

Pokemon Futa Version
Jumpchain by Cthulhu Fartagn

The Story Thus Far

Welcome to the world of Pokemon! I'm sure you know what to expect of any world that starts with that particular phase, but let me tell you about this world anyways. You'll be going to the Futa region, located far to the south of the Unova Region and just north of the Puzzle Contient. It's not a terribly big place, it doesn't even have enough towns to have a gym of every type! Mind you, that doesn't exactly mean it's small either.

The important thing, however, is The Merge. The Merge is an unknown energy field that permeates the Futa region and nearby waters and causes an extreme mutation in anyone who spends more than a few days inside the region. …Well, it's probably an energy field. It could just be something in the water. Regardless, it appeared quite suddenly a few years ago and caused quite a bit of public upset when it did. Still, the region recovered admirably. What does it do, you ask? Well, it turns people into futanari.

Man, woman, pokemon, anyone who is affected by it turns into a beautiful woman with a large cock. Most, but not all, also have female genitalia, the vagina, and are fully functional as both a man and a woman. Yes, even the Pokemon who would normally be quadrupedal or only a head. Almost everything is now bipedal, has big breasts, and a big cock. A few ghost types are an exception to this, as they lack bodies entirely, but other than them? If it's alive, it's a futanari.

And you're going to spend ten years here. I hope you like futa, because the existence of The Merge has caused everyone and everything to become much lewder. They renamed most of the towns after sex acts, such as Virgin Town or Orgasm city. And with that said, take these.

+1000 cp

Origins
Choose One

Trainer
You are a Pokemon Trainer, one of the precocious youth of the current generation who have big dreams for the future. If you haven't already, you'll likely be visited by Professor Sonia to start your Pokemon journey. Your job is to fuck your way across the Futa region, to Pregnant Island where the Elite Four reside, and try to become Champion. Unfortunately, catching them all is a bit unlikely given certain rules here in the Futa region…

Researcher
Or maybe you're too old to become a Trainer, or just aren't interested in battling? Maybe you have a more academic interest in things, and aren't the kind of person who wants to roll around in the mud in order to catch a new Pokemon. If that's the case, would you consider becoming a scientist? There's a great need for some of those right about now, as people really want to know what caused The Merge.

League
Up until recently, the Futa region didn't actually have a Pokemon League. Probably a few random strongmen and other people of skill like the Alola region, but not Gyms. Not a League. Still, time marched forwards, and the nation advanced and started to build one, partially by borrowing Leaders from other regions - and then The Merge hit. Hope you don't mind sharing a Gym.

??? - Pokemon
Or you could not be any kind of trainer at all, not even slightly. You could be a Pokemon instead. Honestly, it's probably a good deal right about now, just about every species has opposable thumbs thanks to The Merge. You'll still be expected to battle, however, and to have a trainer that you will obey and whatnot. Or you could be wild and just run around in the forest, fucking other wild Pokemon.

The cost of this origin is equal to the base stat total of your intended Pokemon species, rounded to the nearest interval of 100. No Legendaries or Mythicals.

Gender
Futanari? Or Futanari?
(No you don't get any other choices)

Age
While 10 years of age is considered the normal starting point for a Pokemon journey, you may wish to be 18 instead. Or whatever you think the Futa region's age of consent is. Beyond that, you may be any age you wish as long as it makes sense for your origin.

Discount Rules
50 cp and 100 cp perks and items, when discounted, become free. All others are half off as appropriate. In addition, you may take one general perk and item of each price tier at a discount.

Perks

Trainer

100 cp - Shining Luck

It takes a lot of things to be a trainer, and it takes even more to be a good one, let alone great. With that said, time can give you skill, can let you practice or study, and can help you grow more powerful even if only by losing a dozen times. The one thing it can't do is make you more lucky. So that's what I'm going to give you. You're lucky. Not absurdly so, but quite a bit. When looking for new Pokemon, interesting ones always seem to be nearby. When looking for excitement, you might run into a criminal to do battle with. And you seem to encounter oddly colored pokemon on a semi-regular basis, which is far more than almost anyone else. When you challenge a gym, it's right before one of the Gym Leader's friends comes over, potentially allowing you to have a threesome. You get the idea, right?

200 cp - Classy Lady

Trainer classes are an interesting thing. Some of them require a level of specialization that most people just aren't willing to commit to, and the rest are so unremarkable as to qualify for them without ever noticing. With that said, go ahead and choose one and you can pick up a few minor traits related to them. Perhaps as a Beauty, you'll find yourself constantly scouted for modeling work on account of an additional dose of beauty? Or maybe as a Swimmer you'd have a secret technique that lets you hide your pokeballs on your person. Or maybe you'd rather be a Breeder, with a truly absurd sperm count per creampie? Of course, those are all minor things - you could choose to be something more advanced such as a Psychic, but I'm afraid you won't be matching Sabrina anytime soon. You're still a beginner after all.

400 cp - Justice And Just Ass

Even the Futa region isn't immune to the threat of various villainous teams, though they thankfully seem to lack much in the way of structure. It's more like a few dozen assholes from different groups wandering around being lazy and greedy than actually threatening. After all, they want to fuck you just as much as they want to rob you. To that end, criminals have an odd tendency to play by the rules when you're concerned. They don't just rob you while you sleep, they walk up to your face and challenge you to a match. If they win, they do rob you. And if you win, well… They'll get fucked, instead of fucking you. This is the Futa region, after all. Of course, even elsewhere this will remain true, so don't be afraid to shove your nose into their business. The worst that can happen will only happen if you lose the challenge.

600 cp - Champion Class Lover

A somewhat unfortunate habit that the various League Reps have picked up during their time in the Futa region is a certain level of harshness towards trainers who lose to them. They fuck you, yes, but they also keep fucking you for potentially months. You aren't one of them, but if you become champion, then you will be. And it should be pointed out, people don't generally enjoy being enslaved in all but name… unless you're stupidly good in bed. To help you get there, and to help you stay there, you're both a highly skilled Pokemon Trainer and a highly skilled lover. You have the kind of experience from someone I'd have expected to have cleared another gym circuit, and enough skill, talent, and stamina in the bedroom needed to keep up with even the most horny of bitches with the most overproductive of balls. More specifically, up to six of them, your entire pokemon team, as well as the social skill to prevent infighting about who is spending the most time with you or being used by you the most. And as an added benefit, you're actually quite good at sparking actual relationships and romances from the brief meetings and intercourse with passing trainers. Just fucking them once is enough to have them agree to try out a relationship with you in most cases.

Professor

100 cp - Motivational Flashing

The Futa region is, as a general rule, a very lewd place. If you look around it won't be difficult to find a woman walking around with her cocking hanging out, either because it's too big to reasonably hide without special clothes, or just because she's wearing a skirt shorter than her cock. And you, you're a pretty girl. Nice thick cock, large hanging balls. The kind of futa that lots of kids probably fapped to after snapping a pic of you in a compromising position, or that they had wet dreams about. Which is something you're more than happy to take advantage of. See, as a Pokemon Professor, you have a lot of stuff that needs doing, and not enough time. So you outsource. Give copies of the Pokedex to kids and maybe ask them to deliver a package for you. Not the worst plan. But, because you're hot, the lewder you act while asking favors and assigning tasks, the more competent they'll act. If you just hand the package over, it'll take maybe a day or two to be delivered. Lean over and give a good show of your breasts, one day. Offer a handjob if they can do it in twelve hours, and they will meet that goal.

200 cp - Nice Cock, Girl

Pokemon Professors are often responsible for the start of a childs Pokemon journey. They hand out starters, a few basic supplies, and perhaps a task or two that needs doing to give them something to focus on. And, of course, encourage them to take on the Gym challenge. But what to give them, and where to send them? Luckily for you, you've got an eye for talent. By taking in peoples demeanour, what starter they choose, what Pokemon they catch, and of course the size of their cock, you can get a good estimation of how far they'll go in life. That kid is reliable for small errands, this one is good in the sack but has no talent as a trainer… but would make an excellent coordinator, now that you think about it. And of course, that kid over there? They're going right to the top, that's how talented they are. Consider giving them an extra show or two to keep them focused on whatever it was you asked of them instead of just fucking their team, other trainers, and the various gym leaders.

