

Generic Dorse (Queen's Stallion) Jump

By Daddycool101

Ah, Dorses. Where should I even begin with these strange creatures? Women turned into mockeries of horses with a huge dick. This world you're entering either had Dorses since the beginning of history or they started appearing sometime ago.

Take these 1000 Dorse points (DP) to spend in this world.

General perks:

- Magical cum (100 CP): The process which turned women or men into Dorses gave their cum magical properties. This maybe things like huge loads, being useful for making different types of potions, having supremely delicious taste, increasing the elasticity of their partners' holes so they can take in more of a Dorse's dick or hold in and use the cum as sustenance instead of food, etc; With each purchase of this, you can add two magical properties to the cum as long as it's around the same level as described in the notes. Dorses get the first purchase free.
- Half Dorses? (100 DP/200 DP): In some stories, Dorses can give birth to human children (or whatever race the father of the union is) who can live a normal life, just with an increase in libido or cum generation. But in some cases, they give birth to Dorses. Regardless of you being a human or a dorse, you seem to have taken some of this unique power to have kids with any being as long as it's possible for them or you to give birth. For 100 DP more, it's possible for you to have kids with anything as long as you get some of your cum in them or on them depending on the object or being in question. The children can be either of one species or the other or be a fusion of two in whatever manner you prefer.
- Lone Dorse in the city (100 DP): It was because of an ancient curse, no, it was because of a government experiment, no it maybe because of an alien device. Whatever the cause, Dorses appear in future worlds you visit and somehow come across you. They may or may not be named characters relevant to the plot, but with this perk you can never say that you want to see a Dorse IRL. This perk can be toggled off and you can choose if the dorse transformation is temporary or permanent.

- Built for horses (Free): Most buildings aren't built with Dorses in mind, so from now on, every building or house is big enough for Dorses or has a room or two for Dorses to live or stay in. How this works is left up to you. Post jump, people don't mind the presence of Dorses and accept it as if it's normal.

Human:

You're a human or a similar humanoid being (an elf or something if you're in a fantasy setting).

- Stud (100 DP): You're quite possibly the perfect human being, physically and mentally. Peak human in all aspects, a perfect 10 out of 10 in looks in whatever way you prefer. A cute shota with a dick bigger than your arm, a woman with tits bigger than her head and a face so sexy that dicks stand up in attention at your smile or something else. As an added bonus, you smell nice and your bodily fluids (milk, cum, etc) taste delicious and if you prefer it, your body can take insertions that are impossible otherwise but practice helps you take even bigger insertions and so on. At your preference, you can have this perk affect any and all your altforms so that they're similarly attractive and physically and mentally perfect. (Yes, you can be a sexy 7 feet tall ork woman even if there aren't any usually).
- I don't want to change (200 DP): Transforming into a dorse or something else is pretty common around here. But you can't be transformed into a Dorse against your will. You're also immune to any unwanted changes that use sex or sexual acts as a vector to change you.
- Dorse Tamer (400 DP): Dorses are skittish in some fics or try to attack you if you approach them. You know how to calm down even the most violent dorse and have them beg you to suck your dick in less than a minute of interacting with them. In future settings, you can tame or calm down any kind of creature as long as you want to have sex with them or will have sex with them in the future. This perk also makes it so you don't have any repercussions from having sex with any kind of creature or monster (so flame monsters won't burn you or ice monsters won't give you frost burns and so on). And once they have sex with you, they will become extremely loyal towards you unless you keep breaking their trust and faith in you at which point, they'll leave you.
- Lostbelt? Singularity? What's that? (600 DP): There was once a fault in the timeline that screwed up the flow of human history. Spirits of dead heroes were sent there to resolve the problem but they got turned into horny Dorses more interested in having sex. The plot was presumably resolved but it definitely involved copious amounts of sex. We don't know how the situation was resolved, maybe Goetia was fucked to death by a horde of horny Dorses or maybe Marisbury liked this version of history that he replaced the pan human history with pan dorse history but the protagonist won. Similarly, as long as you work towards indulging your lust, it always works out in the end. Maybe the reapers in mass effect decide to convert the Asari into bimbo cyborgs so that people are more interested in having sex than destroying each other or ExE got defeated by the power of boobs (wait a minute, that did happen in DxD), so this perk isn't that far fetched.

Dorse:

You're a dorse. In whatever way it happened, you're a creature that looks like someone tried to turn a human into a horse without taking aesthetics into account. You've an elongated face, a thick neck and four legged body without hands and you may or may not have a tail (you may have a tail shaped vibrating buttplug in your ass instead), your lips and nipples can be in a different colour than is normal for humans (maybe a pretty sky blue or a purple?)

