Dolls
Jumpchain by Cthulhu Fartagn

The Story Thus Far

Three years ago, the government launched the Special Welfare Act, which randomly selected individuals from across the nation and obligated them to perform various acts of public service. Things like cleaning the trash from the sides of highways, graffiti from the walls of important buildings, aiding the elderly in their day to day lives, or being turned into a sex slave. That last one is a bit of an odd one out, but it's also the most common fate for a woman selected by the Special Welfare Act.

It should come as no surprise that the Special Welfare Act was very quickly dubbed "the Love Doll Law" and hotly debated as a violation of human rights. Thankfully, however, people chosen by the Special Welfare Act don't have any rights and as such it was ruled to not be a problem. Not that said ruling really stops people from complaining about the "obvious unfairness" and "inherent cruelty" of the law, but whiners will be whiners.

In any event, things have quieted down somewhat since the law was passed into action, and so you'll be entering into a world where the quiet degradation of basic human rights has become somewhat commonplace. I don't personally recommend being a woman, but some people might be into that kind of thing. In any event, have these, and enjoy the next ten years.

+1000 cp

Origins
Choose one

Any origin may be Drop In, but I should note this is a terrible world to not have a legal identity in.

Civilian
You're an everyday, average citizen. The lonely kid who sits in the back of the class, or someone trying to eke out a sports scholarship. A fresh faced employee who just got hired at a big company, or a washed out drunk who gambles and smokes their life away. You're not really special, you're just you. But, maybe you'll make something of yourself in the time you have here. There have been studies recently that show owning a Love Doll can help you work more efficiently - maybe look into getting one yourself?

If you take this origin, you may swap your gender to Male for free.

Official
The Special Welfare Act doesn't just select people to do the jobs nobody wants to do, it also provides plenty of ordinary people with more normal jobs with reasonable pay and hours. Why? Because someone needs to manage all the people chosen by the Special Welfare Act, as well as inform people that they've been chosen and go out and collect them. And you? You're one of those people. I do hope that you enjoy the look of utter despair on peoples faces when they realize you're here to ruin their life - you'll be seeing it a lot.

If you take this origin, you may swap your gender to Male or Female for free.

Property
And of course, we have the newest faction of Japanese citizens. The ones who didn't want to be wanted. A pretty girl who sat by the window, the captain of the kendo club, or even an old housewife. Just as ordinary as the men of this world, though often better looking on account of having tits. If you take this origin you may start the jump with your freedom, but make no mistake, it won't be long until someone comes knocking on your door to tell you that you are now owned by the government.

If you take this origin, you must swap your gender to Female.

Discounts
100 cp perks and items are free to their origin and all others are half off as appropriate.

Perks

Civilian

100 cp - Read The Manual

Wait, what do you mean you read the manual? Nobody ever reads the manual. Except for you, I guess. Congrats, you've restored some small part of my faith in humanity. If only it wasn't your desire to rape bitches that fueled said reading. That said, you have in fact read the Love Doll owners manual, and as such know how to use the various features of the Love Collar and various apps that can be used to modify your doll to your preferred specifications. Installing a Maid personality overlay? Taking manual control over her body? Turning off the contraceptive feature? You might not know everything about the various ways to fuck them, but you know a lot. In future jumps, you merely need to spend slightly less effort to become accustomed to new toys and gadgets.

100 cp - B+ Student

I told you before, you're average, ordinary. You don't greatly stand out from the rest of the masses of Japanese citizens. To some people that's a boon, and to some it's the greatest insult imaginable. To most of them, it simply is. You? You're competent, but not special. If you are a highschooler, you can easily maintain a B in all your classes with minimum effort, and might be a valued if not truly important member of a club. If you're a bit older, you might have a middling degree from a simple college and a unimportant job somewhere. More importantly, however, is that as long as you don't intentionally fuck up, you can fall into a holding pattern of mediocrity for pretty much any topic or job.

