Piboynyobop Inc Industries presents our BRAND NEW

Remote Warehouse Service!

Are you a Benefactor who's sick of footing the bill for your jumpers' personal realities when you know they're just going to fill it with piles of vendor trash 'in case they need it later'?
Are you a jumper who just doesn't have space for all those items and spaceships in your warehouse?
Are you a companion who's tired of getting dragged into every ten cent backwater jump because the alternative is spending ten years in a concrete box with no wifi or running water?

Then have we got the opportunity for you!

For a simple 10 CP per jump payment* subscribed Jumpers gain access to an extra secondary sheet while filling in their jump selections containing a list of all fiat-backed† items, pets, companions, properties, followers, vehicles, and similar. Simply mark on the sheet which things you don't want to take with you into your next jump, and they'll be held perfectly safe in our third party preservation system until the next jump you mark to have them returned to you!

Items, vehicles, unmanned structures: Simple fiat stasis techniques are sufficient to hold your machinery, artifacts, and inanimate objects perfectly pristine and unblemished until retrieval. (Between-jump recovery and refill features will trigger as normal, but anything dependent on discrete passage of time or interaction with the jumps you go to will not, so if you forget your auto-techup superphone in here when you jump to Dr Who it's not getting any boosts!)

Followers, pets, properties: All lesser figures tied to your chain will be carefully preserved with warehouse-homeworld stasis methods. It'll be as seamless and smooth as any import, revival, or summoning process you otherwise put them through.
(As with items, any ability which allows scaling over time or improving based on jumps they're brought to will not trigger-from their perspective no time will pass at all.)

Companions: As people generally want to take extra care of their companions, a special offer exists to allow companions direct timejump splicing to the start of your next jump instead of being put in stasis. They'll wait about five minutes in a well furnished waiting room, and then it'll be right back to you!

Disclaimer: Anything stored with the Remote Warehouse Service cannot be accessed mid-jump and is very likely to have any secondary effects be suppressed as well, do not store anything you will need before the end of your jump. Fellow jumpers are not allowed to retrieve things from the Remote Warehouse Service on your behalf unless registered as a joint-chain by your Benefactor. Friendly Benefactors besides your own, related Post-Sparkers, and other non-Jumper figures will also be unable to access your account. All fiat-interacting items must be appropriately registered, attempts to jailbreak the Remote Warehouse Service through submitting equipment or followers modified to violate CP-grade stasis capabilities will be met with termination of your account and further legal action for damages and contract violation.

Note: Remote Warehouse Service does not require an actual warehouse, and may be used to allow Jumpers an option to safekeep their items and companions in chains where no Warehouse equivalent is accessible or provided. Please call the provided number if you would like to know how the service will interact with your chain and you do not have a Benefactor to discuss said details with you.

*Prepayments are offered in ten jump increments. Payments may be offered from Benefactor stock or Jumper stipends as desired.
This means that you can choose whether the Jumper has to pay this from their own budgets during the chain or not when signing up.
†Anything you own which is not CP-purchased, scenario acquired, or otherwise fiat backed is not valid for submission to this service and Pintobobobo Acquisitions Ltd is not responsible for any damage or misplacement of non-fiat backed items or followers that are smuggled in after being warned not to.