10 Billion Wives Gauntlet

I apologize in advance if you're expecting some kind of explanation, that's not what this place is about. No lore to be found, only wives, spouses, soulmates, partners, whatever you want to call them, it's about finding those special someones you want to spend the rest of your life with.

Yes, someones. This isn't the place for monogamy. Don't worry about the whys or the hows. There's no point overthinking it. In this world filled with angels and demons and kaiju and ninjas and whatever else you can think of, all you need to worry about is pulling them into your, for lack of a better word, harem.

100 wives, 1000 wives, 10000 wives, 100000 wives, the more the merrier. Just keep marrying wives without a care in the world, and the little issues like "how is this legal?", "where will they live?", or "how can I have more human wives than there are humans on the planet?" will tend to sort themselves out.

This jump follows gauntlet rules. That means you get no starting MP (Marriage Proposals) to start, no outside powers, and dying will send you off to your next world. Since you really aren't in much danger here, the first two are the only ones you should need to worry about.

This place may be based on a clicker game, but don't expect things to progress anywhere near as fast as they would in the game. That's not to say that the speed that you can get someone to marry you isn't probably hundreds of times faster here than in other worlds. You may leave this jump whenever you please, but you can only stay for up to one year to start, but this time can be extended by progressing through the challenge for this gauntlet.

Don't let all the talk of "wives" scare you off. If that isn't really your thing. Countless husbands can be gathered with just as much ease in this world.

+Omp

Drawbacks

Deadbeat {+100mp} - Well, I've heard some women dream of having a kept man in their life. You're broke, and you're going to stay broke, requiring you to remain financially dependent on your spouses, just to live. None of their families will be happy about this, or you, but they don't seem to notice.

Mr. Neutron Star {+100mp} - You are aware you're supposed to marry these girls, right? You're as dense as some of the worst harem protagonists, and beyond naive. All but the most direct advances fly over your head.

Filling a Quota {+100mp} - Let's hope that you can keep this to yourself, you can't tell any of your wives apart, beyond their archetype. This won't interfere with the quantity of wives you can collect, but this will never be taken well by those who personally confirm that you don't see them as an individual.

Battle for Supremacy {+100mp} - I'm sure this will go over swimmingly. You're an irrational and open misogynist or misandrist, maybe both, whatever lets you offend and discriminate against all your spouses.

Buyers Remorse {+100mp} - You have an uncomfortable tendency to compare your wives unfairly, both internally, and to their faces. Not only does this trample on their self esteem, it makes it almost impossible for you to feel content with your harem, only thinking about who you could have married instead, or what your married life could or should have been like.

Chemicals of the Heart {+200mp} - This was just a suggestion before, but seriously, keep this on the down-low. You don't feel anything for any of your wives. You don't feel, value, or even comprehend love, beyond how it can benefit you. This world might as well still be a clicker game for you.

Mutually Exclusive Ideals {+200mp} - Everyone has their own tastes, and those tastes may not always agree. Each of your spouses is actively trying to shape you into their own mutually exclusive ideals of a perfect spouse.

Standard Procedure {+200mp} - Oh my, this will slow things down considerably. The offices that would normally handle the submission of marriage certificates has been subsumed into the Department of Motor Vehicles, with all the long lines and excessive red tape that implies.

Tight Schedule {+200mp} - Turns out having a harem is a full-time job. You won't have a second of free time to yourself if you want to keep collecting wives like this. Hell, you barely have enough time for that. To make matters worse, your wives aren't the slightest bit empathetic to your time limitations, and will insist on occupying as much of your time as possible.

Too Much of a Good Thing {+200mp} - Maybe I was being optimistic in thinking this would resolve itself. The world is severely overpopulated by spouses, to the point that it's a serious global issue. This only gets worse as your harem grows, and things won't get much better if you leave the Earth.

High Maintenance {+300mp} - The dark side of relationships. All of your wives are beyond needy, demanding constant gifts and attention. Gifts require twice as much love now as they would have otherwise.

