

Merry Marry
Kyodai After
Itachi no Nikukyuu Taizen

Jumpchain by Cthulhu Fartagn

The Story Thus Far

In a significantly more peaceful version of Konoha, the Uchiha Clan Massacre never took place. Itachi did not become a missing-nin, Sasuke wasn't traumatized, and presumably Danzo and Tobi lack a dozen spare eyeballs. What change brought this about, I have no idea. Still, we should be glad it happened. Itachi will be getting a significantly happier ending, what with marrying his girlfriend and becoming an academy teacher.

Or, well, he would be doing those things if Sasuke didn't have brother complex a mile wide. See, Itachi once made him a promise when they were younger that they would join the Military Police together, an organization practically run by the Uchiha Clan. Sasuke didn't handle this broken promise very well, so he ran off to mope.

In a very unusual turn of events, he somehow ended up in Orochimaru and Kabuto's laboratory. Because apparently they aren't missing-nin either? Is Danzo just flat out dead or something? Anyways, as Kabuto explained what they were working on, he eventually reached a shady drug commissioned by a foreign noble, one designed to instantly change the gender of the drinker.

Sasuke steals it. Though I guess Kabuto did offer a free sample - of literally any drug but that one - so I guess it's not really stealing? Anyways, Sasuke steals it and a few others, heads home, and promptly slips it into his brothers drink.

Guess who has a new sister?

...Or maybe you're in the might-be-but-also-might-not-be-a sequel where The Uchiha are implied to be dead, but Itachi was always female? I'm not actually sure. With that said, you're going to be here for the next decade, so take these to help find your way.

+1000 cp

Origins

These origins are more akin to factions, but go ahead and pick one.

The Changed

Maybe you wanted this all along, or maybe your bratty younger sibling slipped something into your drink. Either way, you were born one gender and have recently and quite suddenly found yourself belonging to the other one. Good luck adjusting to your new life. And if it was your sibling's doing, good luck avoiding their likely amorous interests.

Your age is 15+2d8, and your gender is the same as last jump - and either already has or will shortly be changing to the other one.

The Changer

The aforementioned bratty younger sibling. Probably. You likely have a bit of a complex for your elder sibling - and yes, having one of those is a part of this background. It's half the point, you think I wouldn't give you one? I wish you well in your endeavours to not be treated like a child, because let's be honest. You're the younger sibling.

Your age is 10+1d8, and your gender is the same as last jump.

Location

While the story - inasmuch as there is one - takes place in Konoha, you may choose any of the five elemental nations, and anywhere within them to start the jump.

Discount Rules

Perks and Items of the appropriate origin discount to half off, which the exception of the 100 cp Perks and Items, which are free.

Perks

The Changed

100 cp - Alternate Beauty

Maybe you were a looker before. Maybe you weren't. The shinobi lifestyle does lend itself towards rippling muscles and hard bodies, and most kunoichi seem to lack a sense of shame. But, I digress. See, that's not the point, especially since it shortly won't matter. Instead, whenever you portray yourself as someone of the opposite gender from what you should be, you're even more beautiful. Whether it's getting forcibly genderswapped like Itachi or just flat out crossdressing, there seems to be a little something extra to your appearance.

100 cp - Forehead Poke

Everyone has little habits. Things they do almost subconsciously. This probably isn't one of them, though it may be a meaningless motion that was granted meaning through repetition and basic pattern recognition. Pick something simple. A poke to the forehead, a pat on the head, maybe rubbing the chin like a cat. When you do this people will automatically pick up on it's 'true' meaning. That's also something you get to pick, just so you know. It doesn't have to be Itachi's 'you aren't strong enough to stop me from poking you'. Or whatever it actually means.

200 cp - Teacher To Be

It stands to reason that someone invited to be a teacher ought to be fairly good at it. Which is actually somewhat interesting, given the supposed gap between the thoughts of a prodigy and us lesser folk. Anyways, you're a surprisingly good teacher, able to quickly figure out the best way to teach. How to phrase things, maybe sparing for the more physical. Even creating entire routines - or challenges - that force your students to grow in new ways. Geniuses are supposed to be aloof and mysterious to the smallfolk, but you? You can actually relate, and that means you can understand.

200 cp - Unique Learner

Some people learn best when simply told what to do. Others need to burn the sensations into their limbs. Still more may find that endless repetition is the only way to learn. But, that's a personal thing. It doesn't account for the teacher, or any teaching styles they may have or want to use. That's why you are now all of these things and more. If your teacher is the kind to drone on and on, then all of a sudden that's how you learn the best. But if it's gym class and they want kata? Also how you learn best. Simply put, you get a not insignificant boost to learning from a teacher due to the sheer compatibility you now feel with them.

