Furrian Propagation Log

Doujins by Nayuta Takumi

Jump by 9anon

Welcome to the setting of Furrian Propagation Log, a series of hentai doujin by Nayuta Takumi that takes place on a largely mundane variation of modern Earth. What sets this one apart is the relatively recent arrival of Furrians, an extraterrestrial species who found themselves having trouble breeding on their own planet due to a phenomenon that caused Furrian-only coupling to only result in female children. After a long search, they finally found Earth and a highly compatible species in Humanity. The now all-female Furrians have since integrated into human society almost seamlessly, hunting for mates amidst living fairly regular lives. But strangely enough, their purpose in coming to Earth doesn't seem ubiquitously known.

Appropriate to their name, almost all Furrians look like some combination of animal and human. There's some wide variation in exactly how anthropomorphic each Furrian is, and there's plenty of them outside that spectrum who take on more monstrous forms. This includes shapeshifting slimes, among other approximations of less humanoid species. Some even almost look like living stuffed animals, while others look almost human if not for things like unusual skin color or horns.

Here's +1000cp to help you settle into this world and enjoy your decade here.

Location

While all of the stories that are part of this series take place in Japan, you may choose whether you start there or anywhere else in the world that's reasonably accessible.

Origin

You may choose your other demographics within reason, as well as whether you drop-in or have a local history.

Human: Your standard-issue human. The dominant species of Earth that's now playing host to some really friendly aliens.

Furrian: An all-female species from the stars that's incredibly diverse in form, although they are all actually the same species at the end of the day. So all those that look like elves or oni are the same species as the anthro wolf girls, plushie-looking bunny girls, and literal slime girls.

While this origin is technically all-female, there's no penalty to being a male Furrian. Just keep in mind that intraspecies offspring will always be female without intervention or out-of-context options.

Perks

General Perks

You receive a discount on 1 general perk per price tier, with the 100cp perk being free.

Sexy Convenience [Free]: A suite of sexy conveniences.

- STDs and unwanted pregnancy simply don't happen when you're involved, and your sexual partners won't be concerned about unprotected sex.
- Your sexual partners are guaranteed to be groomed to your preference.
- You and your partners benefit from porn physics that align with your preferences and prevent unintentional harm, despite any major differences in size or potentially harmful physical features.
- You have an immense innate talent for sex, which you may temporarily share with your sexual partners, and sex just feels better when you're involved.

Sexy World [Free]: Whenever you enter a new setting, you may improve how attractive the local populace is. In terms of numbers, this sets the new range of potential attractiveness to 5/10 through 10/10. In more understandable terms, this makes the ugliest only homely and the average person decently attractive, while massively increasing the amount of very attractive people.

Additionally, you may adjust the proportions of sexual characteristics of the local populace within reason, optionally supporting them with porn physics to make sure they work just fine and don't harm whoever has them.

You may apply the benefits of this perk selectively, limit their impact to a degree of your choice (even differently for different groups), and you may choose how much they affect local beauty standards. You may also choose whether these effects are sudden upon your arrival or retroactively have always been.

Exquisite Body [-100cp]: Despite developing on entirely different planets, Humans and Furrians can be remarkably compatible. Not just in the sense of reproduction, but also everything leading up to it. When a Furrian finds her soulmate, the two of them find each other absolutely exquisite.

You are incredibly attractive in a manner of your choosing, an easy 10/10 with your choice of build and overall look. Alternatively, you may forgo being objectively attractive for simply being perceived as highly attractive by those you'd find attractive. Either way, you don't need to put in any effort into maintaining your build or appearance, and you may choose to have exquisite sexual characteristics.

Further, those you find attractive find your body to be quite exquisite. The exact details will depend on your physical features and the individuals involved, but you can be sure that you and your fluids will taste and smell fantastic to them.

And you may share the benefits of this perk with your partners as well, allowing you to enjoy their presence all the more.

