

In an unnamed city in Korea, the populace is split evenly between Cats and Rabbits. Living alongside each other in relative peace. Though there is a strong Taboo against the two mixing. In this town a determined Bunny girl named Doki pursues a rather perplexed cat boy named Nabi. Their budding relationship will spark a revolution that will change their lives and the city forever... All to song!

—

Despite being a world defined by a series of music videos with no spoken dialog they are rich with details and untold stories surrounding the central concept of love and acceptance. Take 1000cp and do your best to climb your steps to happiness.

Starting Point

This is more to decide when you arrive as the entire story takes place within the city.

1. Baby Steps: You arrive 5 years before the events of the series, long before Doki and Nabi meet. Should help you get a feel for the world as it was before things get serious.
2. First steps: As you arrive you're nearly run over by an amorous Rabbit girl who bulldozes blindly through everyone in the way trying to catch a terrified Cat boy. Seems you here right at the start of the series, you have a few months of courtship before the riots begin.
3. Another Step: You arrive to see a Cat and Rabbit fleeing the airport with large smiles and a horde of fans/critics hot on their heels. Seems like you missed the series. But a whole new story is starting as conflicts continue to escalate into gang warfare.
4. Free Choice: You can drop yourself into any point of time.

Race

Choose between either Cat or Rabbit, despite being different they had very similar builds and make up. There is no statistical or societal difference between the 2 so just go with whatever you prefer.

If you want a bonus +100cp you can choose to be a mix. Having both Cat and Rabbit traits It will make you stand out from the crowd but you must take the 'Discriminated' Drawback at no bonus.

As this story takes all kinds of people to spot light you may freely pick your age and gender.

Perks

There are no origins in this jump so pick 2 100cp perks as your freebies. Beyond that you get one of each price category discounted.

100cp

Cat-Like Agility: In a busy city like this it's best to be light on your feet. You are a natural at parkour and are innately good at avoiding Danger. Dodging attacks or thrown objects with relative ease, This is purely defensive though. Your reflexes leave you as soon as you start to fight back.

Musician: Music lays at the soul of this world, now you'll not just live the music but play it yourself. Pick an instrument of your choice and you'll learn it well enough that you could join a band. You may pick this multiple times to learn more than one... and yes singing/rapping count as the same Option.

Protest: Arranging gatherings are messy enough as is without the heightened feelings of those with passion for what they believe in. You have become adept at not only arranging these gatherings but keeping them in relative order. It's still a mass of people but as long as the protest continues you can keep them gathered in one place or move them to another destination of your choice.

Heart Attack: Not nearly dire as it sounds. Much like Doki you can manifest your feelings of love as physical pink hearts that float near by you. Usually about 6-10, if your love is overwhelming you can produce more but the rest will just fall to the ground nearby. They will follow you dutifully as you move about but if you wish you can shoot them forward with a thought. They don't hit too hard but they can definitely build up if in an enclosed enough space.

Quirky: Everyone in the cast is a bit weird... but somehow, it never makes them unlikeable! You'll find that no matter how strange you act- so long as you're not harming other people- people will be more likely to find it charming rather than annoying

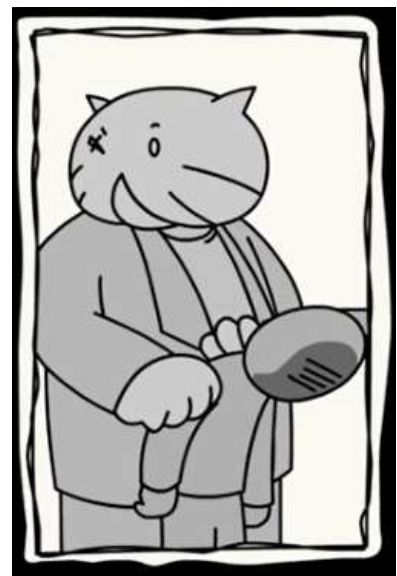

Tertiary Sex Characteristics: In this world most people in general don't look appreciably different from one another. Races aside, it's very easy to blend into the crowd... Well, not for you. You've got IT, whatever it is, that attracts others. You're considered quite the beauty to those of your race (and some of the other). Expect a lot of attention.