Actual Consequences {+300mp} - Oh yeah, divorce is a thing, isn't it? Now, you have to somehow keep all your wives content. If they become dissatisfied, not only will they divorce you, they'll take their entire archetype with them.

War of the Wives {+300mp} - Who would have thought that having more than one wife could be so dangerous? Your spouses are at each other's throats 24/7. They may start killing each other, if you can't pacify them. They may direct some of this aggression at you, if you aren't careful.

Gold Digger {+300mp} - This is a rather cynical take on relationships. Your wives do love you, but only to the extent that they can continue using you. If you're no longer any use to them, your LPH will drop like a rock.

Odd one Out {+300mp} - Coma again? You're saying that you want to have more than one wife? In this jump, polygamy is universally illegal. You'll have to find some kind of legal workaround to keep your harem growing.

Low Stakes {+1000mp} - This is no longer a gauntlet. You may keep your powers, and death will end your chain (as unlikely as that is). This leaves you ineligible for the scenario below. So just enjoy your stay, I suppose.

Origins

Decide your age and gender freely. Any origin can be taken as Drop-In. Origins get their associated 100mp perk for free, and all others discounted half-off.

Protagonist {FREE} - Just what is it about you that makes the ladies fall all over you? You may be a bit awkward, but there's just something about the things you say and the things you do that attracts women like flies. Oddly, this doesn't do you any favors in your intentional efforts to win hearts.

Collector {FREE} - Let's not pretend we're here for anything magical. Your only interest is in gathering more and more wives, even at the expense of emotional depth in these relationships. It's not that bad. Some people collect cards, other people collect coins, and you collect wives, it's all the same really.

Romantic {FREE} - I can already tell the ladies are gonna eat you up. You take the slow and steady approach to marriage (comparatively speaking). You've got what it takes to woo the ladies with your charm. You aren't filling a quota here, you're going right for the hearts of potential spouses everywhere.

Spouse {FREE} - Oh? You'd rather be the one pursued in this situation? You can still collect other spouses at your own convenience, but your talents lie in making you ideal marriage material. If you want to become someone that every wife wishes they could be and more, this is the origin for you.

Freebees

Unless earned through the scenario below, the following freebees are effective for this jump only, and will disappear upon entering your next jump.

Lovey Dovey {FREE} - A little abstraction of this world that will make your task a little more realistic. Now, for every wife you marry, you will gain a single point of “Love”. This can be used to a variety of ends, as described below, which will all generally help you gather wives at a much greater rate. Love in your current possession doesn’t directly correlate to the number of wives you have. As such, “spending” love doesn’t mean losing any wives.

A Perfect Match {FREE} - You may find yourself struggling to keep track of all these spouses, but now you can break them down into a small number of broad archetypes, such as archer, officer, zombie, etc . This doesn’t help identify who or how many are included in each group. A wife can only be included in one archetype, based on their strongest superficial characteristics. Even if you marry someone, they will not be affected by any of these freebees, unless they cleanly fall into one of these archetypes. You use Love to buy archetypes, but archetypes with higher LPH will naturally cost much more.

Love Per Hour {FREE} - Every wife archetype will be assigned with a number called Love Per Hour (LPH). This is how much Love this archetype can potentially generate every minute, without you needing to lift a finger. You can see this as the cumulative ability and willingness of all the wives in this archetype to pull more wives into your harem. While in this jump, LPH directly translates to marriages per minute, but going forward, it will not account for a spouse’s personal resistance or acceptance of polygamy, and may end up much lower or higher than the actual stated number. LPH doesn’t increase on its own unless upgraded through other perks and such in this jump.