Pastime [-100cp]: In spite of the relatively recent first contact and all the inhuman women wandering around, this world is remarkably mundane. People still go to work, buy groceries, and otherwise lead normal lives. Even the Furrians on their ship, working in the labs to find a cure for their reproductive ailment, are effectively just doing regular lab work.

You may purchase this perk multiple times, each purchase providing you with a competence and general knowledge of a particular job or hobby. This could include something like 'fighting', which would certainly make you a fierce opponent.

Blind Eye [-200cp]: The people of this world are very tolerant; otherwise the Furrians couldn't have integrated so well. This extends to relationships and sex to a certain extent as well, with people either overlooking or turning a blind eye to all kinds of public shenanigans and relationships that would normally raise hackles.

You can always get away with lewd activities in public so long as you're even trying to be discreet about it. Just make sure you're out of the way, and people won't bother you, assuming they notice in the first place.

You and your partners are also not subject to normal standards and barriers when it comes to sex and romance, at least as long as everyone is consenting. A butler marrying a young noblewoman, a middle-aged salaryman becoming the boyfriend of a high school gyaru, and a shota becoming really good friends with his older neighbor are all things covered by this.

True Romance [-200cp]: Furrian-Human relationships may seem like purely physical things, but that's hardly the case - sex is just the focus of the doujins, so that's what's depicted more than less carnal romantic activities…but they do have a lot of sex, and it's basically just as romantic.

As far as romance between you and others goes, sex is perfectly romantic when you want it to be. A night of sexual activity is as good as the most romantic date night that could be arranged, and romantic sex is much more pleasurable than normal for all involved. And you can more generally incite passion and love for you in others by giving them pleasure.

Fated Encounters [-400cp]: There's a certain element of fate at play in this universe, ensuring that highly compatible lovers can find each other. It's easier for some and harder for others, but they all get there in the end.

At the start of each jump, you may select several characters you're interested in. From that point forward, fate will conspire to have you and your targets meet again and again under circumstances that are favorable to your intentions. Whether you want to save a particular girl from losing a harem bowl, smooth contact with a difficult woman, or just steal someone - circumstances will favor you.

Furrian Arrival [-400cp]: This particular version of Earth was perfectly normal until the Furrian ship arrived, and it's still pretty damned normal after the fact…if you ignore all the inhuman women who've all but perfectly integrated into society.

Whenever you first enter a setting, you may choose to integrate your choice of non-humans into the world. The only real restrictions on this are that their physical capabilities must remain near what's normal for the local human population (or closest equivalent to humans around), and that their presence shouldn't majorly impact the norms of the setting. Conversely, you may introduce normal humans to a setting where they would normally be absent.

Additionally, you may make adjustments to any sapient non-humans that are already present in a setting. Although you can make significant alterations to their body plan and reproduction to make them more attractive and compatible with humans, you cannot otherwise significantly change their capabilities.

The changes made with this perk may be retroactive - always having been, or something that suddenly happens upon your arrival. You may also choose the nature of the event that triggers these changes, whether it is something that just kinda happens without explanation or there's a whole event that takes place like first contact with an all-female race of aliens perfectly suited to integrating into society.

Human Perks

Human Dick [-100cp, Free to Humans]: Furrians are insatiable creatures once they've found their mate, so here's a little something to help you keep up.

You have excellent staying power and basically no refractory period, as well as the stamina to keep going as long as your partner can. You can blow huge loads, and they never reduce in volume, nor does constantly blowing loads leave you at all dehydrated or otherwise harmed. Your dick (or penetrated orifice) is also guaranteed to hit all the right places for both your partner and you.

You may selectively share the benefits of this perk with your partner as well, allowing you easy hours of reciprocal pleasure.

Latchkey Kid [-100cp, Free to Humans]: Japan continues to be a relatively safe and prosperous place in the Furrian Propagation Logs, with concerns about overwork still being present, so it isn't unusual for young children to be left to their own devices much of the time.