200 cp - Got A Scheme

As cheap as some Love Dolls can be, your average kid still can't afford an entire other person being dependent on them. People are expensive, especially when they can't contribute much of anything to their own care beyond your stress relief. Or, rather, they aren't normally supposed to. That doesn't mean they actually can't. For example, if you were to get your hands on a popular girl as your doll, the kind of girl for whom an illicit photo can fetch a surprising price - well, what's a photo compared to the girl herself? It's not quite prostitution, but only because dolls don't have rights these days. It is a good money making scheme though. In the short term at least, who knows how long her shelf life is.

200 cp - Club Activities

Virginity. To some it's a precious label never to be given away, to others it's something desirable to be stolen, and to you it's probably something to be gotten rid of as quickly as possible. Normally I'd say it's not that easy, but with a bunch of free use girls being offered up these days, well, it's really not. More important than that is the fact that as a rank newbie you should be terrible, but that ain't cinematic. The more negativity there is between you and the girl you're fucking, the better you are. Bigger loads, faster recovery, hitting the sweet spots more often - hell, you might just straight up be longer and thicker.

400 cp - Strict Regimen

The minds behind the Special Welfare Act, when accused of violating basic human rights, drowned out those cries for justice by showcasing the various benefits of the Act - such as the complete elimination of sex related crime. After all, why risk jail time when the government is offering a number of girls as free for public use? Another thing to note is that people with empty balls are apparently happier and more efficient workers. That's why, whenever you cum from now on - as long as it wasn't masturbation at least - you can select an attribute of yourself and increase it by 10%. Ten percent smarter? Ten percent faster? Ten percent more focused? Whatever you think will help you. These boosts last for 24 hours.

400 cp - Lucky Little Me
Allow me to let you in on a little secret - the branch of the government responsible for pushing the Special Welfare Act is using it to silence competitors and individuals who speak out against their policies. How is that relevant to you? It isn't. But it does mean that a teenage girl who posts on twitter that Love Dolls are cringe is surprisingly likely to get turned into a doll herself. A doll you can then buy and play around with to your heart's content. This is something of a trend for you - people you dislike tend to have a hard time with the law. If a girl bullied you in school, well, the act of bullying you might be what emboldened her to make that post. Things probably won't be quite so harsh in future worlds, but for now? Women that piss you off have a good chance of ending up owned by you.

600 cp - Just Enough Money
Why hello there. By any chance, could you be a maladjusted young man with no friends and a bone to pick with everyone who has ever said anything bad about you? No? I must have mistaken you for someone else. In any event, it seems that you have a rich relative who is willing and able to send you money and buy you expensive things as an apology for not actually having any time to spend with you. As a result of this, you'll find yourself with a small stream of relatively expensive gifts thrown in your direction on the regular. It's almost like you're getting a birthday party every month. Except none of your friends showed up because you don't have any of those. …Well, for the time being, it means that you can buy yourself a new doll every other month or so. If that somehow isn't enough to satisfy you, consider getting an actual job.

Official

100 cp - Directions Please

This may seem somewhat silly to you, but the local head of the social service department is terrible with a map. Give him directions to somewhere and he's good, but tell him to find the place on a map and he'll just get lost. He's almost missed more than a couple of girls he was supposed to bring in on account of that. Thankfully however, some kind people gave him directions and got him back on his way. Much like him, people don't seem to really pay much attention to you for the first few moments. If all you did was walk up to them and ask directions, they'd answer and then basically forget they ever spoke to you, not once stopping to wonder who you were or why you needed to go there.

100 cp - She Won't Get Away

The selection process for the Special Welfare Act may seem unfair to you, but I assure you, it's truly random. It's just bad luck for someone to be chosen. And, naturally, people aren't often pleased to hear that they're about to lose all their human rights. Some even try to run. Fortunately you've been trained for this. You aren't only quick on your feet, but an excellent judge of character. You can quite literally see it in their eyes when they decide to run. But, to prevent that, you're also moderately stealthy. While the girl is busy complaining to whoever is delivering the bad news, you can just walk up behind her and slap a Love Collar around her neck.

200 cp - Police Brutality

No, not that you're exceeding the limitations of your station - the meaning here is that being brutal to you is extremely illegal. Why, a young woman slapping you is grounds to lock her in chains and turn her into a Love Doll. No trial, no appeal, just get fucked you little whore. In later worlds this might look like you doing things you aren't supposed to or doing your job in an unfair manner because that seems like a bit much for such a small offense, but as far as everyone but your 'abuser' is concerned, nope, it's a just and fair punishment. Do try not to have too much fun with this.