Love Per Tap {FREE} - Marriage papers are usually a bit more complicated in most worlds, but we are on a time crunch here. You have an infinite supply of marriage contracts. In this world, submitting one of these contracts is 100% guaranteed to net a certain number of wives, even if you've never even met before. Like LPH, this success rate will be heavily impacted post-jump by a wife candidate's baseline resistance to polygamy, for a drop of as much as 60 or 100%. Your LPT starts out at 1 submission = 1 wife. This can be upgraded up to six times, each for a significant amount of Love. At level one, your LPT is just one, at level two, you gain an additional 100 LPT, 4,000 LPT at level three, 2,500,000 LPT at level four, 80,000,000 LPT at level five, 400,000,000 LPT at level six, and 2,000,000,000 at level seven.

The Next Level {FREE} - What better way to use love than to get more Love! By spending Love, you can raise a wife archetype's level, increasing their LPH by an amount equal to their starting LPH. There's no limit to how many times you can upgrade a wife, but each level is 113% more expensive. Naturally, the higher the base LPH, the higher the initial cost to level up.

Giving From the Heart {FREE} - There's a special way to significantly increase the Love gained from an archetype. By spending an exorbitant amount of Love, you can buy presents for your wives. You may choose whether these presents are purely abstract, or if every wife of that archetype physically receives the present. In any case, this present acts as a modifier, multiplying their LPH. You can buy up to three presents for each archetype, though all three will invariably be incredibly costly, with strict level requirements. The first doubles the LPH, the second present multiplies it by 10, and the final present multiplies it by 10 again. Multipliers are applied on top of level ups.

General Options

None of the below options may be taken alongside the drawback Low Stakes.

$\mathcal{MRX}_3 \{50mp/Per\}$ - Once every year, you will receive a small blue potion in a glass vial. Drinking this potion triples your LPT for 20 hours, after which it will wear off. Each purchase of $\mathcal{MRX}_3$ will determine how many of these vials you receive over the course of a year, but you're free to stockpile them. The effects of $\mathcal{MRX}_3$ do not stack, if multiple vials are imbibed at once.

$\mathcal{Wifeplus} \{Variable\}$ - With each purchase, you will receive a certain number of small pink potions, marked by a pink heart on the label. This is Wifeplus, a potion that multiplies your total LPH by 20%, permanently. You will not receive additional bottles once you've drank the ones you buy here, but the multiplier will persist from this jump forward, and what's more, the effects can be stacked, up to a maximum of 1000%.

$\mathcal{X}_1 \{200mp/Per\}$ - May be bought several times.

$\mathcal{X}_2 \{200mp\}$ - May only be bought once.

$\mathcal{X}_6 \{400mp\}$ - May only be bought once.

$\mathcal{X}_{10} \{600mp\}$ - May only be bought once.

$\mathcal{X}_{20} \{800mp\}$ - May only be bought once.

Here Come the Brides {50mp} - If you want something a little more personal than a quick stamp and an invisible counter for your marital bonds. You are now in possession of a beautiful chapel. You may integrate this into any property you own. What makes this special is, when using this chapel for the sole purpose of preparing for and hosting a marriage ceremony, or several, no time will pass in the outside world. All unrelated activities and changes are impossible within this compressed time. The paperwork involved in marrying new wives is not considered to be related, and must be handled outside.

From Me to You to Her {Variable} - You've decided to give a bit of preferential treatment to one or more of your archetypes. This present will mean the world to them, but more practically, it will also apply a multiplier to their LPH. You may gift them this regardless of their level. Additionally, this won't preclude you from later spending Love to gift them any of the three gifts you would normally be able to buy for them, multipliers and all. Each tier of gift can only be taken once per archetype. Requires at least one Archetype.

Lv. 1 {150mp} - Multiplies the archetype's LPH by 2.

Lv. 2 {200mp, requires Lv. 1} - Multiplies the archetype's LPH by 10.

Lv. 3 {250mp, requires Lv. 2} - Multiplies the archetype's LPH by 10.

Rough and Rugged {500mp} - Whether in humans or beasts, nothing screams “animal magnetism” than pure physical power. You may retain whatever level of physical speed, strength, durability, and agility you possessed prior to this jump, with the physique to match. Just be mindful of the difference between temptation and forceful intimidation.