400 cp - Hello Nurse

Studying Pokemon is all well and good, but have you ever considered a more technological area of expertise? The world of Pokemon has a great deal of technology just sort of… laying around in the background, just out of sight that most people don't stop to consider. The storage system, machines that directly implant knowledge into the mind, more than a few kinds of healing, teleportation platforms, hoverbikes, and artificial intelligence to name a few. And you? Well, your name might be Joy, because you have a fairly in depth understanding of Pokemons medical technology. You could build the healing stations that Pokemon Centers use, or whip up a batch of Hyper Potions and Full Heals. Not the most exciting thing in the world, I know, but this also comes with an equal amount of knowledge on sexual matters. Aphrodisiacs, various forms of protection and birth control - as much as healing a wounded Pokemon is useful, this is the Futa region. Half the trainers are going to pump their own weight in cum into someone on a daily basis. There's a reason Sonia hands out boxes of condoms in her starting kit.

600 cp - Merging Phenomenons

Nobody really understands how The Merge works, what causes it, or where it came from. Even years later, there are still too many mysteries. But, these mysteries are your new area of speciality. Given time and effort, and examples of what such phenomena have on the local pokemon species, you can start to break them down. Most people would take that to mean turning it off, but The Merge didn't actually hurt anyone, so instead, how about making more of it? Did you know that every Gym in Galar is built on a Power Spot in order to allow for Dynamaxing? Did you know that Roxie, a Galar Gym Leader, still has that capability? Someone, possibly you, found a way to either copy it or to make more of it so that she could bring it with her. Phenomenon in a bottle. Such is your speciality. And as a side note, the better you understand them, the easier you'll find it to break the normal rules - such as Dynamaxing yourself instead of your Pokemon.

League

100 cp - Surrender?

Under normal circumstances, a Gym Leader has two jobs. The first is to test a challenger's skill as a Trainer. The second is to test their character. And most Leaders do this excellently, even going so far as to award their badge to people who fail to defeat them in battle but somehow earn their personal approval. Here in the Futa region however, losing means getting utterly fucked, and some people just can't resist the temptation to throw the match to find out what another trainer will do to them. Like you. As such, you have an aura about you. Perhaps it's a cool calculating intimidation, or perhaps it's more of a 'step on me mommy' kind of deal. Or even a rather pathetic 'I need a good fuck NOW' sort of vibe. This makes it easy to convince people that the punishment for losing might be just as good as the reward for winning, and causes them to take battles less seriously. A weak willed person might just surrender outright on account of caring more about doing the deed than actually battling.

200 cp - Inevitable Interruptions

The Gyms in the Futa region all have two Gym Leaders set up in them, as a product of how new their Pokemon League is. Most regions have a Gym for each type to begin with, sometimes more - there happens to be a double battle Gym in the Orange Islands, and a 'day and night' themed Gym in the far off Tandor Region - but because of the lack of space, they're sharing for right now. This doesn't always work particularly well, such as how Lenora - Normal specialist and archeologist - dislikes how the noise from the concerts that Roxie - Poison specialist and rockstar - uses the gym to throw rattles her collection from how much noise there is. Regardless, pick a type that isn't your speciality. You now have a great deal of skill at handling issues caused by that type, such as creating insulation to negate the vibrations Roxies heavy metal music puts out, or simply know how to handle the most… toxic, of personalities without getting too offended.

400 cp - Type Master

For some inane reason, Pokemon in the Futa region can only learn moves that share a type with them. So your fighting type can only learn fighting moves, your dark type can only learn dark moves, so on and so forth. This presents an interesting conundrum in the case of Ghost and Dragon types - when they're super effective against each other, who has the advantage? Well, as it turns out, the answer is you. Even though you should be theoretically equal, it's you.. Make sure to punish them for daring to take you on. However, this doesn't just apply to ghosts and dragons. You see, as a League rep, you have a speciality. The type of your team, presumably. From here on out, attempting to use anything of the same type that you specialize in now qualifies as them being at a disadvantage. Whether it's grass against grass, someone trying to dominate you with your favorite sex position, or even two users of the same martial art style, using your own stuff against you is a fucking terrible idea.

600 cp - Gym Training

As you should know by now, the reward for winning battles is sex, and the more of an imbalance in power there was, the more sex or the more kinds of sex you'll end up having. As a Gym Leader, you're supposed to be one of the best trainers in the region. To that end you're likely to crush most people outright. This results in a loss to a Leader being an effective game over for people's journeys, with them quickly becoming addicted to you in some manner, be it how good you are at sex, the precise way you degrade them, or just how you fuck them unconscious every day from your excessively high sex drive. In summation, while the reward for winning battles is sex, the reward for you winning battles is sex slaves. You may use and abuse these people in any way you want, from simply having them serve as understudies in your gym, to demanding they fellate you every second of the night, to partially rewriting their minds with ghost or psychic type moves until they're more appealing to you. There's no time limit on this either, though for the sake of the region as a whole I'm going to limit you to having no more than a dozen people at once. Past that, either fuck them and leave them like a normal person, or get rid of one of your current batch of slaves.

Pokemon

100 cp - Dangerous Weapon

Thanks to the sudden appearance of The Merge, most Pokemon that were caught inside its range are now humanoid, hot, and perhaps more importantly, horny. The only particular exception to this is a small handful of ghost types, and that's because they didn't really have bodies to begin with. However, while their transformation into a futanari made them more human, such as giving them breasts and a penis no matter how nonsensical that might have been, there's no particular reason that it needed to give them a human penis. To that end, I offer you three options. The first is that, regardless of what species you might be or end up as, you may have a humanoid penis. Thick and girthy, but fairly plain. Alternatively, you may have the penis of any species you had been, regardless of what you are now. If by chance, you were a pig at some point, or even a Tepig, you could have a spiraling penis. And lastly, just because, you may have a horse cock. These three aren't exclusive, by the way, you can swap between them whenever you want. Enjoy!

200 cp - Madhouse Environment

The Futa region is, quite frankly, a very strange place. Ignoring all of the fucking happening in the background, Pokemon are behaving strangely. Specifically, they are evolving strangely. A Pichu might become an ordinary Raichu, or it could become an Alolan version of its final form. And a Petilil could evolve into its Hisuian variant, something that hasn't been seen in modern times for quite a while. And worst of all, Eevee doesn't seem to need an evolution stone to evolve, they can just become a Vaporeon whenever they want. The previous examples could be forgiven, but that's really not how that works. And yet. For you in specific, when you evolve - assuming you can evolve in the first place, or have access to some other similar process - you can become any variation of your normal evolution that you know exists. Do you fulfill the requirements? Not even slightly. But perhaps due to the lasting influence of The Merge on you, you don't need to fulfill those requirements.

400 cp - Futa Battle

So… battling here in Futa is a bit lackadaisical. I'm not even sure that the Pokemon fight each other or if they just fuck each other for dominance to determind which trainer tops afterwards. It's one thing to have cage matches with magic animals when they look like animals, another when they are a cute girl who wants to suck your cock. With that in mind, I'm just going to go ahead and say that battles between Merged Pokemon are sex battles. Because I can. In addition to getting you laid more here in the Futa region, this will allow you to turn any 'official' fight that you might get into a duel of sexual dominance. Please note the emphasis on official. People attacking you randomly won't be covered by this, but a villainous grunt who challenges your trainer to a match will absolutely have their team covered by this.