200 cp - A Taste Of Love

Since the creation of Love Dolls, numerous people have utilized the Love Collar's ability to interface with the dolls mind to modify their doll in various ways. The end result is a fairly large audience for aftermarket modifications, some of which have since become official merchandise. One of the few things included by default is the sensitivity increase, which with proper usage can be used to force women to enjoy almost anything being done to them, no matter how much they ought to hate it. It is also the number one source of broken and discarded dolls, as using it too much can fry part of their brain. You're an expert at judging exactly how much someone can take before they break, and over how long a period of time. With just an afternoon, you can probably make someone who hates you ask to become your doll.

400 cp - Lethal Weapon

Tell me - have you ever felt unsafe, using your Love Doll in public? Perhaps you had the thought that someone might mug you for your doll and steal her away? Well, never fear, because the Love Dolls collar can monitor for that kind of thing and the Social Services Department will dispatch a strike team to fuck that guy up if he tries. Specifically, they'll dispatch you, because you're now some kind of secret agent. You know kung fu (or at least some kind of martial arts) and might be an action movie hero because on your last job you jumped out of a helicopter, swung on a rope so you'd crash through the window, and gunned down all of the thieves. You're a badass. Why are you working in social services again?

400 cp - Not Illegal At All

The Special Welfare Act doesn't violate human rights because those chosen by the act don't have rights. Simple, right? And yet, not so much. Luckily for the politicians involved - and unluckily for women everywhere - they have you on their side. You may or may not be a politician yourself, but what you are is a master at finding loopholes, shifting the blame, distracting the public, and gaslighting the shit out of the media. In other words, you're probably one of the ones who buried everyone who complained about the unfairness of the new law in misdirections, distractions, and other associated bullshit. And that's not even counting the bribery and blackmail I assume was needed to get the law passed in the first place. If you aren't a politician yourself, you're probably their favorite person.

600 cp - Legalize Nuclear Bombs

The collar that goes around a Love Dolls neck is… to be honest, it's fantastical. It interferes with their motor control, with their short and long term memory, can force their body to perform functions they would otherwise never be able to consciously control. And all of that wrapped up in a little black choker and an lcd screen. It's a miracle of engineering, being wasted on mere rape. And you? You understand how it works. Understand why it works. Right now it's all wrapped up in the Special Welfare Act, but in the future? Perhaps you could make apps that work simply because they work, not because of a collar your target is wearing. Or maybe full conversion into a sexaroid would be more your style?

Property

100 cp - Nine Outta Ten

While the Special Welfare Act does technically call for both men and women to be pressed into service, 90% of the ones called are female. Pretty, cute, beautiful, hot, whatever adjective you want to describe them, but very rarely does any ugly woman get called. Why? Because while the men can be forced to do back breaking labor, the women are used sexually and after a certain point they become used goods. And nobody wants used goods. And you? Well, you're probably too pretty for your own good. Cute face, big chest, odd ability to molest women in the name of comparing physical traits and get away with it - all things that will serve you well in serving your eventual owner.

100 cp - Meat Obelisk

Despite what you might think, Love Dolls aren't just thrown out to the wolves with a collar around their neck. There are a few minor touch ups that need to be done while they're in transit to their new fate in life. A bit of cleaning, a dash of chemical therapy, just a smidge of surgery… you get the idea. The end result is a body that is, both metaphorically and literally, made for sex. As long as you only eat Love Doll approved foods, your body won't even generate waste, leaving you wet and ready for any kind of sex at all times. Of course, you might not be a Love Doll. Yet. If that's the case, then you don't have said touch ups. You're just naturally that lewd.

200 cp - Club Captain

You might be pretty, but you aren't just another pretty face. You're an up and comer. The captain of the kendo club, able to participate on a national level. Someone who gets offers from colleges because they want you on this or that sports team. Simply put, you spent more than a bit of time learning to git gud at something. So, go ahead and pick something, preferably a club that could potentially be at your local highschool. You're now incredibly competent at that thing. If it's a sport, then in another few years you could become the kind of player that gets all the advertisement deals. Or maybe you'll go to the olympics? Assuming you don't get chosen as a Love Doll, at least.