Educated Gentleman {500mp} - Who says nerds don’t have game? What could be sexier than a thick, meaty brain, ready to burst with knowledge? You may retain whatever level of intelligence and knowledge you possessed prior to this jump. This excludes any knowledge relating to the charisma or social graces you possessed prior to this jump.

Love at First Sight {500mp} - Hubba hubba! Looks aren’t everything, but they’re certainly something. You possess all the superficial beauty and mannerisms you possessed prior to this jump. This not only includes your physical form, but also how you carry yourself, your movements, your expressions, your habits. Though, this won’t account for your personality or communication skills, just what’s on the outside.

Prince Charming {500mp} - It’s amazing how much power a few words can have over people. You possess all the charisma you possessed prior to this world. This doesn’t include your superficial attractiveness, rather, you’ll be retaining your ability to draw in people with your personality. Your ability to say the right words at the right time in the right way, as well as the intuition you had into the thoughts and motivations of others.

Jumper Daddy {800mp} - I guess resources could be considered a type of charm. You will be permitted to retain access to your Cosmic Warehouse in this jump. This means all the resources you've accumulated across your chain up to this point will be available to you for your time in this jump. There's not much else that can really be said about this option.

Pay-2-Win {1200mp} - If you really aren't confident in your chances in the scenario, you may be able to retain all of your personal powers and perks from your chain up until this point, with some restrictions. For one, this freedom will not extend to your companions, nor will it allow you access to your warehouse.

From this point forward, in addition to wives obtained through force or fear, wives who have had their mind, body, or emotions forcefully altered in order to love or marry you will not be considered "legitimate". The Freebee perks will not be applied to them in any capacity, and as such, they will not generate any Love, or contribute to your love count. Changes that occur within a wife as a result of pure charisma, attractiveness, time spent together, or just the natural extent of their feelings for you, will not count as being "forcefully altered".

The rules of the gauntlet reward will be changed slightly as well. No matter what the rewards say, you may only extend your time in this jump to an absolute maximum of 10 years. However, the most important change of all, is that the number of wives specified at every milestone will be squared. In order to receive the rewards associated with that milestone, you must collect the number of wives equal to the stated number multiplied by itself.

Protagonist Perks

Oh so Clumsy {100mp} - How do you keep doing this? Cupid must either really love or hate you. You have an inexplicable habit of endearing yourself to almost every person you find attractive by complete accident. Often, it will just be a platonic sense of fondness, with the potential to become something more. For better or worse, this doesn't help you notice when it happens.

Always the Victim {200mp} - Certainly, it's not your fault that every girl in school wants to date you. It's just an unfortunate coincidence. As long as you don't play favorites, you are rarely blamed, or seen as unfaithful for having any number of people pining for your romantic affection simultaneously. Though, this will likely lead to in-fighting if you can't keep the peace.

King of Commitment {400mp} - Time and space are nothing to a man and many, many women in love. I don't know how, but no matter how many romantic partners you have, you always have enough time to go on satisfying dates with all of them, and still have time for yourself. Dates with you all have the same feelings and sincerity behind them, regardless of brevity.

Expanding the Cast {600mp} - In most worlds, an official relationship is a pretty hard stopping point for any harem. Now, no matter how obviously taken you are, the rate at which others fall for you is constant. No matter how many people are pining for you, new people can't stop themselves from feeling like they still have a chance with you. This can be disabled at will.

Collector Perks

Pencil Pusher {100mp} - You're a master at networking, knowing how to effectively market yourself or your cause with maximum effectiveness. Not only helping you catch the interest of parties that otherwise wouldn't give your pitch the time of day, but also make sure that word spreads as far and wide. Though, if you really have nothing to offer, this won't produce any miracles.