200cp

Everybody was Kung Fu Fighting: The conflict increases as time goes but your breed for that. Whether formal training for just growing up in a tough part of town you can more than hold your own in a brawl, often able to handle a half dozen combatants all on your own. Considering the size of the riots once they get going. You'll be happy to have this.

Cake Dance: Sometimes you need to sacrifice a bit to protect something precious. Especially for a jumper when oftentimes you are far more durable than the items you use. When protecting you are carrying you can redirect any attacks or damage that would affect it to yourself instead. Be it a fragile gift or an injured friend, you'll make sure your love is delivered safely.

BIG: Most people in this world share a very similar build, very minor differences in height and weight. You are at the far extreme of this end. You tower at twice the size of the average person and you have the strength to match. You can easily pick up a regular person with one hand and lift them off the ground. This world was not made for you though so you'll often find yourself ducking a bit to enter buildings and vehicles. A small price to pay to be large and in charge.

There She Is!!: This story is one of love conquering all obstacles and passing all boundaries set by society. You'll find your own love now has the same reaching power of Doki. People you find attractive will in turn find you attractive no matter what they're preferences or type normally is. Moreover the more you interact with them the more they will grow to love you in return until it reaches the same level of affection you hold for them. This is a power of mutual love, you can't make people fall for you unless you love them first.

400cp

Taboo: Your place, your rules. On any property you own you can enforce any rule, belief or ideal of your choice that can be conveyed with a visual sign. Once in place those inside will at the very least respect it if not be compelled to agree by the atmosphere. No outside force can make you remove your Taboo, but you can freely remove it or change it to something else.

POWER of Love: This is not a metaphorical statement. You are empowered by the love you feel and the love you receive allowing you to do superhuman feats. A one sided crush can easily allow you to plow through a crowd, tossing people aside like ragdolls. That only increases with mutual love making you a true force of nature. This power only lasts while you can feel the love in your heart so if you give into hate it will fade away.

Optionally you can give yourself rad glowing eyes when you're tapping into the power of love.

Built Toon Tough: The physics of this world are a bit wonky at times. You can spend one night pratfalling and face planting your way across the city with hardly a scratch but once serious fight can put you in the hospital. Ultimately this protects you from injuries due to accidents and environmental effects, it will still hurt a bit but you'll be up moments later with no injuries. This damage immunity has no effects for intentional violence but it at least guarantees when such a situation pops up you're in top shape.

600cp

Lion heart: Somewhere in your blood is a great power. You're a natural leader that people will gravitate to when conflict comes. In time you'll be able to call upon the kin within you to weaponize this aura. With a mighty roar you'll be able to intimidate all those of weaker willpower within earshot, causing them to freeze up and lose the will to fight. It won't work on the same person more than once a day but it should keep the mooks out of the picture while you deal with the real threats.

Paradise: One couple set into motion a world of changes and now so can you. Working toward a goal will now cause ripple effects to all you interact with changing things to align with that goal. The greater changes will require greater effort and will create greater ripples but as long as you continue to work at it the world itself will grow closer and closer to your ideal. Your Paradise.

Friend to all: There's an odd collection of 'strays' in this city. Dogs, rodents, birds, lizards, penguins, even rhinos. No matter the beast they respond to you. A little tender care and a bit of food and you will have a loyal friend. You just need to give them a small identifying mark or piece of clothing and they will join your herd and work to further your goals. They act as an extension of your will, unconsciously helping without you even needing to instruct them. This includes things like protecting people you care about, guiding those looking for you to where you are or even sacrificing themselves for you. Once per jump one of your animal friends will take a fatal blow to save you. They will not survive but will live long enough to make sure you are safe.

Items

Similar to the perks there are no origins to grant discounts. This time you get 2 100cp items for free, as well as discounts on 2 200cp items and 1 400cp item. You can buy any item multiple times but the discounts used only apply to the first purchase.

