By saiman010

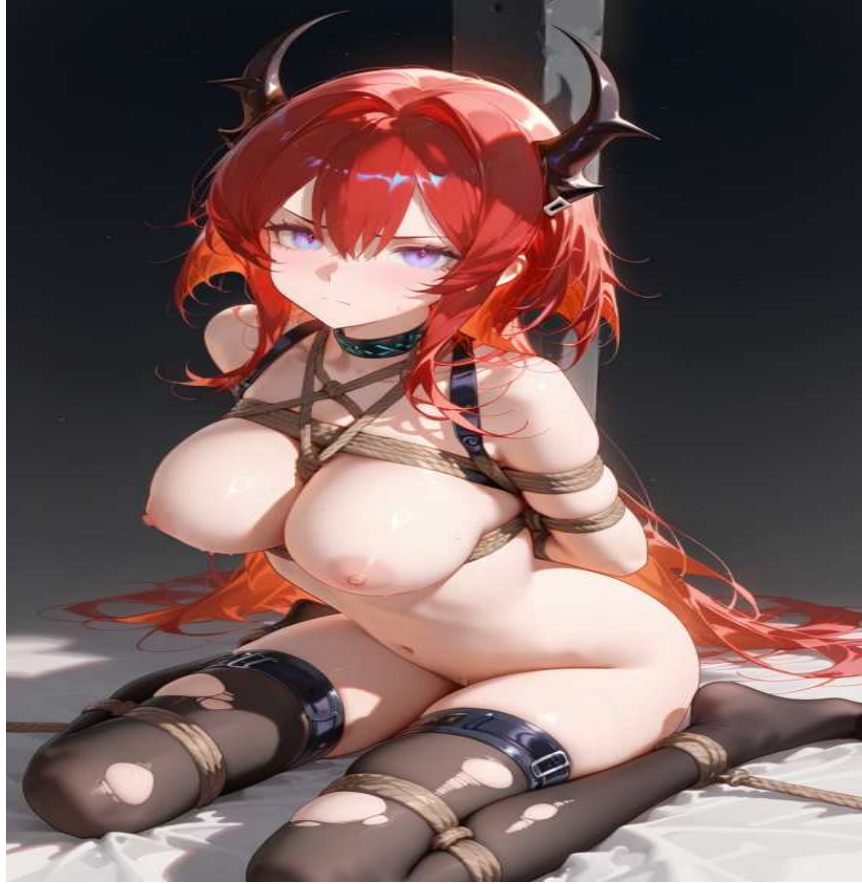

Introduction:

Hello, Jumper. Welcome to this supplement for the erotic series I have created. After many requests to create original companion characters for use within this series, I decided to make this the first supplement featuring potential companions you may choose to accompany you on your adventures throughout your individual Jumpchains.

Below, you will be presented with a list of mostly willing companions who may travel alongside you. Who originated from the demon realm that are females. Each entry will include their name with cost, race, age, occupation, favorite sexual position, and a short description explaining who they are and what they can do.

With that, I hope you enjoy choosing your potential companions here, Jumper.

Name :Xegmollath [50CP]

Race : Devil

Age: 21

Occupation: Novelist

Favorite sexual Act: Bondage

Description :

A somewhat third-rate writer within the underworld, Xegmollath is a strong-willed woman who will not tolerate any nonsense. Regardless of the fact that her novels are not the best-selling works in the underworld right now, her BL and yuri novels are extremely popular in the human world, providing both her and you with a steady source of income.

In addition to her writing, she is capable of copying any type of document you wish, including creating convincing counterfeits. While not particularly proficient in magic, she is still able to use basic fire and wind magic.

Name :Btarzoth [50CP]

Race : Homonculus

Age: 19

Occupation: Potion Brewer

Favorite sexual Act: Bondage and Blindfold

Description :

An apprentice brewer, Btarzoth, has fallen on hard times and was forced into debt, eventually selling her services to you. She is a bit clumsy and a crybaby, often becoming confused and mixing up her ingredients while brewing potions. Because of this, the potions she creates may gain a random minor effect, which can be positive, neutral, or negative to the user.

At present, she can only create simple potions such as minor mana potions, health potions, and weak aphrodisiacs. However, she has great potential if properly trained and given enough time. While her potion-brewing skills are still inexperienced, her talent in baking allows her to create some of the best pastries any race could eat, always bringing a smile to those who taste them.

Because of this, every December she transforms into a Santa girl and works at her favorite mall, where she lets children sit on her lap and talk about what they want for Christmas. She is surprisingly kind and cheerful toward human children.

Outside of her once-a-year job, she is extremely skilled at mimicking humans. She can perfectly copy their voices, speech patterns, mannerisms, and behavior, as well as memorize exactly what they would say in different situations. This makes her ideal for intelligence gathering, impersonation, or working as an actor on stage or on set.