- Can't stop licking (100 DP): A Dorse's sensations are boosted highly. Your lips act like an erogenous zone and even the act of licking your lips would send a shiver through your body if you aren't used to it. Your tongue is lengthened and is absurdly dexterous. You can twist it around someone's dick or bend or to reach deep into someone's pussy. When you give a blowjob to someone, it feels like heaven to both you and them. Sex feels a hundred times better to you and your partner and you don't get overwhelmed or addicted to these sensations. Even food like store bought bread or raw cabbages feel like the best gourmet food to you. When sex feels this good, you won't get bored of having sex, every time feels as if it's your first time. You can toggle all or parts of this perk off or on whenever you want.
- A biological marvel (200 DP): A Dorse's body is a biological marvel or a huge cosmic joke. Even though you look like a freaky horse, you're extremely valuable to humanity. All biological emissions of a Dorse are extremely delicious (their exact taste depends upon the Dorse in question but it's always tasty) dorse's milk is extremely nutritious and makes the drinker fit and healthy, it even enhances the taste of whatever food or drink you make with it. Some people even use dorse cum as a secret ingredient in their recipes for the flavour it brings to the food. Studies say that a Dorse's milk even enhances the intelligence of the drinkers. A Dorse's spit or cum (from dick or pussy) can be used in stamina enhancement medicine or even in medication that improves the size of the dick or breasts of the user (depending on if it's made from the cum from the penis or the vagina), a Dorse's sweat can be used to synthesize aphrodisiacs and so on. Even a Dorse's shit and piss have their uses in making fertilizers for farming. A Dorse's blood can be used to make healing potions in fantasy settings or medicines that improve blood production in users. So, you're extremely useful to humanity and expect to live the life of a queen or king for your stay here. Post jump, you can toggle parts of this perk so that you don't become a cash cow or horse if word gets out about your nature.

- You will love being a Dorse (400 DP): When you first became a dorse, you were afraid but now that you've experienced the depraved pleasure it brings, you've fallen in love with it. Or so it seems. You're an expert at finding and indulging in the more hedonistic aspects of life and your actions inspire people to follow your path. If you make it a point to show off the benefits of being a Dorse or the benefits you think it brings, people will line up to become Dorses like you and once they start falling into depravity alongside you, it feels like as if a stone is rolling downhill, more and more people start following your leadership and indulge in fetishes you spread. Soon, everyone will be a dorse or will be fucking a dorse. Post jump, you can choose a different fetish to champion. And yes, you can toggle this perk off if you feel like it.
- Fights are boring (600 DP): Mystery, conceptual defences? Sounds like kids' make believe games. What's the point of replacing humanity with extremely similar P-zombies when they don't even have fun or suck someone off or have sex? But being on the jumpchain means coming across people with extremely finicky powers that need a huge investment of time to fight, time that would be better spent sucking off your hubby. So, you've figured out a technique that lowers or shuts off your conceptual powers or intelligence based abilities to explosively boost your physical abilities conceptually. Basically, you get a debuff to intellectual powers and get a boost to unga bunga powers that can punch through your opponent's defences and defeat them. The more conceptual and technical and theoretical their nonsense is, the more power your punch or kick will be against them. If someone replaces the world with an extremely similar simulation that works on some weird magic rule, you'll kill them in an instant and go back to sucking dick or licking pussy. Idiots like those don't deserve your time.

Items:

You get two discounts in this section. Discounted 100 DP items are free.

- Dorse strength condoms (Free): An unlimited amount of them and they disappear when you tie off the tip after use. We don't know where it goes, maybe into the sun, maybe into a blackhole, who knows.

- Harness (100 DP): Comes with a ball gag. Dorses love giving rides. This harness is extremely comfortable for your Dorse and lets her run faster and farther. You get as many harnesses as the Dorses you have or own.
- House (100 DP): Big enough to house you and half a dozen Dorses. You can design how it looks.
- Farm (200 DP): A huge farm for you and your Dorses to stay in. Can combine this with the house item to get a big farmhouse or mansion and a barn big enough to house a dozen or more Dorses and equipment to milk the Dorses (or 'Milk' them if you will) or collect their fluids, blood, etc. The barn expands to house more Dorses if you bring in more. The barn has straw beds that are supremely comfortable to sit and sleep on. It's magical, really.
- Pendant (200 DP): A two faced pendant with a human silhouette on one side and a dorse silhouette on the other. If you touch someone with the dorse side, they get permanently locked as a dorse. If you touch someone with the human side, they get their original appearance back. When you're turning someone into a Dorse, you can decide to permanently reduce their intelligence if you want.
- Holy Grail (400 DP): A fully filled Holy Grail from Nasuverse. This one isn't tainted but works better when you make lewd wishes. Only works once per jump or 10 years whichever is shorter.

Companions:

You can create or import up to 4 companions for free and they get 600 DP each to spend. For 100 DP, you can create or import 8 companions and they get 600 DP per person.