Economics of Affection {200mp} - All their love is directed towards you, so why should they be the only one to benefit? Now, you have the ability to use love aimed towards you as a valid currency. Admittedly, the conversion rate is terrible, but everyone seems willing to accept it as payment, somehow. This works even without the means to quantify your love.

Nothing but the Best {400mp} - You know what they say, either go big, or go home. No matter how unique, inhuman, or important a being is, if they're seeking love, you have no more trouble talking them into marriage than a mundane person. Be it an alien, a superhero, a disembodied A.I., legislative issues that should prevent you from marrying them are handwaved away.

Assembly Line {600mp} - I'd usually never endorse spousal neglect, but one man's love can only be spread so thin. If you treat your wives like statistics, or fail to spend any time with them, or go as far as forgetting their names, as long as you aren't actively cruel to them, they'll always brush aside your blatant neglect, and continue seeing you as their beloved spouse.

Romantic Perks

Three Magic Words {100mp} - If you know anything, it's romance. You have good intuition for what spouses want to see, what they want to hear, and how to play up the atmosphere to pull them into a scene straight out of a fairy tale. Call it seduction, call it charming, but when it comes to flirting, you're second to none. Try not to set a pace you can't keep in the long-term.

Indirect Kiss {200mp} - Anyone who says long-distance relationships aren't real love clearly hasn't met you. No matter how separated you are from those dear to you, the full extent of your love can be felt even indirectly, just as can you feel how their hearts yearn for you. Whether over the internet, or through a marriage proposal, your heart is never truly far.

Love Without Borders {400mp} - How pessimistic to assume that your heart isn't big enough for a mere 10 billion. It could be an infinite number of people, and you'd be able to love every one of them with all your heart. Your heart and mind have what it takes to sustain any number of mutually romantic relationships, that never fade with the passage of time alone.

Gifts That Keep on Giving {600mp} - For those you truly care about, you always get the perfect gifts. Like Gifts of the Heart, heartfelt gifts can act as multipliers for their love. Unlike that perk, you aren't limited to three, and can do this as many times as you can afford. Just know that the price of each gift bought for this purpose will be inflated, relative to the last.

Spouse Perks

Pillar of the Soul {100mp} - Whatever act they may put up, what all partners truly desire is someone to pour their hearts out to. You project the aura of a good listener, someone who can help carry their burdens, without judging. You have the patience and compassion to help them through whatever stress plagues them, and as such, your advice bears infinitely more weight.

Able-Bodied {200mp} - You want a commitment? Fill out the paperwork. You want a relationship? Put in some elbow grease. You're perfectly competent in all spousal duties (whatever that may mean for your current arrangement). You can leave the house spotless in a few minutes flat, raise kids without them becoming too clingy or distant, and still have time for yourself.

First Among Equals {400mp} - Why fight for a place at the top, when you were destined for it? No matter how much competition you may have, you're always given preferential treatment by the object of your affection. You're best girl, you're always the "main" wife, even if you got mixed up in this hierarchy of romance late in the game, compared to everyone else.

Friendly Competition {600mp} - Rivals? Nothing of the sort, you're just fellow chasers of love. Romantic "rivals" are often oddly cooperative with your pursuit of love, even enthusiastic at the idea of sharing their object of affection with you. Rivals quickly come to love you as much as the initial target. This willingness to cooperate even spreads to those competing for your affection.

Archetypes

Purchased archetypes can take several different forms in future jumps. Either as group companions, merged into your harem from this world (if you still have it), or as a single companion embodying that archetype. You can even use the options in this section as companion imports. You may change this when bringing them into a given jump for the first time. An archetype's price will determine their starting LPH, see Notes for details. Archetypes gain no MP or freebees, but may gain up to 300mp from drawbacks.

Apron Wife {FREE} - A submissive yet peppy wife, with a passion for cooking. Seeing you smile from her food never fails to brighten her day.