600 cp - Gardevoir Sweeps

So, let me tell you a funny story. Due to the moveset limitations of the Futa region, it's actually disadvantageous to have a team with a wide variety of types on it. Instead, you want two at most, who preferably cover each other's weaknesses. Like, say, a Squirtle and a Gardevoir. With those two Pokemon alone, a trainer could become a champion. It doesn't make sense, it doesn't even math out, but it works. To that end, you yourself are now mysteriously overpowered. You're not only a powerful pokemon in terms of having powerful moves or being a high level, but you're just straight up amazing at battling and at fucking. You would also make for an excellent mother and wife if you're into that, and fucking your trainer makes you better at all three.

General

50 cp - Fangame Artisan

So, this whole world is one of those funny little ‘what would Pokemon be like if it was sexier’ projects that people like to write. Pokegirls, Moemon, Yarimon, so on and so forth. There are also several others, such as ‘what if Pokemon could fuse together’ or ‘what if Nuclear was a Pokemon type’. Ever wanted to make one of those yourself? Well, congratulations, because now you can. Now, admittedly, most of those games are built upon an engine of some kind, but they still require a minimum level of skill at using the engine you’re building the game with. Skill you now have. So if you feel like spending a weekend making a yaoi themed Pokemon cyoa, or outright taking the premise and turning it into a proper game, well, you can. Try to pick something you’ll enjoy, it will make the whole process easier.

50 cp - Pillow Talk

The trainers in this Region aren’t exactly paragons of virtue, but they’re not evil assholes either. Except for the one or two bad eggs, but people like them exist everywhere. That said, when sex is literally a business transaction, it can be hard to care about anything other than getting your rocks off - or helping the other girl get theirs off. Well, not anymore. Anyone you sleep with, for any reason, is now perfectly willing to at least sit down and chat with you for a while afterwards. This may or may not include aftercare depending on their personality, and if the conversation is engaging enough might lead to them inviting you out to dinner and then back to their place for more sex. That’s assuming that you have something other than Pokemon battles to talk to them about however.

100 cp - And Your Reward Is

Here in the Futa region, the reward for winning a battle is your opponent. Their plump ass, thick thighs, tight throat, soft breasts, or even their throbbing cock. It all depends on your preferences. Please note however that this is instead of money, which means that Trainers in the Futa region are… Well, they don’t have much of an income. This is also something that’s supposed to be free, so let me spice things up a bit. In any competition where the prize is money, you may choose to have sex be your prize instead, not just Pokemon battles here. And in any competition where sex is the default reward, you may choose to have money be your prize instead. I’m not sure why you would choose that, but I just want to put the option on the table.

100 cp - Dem Tits And Ass

Alright, let's get this one out of the way. You? You’re hot. Maybe you’ve got that starry eyed look where everything is new and exciting and makes people want to show you the ropes, or maybe you look skittish and nervous and it makes people want to make sweet, gentle love to you. However you want that to manifest, you’re an easy nine of ten before putting much effort into things. Possibly eight out of ten in the eyes of most men, if only because you also likely have a bigger cock than they do. Though it's not like there are many of those in the Futa region to begin with, thanks to The Merge. Still, something to keep in mind while traveling abroad.

200 cp - Will It Be Easy
Due to something something game limitations, you have a unique ability. You can determine whether or not you can win a battle against another Pokemon Trainer instantly after laying eyes upon them. This prediction of the future comes in three flavors - Lose, which should be fairly self explanatory in that it means you're going to lose whatever match you have with them, guaranteed. Win, which is much the same and means that you have good odds against them. You'd have to have a massive run of bad luck or intentionally flub things in order to fall here. And lastly, Easy Win. Which is much the same as Lose, but in your favor. You're going to crush them and it would take a miracle for them to hold their ground. As an added bonus, whenever you do accomplish the last of those, people tend to be happy and pleased with you for some reason, and will go a bit farther than normal in rewarding you.

200 cp - Land Of The Lewd
The Futa region has, over the course of the years since the appearance of The Merge, adapted to the changes to their body. Most often this has resulted in a relaxation of social mores. All of the beaches in the Futa region are nude beaches, and of course the reward for winning a battle is your opponent. To that end, you will find that many 'rules' of society do not apply to you on account of you being a futa. Things like public indecency, how it's rude to walk around with your cock hanging out, or of course sex in public. You're more likely to have a Jenny ask for you to do her next than to arrest you. This can also feed into any hobbies you have, such as allowing you to sing while being deepthroated, or using your sperm and breast milk as frosting for a cake. There's no guarantee they'll go well without a bit of practice, but no one will think to try and stop you.

400 cp - Simplified Mechanics
Once again, due to something something game mechanics, fights in the Futa region just don't have the same level of competitiveness or in depth strategy as other regions. It probably has something to do with how most Pokemon in the Futa region look humanoid. Makes it harder to want to hurt them and more likely to want to fuck them, so people instinctively hold back. Probably. That doesn't actually matter to you. What does matter is that for Pokemon battles and other similar competitions you can strip away a great deal of the potential factors and just look at things on a surface level. As long as you have enough of a type advantage over other trainers Pokemon? You'll just end up winning. Great for when you don't want to reinvent stats and ivs and evs from first principles.

400 cp - Overwhelmed By Defeat
So, when you win a battle, you get to fuck your opponent. And when they win a battle, they get to fuck you. Seems fair, right? Well, there are two things to keep in mind. The larger the gap in power, the more you can do to them. And Gym Leaders are very strong. So strong in fact that the majority of trainers who fall to them quit their journey then and there to become that Leader's sex slave. Sometimes willingly on account of how god damn fucking hot they are and how well they fuck you and the potential addiction this totally doesn't cause, and some because they thought you would look cute in a dress and had their ghost type possess you for a few months so they could have a semi-competent partner for the Master Rank Contests. So, if you're the paranoid kind of person, you'll want a safety net. You can now lose to a given trainer, be they a common Lass or the champion themselves up to three times. The first time you'll be at their mercy for up to a week. Then a month. Then a year. If you fall to the same person four times, you're not leaving until they completely forget you even exist.

600 cp - The Reset
For the final time, due to problems caused by something something game mechanics, you can end up in a bit of a tight spot. Like, in the middle of the Elite Four and realizing that you can't beat them and they're not going to let you run away. So you'll probably be enjoying a good chunk of time as their bed warmer. Luckily for you, I have a way for you to avoid that. See, you can backpedal some of your decisions. Right before heading to the Elite four, did you pass on catching a sixth Pokemon for your team in order to get a bit more experience and level them up? Well, not anymore you didn't. You can walk one major choice back each week, allowing you to very slightly change your path through the Futa region. The exact time it took you to make that choice will vary, but I suspect twelve hours is about standard. Will that be enough to let you beat the E4 member you were about to lose to? And if it is, will you be able to beat the next one as well or will you lose, again? Who knows. That's why once per jump, no exceptions, you can outright just reset the whole damn thing back to the start. You'll lose everything, but that just means a chance to do it all again better.

600 cp - The Merge
The unknown phenomenon that defines the Futa region. A strange energy field that causes men to partially turn into women and women to partially turn into men. That causes them to become the unique existence that gives the region its name - Futanari. Nobody knows what causes it, but scientists are studying it as we speak. Anyone who enters the field transforms after a few days of exposure, and remains that way for a period of time equal to their exposure once they leave. A short visit of a week would only cause the transformation to last a few days. A several year long visit, or worse, having been born under the effects of the field… that would take quite a while to fade away. But that doesn't matter, not to me or you. It's just a thing that exists that we have to deal with. Instead, all you need to know is that once every ten years you can nominate a new region to also undergo The Merge, which will make everything and everyone inside that region become much more lewd as they accommodate their new bodies. Isn't sharing fun?

Items

Trainer

100 cp - Sonia's Starter Kit

The local Pokemon Professor, Sonia, was kind enough to deliver you the things you'd need to start your Pokemon journey. Such things include everything she thinks a growing futa needs to set out into the world and make her mark on it - five Pokeballs, a map, a box of condoms, and a Pokedex that she'd appreciate you filling up sometime soon. As a special bonus, these five Pokeballs - which, according to Futa region official regulations, are the only balls you're likely to need on account of only being allowed to own six Pokemon - will have a catch rate more akin to a masterball and will not fail to catch. If and only if you fuck the Pokemon in question first.

