth for you. This hero will be someone capable of solving your problem. They'll also be someone you wouldn't mind shacking up with, with a slight lean towards them domming you. And they will have an affinity for mind control in some form. …I'm afraid that's all they get, if you want them to have any blessings or cheats, you'd better have some to hand out yourself.

600 cp - Kingdom of Church
Of course, having only a minor level of control over an area, or absolute control over a fairly small area… Some people aren't satisfied with that. Some people want more. A goddess, for example, would never be satisfied with just a single church worth of worshippers. You would want your followers spread out throughout an entire nation, or ideally even several. Less chance of a random natural disaster or targeted demonic strike wiping them off the map. As you might expect, this item functions very similarly to Personal Realm, simply on a much much larger scale. It can be a kingdom you actively rule over, or a religion that prays to you and empowers you. Or it could be both. However, as this item being a copy of that item would be fairly boring, you may actively change the nature of this item between jumps. If you feel you have plenty of worshippers, you can take more control of the location by shrinking it somewhat and growing the importance of the church, until you have more control than the king. Or you can spread it out. You could even change which god is being worshipped entirely, assuming that isn't you and that you don't mind sharing.

600 cp - Jar of Cheats
Imagine if you would, a jar of marbles. A simple glass vase filled with little round chips of glass with pretty patterns. Now reimagine it as being made from gold and silver, ivory and diamonds, and the marbles all glow with otherworldly light. This is your collection of cheats, fragments of power in such excess that even a simple child could become a hero of great renown. One of these 'marbles' might contain the collective skill at swordplay of an entire army, all meant to be concentrated into a single person until they can cut time and space and the rest of this sent-. Another might have something more abstract, like self control, which allows the user to shapeshift because they have so much control over themselves. You have, at bare minimum, dozens of these 'marbles'. The only problem is that for some reason, they're incompatible with you. You can't use them yourself, only hand them out to the worthy. Interestingly, there are no powers here that would allow you to control others in anything but the most indirect of ways. All of those seem to have been used already.

Companions

50 cp / 300 cp - Companion Import
If you want to bring some of your companions into the jump with you, you can. You may import one of them for 50 cp, or eight of them for 300 cp. Regardless of how many you import, each companion gains 600 cp to play with and all the same choices you get, with the exclusion of them taking companions of their own or any drawbacks.

50 cp - Companion Export
If you're more interested in making new friends, I can also arrange that. With each purchase of this I'll arrange for you to have a meeting that leaves a good first impression with a character of your choice. Not many of them have any real level of detail to their lives, but if one of them appeals to you then by all means.

50 cp - The Obedient Heroine
For some 'Mysterious' reason, all of the previous attempts from the goddess to summon a hero resulted in failure. Not that nothing appeared, but that a failure appeared. They had an affinity for mind control and as such were given such a power, but they were lowlives, scum. Not brave enough to bend the goddess over and take her, and not competent enough to actually do something about the demon lord. This young girl is one of those summoned heroes, and is even more of a failure than the others as she lacks that affinity and is quite frankly a coward. She was given a simple superior combat skill cheat, hyped up, and effectively kicked out. The end result of this is a combatant who can murderblender her way through an army, but likely never would because she might break a nail and 'monsters look scary, wah!'. There is a redeeming feature to all of this, however. She is critically weak to mind control. Or maybe it would be best to say that she has an affinity for being controlled? Anyways, a coin on a string in the hands of a six year old could send her into a trance. Hell, a kid from the first village she stopped in did just that and ordered her to kill 'all of the goblins'. And that's why the kingdom has a new festival based on the time she killed 10000 goblins while tranced out. In an attempt to defend herself from other mind controllers, she's attempted to recruit you into her party in order to defend her from ill-intentioned ruffians… only for her to get hypnotized by the sway of your dick after she walked in on you naked. So yeah, have fun with her.

Drawbacks

+100 cp - You Should Shibari Yourself Now
New world, new life, new you! Nobody knows that you're a useless neet in this world, so take the chance to try and become an outgoing individual and productive member of society! And perhaps more importantly, delve into a few new kinks. For better or for worse, you'll find yourself with a mild fascination with new things, from books and songs in this new world to food from fantasy cultures, to fetishes which were just the realm of imagination back home but are actually feasible here. Like dragon dick. You know you want to. Unfortunately, more often than not your attempts to actually participate in these sorts of things go less than perfectly. As an unfortunately realistic example, on your first attempt at practicing shibari, you'd probably end up tying yourself up in an embarrassing position and needing to be saved.

+100 cp - Flat Broke
Due to perhaps not legally existing in this world, or perhaps simply due to simple mismanagement of your wallet, you will be spending a significant portion of the world with no money to your name. Maybe you're a gambling addict who never wins, maybe you're just straight up forgetting to collect the reward money from quests because you're spending too much time sleeping around. Maybe it's all of those things at once and the occasional pickpocket stealing from you whenever you do have money. In any event, don't be surprised if you clear a dungeon, come home with a massive chest full of gold, only for bureaucratic fees to drain it away to basically nothing before the day is out.