10 Billion Wives

Above you selected what, if any spouses would come with you as companions, regardless of all else. Still, it is expected that you will be marrying many, many more wives in your time here. Depending on how many wives or husbands you are able to gather during your ten years here, you will be given certain rewards.

1 Million Wives

By reaching this point, your time in this jump may be extended by one year, and a +20% multiplier is applied to your LPT. Most importantly, if you were unable to reach this point before leaving, you would not be permitted to take anything gained in this world with you on your travels, whether wives, perks, items, etc. Now, barring freebees, you will not be bound by this limit any more.

1 Billion Wives

By reaching this point, your time in this jump may be extended by two years, and a +20% multiplier is applied to your LPT. For any spouses you have, had, or gain in the future, you receive a flattering portrait accentuating their charm and qualities. Personally marrying someone will give you a unique portrait of them, while those gained through archetypes are only represented by a single portrait depicting a generic example of that archetype. The style of the portrait may even change over time as your own aesthetic tastes shift.

35 Billion Wives

By reaching this point, your time in this jump may be extended by two years, and a +40% multiplier is applied to your LPT. Additionally, you will receive a special property called Love's Abode. The properties of this mansion and the surrounding land allows it to house you and any amount of your spouses, no matter how many. This property becomes progressively more beautiful as you proceed through this gauntlet's challenge, letting it transform from a simple field to a heavenly wonderland of floating islands by the halfway point alone.

7.1 Billion Wives

By reaching this point, your time in this jump may be extended by two years, and a +80% multiplier is applied to your LPT. By reaching the point where your harem rivals the number of humans on the planet, you've acquired a special aura. Going forward, no matter your setting or circumstances, no one will be able to recognize your possession of an impossibly huge harem to be strange in the slightest. You may become the target of envy, and it's not any easier to pull new members in, but nobody will think to consider it as odd or impossible.

10 Billion Wives

By reaching this point, your time in this jump may be extended by two years, and a +160% multiplier is applied to your LPT. You've proven your dedication to your cause. As of now, you may take the six perks from the Freebees section with you into future worlds. This includes Lovey Dovey, A Perfect Match, Love Per Hour, Love Per Tap, The Next Level, and Giving From the Heart.

20 Billion Wives

By reaching this point, your time in this jump may be extended by five years, and a +320% multiplier is applied to your LPT. Rather than starting from the ground up each jump, by reaching this point, you are allowed to take your entire harem from this jump with you into future jumps. The entire harem will share a single companion slot, although, this means that anything gained from importing them into future jumps are shared or divided proportionally across the entire harem, resulting in an enormous drop in effectiveness. Even if you expand your harem in future worlds, the spouses in this companion slot cannot be increased or decreased after this jump.

100 Billion Wives

By reaching this point, your time in this jump may be extended by five years, and a +60% multiplier is applied to your LPT. Even if you have the option to take your harem with you, actually letting such an enormous group loose in any other world comes with its own slew of problems. Now, whenever you take your harem with you into other jumps, the size of the world will increase to the point that it can actually sustain such an immense population all at once.

1 Trillion Wives

By reaching this point, your time in this jump may be extended by five years, and you will receive one Wifeplus at the start of every jump following this one. Going forward, you'll be able to continue growing your harem. This will not let you pull in specific characters, but you'll continue to pull in generic wives of your various archetypes, as if you were still in this jump. These wives are added to the group companion, but each addition further divides the harem's power.

1 Quadrillion Wives

By reaching this point, your time in this jump may be extended by five years, and you will receive two Wifeplus at the start of every jump following this one. Now, in addition to generic additions, you can add other companions happen to be married to you into the group companion. This adds that companion's power to the group, but similar to the group's own power, it is divided for every member in the group. You may fit them into a preexisting archetype for free, or pay an excessive amount of love in order to make them into their own archetype. These companions can be removed from the group at no cost, though you still need to pay each time you convert them into an archetype.