200 cp - No Longer Human

The simple and yet disgusting way that the Special Welfare Act sidestepped their project violating human rights was to revoke the rights of those chosen. Those chosen are not human and do not deserve the rights that are entitled to the citizens of the world. You aren't human. As you might expect, this can lead to some pretty shitty situations because everything that would entice your tormentors to hold back no longer applies. Instead, you're the kind of person who can go with the flow. By opening up and admitting that you enjoy all of the sex, you become remarkably resistant to having your brain broken by sexual overdose.

400 cp - A Wink And A Smile

You're hip, you're bop, you're popular across the nation, you're an idol! You can sing, you can dance, you can pretend to like all the greasy neckbeards who buy your merchandise! Well, that might be a little harsh, but you get the idea. You're relatively popular for at least one facet of traditional idol work, be it modeling cute clothes, or your regular appearances in popular tv shows. This doesn't exactly make you rich, but all the people drooling over you has left you fairly well off. Just be wary of slacking off - if you give too much lip to management, they could decide that slapping a collar around your neck and just forcing you to do whatever is in your contract might be easier.

400 cp - Perfect Whore
Are we still operating under the delusion that you're a free woman and not someone's slave? We are? Bit odd, but alright. You… are sexy. You are in fact sex on legs. You are the kind of girl who can lead a man around by the nose with the mere promise of sex, and leave them all but addicted to you through how fucking tight you are and what you can do with those muscles. If you were a Love Doll I'd say someone downloaded every sex position ever into your brain to make you more effective at serving your master, but you aren't a doll and you don't have a master. Well, not yet anyways. So instead… you must have watched an awful lot of porn to get this good.

600 cp - Scrambled Eggs
Fun fact! The collar of a Love Doll has numerous safety features built into it. Not to protect the doll, that would be silly, but to protect the owner and other bystanders just in case that doll has delusions of personhood or vengeance. Removing the collar kills them! And trying to kill someone else fries their brain. Thankfully you can buy a personality overlay to get them back into working order, but their personal knowledge and connections are just gone. Well, they should be gone. For you, the death of personality that most dolls end up with before being thrown out just isn't a thing. You stubbornly cling to yourself. It'll probably hurt like a bitch and be more than a little traumatizing, but you can survive being wiped. Just. Don't get wiped more than once inside, say, a week.

Items

Civilian

100 cp - An App For That

The collar that controls a Love Dolls has a lot more features than are available at first purchase. Shortly after their release, people started making modifications, scripts, using and abusing the programming just as much as the girl themselves. The end result? A handful of apps that represent a ton of options. You don't have those. No, what you have is access. A yearly pass to bypass a bunch of shitty microtransactions. You don't need to buy each personality individually because you have technically already paid for all of them. And of course, you have a very high end phone with quite frankly way too much memory on it to actually store all those things. Don't worry about this going poof in future jumps - as long as you have at least one doll, the store remains mysteriously open.

200 cp - Maintenance And Upkeep

Caring for an entire person is a pain in the ass. Being forced to buy specific brand products in order to keep them healthy and fuckable is expensive. So let's skip over that somewhat. You now receive a weekly supply of official Love Pet brand food. Which is mostly just food designed to not create poop. But hey, for something you feed to a sex toy, that's actually kinda useful. In addition to that, you also get a handful of actual sex toys and skimpy outfits for use on your doll. Want her to wear half a maid costume when you get home, or maybe have her in sexy nurse cosplay? Well, there you go. These things aren't the highest quality, you can only rip them off her two or three times before they break, but that's why it's a weekly shipment.

400 cp - Out With The Garbage

The Special Welfare Act calls for both men and women, but it calls for way more women than men. Why? Because after a while, a doll will break, and nobody wants used goods. You have a pair of numbers on your phone - the first one calls a disposal service, a group of people who will take your broken sex slaves and turn them into free use installations for people who can't afford their own doll to use. But of course, that leaves you without a doll. Calling the second number will have another doll delivered to you. It might be someone you recognize, it might not. It'll definitely be someone fun to break. Although, you only get a new doll once every three months, so try to make them last at least that long.