Whether you're actually a young child or simply appear to be, you have little issue living your own life without people attempting to victimize you (against your will) or impose on your freedom. If you are actually a young child as far as the local setting is concerned, you may have it so you have parents "off screen" to handle "adult" things for you, leaving you free to enjoy your Nth childhood and the many onee-sans likely open to pampering you.

Human Culture [-200cp, Discounted to Humans]: Most Furrians have integrated quite well into a Human society. Keyword: Most. Some aren't so good at it. Might be because they're aquatic and thus have limited contact, while others are simply new. As such, they're rather impressionable where they aren't uncouth.

So long as there's any cultural ambiguity present, you can easily convince someone that certain behaviors are totally normal when dealing with strangers immersed in your culture, and people much more easily tolerate any lewd shenanigans you may get up to when you're immersed in another culture.

Omni-Compatibility [-400cp, Discounted to Humans]: While Humans and Furrians are highly compatible overall, individual compatibility can vary greatly. And Furrians can tell whether they're compatible with a man, though it's easier for some and harder for others. But you just break this whole system.

Non-humans simply find you irresistible. In this world, this means you're universally compatible with Furrians, though you can filter this effect so that only those individuals that you're interested in will be affected by it. Regardless, you've got your pick of the litter when it comes to non-humans, and they'll have no issue sharing you…or getting involved with one another if that's something you'd want.

Target Rich [-600cp, Discounted to Humans]: Almost every single woman and girl that appears in the Furrian Propagation Logs is a Furrian. Even in the backgrounds, you'd be hard-pressed to find a human female, and most of the Furrian females are accompanied by a man.

You are able to passively filter the sorts of people who tend to be in your vicinity. This defaults to non-human women you'd be attracted to, ensuring you're almost constantly surrounded by them when possible, but you can adjust this on the fly with whatever criteria you like. However, changes in things like class rosters can be slow to happen, and you're still limited by what's possible. So it's easy to make sure you're surrounded by hot women, but you'll find that the filter gets less picky if you want them all to be busty blonde geniuses with experience in nuclear engineering.

Furrian Perks

Furrian Biology [-100cp, Free to Furrians]: Furrians are a species with a great deal of diversity, ranging from near-human to completely inhuman in both appearance and abilities, although most appear to be anthropomorphic animals and have roughly the same capabilities as normal humans. Even if they might have unusual features like hooves in place of their hands that would usually get in the way.

Regardless of your form, you find your unusual features don't get in the way as much as they ought to. Like the aforementioned hoof-hands somehow being just as dextrous as a regular human hand, though this can also apply in ways like unusually large breasts not straining your back or messing with your balance.

Beyond not getting in the way, you also have a knack for making the most of your unusual features, especially in a sexual context. Whether striking that much harder with your hoof-hands or mastering the use of your unusually large breasts.

For an extra undiscounted -100cp, you can make much greater use of your unusual features in exaggerated and lateral ways. Like weaponizing your unusually large breasts to enhance your fighting style as both an extra sort of strike and as a counterweight for ridiculous acrobatics, or taking feats of whatever animal your form is similar to and turning them up to 11.

If you're a Furrian, you may spend an extra undiscounted -200cp to take on a much more monstrous and capable form. For example, taking on the form of a slime, complete with having an amorphous body that you can freely shapeshift, selectively allow things to permeate into, and use to selectively and rapidly digest things. Not to mention performing mitosis to split off subordinate bodies once you've gained enough mass.

Furrian Propagation [-100cp, Free to Furrians]: It's very vaguely implied that Furrians were once a sexually dimorphic species, but at some point the children of Furrian couples started always coming out female, and the search for a compatible species is what drove them to the stars.

You are capable of breeding with anything that's sexually compatible, impregnating or being impregnated by any creature that has the right genitals. Species, age, disorders, and so on have no impact as long as you're looking to make some babies. Any resulting pregnancies and births are guaranteed to be safe for the mother, and unusually quick.