200 cp - Virgin Town

It's probably a bit strange to offer you the place you're planning to leave, but I suppose that you'll come back here sooner or later. This is your home. A small and sleepy little town where your mother lives. Or possibly she might be your father, it's a bit hard to tell these days. Still the house is nice enough for a family of two and could easily hold four. There's a game system of your choice with a few games for it, and your mother has a knack for basic medicine and another talent of your choice - perhaps money management, or maybe she's a retired contest star. In addition, there's a young futa next door, a lass whose name I quite forget, who has a massive crush on you. A minor boon, but one I'm sure you will enjoy.

400 cp - Special Dispensation

You're probably getting tired of me saying this by now, but due to unforeseen circumstances brought about by something someth - I kid, I kid. Look, trainers in the Futa region are only allowed to have six Pokemon. Not at a time, like in other regions, but TOTAL. That means your starter and five others, and whatever you pick up is what you're stuck with basically forever. This is because of the humanization effect of The Merge on Pokemon - they were already smart, but now we're sexually compatible. So for most Trainers, their team is their family. Even if you tried to release them, they wouldn't go on account of how much they love you. However, the point of being a Pokemon Trainer is to catch them all, and I don't want to stand in your way of doing that. So, you have a license. One that says you can have as many Pokemon as you want. Also as many wives as you want. If there's ever any kind of legal limitation on the number of a specific thing you're allowed to have, just flash this and the problem will go away.

600 cp - Money Probably Still Exists

So. Trainers don't make money. Normally your average trainer would make some loose change based on the battles they get into, including gym battles, but here in the Futa region, they have sex instead. Which means that every Pokemon Trainer is proooobably dead broke 90% of the time. But I don't want to do that to you. As such, have a bunch of free stuff. To start with, you have no more medical bills. Ever. You go to a hospital, they fix you, no questions asked and no charge. You can also reserve hotel rooms for up to three days in the same way, as well as visit restaurants or grocery stores and purchase food for seven people on a daily basis. And that's assuming you don't own a house, because if you do then you'll never pay for water, gas, electricity, or taxes on said property again. There is technically an upper limit to this, can't let you go absolutely wild and say all of that applies to your region-wide business empire, but if all you do is wander around as a Pokemon Trainer? It's on the house. Maybe if you owned exactly one place of business, like a bakery, I could let you pass on the bills for owning that place. Gym Leaders like to have other jobs in their spare time after all.

Researcher

100 cp - Futa: A History

The local Pokemon Professor of the Futa region, Sonia, recently acquired her accolades in the Galar region after a certain hullabaloo about Eternatus. The end result was a book comparing the myths and legends of Galar, how certain things were remembered, to how those legendaries actually acted once they became active once more. You have a similar book, written about the history of the Futa region and the way things used to be, the way they are now, and how we got from there to here thanks to The Merge. Unfortunately it doesn't cover much about the Merge itself. Still, this book will serve as your own credential to be a professor in the Futa region if you wish to be one, and will net you a small trickle of income as people buy and read it. The book will still exist in future jumps, but will probably be about somewhere else.

200 cp - Research "Assistant"

What kind of bigwig nerd doesn't have minions? Certainly not you. You have a small number of assistants that are here to help you out with your research. You are researching something, right? They could be actual scientists hoping to get good pay, students looking for work in the field, or just volunteers who are passionate about discovery. Take your pick, they're all hot. In addition, while they don't work directly for you, there is also a trio of younger children who are more than happy to run errands for you in exchange for pocket money or other minor things. Like a hot meal, or maybe nudes of you. They're probably Trainers that you started on their way, though they don't specifically need to be. At the end of the day, what matters is that they're willing to do stuff for you for little to no pay… and the occasional happy memory.

400 cp - Orgasm City Laboratory

Sonia, the local Pokemon Professor, is here to research The Merge. That means researching Merged people and Pokemon. Physical exams, mock battles, extreme testing to locate any and all changes that exist thanks to their new body, every iota of detail that can be extracted, should be. That's why this Laboratory is one third sciency, one third battleground, and one third love hotel. I mean living quarters. …Though to be honest, given what the majority of physical changes that The Merge has caused boil down to, studying that does mean lots and lots of sex, which doesn't require a bed, but they do help. Tell me, do you think that Girafarig's cock is the exact same shape as pre-Merge? What about their sperm count? We have to check. For science! As a minor benefit, the lab automatically records almost everything. Even if your schedule for the day is nothing more than getting fucked six ways to sunday by a Pokemon you're borrowing from their trainer, you'll still somehow end up with interesting data on them. Useful data maybe not, but interesting. You'll need at least two or three more sessions of wild Mankey sex for it to be useful.

600 cp - Futa region Pokedex

Oh, so were you right when you handed a Pokedex to that one kid? That they had the potential to be the very best, like no one ever was? You must have been, because you've just been handed a completed Futa region Pokedex. It has 151 Pokemon registered in it, though as per Futa region legislature they only actually caught six of them. The rest are merely seen. Still, this is an absolute treasure trove of information relating to The Merge. Perhaps even enough to come to a definite conclusion about what caused it and why, given that it goes out of its way to highlight the various observed differences between Merged and unMerged Pokemon. Perhaps more importantly, this item will update in future jumps - within the first few days of the jump, some cute futa will wander by, hand it off, and probably expect to be allowed to fuck you senseless as payment. Though given that the updated Pokedex will have a wealth of information on the local monsters and even any porn logic or hentai physics that might exist, it would probably be worth it.

League

100 cp - Box of Gifts

In every region but the Futa region, Gym Leaders and their equivalents will hand out some minor prize as a reward for defeating them - other than just cash, of course. Usually it's a technical machine with a move that Leader prefers, though the Trial Captains of Alola hand out Z Crystals and the Wardens of ancient Hisui would grant access to Ride Pokémon to those they approved of. As a citizen of the Futa region you're not technically obligated to hand such a thing out... but just in case you wanted to do so anyways, you may have this. Simply reach into your back pocket after being defeated in some manner, and you'll be able to pull out some trivial thing to give to your challenger. What it is, and how trivial it is, will depend on a host of factors, but if they defeated you in an official Pokémon battle? It will probably be a technical machine.

200 cp - Gym And Hobby

Due to the relatively small size and underdeveloped state of the Futa region, they don't have room for a full 18 gyms. Instead, they have nine gyms with two Leaders each. This sounds simple in concept, but given that each gym is often custom designed by the Leader to present a challenge based on their type? Merging two such things together can be... awkward. Still, that's what you have here. This gym, which is nominally your gym, has been merged together with a second gym. Or, rather, the design of it. You can choose precisely how this manifests, such as having a half frozen basement level as an ice type gym and having a second type on the roof. Or perhaps there are complicated machines in the walls that shift about to create a steel type gym... or can shoot fire, to create a fire type gym. Your choice. Alternatively, if you have no desire to share, your gym can simply be both a gym and a business of some sort, such as also being a concert stadium if you have an interest in music.

400 cp - Cruising Town

Gym Leaders are generally expected to be more than just a strong trainer. They also do something for their city, or provide some other service. Fantina adores contests and occasionally does fashion, while Gardenia... I have no idea what she does normally, but currently she's responsible for growing the contest venues that Fantina has been using to introduce Super Contests to the Futa region with. If you wish, you may introduce one other similar amenity from another region to the Futa region under your preview, such as perhaps a Safari Zone where you would serve as Warden. Or maybe you'd rather own a cruise ship if you happened to be a water leader - or you could want to create a copy of Sinnoh's Amity Square, where trainers take cute Pokémon for walks? As long as it's mostly in theme with your type, almost everything is acceptable.