- Familiar faces (first two purchases free, subsequent purchases cost 50 DP per person): There are quite a few characters that got the Dorse treatment over the years. The characters from Nasuverse, those from Fire Emblem and so on. You can pick any two characters you like and give them the dorse treatment. They have all the perks of the Dorse origin and can't access their usual powers while in their Dorse form. Do remember that this option can be cheesed hard but have fun. They can shift between their Dorse form and normal form as if it's altforms but they love staying in their Dorse forms so they won't transform unless you ask them to and only temporarily.
- Wonder Dorse (100 DP): The champion of her people, the Amazorses. She came to Man's world to find a suitable partner for her. She's an expert at giving head (or licking pussies) but whenever you cum in her mouth, you get a random blessing from one of her gods for six hours. Things like a power to heal yourself or heal others, give them diseases that last for a day and so on. The blessings aren't world breaking but they are always useful and fit the situation at hand. (You basically have a dozen plus gods in your corner, blessing you whenever you cum in their champion's mouth). Once per jump, her Gods give you a permanent blessing that fits that jump. This blessing is quite potent.

- Power Dorse (100 DP): The last daughter of Dorston, her planet exploded when she was a teen and she crash landed in your backyard as an adult and chose you as her master. Her body absorbs the sunlight of your planet and supercharges her breast milk. If you keep drinking it daily, you can see your physical and mental abilities increasing and you'll even gain the ability to fly and other minor powers. Like fire breath or freeze rays. (You're basically superman but it'll take decades for you to reach his showings in movies and centuries to do the wacky stuff he does in comics). Alongside this, her breast milk can be used to temporarily supercharge your other powers (the ones you bought in a jump, so this is basically a super mode for your ki abilities or whatever but the boost is temporary (less than 3 minutes and depends upon how much you've drunk recently)).
- Honey (Free for Dorse): Your human lover/owner or whatever. Absolutely loves you and everything about you. Is very rich so he/she doesn't need to work and loves having sex with you. And is into whatever fetish you have.

Drawbacks:

- Preferences (+0 DP): Want to be a dick girl dorse instead of a futa dorse? The difference is minor but who am I to stop you from having fun. You can decide how you look or how Dorses look in the jump.
- Supplement mode (+0 DP): Since this is a generic jump, you can design the world you're entering from the ground up as long as Dorses are a common enough part of the world. This option can instead be used to supplement this jump to another jump but Dorses will appear in the fused setting you're visiting now. Maybe Star Trek has a planet where the aliens are Dorses and they're now members of Star fleet? Maybe there are Dorse Youkai in DxD? Who knows. The points you gain here can't be spent on that other doc.
- Time extension (+100 DP): You can extend your stay for a decade more. Only grants points the first two times.
- Power Lockout (+200 DP): You can't access your out of jump powers.
- Item lockout (+200 DP): You can't access your out of jump items or the warehouse.

- Companion lockout (+200 DP): You can't import your companions into the jump. They can buy perks or items but they can't enter the jump.
- Celibate (+300 DP): You can't have sex, bro. For the duration of this jump, you can't have sex. Events conspire to make it so you can't have sex or even kiss or fondle someone. No matter if it's a normal person or a Dorse.
- Dumb dorse (+400 DP): You're a dorse and the dumbest dorse in existence, way dumber than a horse. You only care about sucking someone off or getting milked and bred.
- Eww, Dorse (+400 DP): You've an extreme revulsion towards Dorses and react viscerally if you come in contact with one. But Dorses love you and you come across one almost everyday even if you're far away from civilization. You may even kill them if they stay close to you but expect to get arrested or become a social pariah.

Notes:

For the magical cum perk, basic effects are stuff like cum being extremely tasty and nutritious, making someone feel happy and remove negative emotions, make someone permanently smarter via daily intake of cum (the growth rate is small but steady), make someone immune to common diseases, make someone heal their injuries or even let them regrow limbs via a few weeks of intake and so on. You can make more effects that are around this level. Healing potions are concentrated variants that have other ingredients added and can help people reattach or regrow limbs based on potency of the potion.

If you have 'Lone Dorse in the city' and 'You will love being a dorse', you can have any other fetishes of yours appear in the setting. Things like futa or bimbos or centaurs or whatever gets your freak on.

Dorses or Queen's Stallions are based on the art and doujinshi by 'NikujiruC'. There are two doujin, one for a dragon quest like fantasy world and the other for FGO.

Dorses are women who look like highly sexualised horses. Here's an image of one

Usually they have a dick, like this:

The only fic I found that tried to come up with backstory for the Dorse came up with the infection having generations. The first generation was the dumbest, basically living breathing cumdumpsters who can't think beyond having sex and shit and piss everywhere.

The infection evolved to the second generation which were smarter than the first generation and just farted whenever they wanted like cows. Basically as smart as dogs or cats.

The third generation are the most common and they were on par with the smartest animals.

The fourth generation could talk and are docile. They had average intelligence.

The fifth generation were the leaders of the dorse herds, with all the lower generations looking to them for guidance.

The sixth generation are the latest and the fiercest. These had spiked hooves and were the smallest but strongest, they only listened to their herd leaders or humans.