1 Quintillion Wives

By reaching this point, your time in this jump may be extended by five years, and you will receive six Wifeplus at the start of every jump following this one. As your love reaches the edges of the universe, you've stumbled upon a very special archetype, known only as "Girlfriend Wife". Believe it or not, this sweet angel is actually an angel! And an alien, and a pirate, and an oscillating fan, and a- point is, this girl's backstory grows progressively more complex as time goes on. She can change into these different forms using a number of magical orbs, that can also be used as a source of clean electricity.

1 Sextillion Wives

By reaching this point, your time in this jump may be extended by five years, and you will receive ten Wifeplus at the start of every jump following this one. Your love has reached so far as to drag in this incredible bum. The "Kept Man Husband" archetype follows the philosophy that those who work are failures. This husband will not work under any circumstances, and will insist on relying entirely on your income, though chores are fine. In reality, this husband is a true genius, capable of miraculous feats, so long as he can justify it as avoiding work, such as erect a house, building a spaceship to Mars, terraform Mars, up to and including designing a fully functioning time machine. Even the members of his archetype are just the result of his cloning experiments.

1 Septillion Wives

By reaching this point, your time in this jump may be extended by ten years, and you will receive twenty Wifeplus at the start of every jump following this one. The density of marriage particles has resulted in the birth of a singularity. Rather than remaining as a group companion, your harem can now be merged together into a singular wife the "10 Billion Wives Wife". This amalgamate wife combines the powers, perks, personality traits and physical traits of all your wives in such a way as to get as close as possible to being the perfect wife for you in every way. As this is a singular companion, and not a group, any powers that have been distributed across your wives will function at full power in the hands of 10 Billion Wives Wife. Do note that companions from outside of this jump will be able to resist the merge, if you attempt to initiate it by force.

1 Octillion Wives

By reaching this point, your time in this jump may be extended by ten years, and your wives will have picked out the perfect gift for you, which will multiply your total LPH by 2. Against all logic, the force of your love has allowed you to attract, yourself? Yes, the “Jumper Wife” archetype is a version of yourself, in the form of your preferred gender. They will have all the perks and abilities you had prior to this jump, but they won’t scale to your gains after this jump. Also, this power is divided across the entire harem. (They don’t have to actually be you, if you’re uncomfortable with that, or would simply prefer otherwise.)

1 Googol Wives

By reaching this point, your time in this jump may be extended by ten years, and your wives will have picked out the perfect gift for you, which will multiply your total LPH by 10. In future jumps, should you find unique characters that you can convince to willingly marry you, and come along on your journey, you may add them into the harem group companion, without taking them as an individual companion. They aren’t split into their own archetype or anything, but they will be able to come with you into future worlds. Furthermore, as they are only companions as an extension of the harem, their supernatural powers are divided across the harem. Attempting to separate them from the group slot without a pod will result in them being safely returned to their original jump.

1 Googolplex Wives

By reaching this point, your time in this jump may be extended by fifty years, and your wives will have picked out the perfect gift for you, which will multiply your total LPH by 10. Your wives have managed to outnumber the elementary particles in the known universe, but why stop there? From this point forward, each archetype will possess the full potency of the freebees from this jump, albeit spread across its members. This means your spouses are all capable of forming their own smaller harems. Members of these sub-harems that you accept will be considered part of your own harem as well. All parties involved will be fine with this. Sub-harems will never decrease the core wife's love for you, and those you accept into your own harem will come to love you as much as their original wife. You can toggle this, if it makes you uncomfortable.

1 Googolplexian Wives

A googolplexian, the largest number named by humanity. That's 1, followed by a googolplex of zeroes, which in itself is 1, followed by a googol of zeroes, which is 1, followed by 100 zeroes. This is the number of wives you have, an impossibly immense number. By reaching this point, your time in this jump may be extended by a century. There's nothing else to be reached for. As such, you'll be returning to this world's roots. From now on, all implementations of Love Per Hour will be converted into Love Per Second, and all LPT submissions may be accomplished digitally, with a single click each. Meaning the love you used to earn each hour will now be gained with each second that passes, and Love Per Tap will truly be the Love gained with each tap.