600 cp - Un-Regionable Gimmick

I've touched on the Futa region's strange relationship with evolution before. What the Futa region largely lacks, however, is gimmicks. Mega evolution, Z-moves - and that one's a surprise, given how close we are to Alola. The one gimmick that is present is Dynamaxing, though the gym leader who has access to it doesn't tend to use it in battle. No, she uses it on herself, to make her dick waaay bigger. The sheer amount of science needed to go into that sex act... Well, anyways, I'd like to offer you something similar. Pick such a gimmick. You now have enough of it for your entire team, as well as yourself - even if you're not supposed to be able to use it on yourself, the science that went into bringing it to the Futa region makes it possible anyways. Enjoy your giantess sex. Or maybe enjoy finding out what exactly a 'Mega-human' entails.

Pokemon

100 cp - Patch of Tall Grass

This isn't so much a specific place as it is something you're going to stumble across on a fairly regular basis, but wherever you go be it a beach, a forest, a underground cavern, a desert, or some other location, you'll always be able to find a single patch of tall grass. Or something similar, if it doesn't make any sense for there to be grass there. This grass is exceptionally comfortable, and an excellent place to take a nap. However, if you decide that you want some excitement beforehand, then you will always be rudely interrupted from your nap by something interesting, such as a competent and pretty trainer trying to catch you. That's by far the only thing that could happen, but it does feel like one of the more important ones. Enjoy your nap!

200 cp - Memory Berry

Pokemon in the Futa region seem to only learn moves that they share a type with. This is… likely a limitation imposed upon them by The Merge, and it results in a vastly simplified battle experience. Almost too simple. Any out of region Pokemon would likely walk all over them, at least until they were affected by The Merge as well. Unless, of course, this battle didn't take place in the Futa region. Then you'd be at a pretty hefty disadvantage. So let's fix that. This is a mysterious berry that only grows deep within the jungles of the Puzzle Continent, a nearby neighbor of yours. When eaten, it allows the consumer to use a move that they have forgotten. In short, once per battle, it lets you use a fifth move. However, as that doesn't actually grant you a new type, that move can optionally be one that a Futa region Pokemon would not have normally learned, such as double kick from Scorbunny and bite from Squirtle. That ought to let you get a leg up. You receive one such berry a week, though I suggest growing more yourself.

400 cp - Hickey Forest

Not every Pokemon wants to be owned by a human. And even among those that do, sometimes they will want to leave eventually. Whether it's to go to some legendary place for their species to train, or just to go back home and visit their family. This place is a small stretch of forest in the Futa region, with one side bordering the ocean.. Quiet. Peaceful. Watched over by what seems to be one of the Alola Regions legendary guardian deities. I'm not sure why as this isn't the Alola Region, but nonetheless Tapu Fini seems to be in residence. Perhaps it's something akin to the legendary's vacation home? In any event, this forest is remarkably peaceful, and a wonderful place for a wild Pokemon to live.

600 cp - Puzzle Crystal

Something else I'll be borrowing from the Puzzle Continent - deep under the ocean and atop the tallest mountains are a series of strange crystals. Sleeping near, or even on them, for a length of time can cause a Pokemon to undergo a very strange mutation. Their body will take on a transparent tinge, and an almost crystalline texture. They will also lose their primary typing, becoming Normal type. You'd think this was bad, but it's actually quite interesting, as the Pokemon in question will gain the ability to then replace that Normal type with one of three other types - one is almost guaranteed to be their original typing, but the other two can be almost anything else. For example, there is a Ho-oh, the Rainbow Pokemon, native to the Puzzle Continent that has gained this ability and can be Normal-Flying, Fire-Flying, Water-Flying, or even Electric-Flying as a result. You have enough stones to transform three Pokemon into 'Crystal Pokemon' in a timely manner, or a whole team over a longer period of time. Have fun.

General

50 cp - Choose Your Own Adventure Novels

Well here's a blast from the past. You've gotten your hands on some newly released books that were specifically designed to use a somewhat archaic format. As you read through it, at the end of each chapter, it will offer you a choice - to fight, go to chapter three. To run, go to chapter four. To search for clues, go to chapter seven. So on and so forth. These novels are largely themed after various fictional worlds, such as the Mushroom Kingdom or the Kingdom of Archanea as they undergo various trials and tribulations of their own. Some normal, and some more sensual - there's at least one that details those places having to deal with a Merge of their own, for example.

50 cp - The First Game You Ever Owned

The Futa region is a magical place - no, really, it's probably someone's magical realm - but sooner or later people will get tired of sex sex sex. They'll want to curl up with a good book, watch a movie, or maybe just go swimming at the beach. If the book is about sex then sure, but nobody can have it be their primary focus 100% of the time and actually enjoy themselves. To that end, I'd like to offer you this little blast to the past. It is, as the title ought to imply, the first game you ever owned. Perhaps its for the NES, or the SNES. Or maybe its a DS game? It will vary with each generation, but in general I expect this to be an ancient game that plugs into an old cathode tv. Not the greatest gaming experience, especially considering the things we have these days, but sometimes playing a bad game can be fun too.

100 cp - Sperm Proof Fabric

Sand. It's gritty and rough and gets everywhere. I don't recommend having sex on a beach, and if you must then take at least three showers afterwards. But, sex on the beach, sex in a forest, sex on a roadside, all of them are equally unpleasant in their own way. Heck, even sex in a bed can be awkward given the right circumstances - that is to say, given the amount of fluid a futanari can put out, it ruins the sheets basically every time they actually use the bed. Luckily for you the fashion industry recently put out the latest and greatest in sexual technology - sperm proof cloth. Mostly in the form of fashion, and you may have several outfits if you wish, but also bedding. Which means that after pumping a few gallons into your girl and having it leak back out, you can just gather the sheets up and dump the stuff off of it. As a side effect, this also makes it immune to water, milk, 'milk', and soft drinks amongst other things.

100 cp - A Room Full Of Plushies

You may or may not be familiar with a certain tendency for trainers to carry dolls of Pokemon around with them. This habit is, technically speaking, a tactical one - a wild Pokemon is likely to think the doll is real, if only for a moment, and will pause to see what kind of attack it's going to use. Which in turn gives the trainer time to run away. Now, strictly speaking all of the dolls being made in the Futa region these days are, well, anatomically accurate. That is to say, they're also sex toys. You can have one of those if you want, either to use as a distraction or just to fuck and try it out. Finizen is oddly popular, despite not actually being present in the Futa region. Beyond that, well… I have a fairly large backstock of 'ordinary' Pokedolls that no one wants anymore. You can have them if you want. I can give you a few dozen by default, and I'll throw in another for every non-Merged Pokemon you have.

200 cp - Transportation Arrangements
Pokemon Trainers generally travel in one of two ways. Either they walk everywhere, or they ride one of their Pokemon. Very occasionally they ride their bike, but that tends to be… expensive. Thankfully there's no direct conversion from choice points to Pokedollars, so I can do whatever I want! That's why I would like to offer you one of three things. The first is, as per tradition, a bicycle. Man powered, but quick if you're in any kind of fit. Secondly, a pair of Ride Pokemon. They aren't technically yours, but will come when you call to give you a lift - one for water and one for flight. Lastly, tickets. Sorry, not everything can be exciting. Whether you need to charter a boat to reach an island, get on an airplane to cross a glacier, or maybe you want to ride the subway across town rather than walk, at the very least I can get you tickets to go there. That said, it really only works when there's actually infrastructure to hitch a ride from.

200 cp - Pokemon Yaoi Version and Yuri Version
The cyoa this jump is based on is fun, but simple. Let's overcomplicate things. What you have here are a trio of Pokemon games set in what was formerly known as the Tico region - however, thanks to an unknown energy wave the entire population was transformed into hyper-masculine men and the name was changed to the Yaoi Region, and the gym leaders are all men from other regions. In one version of the game at least - in the second, they were all transformed into extremely feminine bimbos and the region became the Yuri Region. And of course, in the third version of the game, The Merge occurred and it became the Futa region. You see the pattern, right? These games will allow you to see what the cyoa would look like if it was a proper game and not being held back by simplified mechanics.