400 cp - A Girlfriend Who Is Also Your Cousin

In the fallout of the Uchiha Clan Massacre, there was a bit of confusion about the identity of Itachi's girlfriend. She seems to have been included in the section of the report dedicated to his cousins. Well, given the amount of inbreeding the clans will do to keep their bloodline strong, it might even be true. However, for you the dangers of incest are averted - no, turned to your favor somehow. Usually, any genetic issues will compound themselves. A disease suddenly becomes more likely, a weak immune system becomes weaker. And yet for you, those things fade away even as your bloodline grows stronger. How odd. If only this were less disgusting.

400 cp - Just Run Away

Two timelines are described in the introduction. Allow me to tell you about a third. At some point, unknown if it's following one of the others, Sasuke and Itachi run away from Konoha. Itachi's illness slows them down, but the two live in relative peace, albeit on the run for quite some time. I've no doubt that Naruto would have chased him, and yet… abandoning Konoha for love, instead of revenge? Perhaps he wouldn't chase Sasuke after all. So, this. If you really want to, you can run away from your responsibilities. Clan heir, policeman, someone with a valuable bloodline, none of that matters. Just drop everything and run away with your love, and the powers that be will let you. I don't promise that your enemies won't find out and come looking, or even that you'll get the happily ever after you seek. Only a chance to find it without interference.

600 cp - Modification Backfire

Strictly speaking, this was due to a prototype version of the genderswap drug, as its first usage resulted in the user ending up with a female's body… yet still had a dick hanging between their legs. But at the same time, it supposedly wasn't fixed before Sasuke stole it. Well, anyways, whenever someone tries to drug you or forcibly modify you, or even poison you, things tend to go a little haywire. A unique and unpredictable reaction between your biology and the offending chemical will occur. Sure you might go down to the poison, but for some reason it will also double your strength for while before it starts to take its toll. Or, as mentioned, ending up a futanari from a drug meant to swap your gender. This won't do away with all of the bad effects, but you will end up with a decent silver lining.

600 cp - Unsafe Dosage

One of the reasons that the man who commissioned the genderswap drug didn't demand a more stable version was because it was deemed unsafe to take a second dose. It would have taken a heavy toll on the body - one he wasn't sure he could pay. But, someone stronger, like a certain elder brother ninja? I bet you he would have been able. Anyways, when people speak of a maximum safe dosage, they always seem to underestimate you. Maybe you're the hardy sort, maybe it's the same quirk as above. Either way, you always seem to be able to get two, sometimes even three doses in before the toll starts to show.

The Changer

100 cp - Beloved Younger Brother

Look, I'll be honest. Both in this story and in the one it's based on, there are moments where Sasuke seems to want Itachi's approval and affection even more than that of his own parents. Possibly something to do with how little those parents emote compared to Itachi. Anyways, your relationship with your siblings is one of the best around. Rivalries and general dislike don't exist between you. Well, from them to you, especially if they're older than you. While Itachi never went this far, you might find an elder sibling of yours doting on you as if they were your actual parents.

100 cp - Broken Promise

And of course, when your sibling dotes on you so heavily, they might just end up making a promise they don't intend to keep, or perhaps one they can't. Wait long enough and they could even forget about it until you remind them. Most likely via throwing a raging fit about their dishonest ways and how they promised - they promised! - that they would do something with you, for you, etc etc. Basically, you're really good at guilt tripping people who break promises to you. Not enough to change their mind if Sasuke is anything to go by, but enough to really twist that knife and make them feel like shit.

200 cp - Friends Give You Shady Drugs

For all the vast changes that seem to be in effect - the original cause of which can mostly be traced back to Danzo somehow - the universe seems to be trucking along as it's supposed to. Sasuke has a brother complex and seems to run to Orochimaru and Kabuto when things go wrong. Granted, he uses the drugs they give him on Itachi instead of on himself… Uh, moving on. Your friends, whoever they may be, have a tendency to be supportive of your crazier ideas. A bit too supportive, if you catch my drift. God knows Orochimaru doesn't shy away from the more illegal stuff.

200 cp - False Apology

Are these perks forming a narrative of their own? Sasuke yells at Itachi, runs to Orochimaru, and then slips the drug into Itachi's drink. That's what this perk is, by the way. As it turns out, people have a rather stupid tendency to believe you when you apologize for something. So what if you got a little bit absolutely livid earlier that day, you're calm now, giving them a hug, and explaining that you understand their reasoning. Hell, you even brought a peace offering in the form of a sweet drink. Except of course that the reason the drink is sweet is because of the drug you slipped into it. Anyways, not only do they believe you, but they'll let their guard down for just a few moments.