Beyond that, you may freely choose the sex of your children, and may choose their species from what's possible based on how they were conceived - although hybrids are a choice even if they aren't normally possible.

Recent Arrivals [-200cp, Discounted to Furrians]: The Furrians were able to almost seamlessly integrate themselves into Earth society in the space of just a few months. Which is really fast, even for a relatively peaceful version of Earth that's meant to simply serve as a background for lewd fun.

You have little issue adjusting to new things. It's easy for you to integrate into new cultures, even completely alien ones, and adapting to other sorts of major changes in your life is a similarly simple matter. This includes a rapacious capacity for learning and comprehending new languages, to the point where you can get a functional understanding of a language in just a few hours, and practically be a native speaker in a few days.

Soulmate Sense [-400cp, Discounted to Furrians]: All Furrians have a sense for how compatible any potential mate is, though this is stronger in some and weaker in others. Some can get a good feeling about someone just by seeing their apartment, while others aren't able to tell without directly tasting and smelling their potential mate quite extensively.

Your sense for this is on the stronger side. Just by seeing someone, you're able to identify how sexually compatible they are with you. You also have a sense for arousal in others, just being able to innately tell if they're aroused and to what degree. These senses are also distinct, so you won't confuse someone being really horny with them being ridiculously compatible with you.

Aside from having a much easier time finding quality mates, you also have a knack for arranging encounters with them. From finding out everything about them to making the approach seem natural, you'll be able to make sure everything plays out just the way you want it to.

Furrian Science [-600cp, Discounted to Furrians]: It's never explicitly detailed, but the Furrians have incredibly advanced technology. Though their genetic experts aren't able to crack their problem of only giving birth to girls, they did manage to bring a huge population of Furrians to Earth across interstellar distances, and a few decades later can casually travel those distances like going to the next town over.

You are a savant when it comes to science and technology, able to understand most anything you can get your hands on and integrate it into your own knowledge base. This includes a functional knowledge of Furrian and modern Earth technology, which happens to include things like FTL travel and communication.

Items

You receive 2 discounts per price tier.
Discounted 100cp items are free.
Items purchased here repair, respawn, and resupply each week.
You may combine these items with any similar-enough items.
You may attach properties together.

Living Space [Variable]: A space for you to live. It's comfortable, furnished and decorated according to your desires, and you don't need to pay to keep it. It also cleans and repairs itself when nobody is looking (with nobody questioning it, even if it goes from wrecked to pristine when they blink), and enjoys unending modern utilities even when removed from modern infrastructure.

For -100cp, this is a small apartment fit for 1 person, though there's technically room for another if you don't mind living in really close quarters.

For -200cp, this is a "modest" home with the space for up to ~12 people to live comfortably. This includes bedrooms, bathrooms, large common areas, and so on.

For -400cp, this is a whole mansion, with space to comfortably house upwards of ~200 people. Although most of that number would be staff, their quarters are still quite nice, though obviously not as nice as the rooms for residents and guests. This includes a nice garden and a tall, sturdy wall to keep the rabble at bay.

Money [Variable]: A certain amount of currency. Very useful for making a living in a modern world like this. You may choose whether this income is entirely passive, or if you have a really nice and convenient job.

For -100cp, this is enough to live a comfortable but unambitious life. You won't be bankrolling any major projects, but you won't have to worry about making ends meet.

For -200cp, this is an absurd amount of money. Enough to live in fabulous luxury without making a dent in it, while bankrolling many large projects and throwing around some influence.

Comfy Couch [-100cp]: An incredibly comfortable couch. Whether you're spending hours in front of a TV, sleeping off a long shift, or enjoying the company of a loverly lady - this couch is always perfect for it. Especially since it's self-cleaning.

Compensated Contacts [-100cp]: A collection of contact info for people who're up for a little bit of compensated dating - which is to say hanging out and/or fucking for a price. They're guaranteed to be attractive and attracted to you, and there's always going to be someone available. You'll also receive a major discount from their usual prices.