400 cp - An Actual Job
You want what? …How boring. Whelp, nothing for it. If you so desire it then allow me to present to you an actual job that isn't 200% focused on Pokemon like being a trainer or a professor is. This can be anything you want, but realistically should be something you actually qualify for. If you used Classy Lady to become, say, a beauty, then you might look into becoming a model, while a breeder might be interested in owning a farm. As per usual, most gym leaders would want something related to their type, such as a Water type leader being the manager of an Aquarium. …What kind of job would you pick up as a Pokemon? Dunno. You're humanoid enough right now that you could probably just pick whatever. Or if you're a Miltank, you could alway work on a farm. Just as the cow, rather than the farmer.
.
400 cp - Undersea Ruins
Deep beneath the waves of the Cum Sea, at some nebulous point between the Futa region and the Puzzle Continent, there is what appears to be some kind of amphitheater. Worn with time, and obviously underwater, but mysteriously intact nonetheless. Normally such a thing would be barely worth your time except to loot, but these ruins have a strange power. Pokemon who wander through them and stay for a length of time will undergo the process of evolution… in reversion. Gyrados would turn back into Magikarp, Milotic would return to being Feebas, so on and so forth. Normally this would be a worthless thing except perhaps as a scientific curiosity. But the Futa region has some very odd evolutionary mechanics, and there are a number of regional variant Pokemon. If you ever wake up one day and want to turn your Hisuian Liligant into a normal one, this would be how.

600 cp - The Futa Region
Here we go, the biggest slice of cheese. The entire goddamn Futa region is now nominally yours and will be following you into future jumps. I'm sure that the general existence of The Merge won't cause any of those worlds to have a rage induced stroke over that not being how physics work. Or cause a social revolution over confirmation that at least some kind of magic exists. You can choose whether or not Pokemon exist inside the region for a given jump, if you don't want to deal with the diplomatic incidents that would probably cause. Additionally, the Futa region may come with a single specific feature that it otherwise wouldn't - between Jasmine, Fantina, and Valerie, Pokemon Contests have taken off, but beyond that you can also choose something like the Sinnoh regions Underground or the natural cave systems that dotted Hoenn and gave rise to the Secret Base trend. Or maybe you just want a bunch of underground ruins to explore?

600 cp - Every Side Thing Ever
Alternatively, if you care less about the region as a whole and more about challenging yourself in every conceivable way, then you might be interested in this. As previously mentioned, Contests have taken off thanks to the influence of the various Gym Leaders from other regions. But if you like, I can arrange for even more. There are of course various lesser services, such as a Safari Zone, a couple of Game Corners, and a smaller contest held tri-weekly to catch bugs, but also larger services such as the seven Battle facilities of Hoenn's Battle Frontier, the four additional ones of Sinnoh's Battle Frontier, the various individual Battle areas such as the Institute, Subway, Maison, and Tree, and of course less direct methods of challenging yourself such as the Contests and Super Contests, the Pokeathlon, or Pokestar Studios. Of these eighteen major facilities, you may have up to ten of them, as well as may choose to have them in a mostly normal state where the original goal - increased battle prowess and skill - is still championed with only slight adjustments for the sheer perversion of the Futa region, or may have them be drastically affected by The Merge to the point where 90% of the content produced by Pokestar Studios is porn. Still internationally acclaimed and with massive earnings, but mostly porn. If applicable, you may also combine them into a unique Battle Frontier.

Companions
You may take two companions for free
(or, 100 cp stipend)

50 cp / 300 cp - Companion Import
If you want to bring some of your companions into the jump with you, you can. You may import one of them for 50 cp, or eight of them for 300 cp. Regardless of how many you import, each companion gains 600 cp to play with and all the same choices you get, with the exclusion of them taking companions of their own or any drawbacks.

50 cp / 100 cp - Companion Export
If you're more interested in making new friends, I can also arrange that. With each purchase of this I'll arrange for you to have a meeting that leaves a good first impression with a character of your choice who is currently in the Futa region. Alternatively, you can pay 100 cp instead and I'll arrange for the previously mentioned good first impression, but also for that character to be in the Futa region in the first place.

50 cp - Fairy Tale Girl, Once Upon A Time
In the aftermath of the Merge, it can be said that the Futa region has become home to a multitude of colorful characters, from your everyday futa to well known town excentrics. During your travels, while selflessly 'helping' people, you couldn't help but catch the eye of one of these known excentrics. With a graceful bow and refined way of speaking she introduced herself as 'Fairy Tale Girl', a seeming picture of innocence, spoiled only by sultry expression caught in the moments she thinks no one is watching, couldn't help but feel the stirring of her heart and balls at the sight of such a valourous hero such as yourself. Wearing a cute pink and white dress that hints at a petite yet refined womanly body contrasted with vigorous manhood, voluminous blonde hair held by a pink bow and mischievous baby blue eyes, this young (not) mistress of fairies insists on accompanying you on your journey, in order to chronicle your exploits into new inspiring tales, and to give unto you a hero's reward. If you might find even more pity in your heroic heart, there is also her younger sister, a gloomy Hex Maniac, that she wishes to save from her wicked ways with the power of Love, something she feels only you can help her with.

50 cp - Kimono Girl, Spiritual Healer
These are interesting times we live in. While scientists rush to try and explain what has happened, only to come up empty, there are some people that decide to find solace and answers within the grounds of the many shrines that dot the region. Whether you, yourself sought answers, or couldn't get a room at the nearby Pokecenter due to the random orgy party there, you have met this young lady, faithful priestess of Ho-Oh and Lugia, and her faithful Eevee partner . Wearing a traditional Johto shrine maiden outfit, this demure raven haired beauty spent her days accepting the 'donations' of the distressed faithful, and in return using her Legendary blessed body to channel her patrons power and imbue them with 'blessings'. Hearing of your daring exploits, and as reward for her stellar service, she has been released from her service to now pursue her own romance all while blushing like a girl fresh out of nun school, and bringing forth the new generation of shrine maidens.

50 cp - Battle Girl, Gym Bunny

Effort, sweat, discipline! These are the foundations upon which a powerful and beautiful body is built! This is the creed of this particular Battle Girl. Raised next to a Fighting Type gym she couldn't help but see the beauty in sculpting one's body to reach the peak of what Arceus gave man, as well as strive to balance power and grace. You met while going to a local gym, not the Gym, and you ended up face first into her heroically struggling crop top as she asked if you needed someone to help you around. Apparently she thinks you have great potential, and she is able and willing to help you train that. She is a great outgoing person, and an incredible hypewoman, the kind that never gives up, though you can't help but think she might be going a tad far. Since The Merge occurred she couldn't help but be disappointed in her small penis, and paltry ejaculations. So she has, through much research and even a region given grant, found a way to train her manhood and reach new levels of performance. Bigger, better and sexier, the result of a special diet and penis workout sessions she can literally run a marathon in bed that would leave anybody changed ... she says while looking away, still a blushing virgin.

50 cp - Waitress, Service With A Smile
You'd think with everyone having been turned into a Futa that nothing would really get done anymore, on account of everyone being too busy fucking eachother silly. While cooler heads prevailed, and everyone agreed that would be a bit too much, the new moral mores allow for a surprising amount of leeway in mixing business and pleasure! Take for example this cutie Waitress that you hit on at the local cafe, and have somehow managed to bag! A recent arrival from Kalos, this pony-tailed beauty opened up a small specialty cafe to bring a splash of the bohemian spirit of the region, although with a local twist! A mistress of infusing one's own milk and semen into all sorts of food, to surprisingly nutritious and tasty outcomes. As befitting of the stereotype though she is surprisingly perverted, in addition to having read far more than seems reasonable on basically every topic. She is up for almost anything in bed, a switch, and like many Kalosian women possesses that strange beauty of proportions and face associated with the region, although she is quite well endowed all across, a great deal of it went into what she jokingly calls her 'Miltank' balls, which she uses as a source of cum on tap. But that is now a menu option just for you.