Free For All

Media: You get a copy of the DVD containing all the shorts as well as an artbook with art and info about all the relevant characters.

100cp

Cake Box: A small box that looks like a present. Once opened it will reveal tastefully made cake relevant to whatever situation you open it in. Its flavor is the favorite of whoever opens the box. Once eaten a new box will reappear in your warehouse ready for a new surprise.

Colorful Accessory: This can be anything you're likely to wear... a scarf, bow, hat etc. It will come in the color of your choice and always seem to compliment your outfit. It will kind of be seen as 'your thing' to anyone that knows you and once they do no one will copy it. If you ever lose track of it it will find its way back to you within a day.

It has sort of an empathic connection to you, in that the color is affected by your mood. When you are miserable it will be a dull gray but at your happiest moments it will be vibrant and full of life. This has no other effect but can give others a hint if you might need some cheering up.

Ol' Reliable: You never know when a fight is coming up but you're always prepared. Whenever you might need it, a small weapon is nearby. Whether it be a pair of knuckles/bike chain in your pocket or a baseball bat/pipe just within reach. They're not any more damaging then one you'd find elsewhere but you'll never be without them if you need them.

Woodcutter's Axe: A gleaming sharp axe that's excellent for felling trees, truly an impressive piece. One question though, why do you have this all the way in the inner city?! Well I'm sure you have your reasons, it does a lot to you intimidation factor to anyone who sees you holding it.

Instrument: Every musician needs their instrument after all. This purchase can qualify for any instrument you'd use in a band. If you are a Singer you can use this to get a good quality Mic instead.

Sign: A very common visual signature in this series. In general this is referring to the Anti-Mixed sign or a Pro one to display as you'd like. But if you'd rather a normal Stop sign or Yield go ahead, have at it.

Restraint Devices: A set of Doki's more... aggressive boyfriend recruitment items. A Lasso, Pair of handcuffs, a leash on a chain and a set of bolos. For those shy boyfriends who need a little encouragement in the no mixed couples zones.