+100 cp - Dreaded Paperwork
Have you ever noticed that in a surprising number of isekai stories, once the demon king is slain and the hero's journey is wrapped up, a significant number of those 'heroes' choose to go back to their ordinary life? They probably grow up to be a salaryman too. Well, those guys suck. Literally heroing wrong. Give me your cheat you hack. Skill issue. Anyways, you don't have that problem because you're deathly allergic to being responsible for stuff. Anything more complicated than keeping yourself fed is probably a major drag you don't want to deal with. Even in this fantasy world, if someone dumped a bunch of paperwork in front of you, you'd probably flee in terror from it. Pair this with a youthful exuberance for the new world and a heavy disdain for anything even remotely related to the old one, and you have a recipe for hilarity. For example, someone might offer to let you go to magic school. On the one hand, magic! But on the other hand, school… tough choice for you.

+200 cp - ALL THE THINGS (Probably)
So, you're a hero from another world who was summoned into this one to save the world, right? You must have had lots of adventures in the past. I bet you've learned all sorts of cool tricks and magic spells. And hey, maybe when you arrived in this world, you also demanded more than one cheat from the goddess? In fact… I bet you have so many powers that you can say things like 'i have forgotten more than you will ever know' or something. Which is funny because from here on out, your memory is shit. You're just straight up bad at remembering things in general, such as names and faces, but especially what powers you actually have. It's funny, you actually just straight up don't know what kind of powers you have anymore. You know you've got some, and if you're looking at a problem you'll at least have one or two ideas for things that could be useful, but on any given day if someone were to ask you what powers you had, you'd have no fucking clue.

+200 cp - Royal Decree
Good news, you're truly living out the isekai hero experience! You rescued a princess from… her own experiments in shibari? Demons, you definitely rescued her from demons. And as a reward, you fucked. Congrats, you're moving up in life. Bad news, the princess is 'secretly' a massive pervert and is so enthused by you blowing her back out via sex that she's decided to keep you. Which is to say that she's gonna sic the royal guard on your ass to drag you back to her so that you can fuck some more, and will quite rapidly devolve into a yandere the more time you spend away from her. Or running from her as the case may or may not be. Mind you, staying with her isn't entirely a bad thing. Just, you know, royal politics sucks donkey balls. And her dad might not be happy with you. And she's going to continuously get more and more extreme with what she wants from you as she discovers new fetishes to play with.

+200 cp - The Goddess Is Not Into Mind Control
So up until now I've been running on a fairly simple premise - that the goddess is giving out mind control cheats because that's her fetish, and that she's actually fairly happy with the most recent summon for ordering her to blow him. With this, that is no longer true. Those heroes do genuinely have an affinity for mind control, but she's not fond of that, and is apocalyptically angry at the sheer gall of trying to control her. HER! Anyways, as I suspect that there's at least 50% odds you'll be inserting into this world as that guy, this rage is now being aimed firmly at you. Good job, you pissed off the forces of heaven and are now a wanted criminal throughout multiple nations! The demon king will politely congratulate you if you ever meet. Before trying to kill you of course, you might be bad at being his enemy, but you are still his enemy.

+300 cp - These Dicks Are E For Everyone
You may have noticed that, during my explanation on the Goddesses' cheats, I mentioned that all of the cheats that could feasibly be used for mind control were missing. That's only mostly true. Rather than missing, it would be better to say that they're actively in use. There are several other isekai heroes running around screwing with people, ranging from a jock with super charisma, to a mean girl with cheerleading themed bimbofication, to a hikkineet recluses with the ability to have anything he writes come true, or even to a gyaru with access to the rulebook. There are a dozen and one different abilities with varying levels of ability to control others, and all of them are currently running around the kingdom mindraping people and sleeping around to their hearts content. Some of them may even know that the others exist, and maybe just maybe one or two of them are actually paying attention to the demon army they were asked to deal with. Unfortunately, for some reason, all of them have been told, rightly or wrongly, that you have [Absolute Submission], and want to steal it from you. Which will of course involve mind controlling you, killing you, and ripping your soul to shreds. Obviously you'd die if that happened, so try not to let them.

+300 cp - Did You Forget About The Demon Army?
So, throughout all of this, there hasn't been much to say about the demon army. They're just kind of standing there. Menacingly. Offscreen. They've really only shown up a few times to get fucked, the minotaur, the succunun, debateably the princess was kidnapped by them… or maybe she just snuck off to have some private time. Not quite sure, honestly. In any event, they seem to be content to wait and let the hero fuck around. Well… not so much anymore. You can call this a genre shift if you like, but you'll arrive in the jump to find the city you're in on fire and under assault from an army of demons - and no, not hentai rape demons, actually kill you demons - and things will only get worse from there. If you're powerful and competent, this won't be an issue for you. Only for the many countless civilians who will die because they expected you to save them and you were too busy sleeping around.

The End

Go Home
Stay Here
Move On