600 cp - A Doll To Be

Teeeechnically this is more the government's responsibility, but if you feel like being a real asshat to some chick, then there's always this. You have an inactive collar that you can slap around the neck of anyone you want. Once on, it doesn't come off, ever, and everyone who sees the girl wearing it will collectively agree that she has no human rights. Even her best friends, even her family. Once it's on her, she's yours and nothing else matters. You can break her to your heart's content, or upload the personality overlay of a lover to her and make her think that she submitted to you of her own free will. And of course, she won't be able to hurt you - fail safes in the collar's programming will paralyze her should she try.

Official

100 cp - Collection Agency

One of the most irritating things about working for the Special Welfare Department is how arrogant most of the people who end up getting chosen are. "You can't do this you monster", "I'm too pretty to be enslaved", and of course the old classic "How DARE you?!?" are all fairly common responses to girls being told they've been selected. Thankfully that's why you carry a taser. This is also why we bring backup. As long as you're doing legal but likely immoral activities, you can just snap your fingers and a shady van with three or four armed goons - and by goons I mean government agents who are assigned to you in case of emergency - will show up to help you out. They're very skilled at kidnapping people.

200 cp - Big Iron

The declarations of the Special Welfare Act are carried through with surprising brutality. Maybe it's because sex crime is all but gone and they very much want it to stay that way, but the theft of a Love Doll is now the kind of thing that gets a strike team sent after your ass. A team armed to the teeth that drops in on top of you from a helicopter. A team that you may or may not be on, but you certainly were geared out as if you were. You have plenty of guns, a chopper, some fairly advanced tracking software that allows you to hunt your target down even if they think they've gotten away, and of course some shady guys doing clean up for any corpses you leave behind.

400 cp - Illicit Memorandums

The individuals chosen to become Love Dolls are selected at random. This statement is true. It is also misleading. The individuals chosen to become Love Dolls are selected at random, from a pool of individuals deemed to be too rebellious. For example, teenage girls who post on twitter that Love Dolls are cringe. What you now have the dubious honor of owning is a fairly large pile of various government forms used either by the public or internally. At first glance they all seem above board and shipshape, simply normal forms of the type you might fill out for social services or to list something as a business expense. But it seems that requests you make through these forms receive a certain special treatment. Simply put, whenever you turn one of them in, you get a result that is convenient for you but technically shouldn't happen. Maybe you're asking for a company car, and you want a sports car instead of a mooks black van. Or maybe you put in an order for ten girls to be chosen and turned into Love Dolls, and at your request they get chosen from a pool of potential political dissidents rather than from Japan as a whole. You get the idea.

600 cp - Special Welfare Department

I know what you're thinking. Ten years just isn't long enough to really enjoy the full range of options before you, the absolute buffet of girls that you can grind under your heel. So I'll offer you the ability to take the Special Welfare Act into future worlds. When you do, a small percentage of a nation's population - presumably either Japan, or wherever you happen to live - will be drafted by the Special Welfare Department. There will be some outcry, but not enough to shut you down, and as with this world sex related crime will largely cease to exist. All you need to defeat rape is a little bit of slavery. You may hold whatever rank within the department you wish, from the guy who grabs girls if you enjoy the look of despair on their faces to the head of the department if you just want to kick back and relax with a cushy job and a bitch under your desk. However, unless you bought Illegal Manifesto, the selection process will actually be random, so you won't be able to target specific girls that you want to get your hands on - or to quietly disappear.

Property

100 cp - Unboxing Video

Each and every Love Doll is introduced to their new owner from the inside of a display case, not unlike the packaging an action figure or a doll might come in. If somewhat larger to accommodate for human scale. While inside this packaging, you have no bodily needs. You could sit in it for a decade and come out only slightly stiff from poor sleeping posture. Of course, if you aren't yet owned then you won't really need this and if you are owned then it's not like they're going to keep you on a shelf when they could be fucking you… It's got its uses, but it's also very specific. So, allow me to also throw in a few actual dolls of you and your companions. That's a bit more on the novelty side, but giving a doll some dolls amuses me.