Also, for completion sake, you may now trade in your Wifeplus rewards from the prior milestones for a single bottle of Wifeplus+ at the start of every jump following this one. Drinking this potion will instantly apply the max 1000% multiplier to your LPH/LPS. All the same restrictions of Wifeplus apply.

All Wives

You've gone beyond the pinnacle, you have done the impossible, and wed every last wife across space and time. Every last being that ever has or ever will have the capacity to feel love in this universe has joined your harem. Even those that did not meet your personal tastes have either been integrated in spite of that, or remade into someone who can. Your devotion to the path of harem-building has surpassed mere hedonism, and become something truly transcendent.

In recognition of this, you have been bestowed with the final archetype, the "God of Wives". Yes, the divinity that rules over all things romantic or marital has descended to become your spouse as well. Their power over love is without equal, and their devotion to you is bottomless. Expect her to be an ideal accomplice in all your future harem-building or matchmaking schemes.

Also, for completion sake, you may now trade in your Wifeplus rewards from the prior milestones for a single bottle of Wifeplus+ at the start of every jump following this one. Drinking this potion will instantly apply the max 1000% multiplier to your LPH/LPS.

Notes

Jump by Gene

Assume that you and your wives won't age past your peak during this gauntlet.

Anywhere in the jump where I talk in terms of "wives" or "husbands", always just assume I mean "spouses", meaning it can apply to any gender.

Spouses obtained through force or intimidation will not be considered legitimate in terms of the Freebee perks, and as such, will not generate Love, or count as being part of the harem. The only exception being if their love for you was genuine to begin with, and persisted until you were wed.

Any purchased wives or husbands may be taken as the closest equivalent for the opposite gender at no cost. The sole exceptions being Wife of Wives or Husband of Husbands. You can still take them as the opposite gender, but their characteristics other than their physical gender that will be unchanged.

Unlike in the games, you can assume there are as many archetypes as there are character types to base them on, some having identical prices and stats.

The multiplier from Wifeplus cannot go over 1000%, this also applies to those gained as gauntlet rewards, but in those cases, the limit will be reset each jump, even though the multiplier carries over.

I'll be real, the math I used to translate LPS into LPH is a but fucky. I was able to 100% 10B Wives in roughly three days, while being fairly efficient.

If I directly translate three days into 10 years, each second in-game should be about 20 minutes in-jump. Meaning I had to round up significantly to get that neat "Love Per Hour". That is to say, you can only really expect the freebees to carry you $\frac{1}{3}$ of the way to doing what would equate to 100%-ing the original game within the span of a normal jump. It's going to take legwork on your end to increase your wife count beyond what those perks alone can net you. After all, even if the stated number can't be changed without presents or upgrades, they won't stop you from gaining more wives than the stated LPH either.

The jump is balanced from the perspective that someone playing the game normally is equivalent to someone who took no drawbacks, no general or origin perks, and is relying on the freebees alone to get by, while submitting all marriage documents personally, and not receiving any additional help from their harem, beyond the LPH they provide. The LPH number represents the bare minimum amount of wives that the jumper will be able to passively attract in this world.

The translation of MP cost to LPH for Archetypes is as follows:

0mp = 1LPH
50mp = 5LPH
100mp = 50LPH
150mp = 80LPH
200mp = 100LPH
250mp = 150LPH
300mp = 200LPH
350mp = 500LPH
400mp = 2,000LPH
450mp = 9,000LPH
500mp = 60,000LPH
550mp = 660,000LPH
600mp = 8,750,000LPH
650mp = 108,000,000LPH
700mp = 1,280,000,000LPH
750mp = 10,000,000,000LPH.

The “All Wives” reward is just something I thought up as I was rewriting the challenge rewards. Depending on whether or not you assume the number of wives in this universe is actually infinite, it may not even be possible.