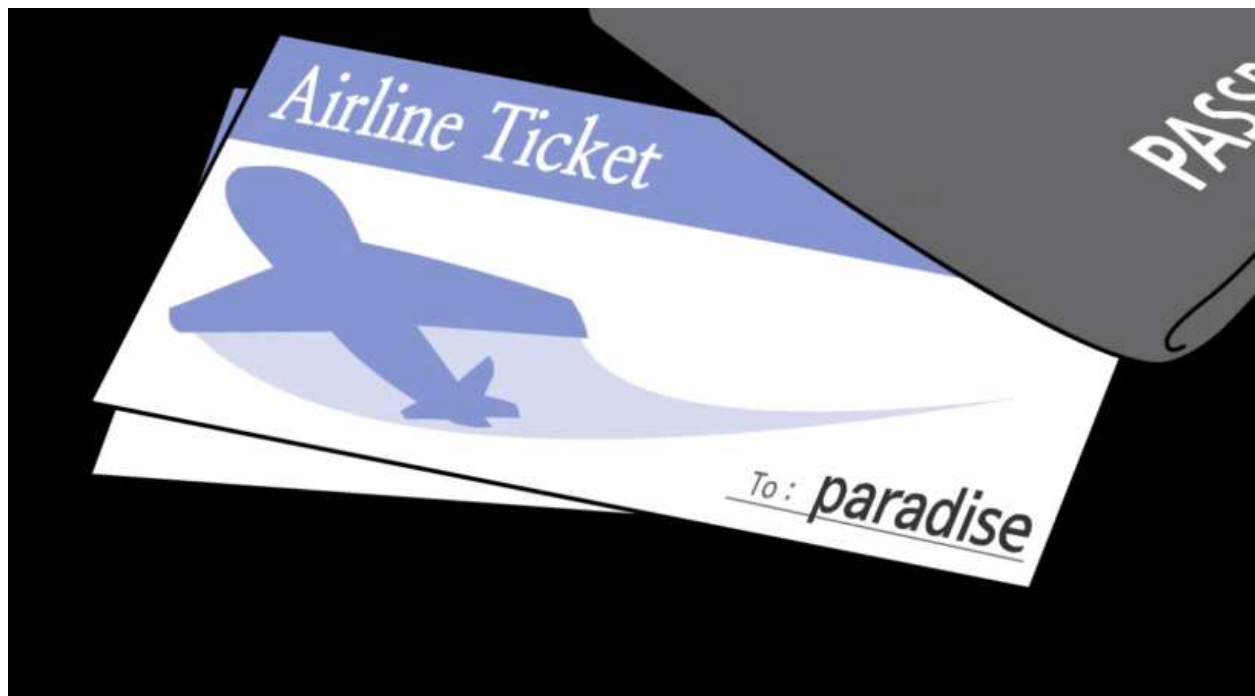

200cp

Dirt Bike: A common model you'd see in most shops with a few modifications for speedy and efficient rides through the city streets. Though you still need to pay for gas it does have a special insurance coverage from jumpchan to cover any repairs within a week after being damaged.

Drink Machines: Just like the iconic meeting space of Doki and Nabi. A pair of Juice vendors with Fish and Carrot flavored drinks to appeal to the primary residents of the city. The machines are always full and will never cost you a cent to enjoy. The juice choices can be switched out in later worlds to something more palatable by pouring a sample of the preferred drink into a maintenance window in the back.

Home Gym: A home gym that sets up easily even in small apartments. A multi station machine, a weight bench + plates, and a pull up bar that attaches easily to any doorway and can take any amount of weight without coming off. No matter your level of strength and conditioning you will find a satisfying workout when you use this gym.

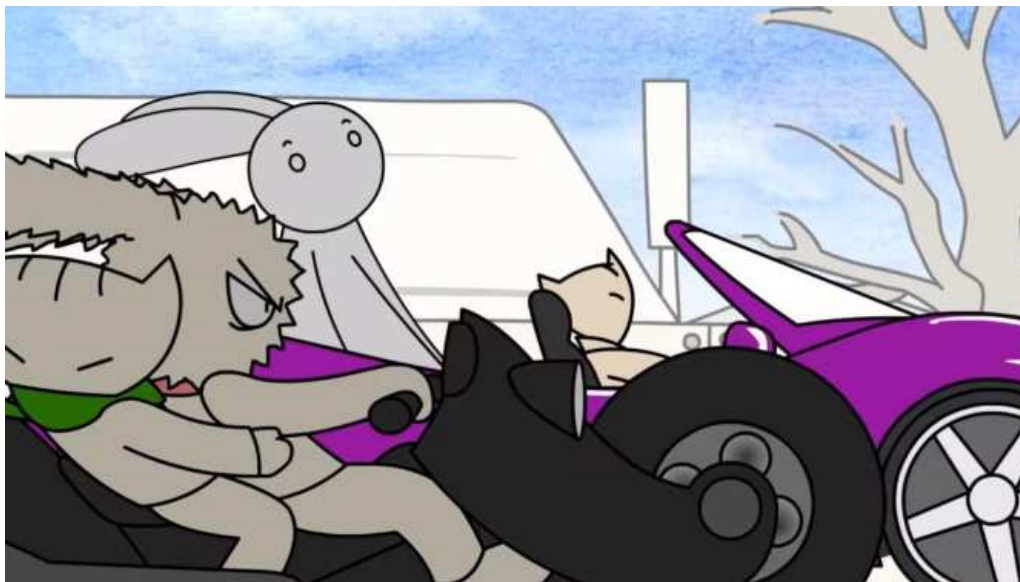

Two Tickets to Paradise: Need a bit of a getaway? Understandable, things can get pretty heavy here sometimes. So with this you get a pair of tickets to paradise, a wonderful city with no strife or problems. They're good for two weeks of guaranteed relaxation before your paid return flight. You get a new set of tickets every 5 years and the wonderful city of Paradise seems to exist in every world but is only accessible via the flight offered by these tickets..