Get A Room [-100cp]: Whenever you need somewhere relatively private for a quickie, you won't need to search long before finding one. These spots will be consistent once found, and you're guaranteed to be uninterrupted while you use them. They can take the form of things like unused classrooms, out-of-the-way closets, and even very conveniently placed love hotels that you just happen to have free vouchers for whenever you need them.

Furrian Berries [-100cp]: A type of fruit from the Furrian homeworld that they brought along with them to Earth. Its juices are a powerful aphrodisiac and sexual enhancer - eliminating the refractory period and improving the size of loads in men, among other effects. It also massively increases the users' sexual sensitivity.

Furrian Nip [-100cp]: A stash of snacks that always has the right stuff for you and anyone you might want to share them with - like always having the right sorts of grass or weeds for that deer girl you're dating. Sharing the snacks here with any non-humans will be much more effective than normal in improving your relationship with them, even beyond always having the stuff they love.

Home Gym [-200cp]: A home gym with all the equipment you need to keep yourself in tip-top shape, and even to keep consistently challenging yourself. Comes in its own room, and both the room and the equipment in it are guaranteed to be functionally indestructible during workouts, so you don't need to worry about wrecking your home if you happen to be superhuman. This setup also adjusts to the capabilities and needs of anyone else living with you.

Home Studio [-200cp]: A home photography studio for all your photography needs, including a development room for traditional film, a computer for digital photos, and all kinds of props for your photo sessions. Also included is a camera of your preference, plus all the accessories you'd want or need for it.

Fertile Pantry [-200cp]: A kitchen equipped with modern appliances and kitchenware, perfect for making all kinds of home-cooked meals or just grabbing a quick snack. Also comes with a supply of food and drink, from quick snacks to proper ingredients for cooking whatever meals potential cooks have in mind…though left to its own devices, this supply will tend to include foods associated with enhanced virility and fertility.

Indeed, whether those ingredients are used or not, any meals cooked here tend to improve fertility and libido when consumed.

Furgonomic Wardrobe [-200cp]: A complete wardrobe of outfits for yourself and others, with all the clothing and accessories you'd need for both normal circumstances and sexy ones. These outfits are guaranteed to perfectly fit, adjusting as needed to any unusual physical features, and they are self-cleaning and self-repairing.

These outfits can also do a lot to shape the body - like sarashi and sports bras that can compress absurdly large breasts until they seem like modestly large breasts, and do so without impairing the wearer's breathing.

Personal Vehicle [-200cp]: A civilian vehicle of some variety. It's quick to repair itself, doesn't need to fuel if it normally would, and never gets vandalized or stolen. It could be anything from a skateboard to an RV.

Private Beach [-400cp]: An isolated and paradisical beach under your ownership. It doesn't cost anything to keep, and it maintains itself perfectly. You may set the rules for it, and people are guaranteed to follow them within reason - they'll go along with lewd rules, but not anything really weird or dangerous. So you can make it a semi-public nudist beach where people can casually fuck in the open without any complaints from guests or authorities, and you can be sure that people won't make a mess of the place, but making murder mandatory or whatever won't fly.

Science Lab [-400cp]: A sizable workspace with all the tools and equipment you need to put your scientific and engineering knowledge to work. It cleans and maintains itself, and never needs for power, water, or other amenities. It also comes with a ready supply of whatever mundane materials your projects require. Although it should be noted that this lab is primarily for experiments and prototyping, not mass manufacture.

Furrian Ship [-400cp]: A starship equipped with FTL that allows for traveling between solar systems in mere hours to days. However, this ship is notably smaller than the one that brought Furrians to Earth, only having the space and (basic) amenities for a crew of a few dozen. However, it always has enough supplies to sustain a full crew, and it has plenty of cargo space.

For an extra undiscounted -200cp, this is a proper colony ship with a capacity for tens of thousands of crew and residents. The amenities are also massively upgraded, from the bare minimum someone would need to having whole green areas and recreational decks full of a huge variety of things to keep a small city's worth of people sane for long voyages. However, this increased mass has slowed the ship down a lot, increasing the travel time between solar systems so it now takes weeks to months. There's still no need to worry about restocking, though.

