

Robin Hood: Men in Tights jump

By Fallout10mm

Version 1.0

It's somewhere in the 12 Century and Robin of Loxly has just returned from the Crusades to find his family dead, the estate confiscated, and the evil brother of the rightful King Richard, King John, sitting on the throne of England, ruling like a tyrant with his right hand man the Sheriff of Rottingham. Along with his blind manservant Blinkin, and his merry men, will revolt to restore justice to the land.

You have a 1000cp (Crusade Points) to spend as you wish. Good luck, jumper.

Origins: There's not really any origins here, you may choose to be a drop-in, returning veteran of the crusades, a local peasant, or one of the Sheriff of Rottingham's guards.

Perks:

You have two (2) fifty percent (50%) discounts for every price tier, with 50 and 100cp perks becoming free.

This Is My Son Achoo (50cp): Strangely you'll encounter people in this and future jumps who bear an uncanny resemblance to famous people you may know from your homeworld.

Hollywood Casting (50cp): Standard beauty perk, you're a solid 7/10 in the looks department. May purchase multiple times.

Making An Entrance (50cp): When entering a room you can draw all the attention to yourself near instantly and make yourself the center of attention.

Time Out! (50cp): at any time, once per battle or day, you may call a 'time out' granting you a complete ceasing of hostilities for up to 30 seconds. You may use this time to catch your breath, adjust your clothing, down some healing potions, but may not use it to move, reposition or attack anyone.

And Now For A Musical Number (100cp): You have a stunning singing voice and can dance like a professional.

Unlike Some OTHER Robin Hoods, I can speak with an English accent (100cp): You can change your accent at will to any you've ever heard.

Toll Collector (100cp): You can ask for a modest toll from anyone crossing your lands (except those on official government business) and they'll have to pay, though they may choose to resort to violence.

We're From Georgia (100cp): Like Will, you're practically a human blender when equipped with two knife like weapons. If someone shot an arrow at you, you could turn it into wood chips before it could hit you.

Handy With A Sword (100/200cp): You've become an expert fencer, skilled with all manner of melee weapons. For an extra 100cp, the flashier your moves the better you become and the more opening's you'll make in your opponent's guard.

‘Little’ John (200cp): Just like the man in question you are very big. You might be called the mountain who rides in another universe. This also makes it so to your horse that you only weigh as much as a normal man.

Super Hearing (200cp): You can clearly hear the beating of a bird's wing a mile away. Thankfully this is adjustable.

Strong Swimmer (200cp): Are you sure you’re not part dolphin. You certainly swim like one, and can swim for days in the ocean without tiring.

Praying Mantis Style (200cp): You're an expert at this exaggerated kung fu style that somehow works, especially against dim witted opponents.

A Smoothy (200cp): You’re a hell of a smooth talker able to arouse with just a few words. Even when you’re not intentionally flirting, a couple of honey’d words will net you favors, like bypassing red tape at the dmv or upgrading your plane ticket for free.

Archery Expert (400cp): Wouldn't be a robin hood jump without this. Grants almost supernatural skill and accuracy with bows, crossbows and thrown weapons.

Make A Merry Man Out Of You (400cp): With the proper equipment you can train a group of uneducated serfs into a coherent fighting force in record time, able to take on twice their number of elite soldiers with better equipment and come out on top with less casualties

Witchy (400cp): The skills, magical ability and knowledge of an accomplished witch. Alchemy, glimpses into the immediate future, empowerment rituals and curses are all at your finger tips, and as an added benefit, you’re not ugly as sin.

Wedding Or A Hanging (400cp): Either way we’re gonna have a little fun. You know how to play a crowd and get popular opinion on your side even when you have terrible public relations. Your voice also carries quite well and will always be heard by the intended audience when used this way.

It's Good To Be The King (400cp): In this and every future jump, you’re a minor lord, with rights and a decent stretch of lands. You're very hard to oust from this position, requiring clear proof of treason or massive wrongdoing.

Items:

Unless stated otherwise, all items will respawn/repair every 24 hours if damaged/lost/stolen. You get two (2) fifty percent (50%) discounts for every price tier, with 50 and 100cp items becoming free.

The Proper Attire (Free): Nice warm fake beard to help you fit in your local dungeon.

Rent-A-Wreck (Free/50cp): Your kingdom for a horse! Well you have a fairly normal horse along with a full set of tack. For an additional 50cp, your horse is the pinnacle of horse kind, with stamina for days and the strength of ten horses.

Gota Get Pumped (50cp): Pair of vintage Air Jordans, supernaturally durable, and when worn feel like you're walking on clouds.

Standard Robin Hood Equipment (50cp): Robin's attire, mainly consisting of a leather jerkin, white shirt, nice green hat, and green tights that are surprisingly comfortable in all weather, along with a english longsword, Yew Longbow and an endless quiver of arrows.

Everlast (50cp): A set of very comfortable metal underwear (seriously it feels like silk, at least to the wearer), that cannot be removed by anyone except you or those with your permission. Impervious to any damage, self cleaning.

Endless Peanuts (100/200cp): An endless supply of salted and unsalted peanuts. A second purchase nets you popcorn and any other snacks available at a movie theater, such as popcorn, hotdogs, spicy pickles, and various sodas.

Sacramental Wine (100cp): This Endless barrel of blessed wine is for blessing things only. Like the inside of your stomach. It also acts as a minor purifying force against corruption, demons and is an appropriate substitute for holy water.

Feast Fit For A King (100cp): A marvelous fully catered feast from across the world that can feed dozens will be delivered every night to a place of your choosing.