400 cp - Clean Break From Reality

Shortly after Itachi was changed, dosed with the other hentai drugs from Kabuto, and molested, his girlfriend came over to the house to hang out with him. Only surprise surprise, Itachi can no longer get married because he's a woman! His girlfriend did not handle that well. Anyways, following that… I'm not sure how the hell Sasuke pulled it off, but even his parents didn't seem to have much issue with the sudden change. In short, you're really damn good at convincing both the victim and the witnesses that any changes you force upon them were actually their idea, or aren't so bad after all, or something equally stupid along those lines.

400 cp - Take A Break
In a different timeline where Itachi was always female, Sasuke would apparently take to the habit of using the breaks in the training sessions he shared with his sister to fuck her. Given how much stronger she should have been, I can only assume that the reason she didn't fight back is because she enjoyed it. Well, that's slightly off topic. You can now use events like these, shared training sessions and the like, and treat them as a mildly romantic date. Or maybe just a fling, with the activity you just went through getting the both of you all hot and bothered? Well, you get the idea. Sex seems to be the perfect way to end a hard day's worth of training.

600 cp - How Demanding
I'll say this once more. Itachi was far stronger than Sasuke. While Sasuke might have been powerful for a genin, and presumably equally so as a jonin, Itachi was a decent contender for Hokage - the strongest shinobi in Konoha - before Sasuke was a genin, and was probably stronger still by the time Sasuke reached jonin. Then how is it that Sasuke manages to pull all this off, and wrap his 'brother' around his finger the way he did? Quite frankly, I have no idea. But I can guess. While "Beloved Younger Brother" makes your sibling love you, it's not an unreasonable love. They can and will break promises made to a child. But now, with this? It's not an exaggeration to say that they can't. They must truly love you - as more than just a sibling, or even a fake parent - to let you get away with so much.

600 cp - Ding Dong The Danzo Is Dead
The Uchiha Clan Massacre, Itachi's self imposed exile, Sasuke going missing-nin - all of these events can be traced back to the machinations of one man. And all of these events seem to have not occurred. Given the nature of the world, I can only assume the man got laid and chilled out. Anyways, you now have a switch or a dial of some sort. When amped up, life tends to be a little brighter, go a little easier, be a little kinder. Hard men making hard choices while hard will get off before making those choices, an act that seems to make them significanly less stupid. Sadly this doesn't actually mean that Danzo is dead, it just means he isn't going to be as much of an issue while this is turned on.

General

200 cp - The Academy Three

While in the Shinobi Academy, there are three Jutsu that a prospective Genin must master. These techniques usually represent the very basics, and their final exam. The Bushin, Henge, and Kawarimi jutsu, or Clone, Shapeshift, and Replacement techniques. You now know the basics of these three, as any prospective genin ought to. And since it's practically mandatory to even use them, you also have the Chakra necessary to do so. Not a great deal, only equal to academy student Sakura or perhaps a tad more. Of course, lacking her control over Chakra means this won't go as far as you think. Beyond those two points, you may choose one of these three techniques to have mastered a bit more than the other two, with you fully Genin-worthy in its use.

600 cp - Mirror Wheel Eye

The well-known Kekkei Genkai - also known as Bloodline Limit - of the Uchiha clan, more commonly known as the Sharingan. A unique power, or set of powers if you want to be technical, bound up in their eyes. The ability to see Chakra, the power that all Shinobi utilize, and the ability to copy its movements via perfectly memorizing them. Even movements made without Chakra can be stolen for oneself. You can see why it's other name is the Copy Wheel. But even on top of that, the Sharingan can see not only where Chakra is and what it's doing, but where it will be a few seconds into the future.

Unfortunately, the Sharingan is also the Uchiha clans bane just as much as it is their ultimate weapon. You see, every new power and level that the Sharingan has requires more and more trauma to activate. Given its ability to force you to remember what you see, these pains will never fade. The first level requires you to watch someone you love die. The second requires you to kill someone you love. The third and final level demands the death of a sibling that has done the same. Fortunately for you, this pair is already active.

Unfortunately, I'm basically going to forbid you from achieving the higher levels. Not unless you go to the base Naruto jump and suffer through its canonical requirements.