50 cp - Swimmer, Shy Mermaid.
Fun fact about the Futa Region, but its actually quite close to Alola of all places. As such it enjoys sunshine almost year round, picturesque beaches with clean blue waters, and now a soon to be legendary nightlife. It was while taking a stroll on one such beach one day that this total hottie came up to you and asked if you wanted to grab something, her treat. Originally from Alola, this caramel skinned buxom blonde wearing just a pair of shorts and a straining bra was originally a down on his luck surf bro, constantly fumbling all the baddies to the other surfers, something you can kinda see from how awkwardly she came on. Anyhow, since she heard that there was apparently a new region with rad beaches and hot chicks she decided to give a shock. Being turned into a total babe was a bit of a shock, but she came around surprisingly quickly, and most likely will stay this way for the rest of her life. Still, you accepted and you hit it off very well! Your days filled either with your pokemon journey, or the two of you swimming or surfing, doing odd jobs at the local bars, drinking beer and watching all the other babes, prolly while jacking each other off. This whole thing is very new, but exciting for her, and its rare where she doesn't glomp onto you to pepper you with small kisses, or tell you how much she loves you. In bed she is surprisingly submissive and willing to do more or less what you want, and turns into putty when you play with her massive tits, kiss her neck, or either fuck her or eat her pussy out while gently stroking her off. Is strangely interested in being milked, and wouldn't mind being a mom with other chicks if it came down to it. But until then? There is a big one coming! Let's go!

Drawbacks

+0 cp - Mysterious Merge
What, precisely, is The Merge? …Well, we don't actually know. It could be a disease that was introduced to our world by Ultra Beasts or an energy field put out by strange radiation from a meteor that a Deoxys rode into the atmosphere on. Maybe it has something to do with Mew, as we are quite close to where the genetic sample that made Mewtwo was found. Or hell, maybe someone who really liked futa made a wish to Jirachi. The only thing we know for sure is that it's only affecting the Futa region. To that end, I'm going to allow you to dictate almost everything else about it, from what causes it to how long it lasts. Is it permanent? Will it fade away if you leave the Futa region for long enough? Is there a safe period, where you only are affected by it after a week or so inside its area of effect? Is there a connection between those who used to be men and women, and whether or not they're futanari with or without pussy, or is it random? Are there futa with internal balls? Will pokemon eggs made here but taken outside the region still hatch into Merged Pokemon, or will they be normal? The only thing you can't use this to do is get rid of it entirely - this is the Futa region, and there will be chicks with dicks. If that offends you… why are you even here?

+0 cp - But I Want Cynthia!
You might be wondering to yourself - why are all of the League reps in the Futa region from other regions? From Misty and Sabrina to Champion Iris, they're all foreigners. What's up with that? Well, the Futa region's Pokemon League is only about four years old, and the region was too large to get things up and running with only local talent. So they kind of borrowed some from other regions, some who were invited and some who made the offer themselves. With this, you can change who answered the call. Instead of a team of entirely female leaders who then became futa, maybe you want an entire male team who became futa? Or just a mix? Or maybe you're fine with things the way they are, you just want Cynthia to be the champion because Cynthia is bae. That's also fine. The only limitation on who you can and cannot choose to be present is that each type needs to be represented in the basic gym leaders, and that there must be two from each region.

+0 cp - Mysteries of the Puzzle Continent
While scientists are flocking to the Futa region for the chance to discover the source of The Merge and gather scientific acclaim, a similar gold rush is occurring to the south, in the Puzzle Continent. Someone seems to have leaked the information that Mews genetic code was found there, resulting in quite a few trainers, scientists, and criminals heading there to try their luck. This has resulted in the discovery of two ancient cities, Aquapolis and Skyridge, as well as a small handful of extremely powerful Crystal Pokemon who have highly abnormal typing. To make matters worse, three of the Crystal Pokemon are Ho-oh, Lugia, and Celebi. Also present are the legendary birds and beasts that Lugia and Ho-oh command, though they aren't Crystal Pokemon. And they're quite upset at all the ruckus, let alone the foolhardy or arrogant trainers who think that they can use this as a good opportunity to catch a powerful Pokemon. That said, this isn't your problem - it's just happening nearby.

+100 cp - A Bit More Nuzlocke
Normally I'd tell you that the format of the original cyoa is just that, a format. In a semi-realistic world those limitations just don't make sense, even accounting for The Merge and the various effects it has had on the people and Pokemon of the region. Unfortunately for you, you seem to want to suffer a bit more, so I'l arrange it so the bare minimum of that formatting is still a limitation that you're subject to. Like the original cyoa, in each route of the Futa region you can only catch a single Pokemon. Doing so also comes at the cost of doing any real level grinding - you can fight all the Pokemon you want in order to find the one you want to catch, but you simply won't get any stronger. Or you can pass on picking up a new Pokemon and train your Pokemon instead.

+100 cp - The Limit Is Six

According to the rules and regulation of the Futa region, you're only allowed to capture six Pokemon - or, well, five and the starter that you're given, because your team is liable to be mildly yandere for you and refuse any sort of trading, release, or attempts to send them away to make room for a more advantageous team. Sorry, but that's just the way things are. And now it's the way things are for you. See, between companions you import, companions you plan to purchase, and the Pokemon you have on your team, you can't ever have more than six. This means you can't import a full eight companions, and that if you do import a 'full' six, at least one of them had better be a Pokemon because otherwise you straight up don't get a Pokemon team. And no, Pokemon from other jumps or given to you or anything else will not bypass this.

+100 cp - Inconvenient Owner
So, you lost a Pokemon battle. Not the worst thing in the world. You just black out, lose half your money, and - oh wait. That's Kanto. And this is the Futa region. Hmm. So, you lost a Pokemon battle and were sexually enslaved. That sucks. The good news is that you were eventually freed either because they lost a fight and had to free you or because they just got bored of you. The bad news is that they left a lasting impression on you. A very inconvenient impression. You might have gotten stuck in chastity for a while and now have a hard time getting hard for things that weren't on your 'approved' list. Or maybe you just have a veeeery loose asshole. It could even be that you now instinctively respond to certain phrases in a manner that you find extremely embarrassing. Nothing too bad, but it will take a least a year of effort to work it out of your system entirely, and you might relapse now and again, especially if whoever trains you pops back up.

+200 cp - I Wannabe A Dragon Tamer
You like dragons. No. You LOVE dragons. Cute, badass, the best cocks, whatever it is about them you like, you're obsessed. Dragon Pokemon are the strongest in the world, so with a team full of them you'll obviously never lose! Right? Well, sort of right. See, Dragons never lose… when you're fighting against them. When it's you using them they're good but not great, but if someone uses them against you… It's like everything on your team is weak to dragons. Especially your own dragons, which were already weak to dragons which probably means that they're four times weak to dragons. Have I said 'weak to dragons' enough times yet? Because you, personally, are also weak to dragons - specifically dragon cock, to the point you have a hard time not surrendering on the spot in the hopes they'll let you worship their dragon Pokemons' futa cocks.

On the plus side, you can have a dragon type Pokemon as your starter instead of the normal choice between fire, water, and grass.

+200 cp - Am I Happy To See You
So, not everyone who got whacked by The Merge is entirely happy about it. There are manly men who are absolutely aghast to be pretty girls, and man haters who seethe every time they get hard from watching a cute girl bend over. And there are people who don't actually mind being a different gender on the whole, they just find it very inconvenient. You're one of them, though there's two ways this can manifest. The first option is that your sex drive has a sex drive. If you could get away with being balls deep inside of a girl 24/7, you would. Any second you aren't legally required to be doing something, you're shoving your cock down someone's throat. Possibly the throat of someone who tried to interrupt your seventeenth masturbation break of the day. The second option is that while you don't have that high of a sex drive, you do have a hair trigger, and will likely orgasm a dozen times a day just from the motion of the fabric of your underwear, pants, or skirt against your cock. Hell, a light breeze could set you off. Hell, looking at a cute girl and having her smile at you could set you off. Hope you weren't planning on having any dignity.