200 cp - Love Collar

The primary visual signifier that a woman is a Love Doll, besides the fact that she's probably half naked and dripping in cum, is the simple black collar around her neck with a small lcd screen on the front that displays simple information, such as your name, if you have a personality overlay, or what level your senses have been enhanced to. While strictly speaking your owner is far more likely to have an actual use for this than you, there are still a few things of value I can give you. This lesser version of the collar can serve as a perfect contraceptive, and can be used to increase your sensitivity up to five times their normal level. It can also be removed non-fatally. Officials who see you with it will assume that you're already owned by someone, but if they think to check you'll be in trouble.

400 cp - Creampie Ever After

It's extremely rare for a Love Doll to have an owner who pretends that his doll has rights, but it does occasionally happen. So I'll offer you something unusual - a chance to have a life, even after being ripped away from yours. Inside a small but quaint house lives a young man who wants a partner, not a toy. For the duration of the jump, and if you ever manage to find yourself enslaved again, this man will be your owner. He's kind, relatively handsome, and while he is interested in your body he isn't going to break you like some others would. Hell, he might even let you visit your family. In truth, he's more interested in treating you like his wife than like his slave. Abusive ex not included.

600 cp - Love Collar Plus

It's rather difficult to find things to give to someone whose entire purpose in life is to be owned, but I believe I have something worth your while. This collar - which can potentially serve as an upgrade to the previous one - exceeds the limitations of a normal Love Doll collar. After all, it's designed to interact with you as a Jumper. To activate this collar, you must designate someone as your owner. Once that is done, they may activate various functions as normal - sensitivity enhancements, personality overlays, and manual control, all of which are several stages more advanced than commercially available. They may also enable or disable your perks, at their discretion. Finally, it may only be removed by them. All attempts to do so by others or by you will fail.

General

50 cp - There's A Wiki?

It's expected for a new toy to have an instruction manual to come with it, but apparently there's an online community of assholes who have devoted themselves to finding new and exciting ways to mess with their dolls. Having been invited to this online gathering, you're familiar with more trivia and details about Love Dolls than most people who actually make them. But of course, that's just now. In future jumps, you have an easy time finding similar gatherings of people trading tips and trivia about whatever their favorite thing might be, and most of them are happy to share the best ones in order to induct the newbie into their group.

50 cp - Pocket Change

Money money money. Have I talked about money enough yet? Dolls are expensive, yada yada yada. You know what else is expensive? My time. So go ahead and take this. It's your allowance. You now get a weekly allowance of about $50. Or 5000 yen, since this is Japan. Not nearly enough to buy a Love Doll, even if you save up, but it's a decent amount. Enough to buy yourself a snack for lunch most days, or something along those lines. If you need more than this, I highly suggest you get an actual job.

Companions

50 cp / 300 cp - Companion Import
Normally I'd try to hype you up about new friends and old friends and having your companions join you in the jump, but quite frankly I wouldn't be surprised if they didn't want to. I suspect most of them are female after all, and this isn't a great world to be female in. Still, for 50 cp you can import a companion into the world with all the same choices as you and 600 cp to spend. They cannot, as you should know by now, purchase additional companions or take drawbacks. Additionally, for a lump sum of 300 cp, you may import eight of them into the jump.

50 cp - Companion Export
And the other side of the coin - is anyone here really worth taking with you? The men have no redeeming features, and the women are intentionally disposable. But, if one of them somehow manages to catch your eye, then by all means - for the low low price of 50 cp you may take someone from this world with you as a companion. Since they aren't actually worth that much, if that person is a doll or would become a Love Doll during the jump, I'll arrange for you to become their owner once that happens.