If you so desire, this can instead take the form of a pair of eyes in a jar, ready for implantation. You won't be able to turn them off, but you'll theoretically be able to escape the trauma - it wasn't you who activated them after all.

Items

The Changed

100 cp - Kunoichi Outfit

From the timeline where Itachi was born female I bring you this sweet little number. An extremely tight-fitting set of clothes that pronounce the average Kunoichi's lack of shame, and show of every curve and muscle that they have. However, this one is special. You see, beyond just being sexy in and of itself, the outfit continues to look better and better as you grow in power as a ninja. In short, a civilian wearing this is good looking. A genin is hot. A jonin, or even a kage? They're going to need a new pair of eyes after they melt from how hot you are.

200 cp - A Life Waiting For You

A child cannot live with their parents forever, especially when that child is so accomplished, and has technically been an adult for more than a decade. That's where this comes in. Quite frankly, it's a house. Not anything large, but more than enough for one person, and still quite comfortable for two. Yes, this would have been the house Itachi and his soon to be wife moved into had they got married. When you don't wish to do them yourselves, the various chores and housework tasks can be accomplished by a follower of sorts, a decently cute but not very powerful genin doing all your D rank 'missions'.

400 cp - Invitation to the Academy

One of the reasons Itachi was moving out at all was because of a disagreement with his father - Ironically, it was at least partially the same one he had with Sasuke. The Military Police of Konoha is mostly staffed by the Uchiha, and practically everyone spends some time as a part of it. Itachi, on the other hand, was skipping it entirely and flouting tradition in order to become a teacher at the Academy. This scroll is a similar invitation. Call it a guaranteed interview, if you will, for a teaching position at any school. Simply present it and prove your skills and boom, you're a teacher. Well, as long as there's a position available.

600 cp - Counter Dosage

This item is a bit odd. Instead of being any drugs, poisons, or toxins, this is instead a cure. But it's not a collection of cures either. Instead, this first aid kit will spit out a cure to anything that you have been forced to undergo. From more normal poisons to Orochimaru's shady new drug. The catch is that it will only spit out said cure after about a week. Until then, I sincerely hope that it whatever you're suffering from isn't fatal, or that you know a good doctor. If you last that long, however, you'll have all the cure you could ever need.

The Changer

100 cp - Mascot Animal and Mascot 'Animal'

So, this item is actually twofold. First off, I should probably mention that the Uchiha clan has summoning contracts with Cats and Hawks. There's something in there about fleet of foot and sharp of eye as side effects, but those can be hit and miss. Anyways, you now have a pet cat. It's not a nin-cat or even a summon, though I will admit that it's a bit stronger and smarter than your average cat. The second half of this item? A rather skimpy cat outfit. You know, for you to guilt trip your wonderful elder sister into wearing before you molest her.

200 cp - Kabuto's Sample Platter

After Sasuke's and Itachi's fight, but before the drugging, Sasuke had to get the drugs in the first place. In an effort to cheer him up, Kabuto and Orochimaru walked him through their current work, and offered him some samples. Of the two important ones, the first is a rejuvenation drug that takes five years off your age. The second is the oh so important gender swapping drug. Neither of them are safe to use more than once, so be careful! Beyond that, there's also one to increase the body's sensitivity, one to stretch the tongue, one to grow the ass, one to increase sexual stamina, and even one to increase your swagger. Don't ask me how that works, I don't know. Anyways, the catch here is that you only have one dose of each of these - it's a sample, not a supply.

400 cp - Invitation to the MP

While Itachi flouted tradition to do his own thing - to be fair, he was a pacifist - Sasuke was firmly intent on joining the Military Police. Did you know his father was the chief? Regardless, this works much the same as its counterpart item. Simply present the scroll to a military organization, do something to display your prowess - a test of some sort is tradition, though you could also fake a 'mission' of some sort as proof of skill - and so long as there actually is a position available, then you're in. As a small bonus, if you happen to have a family member as a part of that organization, you'll find it easier to get in, perhaps even with better pay.

600 cp - Research Requisition

Strictly speaking, this ought to be a part of the other origin since it's based on the foreign noble who arguably started all of this. On the other hand, as both the offender and the victim, he's a bit weird. Anyways, this item allows you to place an order from Orochimaru and Kabutos' highly immoral laboratories once per year. Want a new jutsu made? Or maybe a new drug? Hell, want someone rezzed from the dead using edo tensei? The two of them would be more than happy to fulfill your request. Even more so if it's a challenge for them. If you don't have a particular request for that year, you can always request a refill of the sample platter.