Merry Men Attire (200cp): An unlimited supply of feathered green hats, jerkins, bodkins, leather boots, steel swords, quivers (with arrows), yew long bows and green panty hose. They are of average quality.

Key To The Greatest Treasure In All The Land (200cp): This key inside a locket will open any physical lock, if you want what's inside enough, though it only works once a week.

Assassins Crossbow (200cp): A collapsible hand crossbow that can accurately hit a target up to 200 meters away. Comes with a quarrel of bolts that will always have a bolt when you reach into it.

Patriot Arrow (200cp): Arrow that will break the laws of physics to hit the target and hits with the destructive force of a frag grenade. Respawns every 24 hours.

Magic Pills (400cp): These can heal even mortal wounds, luckily you didn't have to sleep with the witch to get them. Tastes and looks like a lifesaver candy. Monthly refilling roll of ten.

The Script (400cp): You have the script to the movie which once a jump you can say 'that wasn't in the script!' And pull out a copy, which will give you another chance at something, such as a contest or a duel. This doesn't reset anything, but they will give you a chance to catch your breath first or grab new equipment.

Jumper Hall (100/200/400cp): Medieval 2 story 3 bed 2 bath home made of stone. For an extra 100cp it's a full on castle like prince johns, with dozens of rooms and towers. For an extra 200cp, it's somehow mobile as well, moving at the pace of a trotting horse.

Companions:

Merry Men and Women (-100/200cp): Import up to 8 companions for 100cp. For 200cp you can instead import all your companions, they each get 600cp to spend here as they wish.

Canon Character (Free or 100cp): You may freely recruit any canon character, as long as they agree, or for 100cp, you may recruit them regardless.

Mel Brooks (50/400cp): the man himself in his prime. He's an accomplished actor, comedian, World War II veteran and overall a good man. For an extra 350cp (400cp total) you get a version of Mel that has all the skills and powers of any character he's played on tv or a movie.

Maid Mary-Anne (50cp): An American farm girl who got stuck on an island for years and appeared here after stumbling upon a natural occurring time warp. She's adapted very well to the local customs and has become a lady in waiting for Maid Marian. She has 600cp to spend here.

Drawbacks:

You may take as many drawbacks as you wish, they go away once the jump is complete.

Supplement Mode (0cp Toggle): You may supplement this jump to another, cp is restricted to the respective documents.

Round Robin (0cp toggle): Instead of the excellent comedy movie, Robin Hood: Men In Tights, you're in another version of the tale, perhaps the Kevan Costner movie?

Leave Us Alone, Mel Brooks! (+100cp): Your home, whatever it may be, will be set on fire by a roving band of archers once a month. It will be very annoying and happen in the dead of night when you least expect it.

Half off! (+100cp): You had a slight accident involving your genitalia. The plumbing still works, it's just you can't enjoy the act of procreation.

I'll pay for this! (+100cp): Like the sheriff of Rottingham you keep getting your sentences mixed up when upset.

Constantly Blue Balled (+200cp): Daily you will be dumped into erratic situations, but will be interrupted before anything can happen. Can be taken with half off but its gona be fucking torture.

Blind As A Bat (+200cp and discount on Super Hearing perk): Like Blinkin you're completely blind. Unfortunately this doesn't come with any enhanced senses, but if you have them then good on ya.

It's The Principle Of The Thing (+200cp): Despite having a very simple work around, you'll constantly do things the 'right way' instead, like fighting a man because you refuse to pay the toll to cross a creek that's small enough to step across.

Help! I Can't Swim! (+200cp): You can't swim...at all. You'd drown in a creek that wasn't even an inch deep, as anytime you land in any significant amount of water you immediately panic.

Stuck in prison (+400cp): You're stuck in Khalil prison in Jerusalem as a captured prisoner of war. If you're female, you're thankfully in a private cell and the guards treat you like a man, which means either way you're gonna be tortured for information (or just shits and giggles) until you can escape, then you'll have to make your way back to England.

Property Repossessed By Order Of King John (+200/400/600cp): All your out of jump properties are unavailable for the duration of the jump. For 400cp your items have been locked away, along with your warehouse, and for 600 your perks and powers have been sealed as well.

Scenario:

You'll take Robin's place in the story, shortly after he arrives back in England from the crusades. You'll have to defeat King John, the Sheriff of Rottingham and rescue maid Marian from his evil clutches. Succeed and you'll receive the (100cp) castle item for free, along with the hand of maid Marian as a companion who comes with two purchases of Hollywood Casting, one purchase of And Now For a Musical Number and 600cp to spend on perks or items of her choice. If you choose not to take Marian, you may instead give her perks and stipend to another companion of your choosing.

After 10 years it's time to make a choice:

Back From the Crusades: Go home
Ah, England!: Stay here
The Adventures Continue: Continue jumping

Notes:

How the scenario works as a woman is entirely up to you. Nobody really seems to care if you marry Marian other than every male saying 'nice' under their breath. You may choose to instead marry Robin or just be good friends.

Why is the upgraded Mel so expensive? He's played Yogert (Yoda parody), Moses from the bible and fuckin Zeus. https://www.imdb.com/name/nm0000316/

Yes Maid Mary-Anne is Mary-Anne from Gilligan's Island. Why? Because I kept spelling Marian's name wrong and thought it was a funny idea. Why not Ginger? Look, pal, you take what you can get, plus there's already one hot red head in this film.

Version History:

1.0: First Release, probably get updated with more fluff once I get some more spare time.