Companions

The details of OC companions aren't set in stone: you can adjust the specifics as needed, like setting someone in your entourage as their soulmate instead of yourself.

Create/Import [-100cp]: You may purchase this option multiple times, each purchase allowing you to create and/or import up to 8 companions. Each companion receives an origin, 600cp to spend on perks and items, as well as the floating discounts noted at the top of each section.

You may also create or import 1 companion for free, giving them the listed benefits.

Export [Free/-100cp]: So long as they're still alive and you've managed to convince them, you may bring anyone from this world along with you. They may become followers or companions, chosen individually.

For -100cp, you may arrange to encounter your choice of local characters under favorable circumstances.

Local Expy [-100cp]: Each purchase of this option ensures that you'll encounter a local version of a particular character from outside this setting, and that the encounters will be favorable. Given the low-key nature of this setting, don't expect these characters to be anywhere as powerful as their original incarnations may be.

OC Companions

Blue and Pals [Free]: A gang of raptor-like Furrians, led by one with blue scales. As it happens, you are the soulmate for this whole gang. Upside? You have a vicious gang of girls who're fiercely protective of you. Downside? Good luck finding time to yourself.

Bunny Cop [Free]: A rabbit-like Furrian who, in spite of her short stature, works in law enforcement. And she's actually really good at her job, with a ridiculous capacity for acrobatics that more than makes up for her lack of size, quick wits, eye for detail, and unbreakable spirit.

And now that she's caught your scent and knows that you are her soulmate, there's not much you could do to get away from her if you wanted to.

Foxy Detective [Free]: A fox-like Furrian law enforcement officer with a serious personality and a strong sense of justice. The law is the law, and she'll get her perp, but she won't go over the line in the process - no matter how pissed off she gets.

Motherly Goat [Free]: A white-furred, goat-like Furrian who's incredibly motherly in body and spirit. Physically, she's quite tall and plump, more than capable of suffocating most men in a fluffy marshmallow hell.

As a person, she's incredibly kind and sympathetic, though you should watch out for her love of puns and tendency to get a little overprotective. Especially since she's finally found her soulmate after all these years. Try not to end up completely useless.

Intergenerational Venison [Free]: A mother-daughter pair of deer-like Furrians who're notably libidinous, even by Furrian standards. The daughter is energetic and outgoing, the mother is more laidback and low energy, and they are both casually sexual, very sexually open, and enjoy a strongly incestuous relationship.

Having found you to be their mutual soulmate, they have no issues remaining exclusive, so long as you accept both of them…though they similarly have no quarrel with any other partners you may have. They also share a companion slot if you want them to.

T-Rex GF [Free]: A Furrian girl with the torso of a human, but the arms and lower half of a tyrannosaurus rex. As well as the teeth and jaw strength. She has a rough personality, a ravenous appetite, and a love for meat - But she's a sweetheart once you get past her rough exterior and poor social skills.

Add on the fact that you're her soulmate, and you'll find yourself with a powerful and protective lover.

Tomboy Goat [Free]: A cute and approachable Furrian tomboy with a lithe build and a blend of various animal features - though she most resembles a goat with her short horns, floppy ears, and rectangular pupils. Contrary to that is her cute pawpad where you may expect hooves.

She is an easy-going and playful girl, making friends wherever she goes and almost effortlessly navigating most social situations.

White Dwarf [Free]: A rabbit-like Furrian with a coat of white fur and an even smaller stature than normal. Though in contrast to her small size and relative vulnerability, she's incredibly assertive and strong-willed…often to a fault. Not to say she isn't capable of being friendly or forming strong bonds with people, but she can rub people the wrong way.

Drawbacks

You may take as many drawbacks as you like.