Legally Distinct Monster Ball: This strange red and white ball looks strikingly similar to another pocket-sized ball but it seems to have a permanent blur filter over it so you can't really be sure. It flies accurately when thrown. When it makes contact with an animal or monster it will attempt to capture them inside, converting them to a red light.. Buy enough of these and you might even be able to catch'em a- er. Collect a lot of friends. Yeah...

- Note: Strong creatures can break free of this so you may want to wait until they are weakened. If it works they will become a follower that obeys your commands, freely summoning to and from the ball with a push of a button. Once the Monster ball is full it can't be used again unless you release the current occupant. If the monster breaks out the ball will need a full day to recharge before it can be used again.

400cp

Convertible: A beautiful little convertible that is top of the line in terms of features, deceptively fast but very easy to control and steer. As a jumper bonus it never seems to run out of fuel. Comes in the color of your preference. If it is somehow damaged it will be fully repaired within a week with the bill going to Jumpchan's tab.

Punk's Dream ride: This beautiful Motorcycle is custom to a tee, looks straight out of some cyberpunk future. Despite riding low this bike is fast and smooth to ride. Perfect for outpacing the cops and looking cool doing it. Much like the car above it will never run out of gas and will fix itself up within a week of any damage.

A Place to Call Home: A modest apartment that is plenty cozy in a good neighborhood downtown. It has enough room to comfortably house a couple with all rent+utilities going to jumpchan's bill. In future jumps you can slot this apartment into any building you choose and those who own it will find all the paperwork magically added to their folders.

Companions

The Circle (50cp per or 200cp for 8)

Import/Create up to 8 companions to join you in the city. Feel free to choose age, gender and race. They get 2 100cp perks for free and 400cp to spend for perks.

Native options

Doki & Nabi (200cp)

The titular couple of the series can join you on your journey sharing a companion slot. They do need to end up as a couple by the end to recruit the both of them but unless you have massively changed things in the world they should find their way there. Helping them along the way will only make them more willing to join your adventures.

Doki has the Heart Attack, There She Is!! and Friend to All perks

Nabi has the Cat-Like Agility, Cake Dance and Built Toon Tough perks

They will share all future perks between them

Jjintta Set (200cp)

A group of 3 rabbit street toughs who don't necessarily like Nabik but ultimately support their relationship. All three are hybrids from mixed families who came together for mutual protection and camaraderie. Somehow you've gotten on their good side and they're willing to watch your back. Il-ho is the leader, Yi-ho with his eyepatch is the most proactive fighter, and Sam-ho is the strongest of the three if a bit dim. All three will join you in one Companion slot.

All Three have the Quirky and Everybody was Kung fu Fighting perks while Il-ho can tap into Lion Heart.

They will share all future perks.

Original Characters

Bodyguard (100cp)

It's always good to have someone at your back, and you hit the jackpot with this one. They can be a Cat or Rabbit, whichever you prefer. They are extremely loyal to you and will gladly drop whatever they're doing if you call them up.

They come with the BIG and Everybody was Kung fu Fighting perks

The Admirer (100cp)

Lonely? Well maybe you're in luck. It seems someone caught feelings for you and will soon come forward to meet you shortly after things get going. They can be a bit enthusiastic so try to bare with them. They can be your preference of rabbit or cat, once you go to a world with human forms you can fully decide how they look.

They come equipped with Heart Attack, Tertiary Sex Characteristics and The POWER of Love.

The Band

A group of three Musicians you hit it off with after catching their jam sessions in an old bar. You talked music with them til the early morning and woke up to them in your phone contacts.

Whether you go to their jams to support them or join them on stage to take on the world they could even get convinced to run a multiversal tour. Their exact looks and gender are fully customized as always, all three share one companion slot.

They all come equipped with Quirky and Musician. They will share all future perks.

Drawbacks

Same But Different +0

Not a huge fan of the animalistic world? Well, let's turn off the allegory. The city of cats and rabbits will be replaced with a mixed city of Korean citizens and Foreigners. The relevant characters will still be themselves but now have human forms. The layer of cartooniness is also lifted so things will be much more serious in general.

