Tucked away in the candy forest, amongst the taffy trees crawling with glittering gummy caterpillars, lives a number of very strange residents. A pair of amorous pigeons, a large and homely water nymph, and the three residents of one particular tree. Eerie and Yossi are a pair of werewolves who spend every day playing various games of their own devising. As well as tormenting their pet/friend Rock-G, a frankenstein frog.

One day, a strange creature streaks down from the sky and crashlands in the backyard of these equally strange monsters. Popo, a sentient television with some rather strange abilities, is soon captured/befriended by the pair of werewolves. Misadventures of all kinds abound around these guys. Mostly of the slightly cruel but comical kind. They are monsters after all. One day they'll be assaulting candy creatures because they looked tasty and the next they'll be enjoying an island vacation while tormenting a shipwrecked sailor.

All in all it's a pretty goofy place around these parts. No telling what else is out there either. So maybe just sit back and enjoy a vacation. Or join in the shenanigans. Eerie and Yossi are always looking for new friends/prisoners.

A tiny, almost frail-looking, bow and arrow decorated with hearts. Shooting someone with this weapon will cause them to fall in love with the first person they see for a short time.

200 CP

Vampire's Cape

This fashionable black and blood-red cape turns the person wearing it into a vampire. But only while it is worn. Or, at least it makes you look like one. The only real power it grants is the ability to teleport short distances.

200 CP

Sentai Weapon Set

This trio of weapons includes a battleaxe, laser pistol, and bazooka that would not look out of place in any Sentai series.

They even combine to form a massive laser cannon. I hope you brought a friend though, cause you're going to need four hands to fire it.

200 CP

Popo Television

This moderately sized television is styled after the cute alien himself.

While it doesn't contain pocket dimension or anything like that, it does have the ability to tune into TV stations from other realities.

Treehouse of Horror

This candy tree has been hollowed out to serve as a house. Three bedrooms, one bathroom, a kitchen, and a common area have all been crammed comfortably inside.

400 CP

Chocolate Gun

This firearm looks more like a candy bar and fires small balls of chocolate instead of bullets. The chocolate is incredibly tasty and you can even control how light or dark it is with a knob on the side. Oh, it also turns those shot with it into zombies for a short time.

400 CP

Companions

Eerie

This goofball is kind of adorable in that dumb brute sort of way. He's impulsive, energetic, competitive, and as strong as an ox. But if you're in trouble expect him to leap head first into battle to save you. Literally. Just watch out. He's a real handful during the full moon.

100 CP (Free with Yossi)

Yossi

She's as cute as a button and as dangerous as a wolverine. Yossi is a true monster under the bubbles and fluff, so I'd suggest staying on her good side. She's a sweet girl who enjoys giggling and television most of the time. But when the claws come out... run.

100 CP (Free with Eerie)

Popo

Is it an alien? A sentient television? Who really knows. More importantly, who cares? It's made of friendship and just wants to have a good time.

Popo's not very strong or agile, but he is surprisingly fast for something with such short legs. Watch out though. It's a cuddler.

100 CP

Rock G

This little frog isn't entirely what he appears to be. Part toy, part prisoner, part friend to Yossi and Eerie, his life exists in a state alternating between torment and glorious revenge.

He would be everlastingly grateful if you took him away from his two captors. There's not much he's good at though.

Free
(200 CP w/ Yossi or Eerie)

Tame Raptors

This pair of raptors come already tamed and extremely loyal to you. They're downright affectionate so long as you show them a little attention. They're fierce enough, but a little skittish when it comes to taking on larger threats.

They're both decorated in unnatural neon colors of your choice.

100 CP

Untamed T-Rex

Are you sure? This one doesn't seem as friendly as the raptors. In fact, it's downright hostile. It's going to try to eat you every single time it seems you. Maybe you can train it. Eventually? Possibly? It seems oddly resistant to all kinds of training techniques though. At least you get to pick the color.

You've got a short fuse and don't mind setting it off. Your angry emotions are going to ride close to the surface while you're here. Especially when it comes to your friends.