Companions

50 cp - Canon Companion
Due to this being a lewd jump, there is a catch on who you can actually companion. Simply put, due to the sibling focused nature of this jump, you can only companion someone with a sibling. Now, death is common so the sibling doesn't need to be alive, but they do need to have had one. On top of that, they will be stripped of the majority of their power due to how little it matters on account of this being a porn jump.

50 cp / 300 cp - Jumper Clan
In this world, I think you'll find that Clans are oddly important. Usually due to the secret techniques that only members of that clan can use, or the strange body parts they have… Which is usually eyes, oddly enough. Anyways, you can go ahead and import some companions of yours into the world. 50 cp for each one, or 300 cp for a bulk order of eight. Each one of them gets 500 cp to play around with for perks and items, and cannot take drawbacks. Optionally, their new backstory can have them all be related to you somehow if you want. Nine kids is a bit much, so maybe have some be cousins?

Drawbacks

+100 cp - Sweet Tooth
Much like Itachi, it seems you have a fondness for sweets. Unlike Itachi, it seems this is less a fondness and more a mild addiction. In and of itself, this is little threat, though you may occasionally get taken advantage of via this easily exploited weakness. Just try not to let the kind of people likely to take advantage of this fact find out about it.

+100 cp - Weasel Face
Fun fact, Itachi literally means weasel. Why is that relevant? Well, it isn't actually. But Itachi does have those weird line things on his face and they're kind of distracting. Hell, even Femtachi has them. Anyways, you've got something on your face that sort of ruins your good looks. Not even though sheer ugliness, though that is an option, but more in the sense that it's immensely distracting.

+100 cp - Lung Infection
Once again, you have something in common with Itachi. Specifically, you have a seemingly incurable disease that is slowly chipping away at your strength. May or may not be a lung infection of some kind, but that doesn't actually matter. You've got it, its not going away, and you'll be bedridden by the end of the jump no matter what you do. Have fun with that!

+100 cp - In Danger
Why do you have so much in common with Itachi? This can't be a good sign. Anyways, you seemingly have a bratty younger sibling not too dissimilar to Sasuke himself. As you might imagine, this is very likely to you ending up bound and gagged on your bed as they have their wicked way with you. Depending on your gender, you may find yourself missing some bits! Just be careful not to break any childhood promises and you should be fine.

+200 cp - Going Blind
More of an Uchiha clan thing than a Itachi one, but still a problem he suffers from. You see, the Mangekyo Sharingan has a minor flaw of putting too much strain on the eyes, something that slowly destroys them. You absolutely do not have a Mangekyo as that still isn't allowed, but you do have the side effects. Specifically, every time you use Chakra or similar powers your vision will degrade slightly, with more power used at once pushing you further and further into the darkness.

+200 cp - Pacifist
If his parents ever found out about this, they'd be weirded out over Itachi's life choices. Or completely disrespectful, seeing as the whole 'born to be a ninja' and clan honor and blah blah blah basically forced him into being a murderer. Anyways, you are apparently a kind and gentle person, who hates to harm others and absolutely loathes killing. Because you aren't going to be killing anyone this jump, and even minor injuries will leave you with an extreme amount of guilt and give you nightmares.

+200 cp - Orochimaru's Shady New Drug
As crazy as the man is, he's also a genius. And just like in canon, he's apparently critically low on research subjects. Which is why he's taken to kidnapping you in your sleep and forcing his shady drugs down your throat. Expect to wake up suffering from any number of conditions, illnesses, or occasionally in someone else's body. It depends on what he feels like that day. You can resist of course, but this guy IS one of the three Sanin. Good luck.

+200 cp - S Rank Threat
I don't know what the hell you did, but the other four major villages and any number of smaller ones have decided that you matter on the international scale. Hell, so has your own village. I hope you have powers from other jumps to help carry you, because the world is going to do it's utter damnedest to kill you. Or maybe expect you to manage to be meaningful in the final fight with Kaguya. Grind like a motherfucker, there's no other way to survive.

Ending

Move On
Stay Here
Go Home

Q - No price bump for full power companions?
A - Couldn't find a way to balance the whole porn jump thing with continent busters.

Q - Uh, what rank ninja am I?
A - Civilian. Academy student with one of the general perks, low genin with both.

Q - What's my plan for not dying instantly?
A - Temporary plot armor. As long as you don't go hunting down the plot, it will ignore you.

Q - Can I companion someone if I use Research Requisition to bring them back from the dead?
A - Technically, yes. So long as they still meet the companion condition.

Q - What are Orochimaru's limits? How fast is he?
A - As a general rule, Orochimaru takes half the time to do something as you would need.