Lightweight [+100cp]: You have an extremely low tolerance for alcohol, and are generally hit really hard by any other drugs you may be exposed to, though overdosing isn't any easier than normal. Even a taste of Furrian Berries will have you going for hours.

Envy [+100cp]: There's always someone in your life that upstages you, and it always bothers you on some level. The way you're upstaged can vary drastically, as well as your relationship with your "rival", but you'll never escape that feeling of envy.

Stonefaced [+100cp]: Your face is ridiculously unexpressive - no matter the circumstances, you'll need to make a conscious effort if you want your facial expression to be anything but grumpy or disinterested.

Asocial [+100cp]: You are not a social person, simply lacking the drive that most people have to interact with others. Not that you necessarily hate social interaction; you just don't instinctively seek it out, which obviously makes it rather difficult to maintain a social life without consistent conscious effort.

Clumsy [+200cp]: You are prone to accidents and mishaps on a regular basis. Nothing lethal or debilitating, but you'll have to spend a lot of time cleaning up after yourself.

Distractions [+200cp]: You just can't seem to get anything done, as constant distractions just keep cropping up no matter what you do. Even if you magically fixed your ADHD and injected focus directly into your brain, that just means more potent distractions will emerge.

Estrus [+200cp]: Your libido is kinda ridiculous. And very distracting. It doesn't take much to get you going, and getting off won't provide anywhere near as much relief as normal, so you'll often be lost in a lustful fog.

Hard Times [+200cp]: At some point during your time here, you'll hit rock bottom. Your life will be the hard knock life - nothing to your name, the temptation of oblivion nipping at your heels, and day after dismal day where nothing seems like it will be improving. But this will pass in time.

Rough Personality [+200cp]: You are not a smooth social operator. Maybe you have a tendency to misspeak and put your foot in your mouth, maybe you instinctively act in an overly aggressive manner, or maybe some other flaw that makes it hard to interact with people.

Impotence [+300cp]: You have trouble maintaining arousal, no matter what you do. Obviously, this makes it really hard to properly get off, and it won't do you any favors with your sexual partners.

Taken with Estrus, your libido is still ridiculous, making this drawback even more frustrating and providing an extra +100cp.

Lonely [+300cp]: Even in a world like this, crawling with so many extra women who are desperate to find someone, you'll be alone for the bulk of your time here. No relationships or sex for you, at least until the last few months before you leave. And you'll be feeling this loneliness the whole time.

Any companions or followers or anyone else you have with you will be locked out until those final months, only appearing or otherwise entering your life at that time.

Power Loss [+300cp]: You lose access to any perks, items, or companions that you did not acquire here. This excludes any companions you paid to import and the benefits of your body mod.

Ugly [+300cp]: You are genuinely disgusting to look at, to the point where even a Furrian who's your soulmate will have a hard time consummating that bond. But they'd still stick with you despite that.

Yandere [+300cp]: Your love is obsessive and all-consuming, to the detriment of both yourself and whoever you obsess over. You would give everything to make sure the target of your affection returns your feelings in kind, and you won't react kindly if your affection is rejected.

Alternatively, you are targeted by a yandere. You won't know exactly who - could be someone in your entourage or a local. They aren't unattractive, but they are possessive and have their own ideas of how your relationship should go…which will inevitably clash with your own desires and cause all kinds of problems.

The End

Return Home / Stay Here / Continue Chain

All drawbacks are revoked.

Notes

OC Inspirations;

- Blue and Pals: Blue the raptor from some Jurassic Park movie.
- Bunny Cop: Judy Hopps
- Foxy Detective: Carmelita Fox
- Intergenerational Venison: Loimu and Lumo
- Motherly Goat: Toriel
- T-Rex GF: T-Rex na Kanojo
- Tomboy Goat: Pudgeruffian's Kody
- White Dwarf: Haru from Beastars

Changelog

2026-07-29

- Initial version finished.

2026-08-05

- Fixed a bunch of typos.

2026-08-19

- Added Power Loss drawback.

Links

Live Document

My Stuff