Discriminated +100cp

Whether you are a product of a mixed race couple or have something else about you that puts you against the norm of "polite society". You can expect to be ignored at the best of cases or actively targeted at the worst. If society can change then maybe a day will come when you're accepted but it will take a lot of effort.

Street Dumb +100cp

Growing up on the streets will teach you a lot of lessons but nothing that would really measure well for general intelligence... You're not smart, that is abundantly clear when people interact with you. It doesn't make you a bad person but you're going to have a lot of trouble dealing with critical thinking. Either stumble your way through it or find someone you trust to guide you along.

Clumsy +100cp

This world is that of a toon style and you will feel that on the regular. Because of things like pratfalls, falling objects and uncaring crowds pushing by you are gonna end up in a lot of minor but annoying accidents. This will never happen when you're in serious danger but make sure to keep the bandages ready for the day to day.

If you happen to have Cat-like agility you'll find that everytime you try and look cool it will often end with your face in the dirt.

Wordless World +200cp

The shorts have no voiced dialogue, carried fully on the song choice to tell their story. But they clearly do speak with each other, they have phones, etc. But for you that will no longer be the case. You are now effectively a Deaf Mute. Unable to speak or hear what others are saying. You're going to need to find other ways to communicate and get your points across. Actions speak louder than words after all.

Depowered +200cp

All your powers have been sealed away. You'll need to make your way through with just your body mod and the powers you bought here. Maybe those race riots are looking a bit more dangerous now.

Serial Escalation +200cp

Your powers seem to work fine but something happened when you arrived in this world. It's like it rippled outward, every other notable character seems to have been powered up to neary your level... as has the threat level. The riots later in the series have gone from violent protests to superpowered brawls over ideals. Expect the fight of your life in the streets.

Untouchable +200cp

There's an anger deep inside of you about the unfairness of the world. As the hostilities ramp up within the city you'll find the fire growing more and more until you can no longer contain it. You will be compelled to start a one man war on those trying to keep the races apart. Though instead of trying to reach a peaceful paradise you relish in the violence, becoming even worse in many ways than those you're targeting. If your friends and family don't snap you out of it you're going to end up going too far and end up in jail for something truly heinous

Lovestruck +200cp

It happened one day as you were walking around town. You caught sight of THE ONE you're sure of it. It's consumed your mind ever since, you can't think about anything else. You can barely help but confess your love everytime you see them. Unfortunately they did not have a similar experience on seeing you. Overwhelmed by your affection they will actively avoid you and your advances. If you manage to wear them down and get them to agree to date you, you'll finally be able to act more like yourself. If they continue to reject your feelings or break up with you, you'll be devastated for weeks... until it happens all over again. Until you can truly find love it will always be your focus, for good or ill.

Should you succeed in capturing your love, by the end you can take them with you to the next world as companions.

- There They Are!!: For a Bonus +200cp the object of your affection will be of the other race. Putting more obstacles in the way of your object of affection warming up to you. The social pressure will be intense with targeted attacks and general hate... much less what will happen if you get caught by a mob.

A Part of her World +400cp

You awake in the body of a small animal as a small green scarf is tied around your neck, a large smiling rabbit girl looks down at you lovingly. You have just been adopted by Doki as a pet, your powers have been sealed. You're going to need to support Doki in her quest to get an even more reluctant Nabi to date her. This will add an additional chain fail for if they fail to become a couple... in addition to if you happen to get killed.

Ending

10 years have passed in a very turbulent time, no matter how your world has ended up you now have a choice to make:

Go Home

Was this the last straw? Or perhaps you followed your own steps to happiness and feel you no longer need the spark. Take everything young gained thus far and take it with you back home.

Stay

Oh? Did you manage to turn this world into the paradise you've been looking for? Well take another 1000cp and find a place to settle down. I'm sure you've earned it.

Move On

Seems this Jump was just another step on your greater journey. Remember the lessons you've learned from here and take them with you into the future. Perhaps you can continue to make the Multiverse a better place.

Changelog

V 1.0 - Released for use.

V 1.1 - Spelling fixes, page orientation, adjusted formatting for text and pictures.