+200 cp - You Are On This Council, But

The Futa region is a mysterious place these days, thanks to The Merge. It's had a massive impact on life here, to the point where the majority of the nation lobbied to rename literally fucking everything after various sex acts and positions. Futa isn't even the name of the region, it's actually called Tica. Or, was called Tica. Truly, the fact that they managed that in only a few short years is nothing short of miraculous. …Or at least, that's what I would say, but you won't be arriving in quite that version of the world. Instead of having already finished, they're just now putting the names into practice. This is because there wasn't quite as much support for it. And, in truth, that's the theme of this drawback. As a whole, the Futa region is less pleased to be the Futa region, less eager to hop onto the nearest dick - they haven't even passed the law that says battles are paid for with sex, for example. In short, the entire region is wary. Accepting, but suspicious nonetheless. This is made worse by the international community having effectively quarantined the region until the source of The Merge is found. They aren't going to launch any witch hunts, but they aren't pleased by the drastic increase in perversion found in the Futa region and would like you to stay in your lane please. Hope you didn't have any plans of travelling to other regions.

+300 cp - Trainer Matters
Alright, you ought to know how this goes. This is the world of Pokemon. The place where the tagline is 'Gotta catch em all'. Unfortunately, because this is the Futa region where you're only allowed to have six Pokemon total, it's a bit difficult. So instead, you're gonna fuck them. All one thousand and twenty five Pokemon that exist. Well, actually, you're gonna fuck all their alternate formes as well, so really its one thousand one hundred and sixty four. You're gonna go out there and find them, and fuck them. This does not technically require you to have them undergo The Merge to turn them into hot futanari bitches, but it would probably be more socially acceptable. And obviously you'll be recording them in your Pokedex as you go, but the sex is the important part. Also, to clarify - yes, you can fuck the same Pokemon multiple times if it changes form or evolves. But you can't fuck Pokemon you already had prior to coming here. Or, well, you can, it just doesn't count towards this. Have fun completing this inside ten years!

+300 cp - Criminal Matters
So, the Futa region. Pretty nice place, right? Crime is at an all time low because everyone who would be doing that normally is either getting their brains blown out or blowing someone else's brains out. Or just getting a blowjob, period. The exceptions are particularly dickish and selfish trainers, but the worst I've seen so far is just fond of taking some of other trainers' things while they're in post coital bliss. This is no longer true. Each major villainous team has, for some god forsaken reason, found something important in the Futa region that they NEED to have. Maybe it's a piece of tech, maybe it's a rare regional variant Pokemon, or maybe it's an ancient artifact that was just dug up and is the prize for the local Super Contest. Doesn't matter. What does matter is that it exists and they want it. And that they've somehow managed to brainwash a gym leader into serving their organization to aid them in getting it. And not necessarily a leader from their region. As you might expect, this means that any challenger who falls to them is also in danger of getting brainwashed. Or at the very least, trained until they become obedient to the leader. And almost all of them are going to be gunning for your ass.

+300 cp - Legendary Matters

Before, I listed quite a few different possibilities for the true source of The Merge. Most of them are the fault of one Legendary or another. So. Which one is it? I don't know, and I'm not sure it matters because they're all convinced it's someone else's fault. To that end, one day during the jump, Rayquaza will descended from the heavens, pissed off as fuck, and chasing after a couple of Deoxys who are clearly responsible for her undergoing The Merge. At the same time, an Ultra Wormhole will open up, depositing a Buzzwole, Pheromosa, and Nihilego who are each blaming the others for their current predicament. But wait, there's more - Mew and Mewtwo have teamed up to defend Jirachi from an unknown Ultra Beast that seems to be calling itself Mewthree and a mechanical copy of Mewtwo. In other words, there's at least three groups of Legendaries who are throwing down and likely to cause an immense amount of damage if they aren't handled. And everyone but you is either too distracted by the sexy to accomplish anything, or too weak to even bother trying.

The End

Stay Here
Go Home
Move On

Notes

Thanks to Purple Banana for inspiring this jump
Thanks to Unsettling Air for the Oc companions

Q - What the fuck is this?
A - A jump for a cyoa that simulates an adventure in a futa-fied region of the pokemon world

Q - Where can I find that?
A - https://purplebanana.neocities.org/Pokemon_Futa_Version/

Q - What's a Puzzle Contient?
A - The pokemon world's equivalent of south america. I borrowed some stuff from to fill in gaps

Q - Why use stuff from South America?
A - I randomly decided the Futa region was in or near Costa Rica.

Q - Why Costa Rica?
A - Because I watched Jurassic Park recently. It's Isla Nublar.

Q - So I can companion basically anyone? Does that include people from Legends Arceus?
A - Yes. In the case of LA, lets just pretend that Celebi and or Dialga did a Thing™

Q - Can I make this jump not about futa?
A - No

Q - But Pokemon Yaoi and Yuri -
A - I made them up, they don't exist. Besides, this jump would be about the futa version anyways.

Q - Why tho?
A - Because I think futa is hot.

Q - Have you considered that you're cringe?
A - But I am free.

Extra shit

This borrows the + mechanic I put in Pokemon Sinnoh, mostly as an excuse to offer the Puzzle Continent as an item since I highly doubt anyone will ever do anything with it again, but outright offering it felt a bit too far away from the theme of the jump. So it gets put here instead.

Virgin Town
In addition, for a surcharge of 100 cp after discounts, your hometown also has a pokemon lab in it, or similar facility. They'll hand out various rewards based on your progress, either with the gym challenge and the Pokédex or through some other form of collectathon.

Research "Assistant"
In addition, for a surcharge of 100 cp after discounts, you may instead have two proper scientist assistants and two younger trainer gofers. The scientists are optionally married to each other and the parents of one of the kids, and both of the kids have miles thick protagonist plot armor. Expect the quality of their work to shoot through the roof. And the amount you'll need to pay them, be it in real money or by letting them worship your body.

Gym And Hobby
In addition, for a surcharge of 100 cp after discounts, your gym doesn't need to be designed in such a way that it somehow merges two or three different design choices, because it's just outright fucking magic and has a full compliment of gym designs and at least two or three other functions for your hobbies. The only thing it can't do is move. How does this work? Fuck if I know. Ghosts?

Memory Berry
In addition, for a surcharge of 100 cp after discounts, you receive a total of eight mysterious boxes. They have strange antenna-like structures coming out of the top, and a symbol representative of one of the types - Fire, Grass, Water, Metal, Lighting, Dark, Fighting, Psychic. Only those eight. If you took them apart you'd find only garbage, but giving one to a Pokemon to hold will reveal they're basically Technical Machines. Single use technical machines, but they allow for the Pokemon to use the move imprinted on them once before needing to recharge for a few days, even if they couldn't normally learn that move.

Transportation Arrangements
In addition, for a surcharge of 100 cp after discounts, you can just have all three. This also now includes other, less essential Ride Pokemon, and the occasional traveling vacation, such as spending some time on a cruise ship to relax instead of just going from point a to point b. You may or may not have business wherever they dock next, but that's not as important as simply enjoying the ride.

Pokémon Yaoi Version and Yuri Version
In addition, for a surcharge of 100 cp after discounts, the games are now official games no matter how ridiculous that may seem. They also now come with perfect transfer protocols that will allow you to trade with other games or receive pokemon from older regions/send to newer games and that won't randomly stop service after a few years.

The Futa Region

In addition, for a surcharge of 200 cp after discounts, you may have the Puzzle Continent as a whole. It's basically Pokemon South America, with the geography a bit shuffled. It's also chock full of ancient ruins from bygone civilizations, with weird berries or unknown technology being easily found almost everywhere. Hell, this is where the sample of Mews Dna was found to make Mewtwo from.

Every Side Thing Ever
In addition, for a surcharge of 200 cp after discounts, you can have the remaining eight Battle facilities, in both lewd and non lewd format if you wish, as well as making and running your own custom facility if you so desire. And, quite frankly, any other battle facility/side content that you feel I've forgotten or that I considered too minor to list.

The end for real