50 cp - Blueberry Pie (Free to Civilian)
This is a strange world where girls can get abducted and turned into sex dolls for no reason. Many would be completely terrified by this prospect, but this high schooler here one day decided that she found the idea a dream come true. Thus, she turned to the offices and demanded with such fervor to be made into one that the workers got scared instead. Then she asked harder for it, and a few guys started crying. Yes, this girl is a natural genius at terror, a prodigy of traumatizing to the point that she can mentally break everything that can feel fear. Sadly, that doesn't help her goal of becoming the best sex doll out there, and as time passed she decided to look for a proper master that fit her criteria. That one ended up being you after crossing paths when trying to buy some soda and followed to your place. Given that you check all her boxes for a master and you aren't actually scared of her, it does seem like a somewhat acceptable agreement, even if she isn't a doll or slave, she does act like one. If you haven't caught on, besides her lewd body, pronounced curves and overly loving nature, she has the talent to scare people, regardless of their past or mental fortitude. You're immune to it, for some reason.

50 cp - Mango (Free to Government)
Do you know how the government of all things managed to create something that works? Exactly, they had help. More specifically, they managed to find this girl - an honest to god psychic, one capable of messing with bioelectricity with great precision. Thanks to her 'cooperation' and some research on her power, the love collars were created. Afterwards they tried to put her into cryogenic sleep just in case, however she managed to control the guards assigned to her and escape. Tired, confused, hungry, and half-assedly pursued by the government, she ended up meeting you, who saved her from getting literally and figuratively fucked by the government. The princess fell for the knight that saved her. A curious, a bit amoral, loyal, bright, cheery, and surprisingly misogynistic girl, she's not only the scientific base for the love dolls, but she's also the one that had the idea in the first place. As it turns out, by trauma or natural inclinations, the girl does have an image of how an ideal world should be, and the government was just another step on her plans. Being saved by you however, threw a wrench at them and made her rethink some things - after all, compared to those politicians who had turned on her you're a much better fit to rule over the masses, and she could get some sweet revenge on the side too.

50 cp - Strawberry (Free to Property)
You met this guy one day while playing trading card games, you had the same taste and became friends almost instantly, a really chill dude, a total bro, and a great wingman; he has a knack to find stuff. From government connections, to the address of your bully, to the best deals for dolls, and even the answers to national grade entrance exams. A broker by nature and trade, he can get whatever you want or need for super discounted prices. For some reason he also finds stuff that one shouldn't be able to get , like blueprints for the doll collar works, or someone you fancy made into a doll. Besides that, he's a really good sport and is always capable enough to somehow keep up with your adventures. Doesn't seem much interested in sex or women. If you're a doll, then he's your chill owner that actually takes care of you.

Drawbacks

Any Origin may take these drawbacks

+0 cp - Procreation Promotion Law
The Special Welfare Act is limited to Japan, but that doesn't mean the rest of the world doesn't exist or isn't worth visiting. There are other plotlines that are occurring out of sight and out of mind. For example, take the Procreation Promotion Law. It's a much worse version of the Special Welfare Act that temporarily legalized rape and encouraged men everywhere to have their way with women ages 17-25. Does it exist? Did it get sidelined in favor of the Special Welfare Act? Will it make a comeback some time in the future? Who knows. But if you're looking for an adventure, you might just find one. There are plenty of things in the jungles of South America that might be worth looking into, and the CIA is currently at war with the Mexican drug cartels…

+100 cp - Cheap Cosmetics
The sad truth of the world is that it's never fun to be poor. Whether you're just a kid with no allowance or a bum who can't get a job, money is a limiting factor now more than ever. After all, owning a Love Doll is expensive. And you… can't afford one. How sad. Maybe you have a friend that will let you play with theirs for a while? Or maybe you could pool your money with some others and own one jointly… But then there's the upkeep costs to consider. Even if you can buy a doll, you probably can't afford that. This doesn't mean you'll be missing out entirely, but it will slow you down quite a bit.

+200 cp - Political Dissidents
As fun as the Love Doll Law is for men, it's equally disgusting for women. And sellout men. You know, fathers, husbands, sons, people who had family members stolen by the Act. With the law in motion for three years, the government has mostly swept its issues under the rug, but there's always that one asshole making a nuisance of himself. And you, you're going to get caught up in these rebellions. If you were a Love Doll, perhaps your father would try to murder your owner, only to be shot down in front of you. Perhaps you have an abusive ex who wants you back. And if you're not a doll? Well, those same people are probably going to be aiming for your head in order to get back the loved ones you stole from them.

