Ben 10: Alien Supplement FanFic Extension

By DeverosSphere and Sweetiebottt V1.05

This document contains aliens from the 5YL Fan Media and the Alexander Benjamin Tennyson and Dial Fan Novels.

Race Points RP
If you are selecting your starting race for a Ben 10 Jump then you gain +50 RP and if no other methods of gaining RP is available you may convert CP into RP at a 1:1 ratio.

Hybrid
This option can only be purchased if you are selecting your starting race.
In the universe there are hybrid species born of the union of multiple races, perhaps you are one of them or perhaps you are the result of the Rooters experiments.

For this you may choose up to a maximum of four of the alien races listed below or a custom alien, these races will be allowed to go as far as your Great Great Grandparents.

You may either purchase the race's at full price in order to gain all the powers and benefits of that species or take them at a proportional price and potentially grow into the race's powers. Parents will cost 50%, grandparents will cost 25%, great grandparents will cost 12.5% and finally great great grandparents will cost 6.25% with any remainder rounded down to the nearest whole number however the total percentage must equal 100%.

For example a human with a Churl grandparent and an Orbsarian great grandparent would be 62.5% human -20 RP/-12 RP, 25% Chul -50 RP/-12 RP and 12.5% Orbsarian -80 RP/-10 RP. This means that the total for this hybrid race would be -34 RP

Subspecies
Some races have multiple variations distinct enough to be stored as separate samples in the Omnitrix. While some share the same name, other samples have been so augmented that they require a different Omnitrix codename. Regardless of which situation the multiple samples are in you are able to purchase both samples as part of a Species Combo Price that is the more expensive variation plus an extra -50 RP unless it is cheaper to buy them separately in which case the Species Combo Price will be the more expensive variation plus half the price of the cheaper variations. If you have imported one of the samples via an "Omnitrix" you may treat the import as the more expensive variation requiring only -50 RP to unlock the variations.

NON-CANON
Any alien marked as NON-CANON is not stored within the DNA DataBase unless specifically purchased from this Supplement. As such those Species can not be unlocked via the Omnitrix internal features such as Random Unlock but if your Omnitrix Scanner is compatible with the sample you would be able to unlock it if you were to scan the species.

Alexander Benjamin Tennyson
These aliens are canon to the Alexander Benjamin Tennyson universe, in order to use this section you must either make a one off payment of -50 RP which allows you to use any alien listed or you must have all the races canon to the Alexander Benjamin Tennyson universe become canon in your universe. Each of these options make it so that all aliens from the Alexander Benjamin Tennyson universe get the LEX DISCOUNT. All samples are locked and added to the DNA Storage method such as the Codon Stream.
See NOTES for reading locations.

Coastal Manzardill are quadrupedal reptiles, reaching lengths of seven to eight feet long, who spend most of their time in the water using it to propel it through their gills. Coastals are typically friendly and relaxed, commonly spotted drifting on the ocean's surface. While they can't breathe underwater, they can hold their breath for hours at a time, although it's theorized that this frequent lack of oxygen intake results in them acting (ironically) airheaded.

The Saurians or "the People" are a race of humanoid reptilians who originally lived in an underground city in New Mexico. They later emigrated to the Savage Land to start a new life. The Saurians were created when the first nuclear bomb impacted the New Mexico mountain range and a number of lizard species were irradiated and genetically altered. It took less than a decade for them to evolve and become bipedal digitigrades; as well as develop their own language and culture. They built an underground city to hide from man's superior technology.

This reptilian alien is a deadly combination of strength and speed. They were previously used as an infiltration unit, nicknamed “Thin Men.” It is initially assumed that Thin Men had fallen out of use as the aliens did not need infiltration units after Earth's surrender, however this was debunked with the introduction of the Faceless. Despite their resemblance to terrestrial snakes, the Viper is actually a wholly extraterrestrial species unmodified by human DNA. However, it retains the modified Thin Man's poison and high accuracy, combat abilities and intelligence.

Gogmazios is a massive dragon with a body structure similar in nature to that of traditional depictions. It has a large, heavy head with red eyes and rows of sharp teeth. When its chest and throat begin to heat, a glowing pattern, reminiscent of a scowl, is present beneath its chin, giving it the semblance of a second face. Its wingarms feature membranes that almost completely retract when not in use, and its body is covered in thick, powerful scales, carapaces, and spines of an indigo colouration. Perhaps the most notable feature of Gogmazios's body is the ever-present covering of a sticky, tar-like substance which it uses to incapacitate prey.