+300 cp - Cyberpunk 2069
The world has never been better. The world has never been worse. Technology marches onwards, and those who control it care nothing for the common man, obsessed only with control and maintaining their own power. In the years to come more and more breakthroughs will start to occur. Girls with psychic powers will be born, Love Dolls will be discarded in favor of wholly robotic women, zombie viruses will cripple America, and the science involved in each will escalate things even further. Before too long, war will break out. Before the jump ends, the nukes will fall. This world is bigger than you know, but it's also more dangerous. Are you sure you want to do this?

Only Civilians and Officials may take these drawbacks

+100 cp - Who Was He Again?
There's something to be said for being a cog in the machine. It means that things aren't personal. It also means that people never remember who you are. Whether you're a student or a worker, you're a loner with no friends. People ignore you whenever possible, some from how unremarkable you are and some because they're 'too good' for someone like you, whatever that means. Most days this doesn't mean much, you just get forgotten about once you're done speaking to them But sometimes it means other things. Worse things. And on those days you have something of a chip on your shoulder that makes you kinda want to rape someone half to death.

+100 cp - Have You Seen This Girl
The collection department of the Special Welfare Department uses the latest in tracking tech to locate and subdue those chosen to be Love Dolls. Technology that you aren't great at using. It's not that you're tech-illiterate, it's merely a case of simple mistakes. Typing a c where there should have been a v, or getting the address of her house off by one digit. Now, if you're careful, and maybe ask for help from the locals, you can find her before she gets away - or worse, before you become late and get penalized for it.

…If you don't work for them, you just have a genuinely trash sense of direction and couldn't find your way out of a paper bag with your Love Doll reading you the map.

+200 cp - True Gender Equality
I've made mention of this before, but - the Special Welfare Act doesn't just collect women. It does, in fact, collect some men as well. Men who are then given the shit jobs that nobody wants to do. A workforce that can be bullied about with terrible hours and quite literally no pay. And you? You're in danger of getting inducted to that particular clusterfuck. All it takes is one mistake, one word that wasn't supposed to be spoken. Women who learn about the prioritized 'randomness' are instantly caught and sold off. You're in a similar position. Don't post your opinions on twitter or anything.

Only Property may take these drawbacks

+100 cp - The New You

You might be a doll, you might not be a doll. I'm going to assume that you are. Whoever your master might be, they've fiddled around with your settings and have semi-permanently added a personality overlay to you. You might be utterly convinced that you're a maid, a nurse, a cheerleader, or that your master is your little brother and that big sis needs to take care of him. Amusingly, while designed for fetishplay, you actually are now competent at your chosen role. If you aren't a doll - well, aren't yet - then you are instead mildly obsessed with whatever role you chose. It might be your dream job, you might just really like the uniform, or maybe that's just your fetish. Either way, it's your new obsession, and no, getting dolled won't ever make it go away.

+100 cp - Got No Game

Due to the intended nature of the Special Welfare Act, it's forbidden for Love Dolls to be purchased by family members. The intent of the program is to relax the nation with guilt free sexual relief, and a father is unlikely to rape his daughter, which defeats the point. So that's the easy way out most people would try to take handled. As for you? You have, or will have, a fucking asshole as your master. Expect not only to get raped, but probably to get beaten for whatever lip you can manage to give. Perhaps even whored out for the money needed to pay for your general existence in his household. There are plenty of ways being a doll can be unpleasant, and you seem to have ended up with the worst of them.

+200 cp - Worldwide Phenomenon

So. You tried to escape becoming a Love Doll by heading abroad. Hopped over the ocean to America and thought that would be a good minimum safe distance to rip into the scummy politicians who created the Special Welfare Act. Unfortunately, you were wrong. As a result of your actions multiple other nations have adopted similar laws and created similar departments. The good news is, you aren't yet a doll. The bad? You're utterly convinced that traveling around and decrying the Special Welfare act is the best thing you can do, not realizing that you're only convincing the men in power to adopt the new philosophy faster. Hopefully you don't manage to infect every nation on Earth, because if the various departments think you have no more use, you'll probably die. Now go forth ye harbinger of misogyny, and fight the good fight.

The End

Stay Here
Go Home
Move On

Thanks to Ricrod for the OC's.